The effect of this instruction is to void the language in 19-3-513(2) that provides that the combined employer and employee contribution rates are those in effect on the date the employee elects to purchase the service and to implement the rates currently found in 19-3-701(1)(e) (renumbered 19-3-315(1)(e)) and 19-3-801(1) (renumbered 19-3-316(1)). Case Notes

Constitutional Authority of Public Employees' Retirement Board to Make Actuarial Calculations — No Overbroad Delegation of Legislative Authority: The District Court held that 2001 amendments contained in House Bill No. 294, which included a definition of actuarial equivalent that changed the method by which the Public Employees' Retirement Board calculated certain benefits, unconstitutionally delegated unconstrained discretion to the Board in violation of the separation of powers doctrine in Art. III, sec. 1, Mont. Const. On appeal, the Board asserted that Art. VIII, sec. 15, Mont. Const., gave the Board the authority to make actuarial evaluations and thus to implement the 2001 amendments, so there was no constitutional violation. The Supreme Court agreed. Article III, sec. 1, Mont. Const., allows one branch of government to exercise power properly belonging to another branch if the constitution expressly directs or permits that exercise. Because Art. VIII, sec. 15, Mont. Const., delegated authority to the Board to make actuarial determinations, the District Court committed reversible error in concluding that the Legislature and House Bill No. 294 (2001) unconstitutionally delegated authority to the Board to make determinations allowed by another section of the constitution. It is the intent of the legislature to provide an active member of the public employees' retirement system who is eligible for normal or early retirement with an incentive to terminate service within the timeframe or window prescribed in this bill. The incentive provided in this bill is that the employer, at no cost to an eligible member, will buy for the eligible member up to 3 years of additional service for the purpose of calculating the member's retirement benefit.

The employer of an eligible member will pay the total cost for purchasing the additional service, up to 3 years, that the member is eligible to purchase under existing statute. It is the intent of the legislature that the state and the university system be mandated to provide this retirement incentive but that providing the incentive be optional for contracting employers under the public employees' retirement system.

It is also the intent of the legislature that the employer may pay for the additional service on an installment basis over as many as 10 years. Interest would be charged at a rate set according to the retirement board's policy.

It is not the intent of the legislature to provide this retirement incentive to anyone who is an inactive member of the retirement system or who is ineligible for early or normal retirement within the prescribed window or to change the benefit formula used to determine benefits under the retirement system."

Part 10
Disability Retirement Benefits

Part Case Notes

Incapacity Not Result of Employment: District Court reversed decision of Public Employees' Retirement Board which refused relator's claim for an occupational disability retirement allowance based upon job-related disability caused by adverse working conditions and granted relator ordinary disability retirement allowance. This was improper since District Court substituted its judgment for that of Board and since "disease", as used in section 68-901, R.C.M. 1947 (now repealed), did not include "personality disorders, anxiety reactions, or difficulties in getting along with one's superiors or fellow workers". Case Notes

Proof That Multiple Sclerosis Caused Disability: A doctor for the claimant for state retirement disability benefits testified that the claimant had multiple sclerosis (MS) prior to 1988 and that it became disabling (in regard to his job) in that year and remained disabling after that year. He was not conclusively diagnosed with and told that he had MS until 1991. The Public Employees' Retirement Board, which denied benefits, presented no medical evidence and did not deny that a job disability due to MS existed since 1988, the year when the claimant resigned. Instead, the Board relied on the claimant's 1988 indications that he was resigning to preserve a higher payout of unused benefits (his position was about to be reclassified downward) and that he felt he could do the job. His doctor's uncontradicted testimony was entitled to special weight and should not have been disregarded absent specific legitimate evidence and reasons to the contrary. The claimant's 1988 statements showed only that he did not believe that he was disabled and did not show that he in fact was not. They could have been made during a period of remission when symptoms were minor and he thought himself in good health. The lower court properly ruled that the Board's treatment of the claimant's doctor's testimony was erroneous and that the denial of benefits was also erroneous. Weber v. Pub. Employees' Retirement Bd., 270 M 239, 890 P2d 1296, 52 St. Rep. 162 (1995).

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 370, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 and 3] [19-2-908 and 19-2-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules.

A fundamental purpose of the public employee retirement systems is to provide members with a federal income tax-deferred retirement plan. To qualify for federally deferred income tax status, each retirement plan must conform with the requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code, which may be amended from time to time.

It is the intent of the legislature that Montana statutory provisions in conflict with section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code and related federal regulations and that would result in a retirement plan being disqualified are ineffective or must be interpreted so that the retirement plans may retain tax-deferred status.

It is the further intent of the legislature to clarify when a member of a retirement system becomes a retiree. The retirement date is the date on which the member accepts the first benefit payment. An inactive member who has not met all eligibility requirements for retirement, including proper submission of a written application for retirement benefits, should not be considered a "retiree" during the period of time before the member actually began receiving benefit payments, even though the member may later receive payments retroactive to an earlier commencement date. Because retirees may not earn membership service or purchase service credits in the retirement systems and active and inactive members may not receive benefit adjustments granted to current retirees, it is imperative to the actuarial soundness of the systems to clarify the retirement date of each member."

1995 Amendment: Chapter 412 in (1), in third sentence, substituted "the essential elements of either the position" for "either the duties of the position" and after "retired or the" substituted "position" for "duties". Amendment effective April 13, 1995.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 29(2), Ch. 412, L. 1995, provided that this section applies retroactively to initial disability determinations and reviews of ongoing disability status on and after January 1, 1994.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 265 throughout section substituted references to disabled member or member for references to recipient of a disability retirement allowance or recipient and substituted references to retirement benefit, disability retirement benefit, or benefit for references to retirement allowance, disability retirement allowance, or allowance; in (1), in second sentence, substituted "at a place mutually agreed upon by the retired member and the board" for "at the place of residence of the recipient or another place mutually agreed upon"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1989 Amendment: Near beginning of (1) substituted "discretion" for "pleasure"; inserted (2) relating to procedure when the Board determines a recipient should no longer be subject to medical review; at beginning of (3) substituted "recipient" for "person", after "whose" inserted "disability", and after "canceled" substituted "because the board has determined that he is no longer incapacitated must be reinstated" for "shall be reinstated"; near beginning of (4) substituted "recipient" for "person" and after "whose" inserted "disability"; and made minor changes in phraseology. Case Notes

Constitutional Authority of Public Employees' Retirement Board to Make Actuarial Calculations — No Overbroad Delegation of Legislative Authority: The District Court held that 2001 amendments contained in House Bill No. 294, which included a definition of actuarial equivalent that changed the method by which the Public Employees' Retirement Board calculated certain benefits, unconstitutionally delegated unconstrained discretion to the Board in violation of the separation of powers doctrine in Art. III, sec. 1, Mont. Const. On appeal, the Board asserted that Art. VIII, sec. 15, Mont. Const., gave the Board the authority to make actuarial evaluations and thus to implement the 2001 amendments, so there was no constitutional violation. The Supreme Court agreed. Article III, sec. 1, Mont. Const., allows one branch of government to exercise power properly belonging to another branch if the constitution expressly directs or permits that exercise. Because Art. VIII, sec. 15, Mont. Const., delegated authority to the Board to make actuarial determinations, the District Court committed reversible error in concluding that the Legislature and House Bill No. 294 (2001) unconstitutionally delegated authority to the Board to make determinations allowed by another section of the constitution. Saving Clause: Section 100, Ch. 562, L. 1999, was a saving clause.

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 287, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 through 3] [19-2-1101, now repealed, 19-3-1605, 19-5-901, 19-6-710, 19-7-711, 19-8-1105, 19-9-1009, and 19-13-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt rules to implement the provisions of the bill.

It is the intent of the legislature to guarantee a minimum level of annual benefit increases for retired members and their contingent annuitants or survivors under each of the statewide public employee retirement systems. The legislature also intends to fund this guaranteed annual benefit adjustment (GABA) in the most cost-effective manner possible.

Because the GABA is intended to address the erosion of retirement benefits caused by inflation as cost-effectively as possible, it is the intent of the legislature that the guaranteed annual 1.5% minimum adjustment not begin until after the original benefit has been paid for at least 36 months.

Because it is most cost-effective to reduce current unfunded liabilities as well as to avoid future unfunded liabilities and to fund new benefits as they accrue, the bill provides that the GABA be substituted for other benefits in cases in which the GABA is as valuable or more valuable to members. The resulting actuarial savings will reduce the additional funding required for the GABA.

In the public employees', sheriffs', and game wardens' [now game wardens' and peace officers'] retirement systems, all members will automatically be covered by the GABA provided for in this bill instead of the current postretirement adjustments based on investment earnings.

In the highway patrol officers', municipal police officers', firefighters' unified, and judges' retirement systems, in which the substitution of the GABA in place of other benefits is not a clear benefit enhancement for all current members, it is the intent of the legislature that the members be provided with a thorough analysis of the benefits to be substituted so that members may individually and irrevocably elect whether to be covered under the provisions of this bill. However, it is not the intent of the legislature that the retirement board or its administrative staff be required to recommend a specific or best choice to individual members.

It is the intent of the legislature that all future members of these systems be covered by the GABA in place of certain other benefits."

Amendment effective March 16, 2001.

1999 Amendment: Chapter 233 in second sentence in (2) after "addition" deleted "for each day of duty"; in (2)(a) at beginning substituted "the daily salary" for "one-twentieth of the monthly salary", after "is rendered" deleted "minus an amount equal to one-twentieth of the monthly retirement benefit that the retired justice or judge is receiving, if any", and at end inserted "up to a total of 180 days in a calendar year"; inserted (2)(b) regarding amount of compensation for each day of duty after 180 days in calendar year; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1999.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 370 in (1), in first sentence after "call", inserted "for duty" and in third sentence, after "perform any", deleted "and all"; in (2), in four places, substituted "duty" for "service"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 23, 1997.

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 370, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 and 3] [19-2-908 and 19-2-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules.

A fundamental purpose of the public employee retirement systems is to provide members with a federal income tax-deferred retirement plan. To qualify for federally deferred income tax status, each retirement plan must conform with the requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code, which may be amended from time to time.

It is the intent of the legislature that Montana statutory provisions in conflict with section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code and related federal regulations and that would result in a retirement plan being disqualified are ineffective or must be interpreted so that the retirement plans may retain tax-deferred status.

It is the further intent of the legislature to clarify when a member of a retirement system becomes a retiree. The retirement date is the date on which the member accepts the first benefit payment. An inactive member who has not met all eligibility requirements for retirement, including proper submission of a written application for retirement benefits, should not be considered a "retiree" during the period of time before the member actually began receiving benefit payments, even though the member may later receive payments retroactive to an earlier commencement date. Because retirees may not earn membership service or purchase service credits in the retirement systems and active and inactive members may not receive benefit adjustments granted to current retirees, it is imperative to the actuarial soundness of the systems to clarify the retirement date of each member."

1993 Amendment: Chapter 265 in (2), near beginning of first sentence after "service", deleted "as herein provided" and near end of second sentence substituted "retirement benefit" for "retirement allowance"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1983 Amendments: Chapter 256 deleted "temporary" before "service" in two places in (2).

Chapter 425 substituted, at beginning of (1), "Every judge or justice who has voluntarily retired after 8 years of service shall" for "Every judge or justice receiving retirement pay under the provisions of this chapter shall,"; near end of (2) inserted ", if any," after "the monthly retirement allowance the retired judge or justice is receiving".

1981 Amendment: Inserted "or any water court" in the first sentence; added "supreme court, district court, or water court, or to serve as water judge" at end of the first sentence.

Case Notes

Authority of Retired Judge to Decide Summary Judgment Motion When Ordered to Finish Preretirement Business: A retired District Court Judge was ordered by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, pursuant to this section, to be reactivated for the purpose of completing matters unfinished at the time of retirement, including the disposition of the present case. Based on that statutory authority and the Supreme Court order, the judge had authority to decide defendant's motion for summary judgment, to issue a related memorandum and order, and to enter final judgment. Walch v. Univ. of Mont., 260 M 496, 861 P2d 179, 50 St. Rep. 1186 (1993).

Appointment of Defeated District Judge: Judge Sykes, a retired judge who was defeated for reelection, was appointed by the Chief Justice to hear several cases. A party to one of the cases appealed the appointment of a defeated judge. The court held that Judge Sykes is a member of the "pool" of retired judges and can be called in by the Chief Justice to preside under the provisions of Art. VII, sec. 6, Mont. Const. Section 3-5-201, which requires District Judges to be elected, does not overcome the constitutional power given to the Chief Justice. Judge Sykes was not appointed pursuant to this section, and it is therefore not applicable. State ex rel. Welch v. District Court, 209 M 397, 680 P2d 327, 41 St. Rep. 783 (1984).

Judge's Reappointment to Finish Case Started Before Retirement: That trial Judge retired prior to his issuance of orders in the case at issue did not make the orders void. Under the decision in State ex rel. Wilcox & Bradley v. District Court, 678 P2d 209, 41 St. Rep. 397 (1984), the trial Judge had authority to perform all functions of an active District Judge, including the issuance of final orders and judgments. In re Pegg's Estate, 209 M 71, 680 P2d 316, 41 St. Rep. 558 (1984).

District Judge to Approve and Adopt Work of Retired Judge: In a case involving the question of whether or not retired judges may be called into service pursuant to Art. VII, sec. 6, Mont. Const., by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, those opposing the use of retired judges argued that under this section retired judges are not empowered to enter final judgment in a case. The Supreme Court noted that this section is a legislative grant of power and must yield to the constitutional grant of power. However, the court then found that this section and the constitutional provision address two situations, are mutually exclusive, and are not inconsistent. The court held that this section addresses the situation in which a District Judge needs help in legal research, the preparation of opinions, and preliminary matters. State ex rel. Wilcox v. District Court, 208 M 351, 678 P2d 209, 41 St. Rep. 397 (1984), followed in St. v. Holmes, 212 M 526, 687 P2d 662, 41 St. Rep. 1535 (1984).

Case Notes

1989 Retirement Benefit Increase Not Applicable to Judge Who Retired After Date of Enactment but Before Effective Date of Legislation: Gulbrandson was an active member of the judges' retirement system at the time of enactment of Ch. 664, L. 1989, which provided an increase in state funding to the system and an increase in retirement benefits for those years served by a judge after the 15th year. Implementation of the increase under this section was delayed until July 1, 1991. Gulbrandson voluntarily retired prior to the delayed effective date. The Supreme Court held that based on the plain meaning of the statute, Gulbrandson was not entitled to the increased retirement benefit upon his retirement prior to July 1, 1991. Denial of the benefit did not impair Gulbrandson's contract with the system in violation of Art. II, sec. 31, Mont. Const., because the statute affecting his contract at the time of retirement did not include the benefit increase. Moreover, denial of the benefit does not violate equal protection provisions of Art. II, sec. 4, Mont. Const., because although Ch. 664 effectively created two classes of retired judges, it operates equally upon those within each class. Nearly all such legislation creates classifications regarding applicability, benefits, and recipients of retirement benefits. The fact that some of the classifications are imperfect does not necessarily mandate a conclusion that they violate equal protection. Under the rational basis test, which is the proper test in this case, the legitimate government interest of encouraging judges with significant years of service to remain in service longer was met. Thus, the 1989 amendment to this section was not unreasonable or arbitrary or devoid of rational basis. Gulbrandson v. Carey, 272 M 494, 901 P2d 573, 52 St. Rep. 843 (1995), following Hughes v. Judges Retirement Bd., 282 NW 2d 160 (Mich. 1979), and distinguishing Leonard v. Seattle, 503 P2d 741 (Wash. 1972).

Attorney General's Opinions

Increased Retirement Allowance Prospective Only: The 1989 amendment to this section increasing the benefit allowance from 1% to 1.785%, which became effective July 1, 1991, was intended to encourage judges to remain on the bench rather than to benefit judges who had already retired. Therefore, absent a legislative implication of retroactivity, the increase did not apply retroactively to judges who retired prior to July 1, 1991, regardless of whether they retired before or after the date the amendment was enacted in 1989. 44 A.G. Op. 44 (1992).

Amendment effective April 23, 1997.

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 370, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 and 3] [19-2-908 and 19-2-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules.

A fundamental purpose of the public employee retirement systems is to provide members with a federal income tax-deferred retirement plan. To qualify for federally deferred income tax status, each retirement plan must conform with the requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code, which may be amended from time to time.

It is the intent of the legislature that Montana statutory provisions in conflict with section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code and related federal regulations and that would result in a retirement plan being disqualified are ineffective or must be interpreted so that the retirement plans may retain tax-deferred status.

It is the further intent of the legislature to clarify when a member of a retirement system becomes a retiree. The retirement date is the date on which the member accepts the first benefit payment. An inactive member who has not met all eligibility requirements for retirement, including proper submission of a written application for retirement benefits, should not be considered a "retiree" during the period of time before the member actually began receiving benefit payments, even though the member may later receive payments retroactive to an earlier commencement date. Because retirees may not earn membership service or purchase service credits in the retirement systems and active and inactive members may not receive benefit adjustments granted to current retirees, it is imperative to the actuarial soundness of the systems to clarify the retirement date of each member."

1993 Amendment: Chapter 265 near beginning substituted "member" for "contributor", substituted "service" for "employment", substituted "survivorship benefit" for "retirement allowance", before "beneficiary" inserted "designated", and substituted second sentence regarding survivorship benefit for former second sentence that read: "Such retirement allowance shall consist of:

(2) the actuarial equivalent of a state annuity which, when added to the member's annuity, will provide a total annuity equal to the allowance provided for in 19-5-502"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 287, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 through 3] [19-2-1101, now repealed, 19-3-1605, 19-5-901, 19-6-710, 19-7-711, 19-8-1105, 19-9-1009, and 19-13-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt rules to implement the provisions of the bill.

It is the intent of the legislature to guarantee a minimum level of annual benefit increases for retired members and their contingent annuitants or survivors under each of the statewide public employee retirement systems. The legislature also intends to fund this guaranteed annual benefit adjustment (GABA) in the most cost-effective manner possible.

Because the GABA is intended to address the erosion of retirement benefits caused by inflation as cost-effectively as possible, it is the intent of the legislature that the guaranteed annual 1.5% minimum adjustment not begin until after the original benefit has been paid for at least 36 months.

Because it is most cost-effective to reduce current unfunded liabilities as well as to avoid future unfunded liabilities and to fund new benefits as they accrue, the bill provides that the GABA be substituted for other benefits in cases in which the GABA is as valuable or more valuable to members. The resulting actuarial savings will reduce the additional funding required for the GABA.

In the public employees', sheriffs', and game wardens' [now game wardens' and peace officers'] retirement systems, all members will automatically be covered by the GABA provided for in this bill instead of the current postretirement adjustments based on investment earnings.

In the highway patrol officers', municipal police officers', firefighters' unified, and judges' retirement systems, in which the substitution of the GABA in place of other benefits is not a clear benefit enhancement for all current members, it is the intent of the legislature that the members be provided with a thorough analysis of the benefits to be substituted so that members may individually and irrevocably elect whether to be covered under the provisions of this bill. However, it is not the intent of the legislature that the retirement board or its administrative staff be required to recommend a specific or best choice to individual members.

It is the intent of the legislature that all future members of these systems be covered by the GABA in place of certain other benefits."

2001 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 99 in (1) and (2) after "1985" inserted "has attained normal retirement age and". The amendment in (2) was rendered void by Ch. 193. Amendment effective March 21, 2001.

Chapter 193 near beginning after "A member" deleted "first employed by the Montana highway patrol on or before July 1, 1985"; deleted former (2) that read: "(2) A member first employed by the Montana highway patrol after July 1, 1985, is eligible to receive a service retirement benefit when the member has reached age 50, completed 20 years or more of membership service, and terminated service"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 3, 2001.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 370 deleted former (2) and (3) that read: "(2) A member eligible to receive a retirement benefit, as provided in subsection (1), shall apply in writing to the division.

(3) (a) Except as provided in subsection (3)(b), the retirement benefit may commence on the first day of the month following the member's last day of covered service or, if requested by the inactive member in writing, on the first day of the month following receipt of the written application.

(b) The retirement benefit for an eligible member who has terminated service must commence no later than the first day of the month following the member's 60th birthday"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 23, 1997.

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 370, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 and 3] [19-2-908 and 19-2-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules.

A fundamental purpose of the public employee retirement systems is to provide members with a federal income tax-deferred retirement plan. To qualify for federally deferred income tax status, each retirement plan must conform with the requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code, which may be amended from time to time.

It is the intent of the legislature that Montana statutory provisions in conflict with section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code and related federal regulations and that would result in a retirement plan being disqualified are ineffective or must be interpreted so that the retirement plans may retain tax-deferred status.

It is the further intent of the legislature to clarify when a member of a retirement system becomes a retiree. The retirement date is the date on which the member accepts the first benefit payment. An inactive member who has not met all eligibility requirements for retirement, including proper submission of a written application for retirement benefits, should not be considered a "retiree" during the period of time before the member actually began receiving benefit payments, even though the member may later receive payments retroactive to an earlier commencement date. Because retirees may not earn membership service or purchase service credits in the retirement systems and active and inactive members may not receive benefit adjustments granted to current retirees, it is imperative to the actuarial soundness of the systems to clarify the retirement date of each member."

1993 Amendment: Chapter 265 throughout section substituted references to service retirement benefit or retirement benefit for references to service retirement allowance or retirement allowance; at end of (1)(a) substituted "membership service and terminating service" for "creditable service and terminating covered employment"; at end of (1)(b) substituted

Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1989 Amendment: At end of (1)(a) and (1)(b) inserted clause referring to termination of covered employment; at end of (2), after "department", deleted "setting forth at what time he desires to be retired, which may not be less than 30 days or more than 90 days subsequent to the filing thereof"; at beginning of (3)(a) inserted exception clause, after "allowance" substituted "may" for "must", and near middle, after "employment", inserted "or, if requested by the terminated member in writing, on the first day of the month following receipt of the written application"; inserted (3)(b) that read: "(b) The retirement allowance for an eligible terminated member must commence no later than the first day of the month following the member's 60th birthday"; and made minor changes in phraseology and punctuation. Amendment effective March 20, 1989.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 19, Ch. 196, L. 1989, provided: "[This act] applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to persons who were members of the retirement systems on or after January 1, 1989."

1985 Amendment: Substituted language of (1) and (2) (see 1985 Session Law for text) for former (1) that read: "A member in service who has completed at least 20 years of creditable service may retire on a service retirement allowance upon written application to the department setting forth at what time he desires to be retired, not less than 30 days or more than 90 days subsequent to the filing thereof."

1983 Amendment: Inserted (2) specifying date of commencement of retirement allowance.

1981 Amendment: Added "based on a retirement age of 60" at the end of (2).

Attorney General's Opinions

Involuntary Retirement: This section, prior to the 1985 amendments, had to be interpreted to the effect that a patrolman who was discontinued from service, not voluntarily, after having completed 10 years of service but before reaching age 60, could elect to take either of the following as his retirement allowance: (a) the full amount of accumulated deductions standing to his credit; or (b) the actuarial equivalent of the accrued portion of the service retirement allowance which would have been payable to him commencing at age 60, pursuant to the following section, had he not discontinued service. Retirement allowances heretofore granted under an erroneous interpretation must stand unchanged by this subsequent reinterpretation. 36 A.G. Op. 24 (1975).

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 287, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 through 3] [19-2-1101, now repealed, 19-3-1605, 19-5-901, 19-6-710, 19-7-711, 19-8-1105, 19-9-1009, and 19-13-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt rules to implement the provisions of the bill.

It is the intent of the legislature to guarantee a minimum level of annual benefit increases for retired members and their contingent annuitants or survivors under each of the statewide public employee retirement systems. The legislature also intends to fund this guaranteed annual benefit adjustment (GABA) in the most cost-effective manner possible.

Because the GABA is intended to address the erosion of retirement benefits caused by inflation as cost-effectively as possible, it is the intent of the legislature that the guaranteed annual 1.5% minimum adjustment not begin until after the original benefit has been paid for at least 36 months.

Because it is most cost-effective to reduce current unfunded liabilities as well as to avoid future unfunded liabilities and to fund new benefits as they accrue, the bill provides that the GABA be substituted for other benefits in cases in which the GABA is as valuable or more valuable to members. The resulting actuarial savings will reduce the additional funding required for the GABA.

In the public employees', sheriffs', and game wardens' [now game wardens' and peace officers'] retirement systems, all members will automatically be covered by the GABA provided for in this bill instead of the current postretirement adjustments based on investment earnings.

In the highway patrol officers', municipal police officers', firefighters' unified, and judges' retirement systems, in which the substitution of the GABA in place of other benefits is not a clear benefit enhancement for all current members, it is the intent of the legislature that the members be provided with a thorough analysis of the benefits to be substituted so that members may individually and irrevocably elect whether to be covered under the provisions of this bill. However, it is not the intent of the legislature that the retirement board or its administrative staff be required to recommend a specific or best choice to individual members.

It is the intent of the legislature that all future members of these systems be covered by the GABA in place of certain other benefits."

Attorney General's Opinions

Payments in Case of Patrolman's Death From Natural Causes: The beneficiary of a deceased patrolman who dies of natural causes before attaining age 60, regardless of his length of service, had a choice under this section (as it read prior to the 1985 amendment) of either: (a) taking the full amount of the accumulated deductions standing to the decedent's credit; or (b) taking an annuity which would be the actuarial equivalent of the accrued portion of the service retirement allowance which would have been payable to the decedent commencing at age 60 had death not discontinued his service. 36 A.G. Op. 24 (1975).

If there is no designated beneficiary, death payments must be paid to the member's estate." Amendment effective March 21, 2001.

2003 Amendment: Chapter 429 in definition of compensation after "remuneration paid" substituted remainder of definition concerning source of payment for services or authorized leave for "for services to a member out of funds controlled by an employer before any pretax deductions allowed by the Internal Revenue Code are made"; in definition of highest average compensation in first sentence after "compensation" substituted "during any 36 consecutive months of membership service" for "any 3 years of continuous service from which contributions were deducted", after "has not served" substituted "at least 36 months" for "3 years", and at end substituted "of service" for "served" and in second sentence near middle after "paid to" substituted "the member" for "an employee"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2003.

2001 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 99 substituted highest average compensation for final average salary as defined term, near beginning of first sentence of definition after "means the" inserted "highest", and at end of second sentence substituted "highest average compensation" for "final average salary"; and at end of definition of sheriff inserted "with the requisite professional certification and licensing" and deleted former second sentence that read: "The board shall adopt rules incorporating both the peace officers standards and training council's current law enforcement training requirements and the legislatively authorized salary requirements as effective for deputy sheriffs who are eligible for membership in this retirement system." Amendment effective March 21, 2001.

Chapter 149 in definition of final average salary near beginning of second sentence after "payments for" inserted "severance pay, including payment for compensatory leave"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 29, 2001.

1995 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 412, L. 1995, provided in part: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because 19-7-101 gives the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt rules that clarify the training and salary requirements for persons to be eligible for membership in the sheriffs' retirement system because of their appointment as deputy sheriffs.

It is the intent of the legislature that only full-time, professional law enforcement officers be eligible for membership in the sheriffs' retirement system. Because persons without the requisite training and salary required to be paid to deputy sheriffs have been erroneously reported to the sheriffs' retirement system in the past, it is the intent of this bill to require the board to adopt rules that will reflect up-to-date training and salary requirements for appointed deputy sheriffs acting in a professional law enforcement capacity.

The legislature intends that persons employed in the following positions and who are not permanent, full-time law enforcement officers employed by county sheriffs not be eligible for membership in this retirement system: jailers; communications officers; other administrative, clerical, or support personnel; and other persons deputized to act as reserve deputies."

Severability: Section 28, Ch. 412, L. 1995, was a severability clause.

1993 Amendments: Chapter 261 inserted definition of investigator; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 370 deleted (2) and (3) that read: "(2) A member electing to retire shall apply in writing to the board.

(b) The retirement benefit for an eligible inactive member must commence no later than the first day of the month following the member's 65th birthday.

(c) If an elected official's term of office expires before the 15th day of the month, the official may elect to retire on the first day of the last month of the term of office. An official electing this option may not earn service or compensation for purposes of final average salary under the retirement system in that month, and compensation earned in that month is not subject to employer or member contributions"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 23, 1997.

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 370, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 and 3] [19-2-908 and 19-2-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules.

A fundamental purpose of the public employee retirement systems is to provide members with a federal income tax-deferred retirement plan. To qualify for federally deferred income tax status, each retirement plan must conform with the requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code, which may be amended from time to time.

It is the intent of the legislature that Montana statutory provisions in conflict with section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code and related federal regulations and that would result in a retirement plan being disqualified are ineffective or must be interpreted so that the retirement plans may retain tax-deferred status.

It is the further intent of the legislature to clarify when a member of a retirement system becomes a retiree. The retirement date is the date on which the member accepts the first benefit payment. An inactive member who has not met all eligibility requirements for retirement, including proper submission of a written application for retirement benefits, should not be considered a "retiree" during the period of time before the member actually began receiving benefit payments, even though the member may later receive payments retroactive to an earlier commencement date. Because retirees may not earn membership service or purchase service credits in the retirement systems and active and inactive members may not receive benefit adjustments granted to current retirees, it is imperative to the actuarial soundness of the systems to clarify the retirement date of each member."

1995 Amendment: Chapter 162 in (1), after "A member", deleted "initially elected or appointed before July 1, 1989" and substituted "20 years" for "24 years"; and deleted (1)(b), which allowed a member elected or appointed on or after July 1, 1989, with at least 24 years of service and who was 50 or more years old to retire on a service retirement benefit. Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 265 in (1)(a), before first "service", inserted "membership" and at end substituted "service retirement benefit" for "service retirement allowance"; in (1)(b), before first "service", inserted "membership", substituted "terminated service" for "terminated covered employment", and at end substituted "service retirement benefit" for "service retirement allowance"; in (3)(a) substituted "retirement benefit" for "retirement allowance", before "service" deleted "membership", and substituted "inactive member" for "terminated member"; in (3)(b) substituted "retirement benefit" for "retirement allowance" and substituted "inactive member" for "terminated member"; in (3)(c), in second sentence, substituted "compensation for purposes of final average salary under the retirement system" for "salary credits" and at end substituted "member contributions" for "employee contributions"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1989 Amendments: Chapter 122 inserted (1)(a) relating to member initially elected or appointed before July 1, 1989, who has completed at least 24 years of service; in (1)(b) substituted "member initially elected or appointed on or after July 1, 1989" for "sheriff in service", decreased years of service to 24 years from 25 years, and decreased age to 50 years from 55 years; and in (2) made minor change in phraseology relating to application in writing. Amendment effective July 1, 1989.

Chapter 196 near middle of (1), after "55 years", inserted "and terminated covered employment" and at end, after "board", deleted "submitted not less than 30 days or more than 90 days from the desired date of retirement"; at beginning of (3)(a) inserted exception clause, after "allowance" substituted "may" for "must", and at end, after "service", inserted "or, if requested by the terminated member in writing, on the first day of the month following receipt of the written application"; inserted (3)(b) that read: "(b) The retirement allowance for an eligible terminated member must commence no later than the first day of the month following the member's 65th birthday"; inserted (3)(c) regarding optional retirement of an elected official; and made minor changes in phraseology and punctuation. Amendment effective March 20, 1989.

1983 Amendment: In (1), deleted last sentence, which read: "The application must state the date he desires to be retired."; inserted (3) specifying date of commencement of retirement allowance.

2005 Amendment: Chapter 36 in (3) at end of first sentence substituted "sheriff's office" for "sheriff's department". Amendment effective October 1, 2005.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 370 in (1), at end of fourth sentence, inserted "or when, if a position is available, the recipient cannot be reinstated under subsection (2) for reasons unrelated to the disability"; in (2)(a), at beginning of first sentence, inserted exception clause and near end, after "position in", substituted "a comparable pay and benefit category" for "the same classification"; inserted (2)(b) regarding applicability of standards necessary for reinstatement; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 23, 1997.

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 370, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 and 3] [19-2-908 and 19-2-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules.

A fundamental purpose of the public employee retirement systems is to provide members with a federal income tax-deferred retirement plan. To qualify for federally deferred income tax status, each retirement plan must conform with the requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code, which may be amended from time to time.

It is the intent of the legislature that Montana statutory provisions in conflict with section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code and related federal regulations and that would result in a retirement plan being disqualified are ineffective or must be interpreted so that the retirement plans may retain tax-deferred status.

It is the further intent of the legislature to clarify when a member of a retirement system becomes a retiree. The retirement date is the date on which the member accepts the first benefit payment. An inactive member who has not met all eligibility requirements for retirement, including proper submission of a written application for retirement benefits, should not be considered a "retiree" during the period of time before the member actually began receiving benefit payments, even though the member may later receive payments retroactive to an earlier commencement date. Because retirees may not earn membership service or purchase service credits in the retirement systems and active and inactive members may not receive benefit adjustments granted to current retirees, it is imperative to the actuarial soundness of the systems to clarify the retirement date of each member."

1995 Amendment: Chapter 412 in (1), in third sentence, substituted "essential elements" for "duties"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 13, 1995.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 29(2), Ch. 412, L. 1995, provided that this section applies retroactively to initial disability determinations and reviews of ongoing disability status on and after January 1, 1994.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 265 throughout section substituted references to disability retirement benefit for references to disability retirement allowance or retirement allowance; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 287, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 through 3] [19-2-1101, now repealed, 19-3-1605, 19-5-901, 19-6-710, 19-7-711, 19-8-1105, 19-9-1009, and 19-13-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt rules to implement the provisions of the bill.

It is the intent of the legislature to guarantee a minimum level of annual benefit increases for retired members and their contingent annuitants or survivors under each of the statewide public employee retirement systems. The legislature also intends to fund this guaranteed annual benefit adjustment (GABA) in the most cost-effective manner possible.

Because the GABA is intended to address the erosion of retirement benefits caused by inflation as cost-effectively as possible, it is the intent of the legislature that the guaranteed annual 1.5% minimum adjustment not begin until after the original benefit has been paid for at least 36 months.

Because it is most cost-effective to reduce current unfunded liabilities as well as to avoid future unfunded liabilities and to fund new benefits as they accrue, the bill provides that the GABA be substituted for other benefits in cases in which the GABA is as valuable or more valuable to members. The resulting actuarial savings will reduce the additional funding required for the GABA.

In the public employees', sheriffs', and game wardens' [now game wardens' and peace officers'] retirement systems, all members will automatically be covered by the GABA provided for in this bill instead of the current postretirement adjustments based on investment earnings.

In the highway patrol officers', municipal police officers', firefighters' unified, and judges' retirement systems, in which the substitution of the GABA in place of other benefits is not a clear benefit enhancement for all current members, it is the intent of the legislature that the members be provided with a thorough analysis of the benefits to be substituted so that members may individually and irrevocably elect whether to be covered under the provisions of this bill. However, it is not the intent of the legislature that the retirement board or its administrative staff be required to recommend a specific or best choice to individual members.

It is the intent of the legislature that all future members of these systems be covered by the GABA in place of certain other benefits."

Case Notes

Retirement Under Consolidated Government — Benefits From Last System to Which Contributed: Plaintiff retired as a law enforcement officer from Butte-Silver Bow. Prior to the city-county consolidation, he was a Deputy Sheriff. When he retired and applied for benefits, the State calculated options to be offered him under 19-7-701 (renumbered 19-7-1001), the Sheriffs' Retirement System. Plaintiff contended he was entitled to benefits under 19-9-804 and 19-9-911 (renumbered 19-9-1101) of the Police Officers' Retirement System. All parties agreed that eligibility was determined under 19-7-308(1) (renumbered 19-7-801(1)). The Supreme Court held that the statutory provisions are clear and unambiguous. In such a case, rules of statutory construction have no application, so that the court gave no deference to the agency's interpretation. The dispute centered around 19-7-308(2) (renumbered 19-7-801(2)) and whether it merely determines which laws govern eligibility for death benefits or also which laws govern calculation of death benefits. The court held that under 19-7-308(2) (renumbered 19-7-801(2)) death benefits are calculated according to the provisions of the system to which the officer last made contributions. The codification instruction placing 19-7-308 (renumbered 19-7-801) under the provisions of the Sheriffs' Retirement System was only for ease of reference as between the systems. Death benefits are calculable and payable under the Police Officers' Retirement System. (See 2001 amendment.) Bay v. St., 212 M 258, 688 P2d 1, 41 St. Rep. 1725 (1984).

Case Notes

Retirement Under Consolidated Government — Benefits From Last System to Which Contributed: Plaintiff retired as a law enforcement officer from Butte-Silver Bow. Prior to the city-county consolidation, he was a Deputy Sheriff. When he retired and applied for benefits, the State calculated options to be offered him under 19-7-701 (renumbered 19-7-1001), the Sheriffs' Retirement System. Plaintiff contended he was entitled to benefits under 19-9-804 and 19-9-911 (renumbered 19-9-1101) of the Police Officers' Retirement System. All parties agreed that eligibility was determined under 19-7-308(1) (renumbered 19-7-801(1)). The Supreme Court held that the statutory provisions are clear and unambiguous. In such a case, rules of statutory construction have no application, so that the court gave no deference to the agency's interpretation. The dispute centered around 19-7-308(2) (renumbered 19-7-801(2)) and whether it merely determines which laws govern eligibility for death benefits or also which laws govern calculation of death benefits. The court held that under 19-7-308(2) (renumbered 19-7-801(2)) death benefits are calculated according to the provisions of the system to which the officer last made contributions. The codification instruction placing 19-7-308 (renumbered 19-7-801) under the provisions of the Sheriffs' Retirement System was only for ease of reference as between the systems. Death benefits are calculable and payable under the Police Officers' Retirement System. Bay v. St., 212 M 258, 688 P2d 1, 41 St. Rep. 1725 (1984).

Chapter 464 in (1) near end, after "shall be", deleted "deducted from his salary and"; inserted (2) requiring employer to "pick up" employee's contribution; inserted (3) designating "picked up" contributions as member's contributions and requiring separate accounting; and inserted (4) requiring "picked up" contributions to be paid from member's compensation.

Contractual Obligations of Employer to Increase Contributions: Employee contributions to the Montana State Game Wardens' (now Game Wardens' and Peace Officers') Retirement System cannot be increased unless benefits which will accrue to members at retirement are increased; however, the state, through legislation, may increase the employer contributions without any increase in benefits which will accrue to members at retirement. 35 A.G. 2005 Amendment: Chapter 329 substituted first sentence providing what an employer must contribute for "Each month, state employers shall pay to the pension trust fund a sum equal to 9% of the total compensation paid to their covered employees." Amendment effective July 1, 2005.

1997 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 223 near beginning substituted "state employers" for "state treasurer", after "trust fund" deleted "out of the department of fish, wildlife, and parks funds", and at end substituted "the total compensation paid to their covered employees" for "all members' salaries". Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Chapter 287 increased required state contribution monthly rate from "8.15%" to "9%". Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Chapter 532 inserted second sentence requiring a departmental funding request to defray the state's costs of implementing this section. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

The codifier has chosen to codify the last sentence although it was plainly intended to refer only to game wardens who are employees of the Department of Fish, Wildlife, and Parks.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 509 at beginning deleted "To fund the employer's portion of the normal cost of benefits under this chapter" and substituted "8.15%" for "7.15%"; deleted (1)(b) that read: "(b) out of funds collected as fines and forfeited bonds under the provisions of 87-1-601(1) through (5) or funds distributed under 3-10-601(4), an amount equal to 1% of all members' salaries"; deleted (2) that read: "(2) In addition to the contributions provided in subsection (1), the state treasurer shall pay to the pension trust fund the balance of the funds distributed to the fish and game account pursuant to 3-10-601 until the unfunded liability in the pension trust fund is fully paid and a verification statement to that effect is given to the state treasurer by the board"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

1993 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 265 in three places substituted "pension trust fund" for "account", near middle substituted "collections must be paid" for "collections are statutorily appropriated", and near end substituted "is paid" for "is solvent"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

Chapter 450 at beginning of introductory clause of (1) inserted "To fund the employer's portion of the normal cost of benefits under this chapter" and at end substituted "pension trust fund" for "account"; in (1)(a) and in two places in (1)(b) substituted "funds" for "moneys"; at end of (1)(b) substituted "an amount equal to 1% of all members' salaries" for "all such collections are statutorily appropriated to the account"; at beginning of (2) inserted "In addition to the contributions provided in subsection (1), the state treasurer shall pay to the pension trust fund the balance of the funds distributed to the fish and game account pursuant to 3-10-601" and near middle substituted "fully paid" for "solvent"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

The Ch. 265 substitution of "collections must be paid" for "collections are statutorily appropriated" in (1)(b) was rendered meaningless by the Ch. 450 amendment.

1993 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 450, L. 1993, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [section 2] [19-8-1110(4)] gives the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules to implement the cost-of-living adjustment provided in the bill.

It is the intent of the legislature to provide a one-time ad hoc cost-of-living adjustment to each member of the game wardens' [now game wardens' and peace officers'] retirement system who has been retired for 5 years or more, to the member's beneficiary, or to the member's contingent annuitant. The cost of the adjustment will be paid by increasing the amortization period of the system's unfunded liabilities.

It is further the intent of the legislature that the proposed statutory retirement committee established in House Bill No. 65 be assigned by the legislative council to develop legislation providing an equitable guaranteed annual benefit adjustment for each of Montana's statewide public retirement systems and that the legislation be presented to the 54th legislature for consideration. It is further the intent of the legislature that the cost of holding hearings and developing the legislation be paid by retirement systems and donations from public employee and retiree associations."

Coordination: Section 7, Ch. 450, L. 1993, provided: "If Senate Bill No. 203 is not passed and approved, then [this act] is void." Senate Bill No. 203 was passed and approved as Ch. 367, L. 1993; therefore, Ch. 450, L. 1993, is valid.

1991 Amendment: Near middle inserted reference to subsections (1) through (5) of 87-1-601. Amendment effective March 1, 1992.

Applicability: Section 22, Ch. 609, L. 1991, provided: "On passage and approval of [this act], the board of land commissioners shall commence proceedings to adopt rules to be effective March 1, 1992. The department of state lands [functions transferred to department of natural resources and conservation] and the department of fish, wildlife, and parks shall commence proceedings and arrangements necessary to establish a recreational use license to be effective March 1, 1992." Approved April 24, 1991.

1987 Amendment: Near middle, after "87-1-601", inserted "or moneys distributed under 3-10-601(4)".

1985 Amendment: Near middle of section, after "all such collections", inserted "are statutorily appropriated to the account".

1981 Amendment: Changed state's contribution from 7% to 7.15%.

Interim Study Committee Bill: Chapter 549, L. 1981 (HB 45), was introduced at the request of the Study Committee on Public Retirement Systems. See committee report, Legislative Council, 1980.

2001 Amendment: Chapter 99 at beginning after "A member" deleted "in service", near middle after "50 years" substituted "has attained normal retirement age and" for "and terminated service", and at end after "retirement benefit" substituted "by filing a written application with the board" for "upon written application to the board"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 21, 2001.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 370 deleted (2) that read: "(2) (a) Except as provided in subsection (2)(b), the retirement benefit may commence on the first day of the month following the member's last day of service or, if requested by the inactive member in writing, on the first day of the month following receipt of the written application.

(b) The retirement benefit for an eligible inactive member must commence no later than the first day of the month following the member's 60th birthday"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 23, 1997.

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 370, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 and 3] [19-2-908 and 19-2-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules.

A fundamental purpose of the public employee retirement systems is to provide members with a federal income tax-deferred retirement plan. To qualify for federally deferred income tax status, each retirement plan must conform with the requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code, which may be amended from time to time.

It is the intent of the legislature that Montana statutory provisions in conflict with section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code and related federal regulations and that would result in a retirement plan being disqualified are ineffective or must be interpreted so that the retirement plans may retain tax-deferred status.

It is the further intent of the legislature to clarify when a member of a retirement system becomes a retiree. The retirement date is the date on which the member accepts the first benefit payment. An inactive member who has not met all eligibility requirements for retirement, including proper submission of a written application for retirement benefits, should not be considered a "retiree" during the period of time before the member actually began receiving benefit payments, even though the member may later receive payments retroactive to an earlier commencement date. Because retirees may not earn membership service or purchase service credits in the retirement systems and active and inactive members may not receive benefit adjustments granted to current retirees, it is imperative to the actuarial soundness of the systems to clarify the retirement date of each member."

1993 Amendment: Chapter 265 in three places substituted "retirement benefit" for "retirement allowance"; in (1) substituted "membership service" for "creditable service" and substituted "terminated service" for "terminated covered employment"; in (2)(a) substituted "last day of service" for "last day of covered employment" and substituted "inactive member" for "terminated member"; in (2)(b) substituted "inactive member" for "terminated member"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1989 Amendment: In (1), after "service", deleted "and who has", after "50 years" inserted "and terminated covered employment", and at end, after "board", deleted "setting forth at what time, not less than 30 days or more than 90 days subsequent to the filing thereof, he desires to be retired"; at beginning of (2)(a) inserted exception clause, after "allowance" substituted "may" for "must", and after "employment" inserted "or, if requested by the terminated member in writing, on the first day of the month following receipt of the written application'; and inserted (2)(b) that read: "(b) The retirement allowance for an eligible terminated member must commence no later than the first day of the month following the member's 60th birthday"; and made minor changes in phraseology and punctuation. Amendment effective March 20, 1989.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 19, Ch. 196, L. 1989, provided: "[This act] applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to persons who were members of the retirement systems on or after January 1, 1989."

1985 Amendments: Chapter 249 in (1) changed "55" to "50". Chapters 249 and 86 deleted former (2) that read: "Retirement shall be compulsory at age 60."

1983 Amendment: Inserted (3) specifying date of commencement of retirement allowance.

1981 Amendment: In (1) decreased number of years service needed from 25 years to 20 years.

Applicability: Section 5, Ch. 592, L. 1981, provided: "The amendments made by sections 2, 3, and 4 of this act apply only to persons who join the retirement system following the effective date of this act." Effective October 1, 1981.

Case Notes

Original Action Involving Interpretation of Statute Allowed Without Exhaustion of Administrative Remedies: Game warden mandatorily retired under 19-8-601 lost a complaint proceeding before the Montana Commission for Human Rights, did not pursue further administrative remedies, and brought a District Court action to declare the statute invalid. The exhaustion of administrative remedies doctrine did not preclude redress, because: (1) the court action was an original action and not a judicial review of an administrative action, and (2) the Commission ruling was an interpretation of law that must be made by the judiciary. Taylor v. Dept. of Fish, Wildlife, & Parks, 205 M 85, 666 P2d 1228, 40 St. Rep. 1112 (1983). (See the 1985 amendment note to this section. The amendment deleted the compulsory retirement provision.)

Valid Reason for Mandatory Retirement — Legislative, Not Judicial Task: Since compulsory game warden (now game wardens' and peace officers') retirement statute contained no qualifications or justification, it would be in excess of the authority of a court hearing a warden's suit challenging the statute's validity to hold a factfinding hearing to determine whether there was a basis for the age discrimination grounded in the reasonable demands of the position. Such a determination is a legislative function; the effort would be great; and the Legislature, not the courts, has the resources for such an undertaking. Taylor v. Dept. of Fish, Wildlife, & Parks, 205 M 85, 666 P2d 1228, 40 St. Rep. 1112 (1983). (See the 1985 amendment note to this section. The amendment deleted the compulsory retirement provision.)

Mandatory Game Warden Retirement Without Exception or Justification — Impliedly Repealed: Sections 49-2-303 and 49-3-201, making it unlawful for an employer to refuse employment or discriminate against an employee because of his age when the reasonable demands of the position do not require an age distinction and requiring state officials and personnel to recruit, appoint, treat, and promote personnel without regard to age, being later enacted statutes than the provision of 19-8-601 requiring compulsory retirement of game wardens at age 60, impliedly repealed the retirement provision in order to effectuate the clear intent of the Legislature to prevent all age discrimination in employment unless age is related to job performance. The antidiscrimination statutes are very broad prohibitions with very limited exceptions and indicate legislative intent to abolish all discrimination in employment except under the most limited circumstances. Furthermore, there must be justification for any age discrimination to bring it within the purview of a Title 49 exception to the antidiscrimination prohibitions, and the exceptions will be strictly construed. The game warden (now game wardens' and peace officers') retirement statute contains no justification or qualification. Taylor v. Dept. of Fish, Wildlife, & Parks, 205 M 85, 666 P2d 1228, 40 St. Rep. 1112 (1983), distinguished in Ross v. Great Falls, 1998 MT 276, 291 M 377, 967 P2d 1103, 55 St. Rep. 1127 (1998). (See the 1985 amendment note to this section. The amendment deleted the compulsory retirement provision.)

Compliance With Federal Law — Age Discrimination Act Inapplicable: Validity of this section's provision (as it read prior to 1985 amendment) that "retirement shall be compulsory at age 60" did not depend upon whether the classification of persons over 60 is a reasonable one under the terms of the federal Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, for Congress, in the exercise of its power under the Commerce Clause, may not regulate the working conditions of state employees engaged in purely governmental functions, and the federal act was enacted under the Commerce Clause. 1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 370, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 and 3] [19-2-908 and 19-2-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules.

A fundamental purpose of the public employee retirement systems is to provide members with a federal income tax-deferred retirement plan. To qualify for federally deferred income tax status, each retirement plan must conform with the requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code, which may be amended from time to time.

It is the intent of the legislature that Montana statutory provisions in conflict with section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code and related federal regulations and that would result in a retirement plan being disqualified are ineffective or must be interpreted so that the retirement plans may retain tax-deferred status.

It is the further intent of the legislature to clarify when a member of a retirement system becomes a retiree. The retirement date is the date on which the member accepts the first benefit payment. An inactive member who has not met all eligibility requirements for retirement, including proper submission of a written application for retirement benefits, should not be considered a "retiree" during the period of time before the member actually began receiving benefit payments, even though the member may later receive payments retroactive to an earlier commencement date. Because retirees may not earn membership service or purchase service credits in the retirement systems and active and inactive members may not receive benefit adjustments granted to current retirees, it is imperative to the actuarial soundness of the systems to clarify the retirement date of each member."

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 287, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 through 3] [19-2-1101, now repealed, 19-3-1605, 19-5-901, 19-6-710, 19-7-711, 19-8-1105, 19-9-1009, and 19-13-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt rules to implement the provisions of the bill.

It is the intent of the legislature to guarantee a minimum level of annual benefit increases for retired members and their contingent annuitants or survivors under each of the statewide public employee retirement systems. The legislature also intends to fund this guaranteed annual benefit adjustment (GABA) in the most cost-effective manner possible.

Because the GABA is intended to address the erosion of retirement benefits caused by inflation as cost-effectively as possible, it is the intent of the legislature that the guaranteed annual 1.5% minimum adjustment not begin until after the original benefit has been paid for at least 36 months.

Because it is most cost-effective to reduce current unfunded liabilities as well as to avoid future unfunded liabilities and to fund new benefits as they accrue, the bill provides that the GABA be substituted for other benefits in cases in which the GABA is as valuable or more valuable to members. The resulting actuarial savings will reduce the additional funding required for the GABA.

In the public employees', sheriffs', and game wardens' [now game wardens' and peace officers'] retirement systems, all members will automatically be covered by the GABA provided for in this bill instead of the current postretirement adjustments based on investment earnings.

In the highway patrol officers', municipal police officers', firefighters' unified, and judges' retirement systems, in which the substitution of the GABA in place of other benefits is not a clear benefit enhancement for all current members, it is the intent of the legislature that the members be provided with a thorough analysis of the benefits to be substituted so that members may individually and irrevocably elect whether to be covered under the provisions of this bill. However, it is not the intent of the legislature that the retirement board or its administrative staff be required to recommend a specific or best choice to individual members.

It is the intent of the legislature that all future members of these systems be covered by the GABA in place of certain other benefits."

19-8-1110. Ad hoc cost-of-living increase.

Compiler's Comments

1993 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 450, L. 1993, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [section 2] [19-8-1110(4)] gives the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules to implement the cost-of-living adjustment provided in the bill.

It is the intent of the legislature to provide a one-time ad hoc cost-of-living adjustment to each member of the game wardens' [now game wardens' and peace officers'] retirement system who has been retired for 5 years or more, to the member's beneficiary, or to the member's contingent annuitant. The cost of the adjustment will be paid by increasing the amortization period of the system's unfunded liabilities.

It is further the intent of the legislature that the proposed statutory retirement committee established in House Bill No. 65 be assigned by the legislative council to develop legislation providing an equitable guaranteed annual benefit adjustment for each of Montana's statewide public retirement systems and that the legislation be presented to the 54th legislature for consideration. It is further the intent of the legislature that the cost of holding hearings and developing the legislation be paid by retirement systems and donations from public employee and retiree associations."

Coordination: Section 7, Ch. 450, L. 1993, provided: "If Senate Bill No. 203 is not passed and approved, then [this act] is void." Senate Bill No. 203 was passed and approved as Ch. 367, L. 1993; therefore, Ch. 450, L. 1993, is valid.

The service represented by these contributions will be credited in the same manner as provided in 19-9-401.

(2) When an injured officer accepts a transfer under 7-32-4136 to a nonpolice position within the municipality covered under 19-3-401, all service and contributions previously credited with the municipal police officers' retirement system shall be transferred from the municipal police officers' retirement system pension trust fund along with the interest to the public employees' retirement system pension trust fund. The employer contributions and interest transferred will be equal to the amount that would have been contributed had the transferred service been normal employment covered under the public employees' retirement system." Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1983 Amendment: Changed two references to the retirement account in the agency fund to the pension trust fund.

In the case of a member first employed by an employer as a police officer after June 30, 1975, the contribution is 9% of the member's compensation. In the case of a member first employed by an employer as a police officer after June 30, 1979, the contribution is 10.5% of the member's compensation"; inserted (2) requiring covered member to pay rate of 11% after July 1, 1997; near end of (3) inserted reference to subsection (2); and made minor changes in style. 19-9-801. Eligibility for service retirement — commencement of benefit.

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendment: Chapter 99 substituted language outlining eligibility for service retirement and commencement of benefits for former language that read: "(1) Members are eligible for retirement as provided in this section.

(2) A member is eligible to receive a service retirement benefit when the member has completed 20 years or more of membership service and has terminated service.

(3) A member who terminates service after completing at least 5 years of membership service but prior to completing 20 years of membership service is eligible to receive a service retirement benefit when the member has reached 50 years of age." Amendment effective March 21, 2001.

1997 Amendments: Chapter 250 in (3) substituted "5 years" for "10 years"; and in (4)(b) substituted "no earlier than" for "no later than" and substituted "50th birthday" for "55th birthday" (voided by Ch. 370 amendment). Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Chapter 370 deleted (4) that read: "(4) (a) Except as provided in subsection (4)(b), the retirement benefit may commence on the first day of the month following the member's minimum retirement date or, if requested by the inactive member in writing, on the first day of the month following receipt of the written application.

(b) The retirement benefit for an eligible inactive member must commence no later than the first day of the month following the member's 55th birthday." Amendment effective April 23, 1997.

Section Not Codified: Section 6, Ch. 250, L. 1997, provided: "The provisions of [this act] expressly supersede and modify the requirements of 1-2-112 through 1-2-116."

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 370, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 and 3] [19-2-908 and 19-2-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules.

A fundamental purpose of the public employee retirement systems is to provide members with a federal income tax-deferred retirement plan. To qualify for federally deferred income tax status, each retirement plan must conform with the requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code, which may be amended from time to time.

It is the intent of the legislature that Montana statutory provisions in conflict with section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code and related federal regulations and that would result in a retirement plan being disqualified are ineffective or must be interpreted so that the retirement plans may retain tax-deferred status.

It is the further intent of the legislature to clarify when a member of a retirement system becomes a retiree. The retirement date is the date on which the member accepts the first benefit payment. An inactive member who has not met all eligibility requirements for retirement, including proper submission of a written application for retirement benefits, should not be considered a "retiree" during the period of time before the member actually began receiving benefit payments, even though the member may later receive payments retroactive to an earlier commencement date. Because retirees may not earn membership service or purchase service credits in the retirement systems and active and inactive members may not receive benefit adjustments granted to current retirees, it is imperative to the actuarial soundness of the systems to clarify the retirement date of each member."

1993 Amendment: Chapter 265 in (1), after "retirement", deleted "and shall retire"; in (2), after "A member", deleted "employed by an employer as a police officer", after "retirement" substituted "benefit" for "allowance", substituted "membership service" for "qualified service", and at end, after "terminated", substituted "service" for "covered employment"; in (3), after "terminates", substituted "service" for "employment as a police officer with an employer", in two places substituted "membership service" for "qualified service", and substituted "retirement benefit" for "retirement allowance"; in (4)(a) substituted reference to subsection (4)(b) for reference to subsection (3)(b), substituted "retirement benefit" for "retirement allowance", and substituted "inactive member" for "terminated member"; in (4)(b) substituted "retirement benefit" for "retirement allowance" and substituted "inactive member" for "terminated member"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1991 Amendments: Chapter 178 near end of (1) and (2), after "20 years or more", substituted "of qualified service" for "in the aggregate as a probationary officer, a regular officer, or a special officer, in any capacity or rank". Amendment effective March 26, 1991.

Chapter 631 in (1), after "police officer", deleted "on July 1, 1975"; deleted former (2) that read: "(2) A member who was or is first employed by an employer as a police officer after July 1, 1975, is eligible to receive a service retirement allowance when he has reached the age of 50, has completed 20 years or more in the aggregate as a probationary officer, a regular officer, or a special officer, in any capacity or rank, and has terminated covered employment"; in (3)(a) changed subsection reference; and made minor change in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

Section 2, Ch. 822, near middle of (1) substituted "20 years or more of qualified service" for "20 years or more in the aggregate as a probationary officer, a regular officer, or a special officer, in any capacity or rank"; and in (3)(a), near middle after "following the member's", substituted "minimum retirement date" for "last day of membership service". Section 9, Ch. 822, a coordination instruction, in (1), after "officer", deleted "on July 1, 1975"; and in (2) substituted "A member who terminates employment as a police officer with an employer after completing at least 10 years of qualified service but prior to completing 20 years of qualified service is eligible to receive a service retirement allowance when he has reached 50 years of age" for "A member who was or is first employed by an employer as a police officer after July 1, 1975, is eligible to receive a service retirement allowance when he has reached the age of 50, has completed 20 years or more in the aggregate as a probationary officer, a regular officer, or a special officer, in any capacity or rank, and has terminated covered employment". Amendments effective July 1, 1991.

Composite Section: The Code Commissioner has codified the version of subsection (2) of this section found in sec. 9, Ch. 822, L. 1991, that contains the substance of the changes made to subsection (2) of this section by sec. 3, Ch. 178, L. 1991.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 4, Ch. 178, L. 1991, provided: "[This act] applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to retirements on or after January 1, 1991."

1989 Amendment: At end of (1) and (2) inserted "and has terminated covered employment"; at beginning of (3)(a) inserted exception clause, after "allowance" substituted "may" for "must", and at end, after "service", inserted "or, if requested by the terminated member in writing, on the first day of the month following receipt of the written application"; inserted (3)(b) that read: "(b) The retirement allowance for an eligible terminated member must commence no later than the first day of the month following the member's 55th birthday"; and made minor changes in punctuation and phraseology. Amendment effective March 20, 1989.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 19, Ch. 196, L. 1989, provided: "[This act] applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to persons who were members of the retirement systems on or after January 1, 1989."

1985 Amendment: Deleted former (3) that read: "Police officers, whether first employed before or after July 1, 1975, who reach the age of 65 while in active service shall retire."

1983 Amendment: Inserted (4) specifying date of commencement of retirement allowance.

Attorney General's Opinions

Clarification of Police Service Retirement: The language of 19-9-802(2) (now repealed) requires a police officer hired after July 1, 1975, to remain an officer each additional year between his 20th year of service and his reaching the age of 50 in order to be eligible for service retirement. 2005 Amendment: Chapter 329 in (2)(b) in second sentence near beginning substituted "paid pursuant to 19-2-803" for "made to the child's appointed guardian for the child's use"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2005.

1993 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 265 substituted (1) that read: "(1) A member with at least 20 years of membership service must receive a retirement benefit equal to the sum of:

(a) 2.5% of the member's final average compensation for each year of service credit up to and including 20 years; and

(b) 1% of the member's final average compensation for each year of service credit after 20 years" (not codified — see compiler's comment) for former (1) through (3) that read: "(1) A police officer with 20 years of qualified service who is eligible under 19-9-801 and does not elect to serve any additional years as an active police officer shall receive a service retirement allowance equal to one-half his final average salary.

(2) A police officer who is eligible for service retirement under 19-9-801 after 20 years of qualified service and who elects to serve additional years shall receive the allowance provided for in subsection (1) plus an additional 1% of his final average salary for each year of additional qualified service, up to a maximum of 60% of his final average salary.

(3) A member who is eligible for service retirement under 19-9-801 with less than 20 years of qualified service shall receive a retirement allowance equal to 2.5% of his final average salary for each year of qualified service"; inserted (2) regarding limitation on total monthly benefit (not codified — see compiler's comment); inserted (3) regarding amount of retirement benefit for member retiring with less than 20 years of membership service (not codified — see compiler's comment); in (2), throughout subsection, substituted references to member for references to police officer or officer; in (2)(a) substituted "retirement benefit under subsection (1)" for "retirement allowance under subsection (1) or (2)", before "fund" inserted "pension trust", substituted "a benefit equal to" for "a sum equal to", and at end substituted "final average compensation" for "final average salary"; in (2)(b) substituted "service retirement benefit" for "service retirement allowance", before "fund" inserted "pension trust", substituted "a benefit equal to" for "a sum equal to", and substituted "benefit" for "allowance"; in (4)(c), near end of first sentence after "dependent", inserted "child" (not codified — see compiler's comment); and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

Chapter 522 deleted former (1) providing for 20-year service retirement (see 1993 Session Law for text); deleted former (2) providing for 20-year service retirement and additional qualified service retirement (see 1993 Session Law for text); in (1), after "under 19-9-801", deleted "with less than 20 years of qualified service"; in (4)(a), after "benefit", inserted "based on at least 20 years of service" and in (2)(b), after "allowance", inserted "based on less than 20 years of service" ((4) amendments rendered meaningless by deletion of sentence by Ch. 265); and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

Chapter 620 in (2)(a), after "(2)", inserted "or (3)" (this amendment was not codified by the codifier due to Ch. 265 amendments) and after "equal to" deleted former language that read: "one-half of the officer's final average salary.

(b) Upon the death of a member receiving a service retirement allowance under subsection (3), his surviving spouse, if there is one, shall receive from the fund a sum equal to"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 7, 1993.

Compiler's Comment: Chapter 265 contained an introductory phrase that read: "(1) A member with at least 20 years of membership service must receive a retirement benefit equal to the sum of".

Chapter 522 contained an introductory phrase that read: "(1) A member who is eligible for service retirement under 19-9-801 must receive a retirement allowance equal to . . . ."

Because both chapters struck the introductory language of the other, thereby rendering the introductory phrase meaningless, the compiler has combined the language into the current introductory phrase to reflect the apparent intent of both chapters.

The insertion of (1)(a) and (1)(b) by Ch. 265 was parallel to former (2). The provision in (1)(b) concerning 1% for years of service in excess of 20 was not codified because that provision was deleted by Ch. 522. Chapter 265 apparently did not intend to make a substantive change in benefits. The compiler has not codified the inserted benefit language from Ch. 265 because that concept was deleted by Ch. 522.

The compiler has codified the apparent intent of the three chapters.

Style and gender neutral changes throughout the section were slightly different in the three chapters. In each case, the codifier chose the most appropriate of the three.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 6, Ch. 620, L. 1993, provided: "[Section 3] [19-9-804] applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to benefits paid on or after July 1, 1975."

1991 Amendments: Chapter 631 in (1) deleted subsection references to 19-9-801. Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

Section 4, Ch. 822, in (1), near beginning after "police officer", inserted "with 20 years of qualified service"; in (2), near beginning after "retirement", inserted "under subsection (1) or (2) of 19-9-801", substituted "after 20 years of qualified service" for "after 20 years of service", and near end substituted "additional qualified service" for "additional service"; inserted (3) regarding retirement allowance for member with less than 20 years of qualified service; in (4)(a), near beginning after "allowance under", substituted "subsection (1) or (2)" for "this section"; and inserted (4)(b) concerning surviving spouse receiving amount equal to officer's allowance at time of death. Section 9, Ch. 822, a coordination instruction, in (1), (2), and (3) deleted subsection references to 19-9-801. Amendments effective July 1, 1991.

1989 Amendments: Chapter 63 in first sentence of (3), after "shall", deleted "for as long as the spouse remains unmarried" and in second sentence, after "the death", deleted "or remarriage". Amendment effective July 1, 1989.

Chapter 196 near middle of (2), after "1% of", substituted "his final average salary for each year" for "such allowance per year"; and made minor change in phraseology. Amendment effective March 20, 1989.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 8, Ch. 63, L. 1989, provided: "[This act] applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to surviving spouses who remarry on or after January 1, 1989."

Section 19, Ch. 196, L. 1989, provided: "[This act] applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to

1985 Amendments: Chapter 86 near middle of (1), after "police officer", deleted "or who is retired under 19-9-801(3) prior to reaching 20 years of service"; and deleted former (3) that read: "A police officer who is retired under 19-9-801(3) and who was theretofore eligible at his option to be retired under subsection (1) or (2) of 19-9-801 but elected to serve additional years shall be paid for the additional years over his original eligibility at the rate prescribed in subsection (2)."

Chapter 350 deleted former (3) in same manner as Ch. 86 but inserted (3) providing for continuation of allowance after death of retired officer.

Case Notes

Retirement Under Consolidated Government — Benefits From Last System to Which Contributed: Plaintiff retired as a law enforcement officer from Butte-Silver Bow. Prior to the city-county consolidation, he was a Deputy Sheriff. When he retired and applied for benefits, the State calculated options to be offered him under 19-7-701 (renumbered 19-7-1001), the Sheriffs' Retirement System. Plaintiff contended he was entitled to benefits under 19-9-804 and 19-9-911 (renumbered 19-9-1101) of the Police Officers' Retirement System. All parties agreed that eligibility was determined under 19-7-308(1) (renumbered 19-7-801(1)). The Supreme Court held that the statutory provisions are clear and unambiguous. In such a case, rules of statutory construction have no application, so that the court gave no deference to the agency's interpretation. The dispute centered around 19-7-308(2) (renumbered 19-7-801(2)) and whether it merely determines which laws govern eligibility for death benefits or also which laws govern calculation of death benefits. The court held that under 19-7-308(2) (renumbered 19-7-801(2)) death benefits are calculated according to the provisions of the system to which the officer last made contributions. The codification instruction placing 19-7-308 (renumbered 19-7-801) under the provisions of the Sheriffs' Retirement System was only for ease of reference as between the systems. Death benefits are calculable and payable under the Police Officers' Retirement System. Bay v. St., 212 M 258, 688 P2d 1, 41 St. Rep. 1725 (1984).

2005 Amendment: Chapter 329 in (3) in first and second sentences near beginning substituted "inactive" for "retired". Amendment effective July 1, 2005.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 370 in (1)(a), at beginning of first sentence, inserted exception clause and near end, after "position in", substituted "a comparable pay and benefit category" for "the same classification"; inserted (1)(b) regarding applicability of standards necessary for reinstatement; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 23, 1997.

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 370, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 and 3] [19-2-908 and 19-2-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules.

A fundamental purpose of the public employee retirement systems is to provide members with a federal income tax-deferred retirement plan. To qualify for federally deferred income tax status, each retirement plan must conform with the requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code, which may be amended from time to time.

It is the intent of the legislature that Montana statutory provisions in conflict with section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code and related federal regulations and that would result in a retirement plan being disqualified are ineffective or must be interpreted so that the retirement plans may retain tax-deferred status.

It is the further intent of the legislature to clarify when a member of a retirement system becomes a retiree. The retirement date is the date on which the member accepts the first benefit payment. An inactive member who has not met all eligibility requirements for retirement, including proper submission of a written application for retirement benefits, should not be considered a "retiree" during the period of time before the member actually began receiving benefit payments, even though the member may later receive payments retroactive to an earlier commencement date. Because retirees may not earn membership service or purchase service credits in the retirement systems and active and inactive members may not receive benefit adjustments granted to current retirees, it is imperative to the actuarial soundness of the systems to clarify the retirement date of each member."

1993 Amendment: Chapter 265 in (1), in two places, substituted "disability retirement benefit" for "disability retirement allowance", in two places, before "member", deleted "inactive", and at beginning substituted "A retired member" for "Any inactive member"; in (3), in two places, substituted "retired member" for "inactive member", in two places, after "returning to", substituted "service with" for "active work for", and in second sentence substituted "termination of service" for "termination of employment", substituted "retirement benefit" for "retirement allowance", and near end, after "service retirement", inserted "date"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1981 Amendment: Inserted "whichever is first open" after "same classification with duties within his capacity" near the middle of (1); added (2) allowing city to request medical or psychological review of officer to be reinstated.

This payment is in addition to the payment to be made by the state auditor under 19-9-702"; in (3), in two places before "benefits", deleted "supplementary"; and made minor changes in style. spouse of such police officer had that spouse been receiving payments in the base fiscal year"; inserted (2)(d) regarding original amount of benefits; in (2)(e) substituted "compensation that will be paid during" for "base salary for" and substituted "retirement system" for "plan"; in (3), in first sentence, substituted "division" for "department of administration", substituted reference to subsections (2)(c) through (2)(e) for reference to subsections (2)(d)(i) through (2)(d)(iii), and substituted "one-half the compensation to be paid during" for "one-half the base salary for", in second sentence, after "reported to", deleted "and paid by", after "state auditor" inserted "who shall pay the difference to the pension trust fund", and substituted "no later than November 1" for "to the administrator no later than September 1", and in third sentence, near beginning, substituted "compensation" for "base salary", substituted "October 1" for "August 1", substituted "division" for "department", and substituted "current compensation" for "base salary"; in (4), in first sentence after "17-7-502", inserted "for the payment of supplemental retirement benefits to eligible retired members and their survivors" and deleted last sentence that read: "The administrator shall use the funds received under this subsection to supplement the monthly payments to persons described in subsections (2)(a) through (2)(c) so that the requirements of subsection (1) are met"; deleted former (4) that read: "(4) In addition to the payments made by the auditor as provided in subsection (3), the auditor shall make annual payments of $100,000 after the end of each fiscal year but no later than September 1, until the sum of $500,000 has been paid to the administrator for deposit in the retirement account. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1991 Amendment: In (1), (2)(e), and (3) substituted "current fiscal year" for "previous calendar year"; in (2) substituted "August 1" for "April 1"; and in (3), near end of second sentence after "administrator", deleted "after the end of each fiscal year, but" and inserted third sentence concerning retroactive adjustments to individual supplemental benefits. Chapter 566 changed the internal reference in (3) to risks enumerated in 19-11-512 (renumbered 19-18-512) from 19-11-512(5) (renumbered 19-18-512(5)) to 19-11-512(3) (renumbered 19-18-512(3)). An amendment to 19-11-512 (renumbered 19-18-512) by Ch. 566, L. 1981, renumbered the subsections of 19-11-512 (renumbered 19-18-512) which required an amendment to this section.

Chapter 575 in (3), substituted "19-11-512(6) [renumbered 19-18-512(6)]" for "19-11-512(5) [renumbered 19-18-512(5)]".

The Code Commissioner has codified the amendment made by Ch. 566, in favor of the amendment made by Ch. 575, inasmuch as both new subsection references are traceable to the same language in 19-11-512 (renumbered 19-18-512) and the Ch. 566 amendment is the most appropriate in light of the renumbering of the subsections of 19-11-512 (renumbered 19-18-512) by Ch. 566.

ARM 2.43.611 Municipal police officers' supplemental benefits and allowance adjustments.

Attorney General's Opinions

Limitation of Allowance Adjustment to One-Time Adjustment: The allowance adjustment in 19-9-1011 (now repealed) was not intended to provide an annual cost-of-living increase, but rather to provide for an adjustment of the monthly allowance of a police officer who retired on or after July 1, 1975, and before July 1, 1985, in order to bring the allowance up to one-half of a newly hired active police officer's salary as of July 1, 1985, in each city. (See 1989 amendment.) 42 A.G. Op. 79 (1988).

Payment of Pension Supplement: The first supplemental payment to recipients was intended to be made in July 1977, requiring immediate lump-sum payments retroactive to then, followed by monthly payments from the present. The appropriate funding to be implemented may be determined by the administrator of the Public Employees' Retirement Division (now by the Public Employees' Retirement Board) in conformity with this opinion. 37 A.G. Op. 77 (1977).

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 287, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 through 3] [19-2-1101, now repealed, 19-3-1605, 19-5-901, 19-6-710, 19-7-711, 19-8-1105, 19-9-1009, and 19-13-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt rules to implement the provisions of the bill.

It is the intent of the legislature to guarantee a minimum level of annual benefit increases for retired members and their contingent annuitants or survivors under each of the statewide public employee retirement systems. The legislature also intends to fund this guaranteed annual benefit adjustment (GABA) in the most cost-effective manner possible.

Because the GABA is intended to address the erosion of retirement benefits caused by inflation as cost-effectively as possible, it is the intent of the legislature that the guaranteed annual 1.5% minimum adjustment not begin until after the original benefit has been paid for at least 36 months.

Because it is most cost-effective to reduce current unfunded liabilities as well as to avoid future unfunded liabilities and to fund new benefits as they accrue, the bill provides that the GABA be substituted for other benefits in cases in which the GABA is as valuable or more valuable to members. The resulting actuarial savings will reduce the additional funding required for the GABA.

In the public employees', sheriffs', and game wardens' [now game wardens' and peace officers'] retirement systems, all members will automatically be covered by the GABA provided for in this bill instead of the current postretirement adjustments based on investment earnings.

In the highway patrol officers', municipal police officers', firefighters' unified, and judges' retirement systems, in which the substitution of the GABA in place of other benefits is not a clear benefit enhancement for all current members, it is the intent of the legislature that the members be provided with a thorough analysis of the benefits to be substituted so that members may individually and irrevocably elect whether to be covered under the provisions of this bill. However, it is not the intent of the legislature that the retirement board or its administrative staff be required to recommend a specific or best choice to individual members.

It is the intent of the legislature that all future members of these systems be covered by the GABA in place of certain other benefits."

1985 Amendment: Substituted language referring to eligibility of surviving spouse or dependent child to receive death benefits for "(1) A member's retirement allowance shall be paid first to the member during his lifetime and, upon his death, in the manner and to the persons designated in subsection (2).

(2) Upon the death of a police officer before or after retirement, his surviving spouse, if there is one, shall, as long as such spouse remains unmarried, be paid from the fund a sum equal to one-half of the officer's final average salary. If the officer leaves one or more dependent children, then, upon his death if he leaves no surviving spouse or upon the death or remarriage of the surviving spouse, his surviving dependent child, collectively if there is more than one, shall receive the same monthly payments a surviving spouse would receive as long as the child or one of the children remains dependent as defined in 19-9-104. Case Notes

Retirement Under Consolidated Government — Benefits From Last System to Which Contributed: Plaintiff retired as a law enforcement officer from Butte-Silver Bow. Prior to the city-county consolidation, he was a Deputy Sheriff. When he retired and applied for benefits, the State calculated options to be offered him under 19-7-701 (renumbered 19-7-1001), the Sheriffs' Retirement System. Plaintiff contended he was entitled to benefits under 19-9-804 and 19-9-911 (renumbered 19-9-1101) of the Police Officers' Retirement System. All parties agreed that eligibility was determined under 19-7-308(1) (renumbered 19-7-801(1)). The Supreme Court held that the statutory provisions are clear and unambiguous. In such a case, rules of statutory construction have no application, so that the court gave no deference to the agency's interpretation. The dispute centered around 19-7-308(2) (renumbered 19-7-801(2)) and whether it merely determines which laws govern eligibility for death benefits or also which laws govern calculation of death benefits. The court held that under 19-7-308(2) (renumbered 19-7-801(2)) death benefits are calculated according to the provisions of the system to which the officer last made contributions. The codification instruction placing 19-7-308 (renumbered 19-7-801) under the provisions of the Sheriffs' Retirement System was only for ease of reference as between the systems. Death benefits are calculable and payable under the Police Officers' Retirement System. Bay v. St., 212 M 258, 688 P2d 1, 41 St. Rep. 1725 (1984).

Chapter Case Notes

Judgment Against "State" Binding Against Two Agencies — Retirement Benefits Setoff Barred as Compulsory Counterclaim: During a longstanding dispute by firefighters employed by the Montana Air National Guard and involving several separate lawsuits, the plaintiff was fired and began receiving retirement benefits. The plaintiff sued "the State" for reinstatement of employment, lost wages, employment benefits during the period of termination, liquidated damages, and attorney fees and costs. After other firefighters' suits were decided in the firefighters' favor, the plaintiff settled with the Department of Military Affairs (DMA) for reinstatement, lost wages, lost annual leave and sick leave benefits, retirement contributions that the DMA would have made during the termination period, and attorney fees and costs of suit. After settlement, the Public Employees' Retirement System (PERS) claimed that it was entitled to repayment of the retirement benefits that the plaintiff had been paid before reinstatement. The DMA and PERS agreed to offset the settlement damages by the retirement amount. The Supreme Court held that the state's setoff claim was barred as a compulsory counterclaim, that both agencies were bound by the DMA's settlement agreement because they were the same party collectively known as the "State of Montana", and that the plaintiff was entitled to the full settlement amount without setoff. Peters v. St., 285 M 345, 948 P2d 250, 54 St. Rep. 1185 (1997).

Retirement Date for Firefighters: Prior to the enactment of sec. 7, Ch. 53, L. 1983, firefighters were able to retire during the month and receive pro rata credit for the portion of that month after retirement. Testimony on the 1983 legislation states that its purpose is to establish uniform retirement dates and to ensure that all retirees would begin accruing their benefits on the first day of the month. Under 19-13-701(2), the retirement date for a firefighter retiring from active service is the first day of the month following his last day of membership service. On that day, and not before, his service retirement benefits become payable. 40 A.G. Op. 59 (1984).

1993 Amendment: Chapter 265 in two places substituted "retirement system" for "plan" and near end substituted "survivors" for "beneficiaries"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

Attorney General's Opinions

Unified Retirement — Firefighters Entitled to Prior Benefits: In converting to the Unified Retirement System, all eligible firefighters are entitled to all pension benefits accrued to them under the old retirement system. A firefighter's pension constitutes an element of compensation, and a vested contractual right to pension benefits, which are stated in the retirement plan during the firefighter's employment, accrues when he begins paying into the retirement fund. Vested pension rights include the provisions that were used to compute the adjusted benefits under the old system. Firefighters hired before July 1, 1973, and who retired during the period from July 1, 1973, and July 1, 1981 (the time periods under the 1981 law, prior to 1983 amendment to 19-13-1007), were entitled to all pension benefits accrued to them under the old retirement system. 39 A.G. 1993 Amendment: Chapter 265 in (1), in two places, substituted "retirement system" for "plan" and near end substituted "required actuarial valuation" for "actuarial valuation required in 19-13-504"; and in (2), in first sentence, substituted "the amount determined to be necessary" for "an amount needed" and before "city" inserted "liabilities of the". Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

19-13-213. Excess unfunded liabilities of prior plans.

Compiler's Comments

1993 Amendment: Chapter 265 in (2), in two places, substituted "board" for "administrator", near beginning of first sentence substituted "retirement system" for "plan", and in second sentence, after "for deposit", substituted "in the pension trust fund" for "with the administrator"; and deleted (3) that read: "(3) For each city with an unfunded liability, any portion of the member, the employer, and state contributions that exceeds the amount necessary to maintain the current level of unfunded liability must be applied to the reduction of the unfunded liability." Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1991 Amendment: In (2), in first sentence, substituted "within 6 months after a city is granted membership in the plan" for "on or before October 1, 1986" and at end substituted "the city's previous plan" for "each city participating in the plan created by this chapter" and in second sentence substituted "previous" for "prior", before "is not funded" deleted "as of July 1, 1986", after "administrator" substituted "the city" for "the state auditor", and near end, after "period of time", deleted "from the premium taxes on insurance risks enumerated in 19-11-512"; deleted former (3) that required the administrator to credit accounts for payments in excess of amount necessary to amortize the city's liabilities; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

Chapter 661, twice in (2), substituted "1986" for "1984"; following first sentence of (2) deleted "The determination must be negotiated between each city and the administrator."; inserted "For" at beginning of second sentence of (2); at end of (2) substituted "the administrator, the state auditor shall pay ... city's excess liability" for "the administrator shall pay an additional sum over a period of time to amortize its excess liability as determined by agreement between the city and the administrator."; and substituted (3) allowing administrator to credit his accounts for excess payments for "Each city determined by the administrator to be paying an amount in excess of the amount necessary to amortize its liabilities under the prior plan and under this chapter shall receive a credit in the accounts of the administrator for the excess payments." Chapter 661 became effective July 1, 1983.

Chapter 661 amended the duties of the administrator and date of evaluation of a plan effective approximately 3 months later than Ch. 286. However, as those duties and date of evaluation are prospective and must be accomplished or determined long after the effective date of both chapters, the differing effective dates appear inconsequential.

19-13-214. Taxing authority of employers.

Compiler's Comments

2001 Amendment: Chapter 574 near middle after "chapter" substituted "the appropriate authority of the city may, subject to 15-10-420, levy a tax that along with other revenue" for "whenever the demand for deposits of such contributions cannot be met within the general taxing authority and other revenues available to the city for that purpose, the appropriate authority of the city may levy any additional tax authorized by law until the general taxing authority and other revenue"; deleted former (2) and (3) that read: "(2) "General taxing authority", as used in this section, means that levy which the city may make under the all-purpose levy or under multiple-purpose levies, if the city is using multiple-purpose levies.

(3) No provision of any statute relating to the all-purpose levy may be so construed as to limit the additional taxing authority created by this section"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

Unified Retirement — Firefighters Entitled to Prior Benefits: In converting to the Unified Retirement System, all eligible firefighters are entitled to all pension benefits accrued to them under the old retirement system. A firefighter's pension constitutes an element of compensation, and a vested contractual right to pension benefits, which are stated in the retirement plan during the firefighter's employment, accrues when he begins paying into the retirement fund. Vested pension rights include the provisions that were used to compute the adjusted benefits under the old system. Firefighters hired before July 1, 1973, and who retired during the period from July 1, 1973, and July 1, 1981 (the time periods under the 1981 law, prior to 1983 amendment to 19-13-1007), were entitled to all pension benefits accrued to them under the old retirement system. 39 A.G. 1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 370, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 and 3] [19-2-908 and 19-2-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules.

A fundamental purpose of the public employee retirement systems is to provide members with a federal income tax-deferred retirement plan. To qualify for federally deferred income tax status, each retirement plan must conform with the requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code, which may be amended from time to time.

It is the intent of the legislature that Montana statutory provisions in conflict with section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code and related federal regulations and that would result in a retirement plan being disqualified are ineffective or must be interpreted so that the retirement plans may retain tax-deferred status.

It is the further intent of the legislature to clarify when a member of a retirement system becomes a retiree. The retirement date is the date on which the member accepts the first benefit payment. An inactive member who has not met all eligibility requirements for retirement, including proper submission of a written application for retirement benefits, should not be considered a "retiree" during the period of time before the member actually began receiving benefit payments, even though the member may later receive payments retroactive to an earlier commencement date. Because retirees may not earn membership service or purchase service credits in the retirement systems and active and inactive members may not receive benefit adjustments granted to current retirees, it is imperative to the actuarial soundness of the systems to clarify the retirement date of each member."

Attorney General's Opinions

Retirement Date for Firefighters: Prior to the enactment of sec. 7, Ch. 53, L. 1983, firefighters were able to retire during the month and receive pro rata credit for the portion of that month after retirement. Testimony on the 1983 legislation states that its purpose is to establish uniform retirement dates and to ensure that all retirees would begin accruing their benefits on the first day of the month. Under 19-13-701(2), the retirement date for a firefighter retiring from active service is the first day of the month following his last day of membership service. On that day, and not before, his service retirement benefits become payable. 40 A.G. Op. 59 (1984).

Unified Retirement — Firefighters Entitled to Prior Benefits: In converting to the Unified Retirement System, all eligible firefighters are entitled to all pension benefits accrued to them under the old retirement system. 1997 Amendment: Chapter 370 in (1), in fourth sentence after "examination", inserted "or if, when a position is available, the recipient cannot be reinstated under 19-13-805 for reasons unrelated to the disability". Amendment effective April 23, 1997.

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 370, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 and 3] [19-2-908 and 19-2-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules.

A fundamental purpose of the public employee retirement systems is to provide members with a federal income tax-deferred retirement plan. To qualify for federally deferred income tax status, each retirement plan must conform with the requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code, which may be amended from time to time.

It is the intent of the legislature that Montana statutory provisions in conflict with section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code and related federal regulations and that would result in a retirement plan being disqualified are ineffective or must be interpreted so that the retirement plans may retain tax-deferred status.

It is the further intent of the legislature to clarify when a member of a retirement system becomes a retiree. The retirement date is the date on which the member accepts the first benefit payment. An inactive member who has not met all eligibility requirements for retirement, including proper submission of a written application for retirement benefits, should not be considered a "retiree" during the period of time before the member actually began receiving benefit payments, even though the member may later receive payments retroactive to an earlier commencement date. Because retirees may not earn membership service or purchase service credits in the retirement systems and active and inactive members may not receive benefit adjustments granted to current retirees, it is imperative to the actuarial soundness of the systems to clarify the retirement date of each member."

1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 287, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 through 3] [19-2-1101, now repealed, 19-3-1605, 19-5-901, 19-6-710, 19-7-711, 19-8-1105, 19-9-1009, and 19-13-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt rules to implement the provisions of the bill.

It is the intent of the legislature to guarantee a minimum level of annual benefit increases for retired members and their contingent annuitants or survivors under each of the statewide public employee retirement systems. The legislature also intends to fund this guaranteed annual benefit adjustment (GABA) in the most cost-effective manner possible.

Because the GABA is intended to address the erosion of retirement benefits caused by inflation as cost-effectively as possible, it is the intent of the legislature that the guaranteed annual 1.5% minimum adjustment not begin until after the original benefit has been paid for at least 36 months.

Because it is most cost-effective to reduce current unfunded liabilities as well as to avoid future unfunded liabilities and to fund new benefits as they accrue, the bill provides that the GABA be substituted for other benefits in cases in which the GABA is as valuable or more valuable to members. The resulting actuarial savings will reduce the additional funding required for the GABA.

In the public employees', sheriffs', and game wardens' [now game wardens' and peace officers'] retirement systems, all members will automatically be covered by the GABA provided for in this bill instead of the current postretirement adjustments based on investment earnings.

In the highway patrol officers', municipal police officers', firefighters' unified, and judges' retirement systems, in which the substitution of the GABA in place of other benefits is not a clear benefit enhancement for all current members, it is the intent of the legislature that the members be provided with a thorough analysis of the benefits to be substituted so that members may individually and irrevocably elect whether to be covered under the provisions of this bill. However, it is not the intent of the legislature that the retirement board or its administrative staff be required to recommend a specific or best choice to individual members.

It is the intent of the legislature that all future members of these systems be covered by the GABA in place of certain other benefits."

Senate Bill No. 197 was passed and approved as Ch. 391, L. 2005.

2001 Amendment: Chapter 99 in definition of pension trust fund after "pay" inserted "claims and"; in definition of retiree or retired member after "participation benefits" inserted "or disability benefits"; and at end of definition of service substituted "fiscal year increments" for "fiscal years". 1997 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 370, L. 1997, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [sections 1 and 3] [19-2-908 and 19-2-1010] give the public employees' retirement board authority to adopt administrative rules.

A fundamental purpose of the public employee retirement systems is to provide members with a federal income tax-deferred retirement plan. To qualify for federally deferred income tax status, each retirement plan must conform with the requirements of section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code, which may be amended from time to time.

It is the intent of the legislature that Montana statutory provisions in conflict with section 401 of the Internal Revenue Code and related federal regulations and that would result in a retirement plan being disqualified are ineffective or must be interpreted so that the retirement plans may retain tax-deferred status.

It is the further intent of the legislature to clarify when a member of a retirement system becomes a retiree. The retirement date is the date on which the member accepts the first benefit payment. An inactive member who has not met all eligibility requirements for retirement, including proper submission of a written application for retirement benefits, should not be considered a "retiree" during the period of time before the member actually began receiving benefit payments, even though the member may later receive payments retroactive to an earlier commencement date. Because retirees may not earn membership service or purchase service credits in the retirement systems and active and inactive members may not receive benefit adjustments granted to current retirees, it is imperative to the actuarial soundness of the systems to clarify the retirement date of each member."

1995 Amendment: Chapter 175 inserted definitions of active member, benefit, claim, Department, dependent child, disability, Division, member, retiree, service, supplemental insurance, surviving spouse, survivorship benefit, and volunteer firefighter; redefined fire company and fiscal year; and substituted pension trust fund for fund as defined term. Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

1983 Amendments: Chapter 57 substituted "board provided for in 2-15-1009" for "board of the public employees' retirement system" in definition of Board; deleted former (2), which read:

CHAPTER 18
FIREFIGHTERS' RETIREMENT

Part 1
General Provisions

19-18-102. Formation of fire department relief association — membership.

Case Notes

Membership in Fire Department Relief Association — Legal Right: Plaintiff was temporarily employed as a fireman in the Missoula Fire Department beginning on Sept. 1, 1918. His employment was discontinued about April 30, 1919. On April 20, 1920, when he was past 45 years of age he was appointed to the position of auto mechanic. He was reappointed on a yearly basis until June 15, 1941, when the position was abolished. During his period of service he occasionally performed as a fireman but was never confirmed as such. Plaintiff never took any action seeking confirmation or followed the statutory procedure to gain membership. The fire department relief association was a creature of statute and supported by a statutory levy. The State may enforce such statutory requirements for membership as it chooses. Plaintiff did not meet these qualifications so could not be granted membership for purposes of receiving a pension. State ex rel. Russ v. Fire Dept. Relief Ass'n, 114 M 430, 136 P2d 989 (1943).

Attorney General's Opinions

Fire Chief or Assistant Chief as Member of Relief Association: Under 7-33-4106 and 7-33-4122, a chief or assistant chief of a municipal fire department is a confirmed member of the fire department. Section 19-11-102 (renumbered 19-18-102) authorizes the formation of a fire department relief association by the confirmed members of a fire department. Because a chief or an assistant chief is a confirmed member of his fire department, he could be a member of the fire department relief association. 39 A.G. Op. 22 (1981).

Qualifications for Membership in Firemen's Relief Association: A city or firemen's relief association had no authority to deduct firemen's relief association dues from the wages of a probationary fireman, nor could a probationary fireman willingly contribute to a firemen's relief association and thereby receive benefits from that association. 36 A.G. Op. 30 (1975).

Case Notes

Association Benefits for Members of Organized Fire Departments Only: To entitle a fireman to the benefits of the disability and pension fund of the firemen's relief association, he had to be a member of an organized fire department, whether it be a paid or voluntary one, and confirmed as such by the City or Town Council (19-11-103, renumbered 19-18-103, and 19-11-205, renumbered 19-18-205). Where a volunteer department was abolished, a member thereof could no longer qualify as an eligible member of the relief association. State ex rel. Casey v. Brewer, 107 M 550, 88 P2d 49 (1939).

Attorney General's Opinions

Fire Department Relief Association — Retired Firefighters — Benefits: A fire department relief association may decide whether retired firefighters should remain members of the association and what rights and duties they should have in it. Retired firefighters are ineligible for the blanket policy of insurance that the firefighters relief association is authorized to purchase under this section. Funeral expense money provided under this section is payable to a deceased firefighter's estate. 36 A.G. Op. 62 (1976).

Volunteer Firefighters: Volunteer firefighters in second-class cities are entitled to all relief association benefits other than the service pension. 35 A.G. Op. 67 (1974).

Blanket Insurance Policy: After the 1967 amendment to this section, a fire department relief association may purchase a blanket insurance policy that will compensate for death or injuries of members not incurred in the line of duty. 32 A.G. Op. 3 (1967).

Funeral Benefits — Right: Unless otherwise provided in its charter or bylaws, it is discretionary with a fire department relief association as to whether funeral benefits will be paid to either its active or retired members. 30 A.G. Op. 1 (1963).

Right of Widow to Pension: A firefighter's widow who remarries and whose remarriage is annulled ab initio has remained unmarried and is entitled to the widow's pension under the fire department association pension plan retroactive to the day her pension was cut off. 28 A.G. Op. 41 (1959).

2005 Amendment: Chapter 193 in (1) at beginning deleted "The purpose of this section is to provide a means by which" and after "fund" substituted "must be soundly funded. The fund is soundly funded if, subject to subsection (2)" for "may be"; in (1)(a) at beginning inserted "assets in the fund are"; inserted (1)(b) requiring that funding be maintained at an actuarially sound level; inserted (2) regarding request and conduct of an actuarial valuation; deleted former (2) that read: "(2) Subject to 15-10-420, if the fund contains less than 0.21% of the total assessed value of all taxable property within the limits of the city or town, the governing body of the city or town shall, at the time of the levy of the annual tax, levy a tax as provided in 19-18-504. The tax must be collected as other taxes are collected and, when collected, must be paid into the disability and pension fund"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 7, 2005.

2001 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 29 in (1) after "at least" substituted "0.21% but not more than 0.52% of the total assessed value of taxable property, determined as provided in 15-8-111" for "4% but no more than 10% of the taxable valuation of all taxable property"; and near beginning of (2) after "less than" substituted "0.21% of the total assessed value" for "4% of the taxable valuation". Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

Chapter 574 in (2) at beginning inserted "Subject to 15-10-420" and in two places before "tax" deleted "special"; deleted former (3) that read: "(3) If a special tax for the disability and pension fund is levied by a third-class city or town using the all-purpose mill levy, the special tax levy must be made in addition to the all-purpose levy"; and made minor changes in style. 1983 Amendment: Inserted (3) requiring special tax levy to be in addition to all-purpose mill levy.

1981 Amendment: Increased 2% to 3% wherever it appears.

No Authority of City to Levy Additional Special Tax to Fund Firefighters' Disability and Pension Fund When Maximum Mill Levy Already Imposed: This section authorizes a special tax levy as a means of maintaining a firefighters' disability and pension fund at a level equal to at least 4% but not more than 10% of the taxable valuation of all taxable property within the limits of a city or town. Whenever the fund contains less than 4% of the taxable valuation of all taxable property within the city limits, the governing body is required to levy a special tax as provided in 19-18-504. However, if the city has already imposed the maximum mill levy to fund the firefighters' disability and pension fund, it may not levy an additional special tax or seek voter approval for an additional special tax even if the fund's value is less that 4% of the taxable valuation of all taxable property within the city. (See 2001 and 2005 amendments.) 48 A.G. Op. 15 (2000).

All-Purpose Mill Levy — Forfeiture Powers: Municipalities that adopt the all-purpose mill levy authorized in 7-6-4452 (now repealed) forfeit the power to impose levies for any particular purpose not clearly excepted by statute. Thus, the all-purpose mill levy supplants the taxing authority granted in 7-33-4111, 19-10-301 (renumbered 19-19-301), and 19-11-503 (renumbered 19-18-503) (before 2005 amendment) but does not supplant the taxing authority granted in 7-32-4117, 7-33-4130, 19-3-204, 19-9-704 (renumbered 19-9-209), sec. 2, Ch. 324, L. 1975 (not codified), sec. 2, Ch. 359, L. 1975 (not codified), and sec. 3, Ch. 438, L. 1975 (not codified). 38 A.G. Amendment effective April 7, 2005.

2001 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 29 in first sentence after "less than" substituted "0.21% of the total assessed value of taxable property, determined as provided in 15-8-111" for "4% of the taxable valuation of all taxable property" and after "shall" inserted "subject to 15-10-420" and in second sentence after "less than" substituted "0.52% but more than 0.21% of the total assessed value" for "10% but more than 4% of the taxable valuation"; and made minor changes in style. Chapter 574 in first sentence after "council shall" substituted "subject to 15-10-420, levy an annual tax on the taxable value of all taxable property" for "levy an annual special tax of not less than 1 mill and not more than 4 mills on each dollar of taxable valuation of all taxable property" and at end of second sentence substituted "voters as provided in 15-10-425, levy an annual tax" for "voters, levy an annual special tax of not less than 1 mill and not more than 4 mills on each dollar of taxable valuation"; and made minor changes in style. 1999 Amendment: Chapter 553 in first sentence near middle inserted "or town" and inserted second sentence regarding levy of annual special tax; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective January 1, 2000.

1989 Amendment: Increased "3%" to "4%".

1981 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 566 deleted former subsections (1) and (2) that provided for a special tax levy of not more than 4 mills for first- and second-class cities; deleted "In cities of the third class" at the beginning of the section; and substituted "Whenever" for "when" at the beginning of the section.

Chapter 614 increased 2% to 3% in (1), (2)(a), (2)(b), and (3); and increased 1% to 1.5% in (2)(a).

Because the deletion of former subsections (1) and (2) by Ch. 566, L. 1981, is an amendment in the nature of a repeal, the Code Commissioner has not codified the amendments to these subsections contained in Ch. 614, L. 1981. See 1-2-204.

Part 6
Benefits

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Unified Retirement — Firefighters Entitled to Prior Benefits: In converting to the Unified Retirement System, all eligible firefighters are entitled to all pension benefits accrued to them under the old retirement system. A firefighter's pension constitutes an element of compensation, and a vested contractual right to pension benefits, which are stated in the retirement plan during the firefighter's employment, accrues when he begins paying into the retirement fund. Vested pension rights include the provisions that were used to compute the adjusted benefits under the old system. Firefighters hired before July 1, 1973, and who retired during the period from July 1, 1973, and July 1, 1981, are entitled to all pension benefits accrued to them under the old retirement system. 39 A.G. Op. 51 (1982).

Practical Effect of Section on Use of Funds: Although the provisions of 19-18-606 (now repealed) are in conflict on the issue of whether the funds to be paid to the various fire relief associations are to be used by the associations to supplement retirees' pensions or reimburse the associations' treasuries for pension adjustments already paid out, the practical effect of the law, at least for the first few years of its operation, is to provide the associations with funds at the beginning of the fiscal year from which they can supplement the pensions of the retirees for that fiscal year. 36 A.G. Op. 41 (1975).

Pension Adjustments: Section 19-18-606 (now repealed) required the treasurer of a fire department relief association to request and the State Auditor to issue from the earmarked revenue fund (changed to special revenue fund in 1983) an amount equal to the sum total of the annual dollar difference between what the retirees or their surviving spouses and children received from the fund of the relief association for the fiscal year just preceding and one-half of the sum paid by the respective city or town to the position of a confirmed active fireman for the fiscal year just preceding. 36 A.G. Op. 41 (1975).

Computation of Benefits: Insurance premiums paid on behalf of firefighters are not part of their "regular monthly salary" for purposes of computing pension benefits under 19-18-606 (now repealed). 36 A.G. Op. 40 (1975).

19-18-601. Benefits the association may provide.

Case Notes

Pensioner Without Vested Right in Pension: A pension granted by the public authorities was not a contractual obligation but a gratuitous allowance in the continuance of which the pensioner had no vested right, the pension being terminable at the will of the grantor. A City Council could abolish its volunteer fire department when in its judgment a paid department should be established and could also destroy the membership of a volunteer member in the firemen's relief association. State ex rel. Casey v. Brewer, 107 M 550, 88 P2d 49 (1939), explained in Clarke v. Ireland, 122 M 191, 199 P2d 965 (1948).

Incapacity Due to Illness: Under this section, a city fireman could properly be awarded benefits from the firemen's disability fund for incapacity from duty caused by illness in an amount equal to his monthly salary during the time of such incapacity. In such case the provisions of 19-11-602 (renumbered 19-18-602) and 19-11-604 (renumbered 19-18-604), providing for a service pension and limiting it to one-half the monthly salary last received by such member, had no application. State ex rel. Barry v. O'Leary, 83 M 445, 272 P 677 (1928).

Attorney General's Opinions

Right of Widow to Pension: A firefighter's widow who remarries and whose remarriage is annulled ab initio has remained unmarried and is entitled to the widow's pension under the fire department association pension plan retroactive to the day her pension was cut off. 28 A.G. Op. 41 (1959).

1983 Amendment: Near end of (3), increased monthly pension payment to volunteer firefighters from $100 to $150 a month.

Interpretation: Section 4, Ch. 484, L. 1977, read: "This act is not intended to increase or decrease benefits earned by present members under prior acts. In such a case the provisions of this section and 19-11-604 (renumbered 19-18-604), providing for a service pension and limiting it to one-half the monthly salary last received by such member, had no application. Attorney General's Opinions Determination of Length of Service: Eligibility for a service pension from a fire department relief association under this section is calculated on the basis of years of active duty as a fully paid firefighter and is not dependent upon the date of appointment or confirmation. 38 A.G. Op. 4 (1979).

19-18-604. Disability pension.

Compiler's Comments

1983 Amendment: Near end of (3), increased monthly disability pension for volunteer firefighters from $75 to $125.

Case Notes

Workmen's Compensation Proviso Unconstitutional: The provisions of a repealed section clearly impaired an obligation of contract and had to be declared unconstitutional insofar as they prohibited a fireman or his widow or orphan from receiving payments from the disability and pension fund if they were also receiving payments under the Workmen's Compensation Act (section 92-101, et seq., R.C.M. 1947, now repealed; see Title 39, ch. 71). State ex rel. Evans v. Fire Dept. Relief Ass'n, 138 M 172, 355 P2d 670 (1960).

Incapacity Due to Illness: Under 19-11-611 (renumbered 19-18-611), a city fireman could properly be awarded benefits from the firemen's disability fund for incapacity from duty caused by illness in an amount equal to his monthly salary during the time of such incapacity. In such a case the provisions of 19-11-602 (renumbered 19-18-602) and this section, providing for a service pension and limiting it to one-half the monthly salary last received by such member, had no application. State ex rel. Barry v. O'Leary, 83 M 445, 272 P 677 (1928).

Case Notes

Pensioner Without Vested Right in Pension: A pension granted by the public authorities was not a contractual obligation but a gratuitous allowance in the continuance of which the pensioner had no vested right, the pension being terminable at the will of the grantor. A City Council could abolish its volunteer fire department when in its judgment a paid department should be established and could also destroy the membership of a volunteer member in the firemen's relief association. State ex rel. Casey v. Brewer, 107 M 550, 88 P2d 49 (1939), explained in Clarke v. Ireland, 122 M 191, 199 P2d 965 (1948).

Incapacity Due to Illness: Under this section, a city fireman could properly be awarded benefits from the firemen's disability fund for incapacity from duty caused by illness in an amount equal to his monthly salary during the time of such incapacity. In such case the provisions of 19-11-602 (renumbered 19-18-602) and 19-11-604 (renumbered 19-18-604), providing for a service pension and limiting it to one-half the monthly salary last received by such member, had no application. Attorney General's Opinions

All-Purpose Mill Levy — Forfeiture of Powers: Municipalities that adopt the all-purpose mill levy authorized in 7-6-4452 (now repealed) forfeit the power to impose levies for any particular purpose not clearly excepted by statute. Thus, the all-purpose mill levy supplants the taxing authority granted in 7-33-4111, 19-10-301 (renumbered 19-19-301), and 19-11-503 (renumbered 19-18-503) but does not supplant the taxing authority granted in 7-32-4117, 7-33-4130, 19-3-204, 19-9-704 (renumbered 19-9-209), sec. 2, Ch. 324, L. 1975 (not codified), sec. 2, Ch. 359, L. 1975 (not codified), and sec. 3, Ch. 438, L. 1975 (not codified). 38 A.G. Op. 112 (1980).

Unauthorized Levies Not to Be Used as Basis for Temporary Increase: The special levies authorized by 7-32-4117, 7-33-4130, and 19-10-301 (renumbered 19-19-301) must be included in the 65-mill levy authorized by 7-6-4451. Any such special levies improperly levied in addition to the 65-mill all-purpose levy may not be used in computing the basis for a 5% increase under 15-7-122 (now repealed). 38 A.G. Op. 44 (1979).

19-19-303. Refund of officer's contribution.

Attorney General's Opinions

No Retroactive Effect: Right to a refund of contributions of a retired police officer of the Montana Statewide Police Reserve Fund is confined to police officers whose service with the city is discontinued after July 1, 1975, as there not only was no provision for refund of contributions but a prohibition against repayments as a pension or refund. 36 A.G. Op. 57 (1976).

19-19-305. Annual state payments to municipality with police department.

Compiler's Comments

1997 Amendment: Chapter 532 in (1), in second sentence after "payment", inserted "from the general fund"; deleted former (2) that read: "The payments provided for by 19-19-205 and subsection (1) of this section shall be paid from the premium tax collected on insurance sold in this state to insure against the risks enumerated in 19-18-512. Such payments may only be made after deductions have been made from the gross premium tax for cancellations and returned premiums"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

1985 Amendment: In (1) inserted last sentence referring to statutory appropriation.

1981 Amendment: Substituted "After" for "At" at the beginning of (1).

Case Notes

Conditions Attached to Appropriation: Where title of appropriation bill indicated that its purpose was to provide for annual payment to cities and towns for police reserve fund, section of statute which contained restrictions on such payments, contrary to provisions of metropolitan police law (Title 7, ch. 32, part 41), was repugnant to Art. V, sec. 23, 1889 Mont. Const. (similar to Art. V, sec. 11(4), 1972 Mont. Const.), and therefore void. Helena v. Omholt, 155 M 212, 468 P2d 764 (1970).

Attorney General's Opinions

Pension Trust for PERS Members Prohibits Use of State Funds: Subsection (8) of 19-3-403 prohibits use of annual state payments received by a city pursuant to this section for a pension trust plan for police officers who are also members of the Public Employees' Retirement System. 42 A.G. Op. 92 (1988).

Consolidated Law Enforcement Funding: Third-class cities or towns that have consolidated their police departments with county law enforcement offices may not use the funds received from the State Auditor under 19-10-305 (renumbered 19-19-305) to pay the county for their share of the consolidated law enforcement expense unless those funds are used exclusively for pensions and/or training. 37 A.G. Op. 117 (1978).

Expenditure of State Funds for Police Officers: A town may expend funds received pursuant to 19-10-305 (renumbered 19-19-305) to purchase an annuity for former members of its police department even though the town now has a consolidated department. 37 A.G. Op. 103 (1977).

Interlocal Agreement — Qualifies for State Payment: A contracting city or town under an interlocal agreement providing for cooperative law enforcement services would not forfeit the right to receive state payments as each municipality would still be provided law enforcement services through a local police department. A city or town not governed by the provisions of the police retirement system may thus properly expend the state payment received under this section for police training or to purchase pensions for members of the police department supplying police services pursuant to the interlocal agreement. 35 A.G. Op. 72 (1974).

Retirement Credit for Temporary Police Duty — Contributions: Time served for temporary duty as a special officer counts toward a police officer's time requirements for the retired list under this section. 19-19-402. Eligibility for disability retirement.

Case Notes

Employer May Decide Date of Impairment and Date of Retirement: This section makes it clear that the appropriate entity has discretion in making the determination as to whether and when an injury or disability permanently impairs ability to perform and makes it clear that a transfer to the retired list is mandatory only upon the making of an impairment determination. The section does not mandate transfer and the commencement of retirement benefits as of the date of the injury or disability. Silva v. Columbia Falls, 258 M 329, 852 P2d 671, 50 St. Rep. 556 (1993).

Grant of Retirement as of Date of Evidence of Permanent Disability Rather Than Date of Injury: A police officer was injured in January 1989 and applied for disability retirement in March 1989. Medical evidence in March and August 1989 indicated that he would be able to return to work. The first medical statement that he would not be able to return to work was received by the city on June 21, 1990, from a doctor who stated that plaintiff's disability had existed since the date of the injury. This statement conflicted with the prior medical evidence. The city's decision to grant retirement benefits as of June 21, 1990, had a reasonable basis, was not arbitrary and capricious, and was affirmed. Silva v. Columbia Falls, 258 M 329, 852 P2d 671, 50 St. Rep. 556 (1993).

Stress-Related Problems Not Compensable: A police officer was involved in two automobile accidents while on active duty, but neither injury resulted in wage loss nor did the officer mention any problems related to the injuries. The officer quit the department some years later due to stress and anxiety problems. The District Court properly affirmed the City Council decision to deny benefits because the officer's problems did not result from the active discharge of his duties but rather from stress and anxiety generally associated with his employment, neither of which is compensable as a workers' compensation injury or occupational disease. Norman v. Whitefish, 258 M 26, 852 P2d 533, 50 St. Rep. 441 (1993).

Amendment effective March 27, 1989.

1989 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 331, L. 1989, provided: "It is the intent of the legislature to provide equitable retirement benefits to all members of the teachers' retirement system based on their normal service and salary. The legislature further intends to limit the effect on the retirement system of isolated salary increases received by selected individuals through promotions or one-time salary enhancements during their last years of employment.

The bill provides that the amount of each year's earned compensation that may be used in calculating a member's average final compensation may not exceed the member's earned compensation for the preceding year by more than 10%, except as provided by rule by the board. The legislature intends that the board's rules exempt from the 10% statutory cap increases that:

(1) result from collective bargaining agreements;

(2) have been granted by the employer to all other similarly situated employees; or

(3) have been received as compensation for summer employment.

In addition, the legislature intends that the board's rules require a member to provide adequate documentation to permit the board to make an informed decision concerning exceptions to the 10% statutory cap."

Chapter 464 in (5)(a) at end of first sentence, substituted "19-4-602 [renumbered 19-20-602]" for "19-4-602(1)".

1983 Amendment: In definition of earned compensation substituted language of first two sentences defining earned compensation and providing that the employer shall fix the value of any housing provided for ""Earned compensation" means the full compensation, pay, or salary actually paid to a member and reported to the retirement system, including irregular forms of remuneration, such as amounts paid for special duty or under a salary reduction agreement, and amounts paid in kind, such as maintenance. The employer shall fix the value of any compensation paid in kind." and inserted third sentence excluding other amounts paid in kind and fringe benefits and exception at end.

1981 Amendment: Added the three options in definition of average final compensation, one of which must be selected if earned compensation includes termination pay; and added (5)(b) defining termination pay.

Case Notes

Constitutionality: Provisions of 1945 amendment to former subsection defining accumulated contributions were unconstitutional as impairing teacher's contractual rights where they deprived withdrawing member of interest to which she would have been entitled under law prior to amendment. Clarke v. Ireland, 122 M 191, 199 P2d 965 (1948).

Attorney General's Opinions

Earned Compensation — Inclusion of Unearned Sick and Vacation Leave of Disabled Teacher: If a teacher retires on a disability allowance prior to the completion of a full year and is statutorily entitled to earned compensation in the Teachers' Retirement System in an amount equal to the "compensation, pay or salary which he would have received had he completed the full year", the Teachers' Retirement Board must include in the calculation of his earned compensation the value of the sick leave and vacation leave the member would have earned had he completed the contract year. (See 2001 amendment to this section's definition of "earned compensation".) 40 A.G. Op. 10 (1983).

Earned Compensation — Severance Payments — Unused Sick or Vacation Leave: Contractual severance payments and payments based on unused sick or vacation leave are earned compensation of a member for the year in which they are actually paid to the member provided they are properly reported to the system. Severance payments that are not provided for by contract and are unrelated to length of service or unused sick or vacation leave are not earned compensation. 37 A.G. Op. 176 (1978), clarifying 37 A.G. Op. 113 (1978).

Former System: The former retirement system, prior to 1937 (sections 1113 to 1132, R.C.M. 1935), was discontinued by sec. 12, Ch. 87, L. 1937; sec. 6, Ch. 28, L. 1949; and sec. 2, Ch. 270, L. 1959.

Although recognized as the state teachers' retirement system by 19-4-102 (renumbered 19-20-102), the 1937 chapter and amendments thereto were repealed by sec. 496, Ch. 5, L. 1971.

Case Notes

Contractual Nature of Rights: The Teachers' Retirement Act of 1937 was one providing for payments of annuity rather than a pension and created a contractual annuity. Clarke v. Ireland, 122 M 191, 199 P2d 965 (1948).

Attorney General's Opinions

Out-of-State: Applicants entering the teachers' retirement system prior to July 1, 1971, may purchase credit for any type of instructional service previously performed, whether within or without the United States and whether in a public, private, or federal institution; but applicants entering after July 1, 1971, may purchase credit only for certified teaching or administrative functions performed within the United States or its territories or possessions in state or locally financed public schools and institutions. 37 A.G. The legislature finds that it is beneficial to maintain the teachers' retirement system as a qualified plan under Internal Revenue Code regulations. Therefore, it is the intent of the legislature that statutory provisions governing the teachers' retirement system be subject to federal tax law applicable to public retirement plans. The legislature intends that the board make rules useful and necessary to ensure compliance with federal law and necessary to maintain a federal tax qualified plan status."

Case Notes

Retention of Rights by Inactive Member of Teachers' Retirement System — Benefits Due Only Upon Termination of Membership: Farrier was a full-time teacher and regularly contributing member of the Teachers' Retirement System (TRS) when he accepted a part-time university position. Farrier then elected to have his retirement benefits paid into the optional retirement program instead of the TRS. After retiring from the teaching position, Farrier began receiving benefits from the TRS and accepted a full-time university position. The Teachers' Retirement Board informed Farrier that if he exceeded the postretirement earning limitation in 19-20-804, his TRS benefits would be suspended until he retired from the university. The District Court found that under 19-21-202, Farrier retained all rights as an inactive member of the TRS and that Farrier was entitled to receive benefits while maintaining an inactive status. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that Farrier was correctly classified as an inactive TRS member and as such retained all rights as an inactive member, including the right to withdraw all accumulated contributions or to remain an inactive member with the right to qualify for benefits. However, the District Court incorrectly concluded that Farrier was entitled to TRS benefits as an inactive member, and Farrier was precluded from receiving further benefits until membership with the TRS was terminated. Case Notes

Retention of Rights by Inactive Member of Teachers' Retirement System — Benefits Due Only Upon Termination of Membership: Farrier was a full-time teacher and regularly contributing member of the Teachers' Retirement System (TRS) when he accepted a part-time university position. Farrier then elected to have his retirement benefits paid into the optional retirement program instead of the TRS. After retiring from the teaching position, Farrier began receiving benefits from the TRS and accepted a full-time university position. The Teachers' Retirement Board informed Farrier that if he exceeded the postretirement earning limitation in 19-20-804, his TRS benefits would be suspended until he retired from the university. The District Court found that under 19-21-202, Farrier retained all rights as an inactive member of the TRS and that Farrier was entitled to receive benefits while maintaining an inactive status. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that Farrier was correctly classified as an inactive TRS member and as such retained all rights as an inactive member, including the right to withdraw all accumulated contributions or to remain an inactive member with the right to qualify for benefits. However, the District Court incorrectly concluded that Farrier was entitled to TRS benefits as an inactive member, and Farrier was precluded from receiving further benefits until membership with the TRS was terminated. Farrier v. Teachers' Retirement Bd., 2003 MT 278, 317 M 509, 78 P3d 1207 (2003).

Annuity or Pension — Voluntariness Determines: Plaintiff was a teacher in the Montana public school system at the time the teacher's retirement act was enacted. She did not file the notification required to become a member of the retirement system. She continued to teach until she resigned. For the 8-year period prior to her resignation, 5% of her earnable compensation was deducted from her salary, which was the contribution required from members of the retirement system. When plaintiff resigned, she was not eligible for retirement or disability benefits. She applied for withdrawal of amounts standing to her credit in the annuity savings fund along with three-fourths of the regular rate of interest. Defendants refused to pay her the interest. The origin of the sum determines the rights of the employee. She was entitled to interest from an annuity fund but not a pension fund. If contributions are voluntary, the fund is an annuity. The test is whether the contributor had the power to elect whether the deduction would be taken from her salary. Plaintiff voluntarily consented to the deductions, so that the fund was an annuity. Her rights in the fund were contractual rights, the terms of which were ascertained by statute and could not be impaired. Clarke v. Ireland, 122 M 191, 199 P2d 965 (1948).

Constitutionality: The provisions of a 1945 amendment to a former subsection providing that a withdrawing member should be paid only the amount contributed were unconstitutional as impairing teachers' contractual rights. The amendment deprived a withdrawing member of interest to which she would have been entitled under the law prior to amendment. Clarke v. Ireland, 122 M 191, 199 P2d 965 (1948).

Levies Designated for Community College District Retirement Costs Limited to Property Within District: The requirement in 20-9-501 that the County Superintendent of Schools determine each district's net retirement fund separately, together with the language in 20-9-142 requiring Boards of County Commissioners to fix and levy taxes on real and personal property in a district, indicates the Legislature's intent that levies designed for community college district retirement costs be limited to property in the community college district, not all property in the county. Therefore, the Board of County Commissioners of a county in which a community college district is located may not issue a tax levy to fund the teachers' retirement obligations of the community college district against property that is located in the county but outside the community college district. Rather, the levy may be imposed only on property within the community college district. 47 A.G. Op. 17 (1998).

WHEREAS, the State of Montana has in the past provided its employees with a benefit of employment through its tax system; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature desires and encourages qualified employees to enter and remain in public service; and

WHEREAS, it is the policy of the State of Montana to encourage public employees who become superannuated or incapacitated to retire and, to that end, to provide sufficient benefits to provide for retirement; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature wishes to encourage all retired persons to remain within Montana to provide a critical mass of retired persons who use certain services and facilities that are important to retired persons and that may keep and perhaps entice other retired persons into the state; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature has in the past granted increases in retirement benefits in a manner designed to provide relatively greater increases to those retirees who were employed during the years of low wages and whose benefits are relatively small; and

No Private Contract Created by Statute — State Prohibited From Surrendering Power to Tax: After the Legislature enacted Ch. 823, L. 1991, to tax retirement pension benefits that had previously been untaxed, the retirees sued, claiming that they had a contractual right to a continued exemption from taxation. Citing Wage Appeal v. Bd. of Personnel Appeals, 208 M 33, 676 P2d 194 (1984), the Supreme Court held that the former tax exemption was only a policy statement that could be changed by the Legislature and that the Legislature did not clearly manifest an intention in the law in question to create a private contractual right. Additionally, the Supreme Court held that the state was prohibited by Art. VIII, sec. 2, Mont. Const., from promising any group of taxpayers that it would never tax them. Sheehy v. Pub. Employees Retirement Div., 262 M 129, 864 P2d 762, 50 St. Rep. 1477 (1993).

Retention of Rights by Inactive Member of Teachers' Retirement System — Benefits Due Only Upon Termination of Membership: Farrier was a full-time teacher and regularly contributing member of the Teachers' Retirement System (TRS) when he accepted a part-time university position. Farrier then elected to have his retirement benefits paid into the optional retirement program instead of the TRS. After retiring from the teaching position, Farrier began receiving benefits from the TRS and accepted a full-time university position. The Teachers' Retirement Board informed Farrier that if he exceeded the postretirement earning limitation in this section, his TRS benefits would be suspended until he retired from the university. The District Court found that under 19-21-202, Farrier retained all rights as an inactive member of the TRS and that Farrier was entitled to receive benefits while maintaining an inactive status. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that Farrier was correctly classified as an inactive TRS member and as such retained all rights as an inactive member, including the right to withdraw all accumulated contributions or to remain an inactive member with the right to qualify for benefits. However, the District Court incorrectly concluded that Farrier was entitled to TRS benefits as an inactive member, and Farrier was precluded from receiving further benefits until membership with the TRS was terminated. Beneficiary Designated in Writing — Takes Proceeds Over Surviving Widow: While married to his first wife, the decedent became a member of the Teachers' Retirement System. He designated in writing his first wife as beneficiary of the proceeds of the pension account; that designation remained unchanged. When the couple divorced, they executed a property settlement agreement whereby each waived rights in the other's estate. The decedent did not submit a change of beneficiary form after he remarried. After his death, his second wife brought the present action to recover proceeds contributed to the retirement system, a large portion of which was contributed during her marriage to the decedent. Pursuant to the provisions of this statute which controls, the proceeds of the account can be paid only to the one nominated by a written designation or, in the absence of such nomination, to the decedent's estate. The operation of the system is governed by statute, and the stability of the system depends upon adherence to the statutory scheme. The person nominated in the written designation is entitled to the proceeds. A number of jurisdictions would allow a deviation from the written nomination but only if there was an intent to change the designation, coupled with some affirmative action to show a desire to make the change. In the present case, the second wife would not prevail under even this more liberal view as there is no evidence the decedent took any step to change the beneficiary designation. The proceeds properly were awarded to the first wife even though she waived her rights in her former husband's estate. Sowell v. Teachers' Retirement System, 214 M 200, 693 P2d 1222, 41 St. Rep. 2413 (1984), distinguished in In re Marriage of Butler, 243 M 521, 795 P2d 467, 47 St. Rep. 1376 (1990).

Retention of Rights by Inactive Member of Teachers' Retirement System — Benefits Due Only Upon Termination of Membership: Farrier was a full-time teacher and regularly contributing member of the Teachers' Retirement System (TRS) when he accepted a part-time university position. Farrier then elected to have his retirement benefits paid into the optional retirement program instead of the TRS. After retiring from the teaching position, Farrier began receiving benefits from the TRS and accepted a full-time university position. The Teachers' Retirement Board informed Farrier that if he exceeded the postretirement earning limitation in 19-20-804, his TRS benefits would be suspended until he retired from the university. The District Court found that under 19-21-202, Farrier retained all rights as an inactive member of the TRS and that Farrier was entitled to receive benefits while maintaining an inactive status. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that Farrier was correctly classified as an inactive TRS member and as such retained all rights as an inactive member, including the right to withdraw all accumulated contributions or to remain an inactive member with the right to qualify for benefits. However, the District Court incorrectly concluded that Farrier was entitled to TRS benefits as an inactive member, and Farrier was precluded from receiving further benefits until membership with the TRS was terminated. Case Notes

Teacher Tenure Statute Not Ambiguous — Assistant Superintendent Considered Tenured Teacher: The school district board voted to terminate Small's employment as assistant superintendent at the end of the employment contract without a hearing or determination of good cause. Small appealed the board's determination on grounds that he had been continuously employed by the school district for 10 years in a position requiring teacher certification and thus was a tenured teacher whose employment could be terminated only after a hearing and a finding of good cause. The District Court agreed that Small was a tenured teacher and remanded to the board with instructions to provide Small with the appropriate termination process, but found that the issue of damages was premature. The school district appealed the decision that Small was a tenured teacher, and Small appealed the decision that damages were premature. The Supreme Court affirmed, finding that the teacher tenure statute is not ambiguous. The statute clearly grants tenure to teachers and denies tenure to District Superintendents. By definition in this section, a teacher is a person, except a District Superintendent, who holds a valid Montana teacher certificate and who is employed by a district as a member of its instructional, supervisory, or administrative staff. Small held a valid teacher certificate, was not a District Superintendent, and was employed by the district as a member of its supervisory and administrative staff and was thus entitled to tenure. The court also remanded to the County Superintendent for an evidentiary hearing on damages. Small v. Bd. of Trustees, Glacier County School District No. 9, 2001 MT 181, 306 M 199, 31 P3d 358 (2001).

Mountain View School Teachers as State Employees: Individuals employed to teach at Mountain View School are not employed by a school district and so do not meet the statutory definition of "teacher" in this section. Therefore, the instructors are considered state employees entitled to the leave benefits provided for other state employees. Mtn. View Educ. Ass'n v. Mtn. View School, 227 M 288, 738 P2d 1288, 44 St. Rep. 1089 (1987).

"Schoolteacher" — Higher Education Faculty Not Included: The plain and ordinary meaning of "schoolteacher" does not encompass higher education faculty, including community college faculty members, especially since community college faculty members are ultimately answerable to the Board of Regents. Community college faculty members are state employees for purposes of entitlement to payment for accumulated sick leave. Rippey v. Bd. of Trustees, 210 M 396, 682 P2d 1363, 41 St. Rep. 1117 (1984), followed, with regard to the fact that "teacher" does not include a community college instructor for tenure purposes, in Talley v. Flathead Valley Community College, 259 M 479, 857 P2d 701, 50 St. Rep. 889 (1993).

"Teacher" for Purposes of Tenure Laws:

The plaintiff was employed as a member of a school's administrative staff as a school psychologist from 1975 to 1981 under a "teacher contract" that required him to hold a valid teacher certificate. He was terminated from his job and subsequently appealed to the District Court a decision of the Office of Public Instruction (OPI) that he was not a tenured teacher at the time of his termination. The Supreme Court held that the District Court did not err in reversing the decision of the OPI. The distinction made by the Legislature, in the 1979 amendment of 20-4-203, between teachers and specialists for the purposes of tenure, did not retroactively affect tenure earned by the plaintiff prior to that amendment. By 1976, the plaintiff had met all three requirements for tenure under the old statute and was therefore a tenured teacher within the meaning of the law. Harris v. Bauer, 206 M 480, 672 P2d 26, 40 St. Rep. 1793 (1983).

Sorlie was an elementary teacher for 20 years prior to assuming an administrative position. In 1980, because a mill levy failed, the school board eliminated Sorlie's position and offered her a job as an elementary schoolteacher. Sorlie argued that she was demoted in violation of Montana's tenure laws. The Supreme Court considered, among other things, the definition of "teacher" and found the two positions to be comparable positions for purpose of tenure although they are functionally dissimilar. The court concluded that the reassignment, without reduction in salary, for legitimate financial constraints, is justifiable and not contrary to tenure laws. Sorlie was removed from her administrative position pursuant to the board's power to financially manage the school district, and this action was in accordance with 39-31-303. Sorlie v. School District, 205 M 22, 667 P2d 400, 40 St. Rep. 1070 (1983).

District School Board — Nonprofit Corporation: School board trustees have only those powers expressed or implied by law, and since the general powers and duties of school board trustees neither expressly nor impliedly give school trustees the authority to incorporate, a district school board may not incorporate under the Montana Nonprofit Corporation Act. 35 A.G. (b) divide the aggregate hours of pupil instruction for each grade level by the minimum hours a day for that grade level provided in 20-1-302; and

(c) round the result down to the nearest whole number"; in (3) near beginning after "least" deleted "180 school days of pupil instruction and", substituted "as listed" for "as defined", and at end after "year" substituted "by two times an hourly rate, as calculated by the office of public instruction, for the aggregate hours missed" for "by 1/90th for each school day less than 180 school days as calculated in subsection (3) or by 1/90th for each calendar day less than the minimum school days required by subsection (1), whichever is greater"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2005.

1997 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 22 near middle of third sentence, after "reduce the", substituted "direct state aid" for "county equalization as defined in 20-9-334 and the state equalization as defined in 20-9-343"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Style changes in the chapters were slightly different. In each case, the codifier chose the most appropriate text.

1983 Amendment: In last sentence, substituted "For any elementary or high school district" for "Any district" and "the superintendent of public instruction shall reduce the county equalization as defined in 20-9-334 and the state equalization as defined in 20-9-343 for the district for that school year by 1/90th for each school day less than 180 school days." for "shall not be entitled to receive any apportionment of the state interest and income funds. Any such forfeited moneys shall be apportioned by the county superintendent to the other elementary districts of his county."

1981 Amendment: Inserted "except that 175 days of pupil instruction for graduating seniors may be sufficient as provided in 20-9-313, or" after "At least 180 school days of pupil instruction shall be conducted during each school fiscal year" in the first sentence.

Case Notes

Construction — Ambiguities: This section is ambiguous in that it provides that a high school district may provide 175 days of instruction for graduating seniors (see 2005 amendment) but states that if a district fails to provide at least 180 days of instruction it is not entitled to interest and income money (decided prior to 1983 amendment). Missoula High School Legal Defense Ass'n v. Supt. of Pub. Instruction, 196 M 106, 637 P2d 1188, 38 St. Rep. 2164 (1981).

Construction With Other Statutes — Conflicts: This section's provision that "Any district that fails to provide for at least 180 school days of pupil instruction shall not be entitled to receive any apportionment of the state interest and income funds. Any such forfeited moneys shall be apportioned by the county superintendent to the other elementary districts of his county" (quoted language amended 1983) is obviously ambiguous as to whether it applies to high school districts or only to elementary school districts. Since 20-9-805 provides that for each day short of the minimum school days required by law, for which a district is not entitled to apportionment credit, the equalization apportionment and entitlement of the district for that year shall be reduced by 1/180th, and since the interest and income funds referred to in this section are integrated with the equalization funds, the two sections are so conflicting that they require legislative review and revision; and in the meantime, since they are penal statutes, courts are powerless to apply them. Therefore, a high school that held 18 days less than the required 180-day minimum due to a teacher strike was entitled to its interest and income money regardless of the statutes. Missoula High School Legal Defense Ass'n v. Supt. of Pub. Instruction, 196 M 106, 637 P2d 1188, 38 St. Rep. 2164 (1981).

Attorney General's Opinions

Pupil-Instruction-Related Days Counted in ANB: Pupil-instruction-related days may be counted in computing the ANB number pursuant to administrative regulation interpreting 20-1-304. 37 A.G. Op. 160 (1978).

20-1-305. School holidays.

Attorney General's Opinions

"School Holidays" and "Legal Holidays": School district employees, nonteaching and teaching alike, throughout the state of Montana, are entitled to days off on those holidays enumerated in 20-1-305, rather than the holidays of 1-1-216. School district employees are therefore entitled only to days off on New Year's Day, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day, and state and national election days when the school building is a polling place and school functions will interfere with the election process. 37 A.G. Op. 150 (1978), overruling 37 A.G. Op. 96 (1977).

Nonteaching School Employees — Public Employees: Nonteaching school district employees are public employees and thus entitled to the legal holidays enumerated in 1-1-216 just as are all other public employees. They are not entitled to the school holidays enumerated in 20-1-305. 37 A.G. Op. 96 (1977), overruling, in part, 36 A.G. Op. 105 (1976).

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 527, L. 1999, provided: "WHEREAS, as part of the state's educational guarantees, the people of Montana in 1972 included Article X, section 1(2), in the state constitution, recognizing the distinct and unique cultural heritage of American Indians and expressing the state's commitment to preserve that cultural integrity through education; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature recognizes that Article X, section 9(2), of the Montana Constitution provides the Board of Regents with full power, responsibility, and authority to supervise, coordinate, manage, and control the Montana University System; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature also recognizes that Article X, section 9(3), of the Montana Constitution provides the Board of Public Education with general supervision over the public school system and that Article X, section 8, of the Montana Constitution vests the supervision and control of the schools in each school district to the local board of trustees; and

WHEREAS, a 1995 study conducted by the Committee on Indian Affairs [now Law and Justice Interim Committee], pursuant to Senate Joint Resolution No. 11, revealed that despite the constitution's educational guarantees, many school districts and schools, including those adjacent to Montana's seven Indian reservations, had no policy or information in their school curricula recognizing the cultural heritage of American Indians and that the small number of Indian teachers and administrators in public schools resulted in Indian students with no role models and in a lack of cultural awareness and sensitivity among non-Indian students; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature recognizes that the history of Montana and the current problems of the state cannot be adequately understood and the problems cannot be addressed unless both Indians and non-Indians have an understanding of the history, culture, and contemporary contributions of Montana's Indian people."

The Legislature provided that any Indian studies requirement must be a local district requirement with enforcement and administration solely the responsibility of the local board of trustees. Sections Not Codified: Section 75-5617, R.C.M. 1947, reassigning certain duties of various education boards to the Board of Public Education and to the Board of Regents, and section 75-5618, R.C.M. 1947, providing for the transition of power from the Board of Education to the Board of Public Education and the Board of Regents, have not been codified in the MCA because both sections were of a temporary nature and the names of boards affected have since been changed by the Code Commissioner to reflect the new educational boards created by the 1972 Constitution. However, these sections have not been repealed and are still valid law. Citation may be made to sec. 9, Ch. 344, L. 1973, as amended by Ch. 434, L. 1975, and sec. 10, Ch. 344, L. 1973, respectively.

Grandfather Clause for Rules: Section 27, Ch. 285, L. 1977, read: "Rules and policies of the board of public education and the state superintendent of public instruction are subject to 82-4204(3) [R.C.M. 1947, now 2-4-305] on and after October 1, 1977. Any such rules and policies in effect on January 1, 1977, may be filed before October 1, 1977, for publication in the administrative code without being subject to the notice and hearing requirements of 82-4204(1) [R.C.M. 1947, now 2-4-302 and 2-4-305]." Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 138, L. 2005, provided: "WHEREAS, the Public School Renewal Commission in its final report to the Education and Local Government Interim Committee recommended by consensus that school districts be given more flexibility in setting their school calendars; and

WHEREAS, while the Education and Local Government Interim Committee fully endorsed the recommendation, the timing of the Commission's report failed to provide the Committee with sufficient time to prepare and sponsor legislation for the 2005 legislative session; and

WHEREAS, while the Committee was unable to request the legislation to implement the Commission's recommendation as a committee bill, this bill has the full support of the Committee."

1993 Amendment: Chapter 633 in (3) substituted "BASE" for "state equalization". Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 385, L. 1991, provided: "WHEREAS, the Legislature, not the Executive Branch, is the lawmaking branch of the state government under the Montana Constitution; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature may delegate its power to pass laws to the Executive Branch, which may then, within certain limits, adopt administrative rules that have the force and effect of law; and

WHEREAS, a rule may not conflict with a statute and is invalid if it does; and

WHEREAS, section 20-7-902(1), MCA, provides that "a school district may identify gifted and talented children and devise programs to serve them" and Rule 10.55.804, Administrative Rules of Montana, mandates a gifted and talented children program in each school, thereby directly and clearly conflicting with the statute; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature has made a gifted and talented children program discretionary, at the choice of each local school board, the Legislature nonetheless affirms its support of gifted and talented education and encourages local school districts to identify gifted and talented students and design and implement programs that meet the needs of those students."

1991 Repeal of Administrative Rule: Section 1, Ch. 385, L. 1991, repealed Rule 10.55.804, ARM, requiring each school to have a gifted and talented children program. Effective July 1, 1991. 1987 Statement of Intent: Chapter 377, L. 1987, which amended this section, contained the following statement of intent: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because section 1 [20-2-121] provides that the board of public education shall adopt rules for student assessment in the public schools of Montana. The legislature intends for the board to adopt rules regarding:

(1) the types of student assessment tests that may be used;
(2) the grade levels to be tested;
(3) the time of testing;
(4) procurement of testing data;
(5) provisions for confidentiality of test results;
(6) responsibilities for the office of the superintendent of public instruction; and
(7) other provisions that the board considers vital to the student assessment program."

Exemption From Fiscal Note Process: Section 3, Ch. 377, L. 1987, provided: "For the purposes of this act, the board of public education is exempt from the fiscal note provisions of 20-2-115 [now repealed]." Chapter 377, L. 1987, authorized the Board to adopt student assessment rules.

Preamble: Chapter 377, L. 1987, which amended this section, contained the following preamble: "WHEREAS, the Legislature recognizes that the Board of Public Education has the duty, as provided in Article X, section 9, of the Montana Constitution to exercise general supervision over the public school system in Montana; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature recognizes the value of measuring the academic performance of Montana schools and of assessing student performance in comparison to: education costs per student; student performance levels in other states and the nation; and, most importantly, Montana education achievement goals."

1983 Amendments: Chapter 94 inserted (10) relating to issuance of documents certifying equivalency of completion of secondary education.

Gifted and Talented — 1983 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to HB 196 (Ch. 312, L. 1983) provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because it delegates rulemaking authority to the Board of Public Education to adopt policies for programs serving gifted and talented children.

It is contemplated that the rules will address the following:

(a) a policy statement fostering development of programs serving the gifted and talented;

Case Notes

Accreditation Standard Mandating Gifted and Talented Program Within Board's Constitutional Powers of "General Supervision": After the Board of Public Education refused to amend its rule requiring all districts to identify and provide programs for gifted and talented students, the Legislature, claiming the rule conflicted with 20-7-902, which authorized rather than mandated gifted and talented programs, enacted House Bill No. 116 (1991) at the request of the Administrative Code Committee (now appropriate administrative rule review committee) to repeal the rule. In invalidating House Bill No. 116, the District Court held that the Board, pursuant to its exercise of general supervision powers under Art. X, sec. 9(3), of the Montana Constitution, is vested with constitutional rulemaking authority that is self-executing and independent of any power delegated to the Board by the Legislature. Bd. of Pub. Educ. v. Administrative Code Comm., Cause No. BDV-91-1072 (1992), First Judicial District, Lewis & Clark County.

Clarification of Findings Regarding Statewide Accreditation Standards: The Supreme Court amended certain District Court findings and conclusions regarding statewide accreditation standards adopted by the Board of Public Education to clarify that: (1) the minimum standards do not fully define a quality education; (2) the Montana school accreditation standards are minimum standards upon which quality education must be built; and (3) the standards do not fully define either the constitutional rights of students or the constitutional responsibilities of the state for funding its public and elementary schools. School District v. St., 236 M 44, 769 P2d 684, 46 St. Rep. 169 (1989).

Attorney General's Opinions

Small Transit-Type Bus Considered School Bus — National School Bus Standards Applicable: Under the definition in 20-10-101, a small, transit-type bus that is smaller than a Greyhound bus but larger than a nine-passenger van is a school bus and may not be used to transport students to extracurricular activities unless it meets the standards contained in the 1990 National Standards for School Buses, including paint requirements, adopted by the Board of Public Education. 45 A.G. Op. 30 (1994).

Rule Requiring Every School District to Provide Educational Services to Gifted and Talented Children Invalid: The adoption of this section did not provide a statutory grant of authority to the Board of Public Education to require the creation of gifted and talented children programs. Rather, 20-7-902 makes the creation of gifted and talented children programs optional for individual school districts. Therefore, ARM 10.55.804, promulgated pursuant to the Board's statutory authority to adopt accreditation standards and making the creation of such programs mandatory, conflicts with 20-7-902 and is thus invalid. 44 A.G. Op. 4 (1991). (See case note Bd. of Pub. Educ. v. Administrative Code Comm. at this section.)

Indian Studies Requirement for Teachers a Local Matter: Prior to the 1979 amendments, 20-4-213 (now repealed) absolutely required that teachers in schools on or near Indian reservations complete a course in American Indian studies. After amendment, the Indian studies requirement was no longer mandatory but rather became discretionary with the local school board. The Legislature provided that any Indian studies requirement must be a local district requirement with enforcement and administration solely the responsibility of the local board of trustees. Therefore, the State Board of Education did not have the authority to require that all certified teachers complete six inservice credits in Indian studies. 39 A.G. Op. 11 (1981).

Case Notes

Teaching Contract Precluding Property Interest in Employment: Talley contended that he had a property right in his position as a part-time instructor at Flathead Valley Community College and that the property interest required that he be given notice and a hearing before termination. The Supreme Court has recognized that a property interest in one's position must be created by existing rules and regulations, state laws, or understandings between employer and employee, but in Talley's case, the employment contract specifically precluded any property right by stating that acceptance of the contract conferred no right to or credit toward tenure or other permanent faculty status. Talley's subjective belief that he had a property interest in his job did not create such an interest because a subjective expectancy can create no constitutionally protected interest. Talley v. Flathead Valley Community College, 259 M 479, 857 P2d 701, 50 St. Rep. 889 (1993).

"At-Will" Employee — Notice Not Necessary — Due Process Protections Not Necessary: Plaintiff, a school janitor, provided no evidence that his employment had any specified term. Therefore, he was an "at-will" employee, had no property interest in his job, and was not entitled to notice prior to termination under 39-2-503 (now repealed) or under school policy. Medicine

Horse v. Trustees, Big Horn County School District No. 27, 251 M 65, 823 P2d 230, 48 St. Rep. 1074 (1991), overruled, to the extent that the Wrongful Discharge From Employment Act has superseded and impliedly repealed the at-will employment provisions for nonprobationary employees, in Whidden v. John S. Nerison, Inc., 1999 MT 110, 294 M 346, 981 P2d 271, 56 St. Rep. 456 (1999), and distinguished in Boreen v. Christensen, 267 M 405, 884 P2d 761, 51 St. Rep. 1014 (1994).

School Controversy — MAPA Statute of Limitations Not Applicable: After the Superintendent of Public Instruction issued an order to reinstate plaintiff to her teaching position, trustees filed a petition for judicial review after expiration of the 30-day period allowed under 2-4-702 for judicial review following a final agency decision but prior to expiration of the 60-day period allowed for judicial review of a decision to terminate a tenured teacher made pursuant to subsection (2) of this section. The Supreme Court reversed and remanded the District Court's order granting a motion to dismiss plaintiff's petition for judicial review, holding that MAPA did not expressly or impliedly repeal the statute of limitations provided pursuant to this section and that the 60-day rule applied to a school controversy. Carbon County School District Trustees v. Spivey, 247 M 33, 805 P2d 61, 48 St. Rep. 79 (1991).

Failure to Request Reasons for Termination — Loss of Appeal Rights: Plaintiff was one of four nontenured teachers informed in writing in mid-April that her contract would not be renewed. The letter gave no reason for termination, but school board minutes reflected that the reason was financial, and allegedly all nontenured teachers were released in anticipation that the upcoming mill levy would not pass. Plaintiff therefore did not request reasons for termination within 10 days as required under 20-4-206. However, in June the levy did pass and all nontenured teachers were rehired except plaintiff, who appealed in July. Even in cases where financial conditions are the alleged reason for termination, nontenured teachers cannot assume this is the reason unless they request and receive written confirmation from the district trustees. Because plaintiff did not request confirmation, her chance for appeal passed while she waited to be rehired after the mill levy vote. Keller v. School District, 237 M 481, 774 P2d 409, 46 St. Rep. 986 (1989).

Additional Evidence Denied: In an appeal by a school district from an administrative order reinstating and compensating a discharged school principal, the District Court did not err in denying the school district's motion to order receipt of additional evidence. The court had properly determined that the Superintendent of Public Instruction correctly used his discretion when previously denying the school district's request to submit additional evidence. The affidavits in question were not subject to cross-examination and were of questionable quality. The county-level hearing was a thorough hearing, and the evidence supports the county-level decision. Pryor School District v. Supt. of Pub. Instruction, 218 M 73, 707 P2d 1094, 42 St. Rep. 1405 (1985).

Nonrenewal of Tenured Teacher's Contract — Scope of Review: A tenured teacher's contract was not renewed. A hearing was held by the board of trustees, which affirmed its decision not to renew the contract. The teacher appealed to the County Superintendent where he was given a trial de novo with witnesses and record evidence. The teacher then appealed to the State Superintendent based upon the record, and the State Superintendent upheld the decision. The teacher appealed to District Court based upon the record. The District Court reversed the administrative decision, and an appeal to the Supreme Court was made upon the record. The Supreme Court reversed the District Court, saying that the procedure to be used in this instance was identical to that for any other District Court decision involving an administrative decision. The District Court was not a trier of fact. The Supreme Court should not substitute its judgment for that of the County Superintendent as to the weight of the evidence on questions of fact. The Supreme Court may reverse or modify if the substantial rights of the appellant have been prejudiced because the administrative findings and conclusions are clearly erroneous in view of the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence on the whole record. Yanzick v. School District, 196 M 375, 641 P2d 431, 39 St. Rep. 191 (1982), followed in Booth v. Argenbright, 225 M 272, 731 P2d 1318, 44 St. Rep. 227 (1987).

Failure to File Timely Appeal: Having failed to pursue his statutory administrative remedies within the time allowed by law, plaintiff's right to contest the termination of his employment as a tenured teacher was at an end. Gallup v. Supt. of Pub. Instruction, 172 M 400, 563 P2d 1139 (1977).

Constitutionality: This section violated neither Art. VII, sec. 4(2), nor Art. X, sec. 8, Mont. Const. School District v. Hughes, 170 M 267, 552 P2d 328 (1976).

Decision Subject to Judicial Review: While the Superintendent of Public Instruction has the power to "decide all appeals from the decisions of the county superintendent", his decision is subject to "adjudication or proper legal remedies in the state courts". Potter v. Miller, 145 M 197, 399 P2d 994 (1965).

Undue Hardship on Parents as Basis for Appeal: Where Superintendent of Public Instruction approved County Superintendent's attachment of abandoned territory to a contiguous district rather than to another more convenient one, thus requiring children to travel 14 miles farther each way to get to more overcrowded schools and working an "undue hardship" on both parents and children, this constituted sufficient facts for appeal from Superintendent of Public Instruction's decision. Potter v. Miller, 145 M 197, 399 P2d 994 (1965).

Dismissal Decision Void for Want of Jurisdiction — Certiorari Granted: Where an order of a board of trustees dismissing a District School Superintendent for cause was void because he had not been granted a hearing (a well-defined public policy declared by decisions of the Supreme Court), which order was reversed on appeal to the County Superintendent, whereupon the board appealed to the Superintendent of Public Instruction who found in favor of the board, the action of the board and the decision of the Superintendent were void for want of jurisdiction and certiorari would be granted. State ex rel. Howard v. Ireland, 114 M 488, 138 P2d 569 (1943).

Exhaustion of Administrative Remedy Required: Where plaintiff teacher was dismissed by the board of school trustees and appealed the action of the board to the County Superintendent but failed to appeal the County Superintendent's unfavorable decision to the Superintendent of Public Instruction, plaintiff failed to exhaust remedies afforded by law, and since there was nothing in the record to show abuse of discretion on the part of school authorities, plaintiff was barred from court action against the school district for breach of contract. Kelsey v. School District, 84 M 453, 276 P 26 (1929), distinguished in McBride v. School District, 88 M 110, 290 P 252 (1930), explained in State ex rel. Howard v. Ireland, 114 M 488, 138 P2d 569 (1943).

Appeal Not Barred by Correspondence With County Superintendent: An informal letter written by the Superintendent of Public Instruction to a County Superintendent based on correspondence between them relative to an order of the latter abolishing a school district and approving his action did not bar the State Superintendent from thereafter passing upon the same question when presented upon a formal appeal from the County Superintendent's decision. State ex rel. School District v. Trumper, 69 M 468, 222 P 1064 (1924).

Jurisdiction of Superintendent Presumed: In the absence of an affirmative showing of want of jurisdiction in the Superintendent of Public Instruction on appeal from a decision of a County Superintendent, jurisdiction and regularity of the proceedings will be presumed; and so long as the former acts legally and within the powers expressly conferred, courts will not interfere by certiorari. State ex rel. School District v. Trumper, 69 M 468, 222 P 1064 (1924).

Transcript Not Waivable: The parties to a controversy before a county school transportation committee may not waive the making of a transcript in the absence of rules providing for appeal without a transcript promulgated by the Superintendent of Public Instruction as a transcript, although not necessarily a verbatim stenographic report, is required by 20-3-107 and 20-10-132 on an appeal to the Superintendent from a decision of a county school transportation committee. 35 A.G. County Superintendent Under Contract With Another County — Entitled to Additional Compensation: Unless specifically prohibited by law, a public officer is entitled to additional compensation for the rendition of services beyond those required by the duties associated with his office. Case Notes

Restraining or Enforcing Actions of School Boards by County Superintendent: A County Superintendent may restrain the improper exercise of ministerial powers by school boards by injunction or enforce their proper exercise through mandamus even though he is not a taxpayer within the particular district involved, and he need not, as a private citizen must, show a personal interest in the controversy. State ex rel. Hoagland v. School District, 116 M 294, 151 P2d 168 (1944).

Authority of County Superintendent to Change District Boundaries: There was no authority on the part of the County Superintendent or Board of County Commissioners, under the guise of defining boundaries, to reach out and include in an existing district noncontiguous tracts of land not included therein. The County Superintendent was authorized to make minor changes as necessary to make the boundaries definite and certain but not to change the boundaries of the existing district by attaching lands wherever situated in the county not a part of any school district. State ex rel. Lantz v. Morris, 113 M 187, 126 P2d 1101 (1942).

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 5, Ch. 276, L. 2003, provided: "[This act] is effective on passage and approval [approved April 9, 2003] and applies to school fiscal years beginning on or after July 1, 2003."

1999 Amendment: Chapter 343 in first sentence of introduction substituted "the second Monday in September" for "September 1"; in (2) substituted "20-9-213(6)" for "20-9-213(5)"; deleted former (3) that read: "(3) the pupil information for each district provided the county superintendent under the provisions of 20-4-402(7)"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1999.

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 16, Ch. 343, L. 1999, provided: "[This act] is effective July 1, 1999, and applies to school budgets for school fiscal years beginning on or after July 1, 1999."

1997 Amendment: Chapter 22 in (3), after "provisions of", deleted "20-4-301(1)(d)"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Saving Clause: Section 9, Ch. 438, L. 1997, was a saving clause.

1989 Amendment: Deleted former (2) that read: "(2) When the superintendent of public instruction receives a complete annual report from the county superintendent, he shall immediately issue a receipt for the annual report to such county superintendent. The county superintendent shall present the receipt to the board of county commissioners, and if the county commissioners do not receive the receipt, they shall not pay the county superintendent's salary for the last 2 months of the calendar year until the receipt is presented to them"; and made minor changes in form. Amendment effective July 1, 1989.

20-3-210. Controversy appeals and hearings.

Compiler's Comments

1997 Amendment: Chapter 438 in (1), at beginning, inserted reference to collective bargaining disputes and reference to 20-4-208, inserted second sentence related to qualification required of superintendent who may hear teacher termination matters, in fifth sentence substituted "may appeal to the district court of the county in which the teacher was employed" for "may appeal to the superintendent of public instruction under the provisions for appeal of controversies in this title", and inserted sixth sentence establishing deadline for commencement of appeal; deleted former (1)(b) that read: "(b) 20-4-206(4)"; in (4), at beginning, inserted exception clause and inserted last two sentences relating to teacher termination cases and record on appeal; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 563 substituted present (1)(a) regarding approval of out-of-district attendance agreements for former language that read: "20-5-304 or 20-5-311 relating to the approval of tuition applications"; and made minor changes in style.

1993 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 563, L. 1993, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [section 4] [20-5-323] of the bill gives the superintendent of public instruction authority to adopt administrative rules regarding a flat tuition rate for each funding category in the foundation program schedules, using statewide district expenditure and revenue data for certain funds."

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 22, Ch. 563, L. 1993, provided: "[This act] is effective for the school fiscal year beginning July 1, 1993, and applies to calculations and payments for tuition for the school fiscal year beginning July 1, 1993."

Applicability: Section 4, Ch. 439, L. 1991, provided: "[This act] does not apply to nontenure teachers who are considered temporary or substitute teachers."

Title 10, chapter 6, ARM Rules of procedure for all school controversy contested cases before county superintendents.

Case Notes

County Superintendent Review De Novo — Consideration of Other Evidence Allowed: Phillips, a tenured teacher in English and art in the Madison School District, was terminated by the trustees upon recommendation of the District Superintendent. Phillips appealed the decision to the County Superintendent and introduced evidence that the termination was based upon a personality conflict with the District Superintendent. Phillips also introduced financial evidence that the district's reserve held enough money to maintain her employment. The State Superintendent held that the financial information was improperly considered. The Supreme Court held that because the hearing before the County Superintendent was a de novo hearing, the County Superintendent could consider any relevant evidence. The Supreme Court affirmed the District Court's findings. Phillips v. Madison School District No. 7, 263 M 336, 867 P2d 1104, 51 St. Rep. 29 (1994).

Concurrent Proceedings Not Precluded: A terminated teacher filed an appeal pursuant to this section. The teacher's union filed a grievance, alleging that the termination was a violation of the collective bargaining agreement. The school superintendent refused to process the grievance pending the teacher's statutory appeal. When the teacher dismissed the statutory appeal, the union filed an action to compel arbitration of the grievance pursuant to the Uniform Arbitration Act and the collective bargaining agreement. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that nothing in the teacher's collective bargaining agreement or in the election of remedies law precludes concurrent proceedings on the termination. Frazer Educ. Ass'n v. Valley County School District No. 2, 256 M 223, 846 P2d 267, 50 St. Rep. 41 (1993).

Estoppel Barring Issue of Teacher and Union Pursuing Separate Claims in Separate Forums: A terminated tenured union teacher filed an appeal under this section at the same time the teacher's union filed a grievance alleging violation of the collective bargaining agreement. Unsatisfied with results at prior steps of the grievance procedure, the union requested arbitration, to which the school district refused to submit. Instead, the school district petitioned for an injunction to compel the union and the teacher to elect one forum in which to pursue their legal claims. The District Court denied the injunction, allowing both forums to proceed, and the school district did not appeal. Because these circumstances fulfilled the elements of the doctrine of collateral estoppel, namely that the issue had been decided in a prior adjudication, a final judgment was issued. Because the party against whom the plea was asserted was a party in the prior adjudication, the school district was estopped from further litigation on the issue of separate forums. Colstrip Faculty Ass'n, MEA/NEA v. Trustees, School District No. 19, 251 M 309, 824 P2d 1008, 49 St. Rep. 43 (1992).

Breach of Contract Disputes to Be Handled Administratively: The plaintiff brought an action in District Court alleging breach of the collective bargaining agreement. The Supreme Court ruled that the issue had to be submitted for administrative review before it could be filed in the lower court. The court overruled its holding in McBride v. School District No. 1, 88 M 110, 290 P 252 (1930). Canyon Creek Educ. Ass'n v. Bd. of Trustees, 241 M 73, 785 P2d 201, 47 St. Rep. 93 (1990).

Consideration of Written and Videotaped Testimony at De Novo Hearing: A dismissed teacher claimed he was wrongfully deprived of his right to a de novo hearing because the County Superintendent considered transcripts and videotaped testimony taken during the school board hearing. However, the testimony was admissible under 20-4-612(2) because it expedited disposition of the issue without substantial prejudice to the teacher. Johnson v. Bd. of Trustees, 236 M 532, 771 P2d 137, 46 St. Rep. 598 (1989).

Seeking of Money Judgment Not Dispositive of Agency Jurisdiction: A County Superintendent of Schools improperly dismissed a district board of trustees' decision denying a claim for retirement benefits by a contract administrator after determining that a Superintendent did not have jurisdiction because it was a claim for breach of contract and not a controversy intended to be heard under this section. The Supreme Court remanded, holding that the seeking of a money judgment was not the dispositive factor in determining the educational agency's jurisdiction over a matter and that this section fully contemplated a hearing on the controversy. Throssell v. Bd. of Trustees, 232 M 497, 757 P2d 348, 45 St. Rep. 1228 (1988).

Nonrenewal of Tenured Teacher's Contract — Scope of Review: A tenured teacher's contract was not renewed. A hearing was held by the board of trustees, which affirmed its decision not to renew the contract. The teacher appealed to the County Superintendent where he was given a trial de novo with witnesses and record evidence. The teacher then appealed to the State Superintendent based upon the record, and the State Superintendent upheld the decision. The teacher appealed to District Court based upon the record. The District Court reversed the administrative decision, and an appeal to the Supreme Court was made upon the record. The Supreme Court reversed the District Court, saying that the procedure to be used in this instance was identical to that for any other District Court decision involving an administrative decision. The District Court was not a trier of fact. The Supreme Court should not substitute its judgment for that of the County Superintendent as to the weight of the evidence on questions of fact. The Supreme Court may reverse or modify if the substantial rights of the appellant have been prejudiced because the administrative findings and conclusions are clearly erroneous in view of the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence on the whole record. Yanzick v. School District, 196 M 375, 641 P2d 431, 39 St. Rep. 191 (1982), followed in Booth v. Argenbright, 225 M 272, 731 P2d 1318, 44 St. Rep. 227 (1987).

Constitutionality: This section violated neither Art. VII, sec. 4(2), nor Art. X, sec. 8, Mont. Const. School District v. Hughes, 170 M 267, 552 P2d 328 (1976).

Attorney General's Opinions

Disqualification Peremptory — County Superintendent's Control of Timeliness: The affidavit of disqualification of a County School Superintendent in a school controversy is peremptory. Requirements regarding timeliness and sufficiency of the affidavit under the Montana Administrative Procedure Act do not apply to proceedings conducted by the County Superintendent of Schools under Title 20; however, the timeliness of the affidavit may be controlled by the officer presiding over the hearing. 42 A.G. Op. 86 (1988).

Former County Superintendent Not to Conduct Hearings: A former County Superintendent of Schools may not be hired by a county to conduct hearings involving disputes of teachers and school boards. 41 A.G. Op. 71 (1986).

Transcript Not Waivable: The parties to a controversy before a county school transportation committee may not waive the making of a transcript in the absence of rules providing for appeal without a transcript promulgated by the Superintendent of Public Instruction as a transcript, although not necessarily a verbatim stenographic report, is required by 20-3-107 and 20-10-132 on an appeal to the Superintendent from a decision of a county school transportation committee. 35 A.G. Op. 53 (1973).

"Hearing" Synonymous With "Trial": An appeal before the County Superintendent of Schools is an original proceeding and de novo consideration of a controversy and not merely a review of a decision by a school board. 35 A.G. Op. 42 (1973).

1999 Amendment: Pursuant to sec. 99(4), Ch. 51, L. 1999, in (4) at end the code commissioner changed "disabilities" to "a disability". Amendment effective March 15, 1999.

1991 Name Change — Code Commissioner Instruction: Changed term "handicapped child" to "child with disabilities" or "handicapped children" to "children with disabilities", pursuant to sec. 10, Ch. 249, L. 1991, which directed the Code Commissioner to change the terms wherever they appear in Title 20 and in all law enacted by the 52nd Legislature.

1987 Amendment: Inserted (4) relating to a handicapped child.

Attorney General's Opinions

Disqualification Peremptory — County Superintendent's Control of Timeliness: The affidavit of disqualification of a County School Superintendent in a school controversy is peremptory. Requirements regarding timeliness and sufficiency of the affidavit under the Montana Administrative Procedure Act do not apply to proceedings conducted by the County Superintendent of Schools under Title 20; however, the timeliness of the affidavit may be controlled by the officer presiding over the hearing. 42 A.G. 20-3-212. The county superintendent to appoint another county superintendent.

Attorney General's Opinions

County Superintendent Under Contract With Another County — Entitled to Additional Compensation: Unless specifically prohibited by law, a public officer is entitled to additional compensation for the rendition of services beyond those required by the duties associated with his office. Therefore, a qualified County Superintendent who enters into a contractual agreement pursuant to 20-3-201(3), to provide services in a county lacking a qualified County Superintendent, is entitled to additional compensation. This section is limited by its terms to instances in which an otherwise qualified County Superintendent is disqualified from hearing or deciding contested matters and has no application to contracts under 20-3-201. 43 A.G. Op. 69 (1990).

School District Trustees

Part Compiler's Comments

Student Representation on Board of Trustees: HJR 26 of the 49th Legislature provided: "WHEREAS, the Legislature and the Montana education community recognize that the most valuable resource for achieving "excellence in education" in Montana is the student; and

WHEREAS, student representation on local school boards has never been implemented on a statewide basis, although the Board of Public Education and the Board of Regents currently have active student members on their respective boards; and

WHEREAS, the educational process dominates a large part of the life of a school-age person, and as a citizen, that person should be allowed representation in the major decisions governing the educational process; and

WHEREAS, when students feel that they have influence over their environment and that their opinions are respected, the result is an atmosphere of greater trust, civility, and mutual respect; and

WHEREAS, through involvement in the decisionmaking process of a school district, the student is not only contributing valuable input not otherwise available, but is also receiving first-hand knowledge of the governmental process and the educational process; and

WHEREAS, students are deeply concerned about the education they are receiving and wish to present their views on educational reform.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE AND THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE STATE OF MONTANA:

(1) That the Legislature stands strongly in favor of student representation on each school district board of trustees.

(2) That the Legislature urges each school district board of trustees in the state to appoint a nonvoting student member to the board to represent the student body of the school district.

(3) That the executive secretary of the Board of Public Education, the executive secretary of the Montana Association of Student Councils, and a member of the Office of Public Instruction meet and confer to define the role of the student member by using as a guideline the existing policy set by the Board of Public Education regarding student representation.

(4) That copies of this resolution be sent by the Secretary of State to:

(a) each local school board chairman in the State of Montana;

(b) each accredited public high school in the State of Montana; and

(c) the Montana Congressional Delegation."

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Office of County Commissioner Incompatible With Office of School Trustee: The current nature and duties of the offices of County Commissioner and county high school trustee could give rise to possible conflicts of governmental interest if one person were to retain both offices simultaneously. The Attorney General affirmed the decision in 8 A.G. Op. at 402 (1920), holding that the offices are incompatible in light of the fact that under state law a County Commissioner has certain supervisory powers over a school trustee. However, nothing in state law prohibits an individual from holding one of these offices while seeking the other. 42 A.G. Op. 94 (1988).

Constitutionality of Designation of Trustees: Section designating trustees of districts established under act relating to participation in public works programs by high school districts was not a denial of due process for failure to provide for election of trustees. District School Board — Nonprofit Corporation: School board trustees have only those powers expressed or implied by law, and since the general powers and duties of school board trustees neither expressly nor impliedly give school trustees the authority to incorporate, a district school board may not incorporate under the Montana Nonprofit Corporation Act. 35 A.G. 2005 Amendment: Chapter 510 in (2)(a) at beginning after "consolidation" inserted "under the provisions of 20-6-423", after "elementary district" deleted "under the provisions of 20-6-203 or the consolidation", and at end after "high school district" substituted "or of two or more K-12 districts to form a K-12 district" for "under the provisions of 20-6-315"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2005.

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 510, L. 2005, provided: "WHEREAS, the Public School Renewal Commission in its final report to the Education and Local Government Interim Committee recommended by consensus that the consolidation statutes be clarified to eliminate any barriers to the voluntary consolidation of school districts; and

WHEREAS, while the Education and Local Government Interim Committee fully endorsed the recommendation, the timing of the Commission's report failed to provide the Committee with sufficient time to prepare and sponsor legislation for the 2005 Legislative Session; and

WHEREAS, while the Committee was unable to request the legislation to implement the Commission's recommendation as a committee bill, this bill has the full support of the Committee."

1997 Amendment: Chapter 219 in (1), at beginning of fourth sentence, deleted "high school districts operating a" and after "county high school" inserted "districts"; in (2) deleted former (a) that read: "the creation of a new elementary district under the provisions of 20-6-217"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 23, Ch. 219, L. 1997, provided: "[This act] is effective July 1, 1997, and applies to bonds issued on or after [the effective date of this act]."

1993 Amendment: Chapter 137 in (2) substituted introductory clause concerning newly created trustee positions for former language that read: "While it is the intention of the legislature that the terms of a majority of trustees of any district may not regularly expire and be subject to election at the same time, it is recognized that the following circumstances, relating to the terms of trustees appointed to newly created positions or to positions vacated by death, resignation, or operation of law, may lead to a subsequent school election in which a majority of trustee positions are subject to election at the same time"; in (2)(b), after "20-6-203", inserted "or the consolidation of two or more high school districts to form a high school district under the provisions of 20-6-315"; in (2)(d) substituted "or" for "and"; deleted former (2)(e) that read: "(e) the filling of a trustee position that has become vacant under the provisions of 20-3-308 or any other provision of law"; substituted (2)(f) concerning establishment of additional positions under 20-6-313 for former subsection that read: "(g) any other circumstance arising under the law wherein a trustee position is filled by appointment subject to election at the next regular school election"; inserted (3) requiring the elimination of positions to comply with subsection (1); inserted (4) clarifying legislative intent; and made minor changes in style.

1991 Amendment: At end of (2)(c), after "20-3-354", inserted "or new trustee positions under the provisions of 20-3-352(3)"; and made minor changes in style.

Case Notes

Conflicting Provisions: Section 1001, Revised Codes of 1921 (now repealed), apparently in conflict with section 998, Revised Codes of 1921 (now repealed), providing for appointment of trustee to fill vacancy, was intended to adjust the terms of school trustees so that the terms of a majority thereof should not expire at the same time, after which it had no further application to such district. State ex rel. Kuhl v. Kaiser, 95 M 550, 27 P2d 1113 (1933).

Ballot for Transitional Election Held Misleading: In a school district of the third class, the members of the board of trustees had been holding over for many years for failure to hold elections to choose their successors. An election was called, and the board, instead of pursuing the method of procedure under such circumstances prescribed by this section, i.e., selecting by lot one of its members to hold over for 1 year and one for 2 years and providing for the election of the third for the term of 3 years, furnished ballots providing for the election of three trustees for terms of 1, 2, and 3 years, respectively. Since there was only one trustee to be elected, the ballots furnished were so misleading as to render the election void. Jersey v. Peacock, 70 M 46, 223 P 903 (1924), distinguished in State ex rel. Kuhl v. Kaiser, 95 M 550, 27 P2d 1113 (1933).

20-3-303. Term of vacated trustee position after election.

Case Notes

Writ of Mandate Properly Issued to Compel Certification of Elected Trustees: Under this section, a school trustee appointed to fill a vacancy shall hold office only until the next annual school election at which a trustee shall be elected for the unexpired term. Two of three trustees for a district of the third class elected for 3-year terms expiring in 1934 and 1935 resigned. The board of trustees declined to call an election in the spring of 1933 to choose successors to the appointees on the theory that they held over for the respective terms. However, by the use of stickers, successors were elected at such election. The District Court properly granted a Writ of Mandate compelling the board of trustees to issue certificates of election to the persons elected to succeed the appointees. State ex rel. Kuhl v. Kaiser, 95 M 550, 27 P2d 1113 (1933).

Case Notes

Sticker With Premarked "X" Not a Legal Marked Ballot: District Court erred in finding ballots valid where electors marked ballot with a printed sticker containing name of write-in candidate and premarked "x", without elector marking an "x" before the name of the printed sticker, as the statute calls for the voter to make his mark. An affirmative act is called for to signify his selection, not a premarked ballot mark of a printer. The provisions of Montana's election laws as to the marking of the ballot and use of stickers are mandatory and not directory. State ex rel. Browne v. District Court, 167 M 477, 539 P2d 1182 (1975).

Attorney General's Opinions

Marking of Ballot by Elector: The ballot of a qualified elector who writes in a name on the ballot but neglects to mark an "X" before that name must not be counted toward the election of the person whose name is written in. An elector may write in the blank spaces of a ballot the name of any person for whom he wishes to vote, but he only votes for that person by actually marking the square before that person's name. A mark other than an "X" within the square before a candidate's name, or an election issue, may be used to express an elector's choice on an election ballot if his intention is clear to the election officers. 35 A.G. Case Notes

Open Meeting Law Applied — Collective Bargaining Exception Construed: Plaintiff was negotiating his salary with the school board. The board closed its meeting to discuss plaintiff's salary request. Plaintiff contacted counsel and began proceedings against the board for violating the open meeting law. The board met at another closed meeting and withdrew its offer of employment. The board contended it closed the meetings to discuss collective bargaining strategy under 2-3-203(3). In construing the term "collective bargaining", the court relied on the identical technical and legal definitions of the phrase. Collective bargaining is an activity involving the settling of disputes by negotiation between the employer and the representative of the employees. The board improperly closed the meetings since plaintiff was not acting on behalf of anyone else and the board's decision would not affect anyone else. Plaintiff had the right to be present at deliberations regarding his future. Jarussi v. Bd. of Trustees, 204 M 131, 664 P2d 316, 40 St. Rep. 720 (1983). The collective bargaining exception was declared unconstitutional in Great Falls Tribune Co., Inc. v. Great Falls Public Schools, 255 M 125, 841 P2d 502 (1992). See 1993 amendment to 2-3-203.

Special Meeting — Publication Not Mandated Under Open Meeting Law: At their regular meeting on March 10, 1981, the trustees announced that they had until April 1 to issue tenure contracts but that they had not yet made their final decisions. On March 12, the chairman contacted the clerk to tell her there would be a special meeting at 9 a.m. on March 14. The clerk contacted the local radio stations, which announced the meeting. The Board met and went into executive session. When plaintiff's contract was not renewed, she claimed the Board had violated the notice provisions of the open meeting law. The court held that the Montana open meeting law does not specifically mandate notice by publication. Publication is a method of proving notice. The obligation of the Montana open meeting law is to ensure that the public has ample opportunity to participate in decisions before final action is taken. The evidence in this case indicated that the opportunity was given. Sonstelie v. Bd. of Trustees, 202 M 414, 658 P2d 413, 40 St. Rep. 179 (1983).

Unlawful Rescission of Contract: The school board did not succeed in its attempt to rescind a consulting contract entered into with a retiring administrator because there was no regularly scheduled or special meeting held to discharge him. School District v. Driscoll, 173 M 492, 568 P2d 149 (1977).

Amendment of Letter of Dismissal: A letter amending a letter of dismissal need not be transacted at a meeting of the trustees but may instead be ratified and adopted at a meeting. Lindgren v. Bd. of Trustees, 171 M 360, 558 P2d 468 (1976).

Failure to Meet — Teacher's Discharge Unlawful: Where no meeting of the school board, either special or regular, was held prior to summary discharge of schoolteacher on ground of incompetency, board's dismissal was void for want of jurisdiction. Wyatt v. School District, 148 M 83, 417 P2d 221, 22 ALR 3d 1039 (1966).

Dismissal of Teacher Based Upon Informal Meeting Held Unlawful: The notice of dismissal which must be given a tenured teacher is one based upon action by a majority of the board of trustees taken at a meeting thereof. Hence, where two of the three members of the board decided in casual conversations at their homes to dispense with the services of the teacher and notified her to that effect in writing, the notice was not the legal notice required and was insufficient to effect her dismissal. To give validity to the business of the board it must be transacted at a regular or special meeting, and the trustees must then act as a board. Day v. School District, 98 M 207, 38 P2d 595 (1934).

No School District Immunity for Entering Exclusive Commercial Contract for Sale of Products in School Facilities: The Great Falls school district adopted policies to enhance revenue from nontax sources and subsequently entered exclusive agreements with Coke and Pepsi to provide soft drinks in school facilities in exchange for $500,000 over a 10-year period. Plaintiff, which had supplied soft drinks to the district for almost 20 years, sued the school district, Coke, and Pepsi. The school district claimed immunity from suit pursuant to 2-9-111, asserting that adopting exclusive contracts constituted legislative actions resulting in the adoption of school board policies under this section. The Supreme Court agreed that 2-9-111 insulated the school district from legal challenge for its decision to enhance revenue from nontax sources by way of commercial engagements because the adoption of policies is a legislative act. However, administrative acts undertaken in the execution of the policies are not immunized under 2-9-111, so the school district was not immune from suit for entering the exclusive contracts. Mont. General Powers — Prescription of Books for District: Where the Legislature failed to make provision for a uniform series of textbooks throughout the state or to devolve the duty of doing so upon some officer or board, the trustees of a school district, under the general powers vested in them, and particularly the statutory power of the board "to prescribe and enforce rules not inconsistent with law, or those prescribed by the superintendent of public instruction, for their own government of schools under their supervision", could prescribe books for the schools of the district. No School District Immunity for Entering Exclusive Commercial Contract for Sale of Products in School Facilities: The Great Falls school district adopted policies to enhance revenue from nontax sources and subsequently entered exclusive agreements with Coke and Pepsi to provide soft drinks in school facilities in exchange for $500,000 over a 10-year period. Plaintiff, which had supplied soft drinks to the district for almost 20 years, sued the school district, Coke, and Pepsi. The school district claimed immunity from suit pursuant to 2-9-111, asserting that adopting exclusive contracts constituted legislative actions resulting in the adoption of school board policies under 20-3-323. The Supreme Court agreed that 2-9-111 insulated the school district from legal challenge for its decision to enhance revenue from nontax sources by way of commercial engagements because the adoption of policies is a legislative act. However, administrative acts undertaken in the execution of the policies are not immunized under 2-9-111, so the school district was not immune from suit for entering the exclusive contracts. Mont. Vending, Inc. v. Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Mont., 2003 MT 282, 318 M 1, 78 P3d 499 (2003).

Dissemination of Incomplete Document Used to Make Decision — Right to Participate Entails Complying With Right to Know: A school district assembled a group of people to research and advise the district on the closure of schools, and a member of the group summarized the closure research information on a computer-generated spreadsheet and delivered various versions of the spreadsheet to various people and groups. The version given the school district contained a system rating the schools and explaining the rating system, but the group of parents that plaintiff belonged to was given a version not containing the rating system when a member of the group requested a copy. The school district told the group that a spreadsheet comparing the schools did not exist. The spreadsheet was a document of a public body subject to public inspection prior to the time that the school district's board met and used the spreadsheet to help determine which schools to close. The school district violated plaintiff's right to examine public documents. At a minimum, the "reasonable opportunity" standard articulated in Art. II, sec. 8, Mont. Const., and 2-3-111 for the right to participate demands compliance with the right to know contained in Art. II, sec. 9, Mont. Const. When the school district violated plaintiff's right to know, it reduced what should have been a genuine interchange into a mere formality. Bryan could and did voice her opinion to the school district, but did so without the ratings information contained on the version of the spreadsheet used by the school district. Therefore, the school district also violated her Art. II, sec. 8, Mont. Const., right of participation. The Supreme Court stated that this violation tainted the entire process from start to finish and ruled that the school district's closure decision was void. The court stated that on remand, the school district should allow plaintiff an opportunity to rebut the closure decision and should then reexamine the decision and affirm or modify it. Bryan v. Yellowstone County Elementary School District No. 2, 2002 MT 264, 312 M 257, 60 P3d 381 (2002).

School District Advisory Group as Public or Governmental Body: A school district assembled a group of people to research and advise the district on the closure of schools. The Legislature has given a school district the power to close schools. Therefore, the advisory group assumed the identity of the district with respect to the closure question and performed a legislatively designated governmental function that served a clear public and governmental purpose, and the advisory group was a public or governmental body subject to Art. II, sec. 9, Mont. Const. Bryan v. Yellowstone County Elementary School District No. 2, 2002 MT 264, 312 M 257, 60 P3d 381 (2002).

Standing of Parent Who Did Not Request Information on Proposed School Closure but Belonged to Group Another Member of Which Did: School district parents, including Bryan, worked in concert to rebut a school closure recommendation, delegating duties among themselves. Schroeder, but not Bryan, requested information from the school authorities, which was not received. Bryan sued as a result of the school closure. That Bryan did not personally request the information did not prevent her from having standing to claim a violation of Art. II, sec. 9, Mont. Const. Bryan v. Yellowstone County Elementary School District No. 2, 2002 MT 264, 312 M 257, 60 P3d 381 (2002).

Voluntary Membership in High School Athletic Association Not Unconstitutional Delegation of Trustee Authority: A Livingston high school student, after being informed by the Montana High School Association (MHSA) that he could not participate in basketball because of the MHSA's rule limiting student participation in MHSA events to eight consecutive semesters, filed an action alleging that the board of trustees' consent to be bound by the MHSA rules violated Art. X, sec. 8, Mont. Const., which vests school board trustees with power to supervise and control schools in their district. The Supreme Court held that the MHSA is merely acting as a neutral arbiter to fill the breach caused by the nonexistence of legislative authority and that becoming a member of the MHSA is not an unconstitutional delegation of the district's authority because membership is voluntary. The court noted that although a district's decision to withdraw from membership in the MHSA would undoubtedly cause the district to have a difficult time in finding other schools against which to compete, membership remains voluntary, and by participating, each district is electing to make the rules of the MHSA its own. Grabow v. Mont. High School Ass'n, 2002 MT 242, 312 M 92, 59 P3d 14 (2002).

Wrongful Firing of Tenured Teacher as Violation of Rights — Not Breach of Contract: The school district fired a tenured teacher on the grounds of incompetence. Subsequently, the Supreme Court ruled that the firing was not legal and the district entered into a money settlement with the teacher. The district's insurer refused to cover the settlement on the basis that the policy contained an exclusion for damages due to breaches of contract. The Supreme Court ruled that coverage under the policy was based upon the act giving rise to the claim and not the language of the complaint. The court held that tenure was a right, that the wrongful discharge was negligence, that the fact that the statute required damages based on contracted salary did not change the fact that the district's negligent conduct was not a breach of contract, and that therefore the wrongful discharge was covered under the policy. Missoula County School District No. 1 v. Pac. Employer's Ins. Co., 263 M 121, 866 P2d 1118, 50 St. Rep. 1741 (1993).

Spending Disparities Not Allowed: Article X, sec. 8, Mont. Const., does not require that spending disparities between the school districts of the state be allowed to exist because the disparities cannot be described as the result of local control. School District v. St., 236 M 44, 769 P2d 684, 46 St. Rep. 169 (1989).

Resignation of Tenured Teacher — Formal Board Acceptance Not Required: A tenured teacher was charged with misdemeanor theft and pleaded guilty. The Board of Education of District No. 1 voted to authorize the Superintendent of Schools to request the teacher's immediate resignation and grant 30 days' severance pay. The same day the teacher signed a letter of immediate resignation. The guilty plea was later withdrawn, the theft case was dismissed, and the teacher sought to withdraw her resignation. Withdrawal was denied by the Board, County and State Superintendents of Schools, and the District Court. The Supreme Court affirmed, holding that the Board did not need to formally accept a resignation which it had already decided to request and that it was not a delegation of authority for the Board to make a decision and direct an employee to carry an offer to a teacher. The resignation was effective and the district's contractual obligation was satisfied upon the teacher's acceptance of the severance pay. Booth v. Argenbright, 225 M 272, 731 P2d 1318, 44 St. Rep. 227 (1987).

Arbitrator's Award Granting Reinstatement to Teachers Upheld: The Supreme Court rejected school district's contention that the arbitrator of a teacher termination case exceeded his authority by determining that the remedy for firing, in violation of union contract procedures, was to offer full reinstatement, which would thereby confer tenured status to the teachers. The school district, contrary to its assertion, had the statutory and constitutional authority to enter into collective bargaining agreements, and the provisions at issue were proper subjects of bargaining. The trustees, having entered into the agreement in good faith, were bound by it. When parties agree to binding arbitration, the role of a court in reviewing the arbitrator's findings is a narrow one. Savage Educ. Ass'n v. Trustees, 214 M 289, 692 P2d 1237, 41 St. Rep. 2479 (1984).

Reassignment From Administrator to Teacher Within Financial Management Power of School Board — Tenure Laws Not Violated: Sorlie was an elementary teacher for 20 years prior to assuming an administrative position. In 1980, because a mill levy failed, the school board eliminated Sorlie's position and offered her a job as an elementary schoolteacher. Sorlie argued that she was demoted in violation of Montana's tenure laws. The Supreme Court found the two positions to be comparable positions for purpose of tenure although they are functionally dissimilar. The court concluded that the reassignment, without reduction in salary, for legitimate financial constraints, is justifiable and not contrary to tenure laws. Sorlie was removed from her administrative position pursuant to the board's power to financially manage the school district, and this action was in accordance with 39-31-303. Sorlie v. School District, 205 M 22, 667 P2d 400, 40 St. Rep. 1070 (1983).

Power of School District Trustees to Terminate Tenured Teachers: A tenured teacher was not offered a new contract because he cohabited with a female teacher, discussed abortion, and displayed fetuses in the classroom. The decision of the board of trustees not to rehire was upheld by the County Superintendent and the State Superintendent. The District Court overturned the decision, and an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court. The Supreme Court found that a board of trustees has wide discretion. The Supreme Court said that trustees have the power and duty to both employ a teacher and terminate him under the appropriate circumstances. In doing this the rights of the teacher must also be kept in mind. The tenure of a teacher is clearly both a valuable and substantial right that cannot be taken away except for good cause. In addition, the conduct of a teacher, including a characterization of immorality, must be such as to directly affect the performance by the teacher of his duties as a teacher. Good cause was found in this instance. Yanzick v. School District, 196 M 375, 641 P2d 431, 39 St. Rep. 191 (1982).

Photographing Students — Contracts: The school board's jurisdiction clearly covers the photographing of students on school grounds during school hours. Knox v. School District, 171 M 521, 559 P2d 1179, 34 St. Rep. 11 (1977).

Athletics — Regulation of Married Student Unauthorized and Unconstitutional: Where a married high school student had been held ineligible for varsity athletics on the basis of a school district policy prohibiting participation by married students, a temporary injunction was issued to prevent the school district from enforcing the policy, which was not authorized by statute and was also discriminatory as a violation of the student's right to equal protection of the law. Moran v. School District, 350 F. Supp. 1180 (D.C. Mont. 1972), distinguished in State ex rel. Bartmess v. Bd. of Trustees, 223 M 269, 726 P2d 801, 43 St. Rep. 1713 (1986).

Athletic Training and Facilities: Since the board of trustees had provided for athletic training under provision of 1921 Revised Codes (now repealed) authorizing additions to prescribed courses of study, outdoor gymnasium and athletic field were a necessary part of school plant, and bond issue therefor would not be enjoined. McNair v. School District, 87 M 423, 288 P 188, 69 ALR 866 (1930).

Trustees Not Electors to Select Building Site: Under predecessor to subsection (15) of this section, the selection and purchase of a site for a school building in districts of the first and second classes were not entrusted to the electors of the districts but lodged in the trustees under directions of the electors. Nichols v. School District, 87 M 181, 287 P 624 (1930).

Mandamus to Force Location of Schoolhouse: Mandamus is the proper remedy to require the trustees of a school district to redetermine the location of a site for a schoolhouse, where they arbitrarily remove a school to a site selected by themselves, without consulting the electors. A resident and taxpayer of the school district is a party beneficially interested and entitled in such case to make the application. State ex rel. Bean v. Lyons, 37 M 354, 96 P 922 (1908).

Statute as Grant and Limitation of Power: The provision of section 1719 of the Political Code of 1895, in regard to the removal of schoolhouse and the purchase or sale of school lots when directed by vote of the district, was not only a grant of power to school boards but also a limitation upon their power, both as to its extent and as to the mode of its exercise, so that they could not do any of the acts referred to without first obtaining the consent of the electors. State ex rel. Bean v. Lyons, 37 M 354, 96 P 922 (1908).

"Schoolhouse" as Including Equipment and Personnel: The term "schoolhouse" as used in somewhat similar provision in the Compiled Statutes of 1887 (Comp. Stat. 1887, div. 5, sec. 1885) did not mean simply the house but referred to the school plant, including the general equipment, pupils, and teachers, so that the board had no authority to remove the school properties and equipment to another district without being directed to do so by a vote of the people. State ex rel. Jay v. Marshall, 13 M 136, 32 P 648 (1893).

Attorney General's Opinions

Advancement of Annual Annuity Premium — Method of Recovery: A school district may advance the annual premium for a tax-sheltered annuity on behalf of its participating employees and then recover the amount advanced by means of salary withholding. 44 A.G. Op. 26 (1992).

District Residency Requirements of School Employees: A school board may, as a condition of employment, require that school district employees be residents of the school district. Nothing in the U.S. or Montana Constitution prohibits the establishment of a continuous residency requirement as long as the policy has a rational basis. 43 A.G. Op. 54 (1990).

State Nepotism Law Applicable to School Districts on Reservations — Prosecution of Tribal Members — Contracts Voidable: Montana's nepotism statutes apply to members of public school boards for districts lying wholly or partially within an Indian reservation. Criminal prosecution of Indian members for nepotism law violations with respect to decisions made and implemented wholly on-reservation may be initiated only in federal court by the United States pursuant to 18 U.S.C. 13, except for violations occurring on the Flathead Indian Reservation. Furthermore, contracts entered into in contravention of the nepotism statutes are voidable. 43 A.G. Op. 23 (1989).

Disclosure of Merit Pay of School District Administrators: The administrators of a school district do not have a constitutionally protected right to privacy regarding the amount of merit pay awarded to them pursuant to the district's Leadership Evaluation and Compensation Plan. Therefore, the amounts should be disclosed to the public. 41 A.G. Op. 35 (1985).

School Boards — Employment of Principals: A school district board of trustees may not delegate its duty to employ or dismiss principals and vice-principals to the school district Superintendent. 37 A.G. Op. 133 (1978).

Severance Pay: Provision for severance pay in a collective bargaining agreement between a school district and its employees, based on number of years' service of employees, is deferred compensation and is considered wages earned throughout the period of employment. 37 A.G. Op. 113 (1978). This rationale was applied to compensatory advances of the annual premium for tax-sheltered annuities in 44 A.G. Op. 26 (1992). See 34 A.G. Op. 29 (1971).

District School Board — Nonprofit Corporation: School board trustees have only those powers expressed or implied by law, and since the general powers and duties of school board trustees neither expressly nor impliedly give school trustees the authority to incorporate, a district school board may not incorporate under the Montana Nonprofit Corporation Act. 35 A.G. Op. 47 (1973).

20-3-325. Clerk of district.

Compiler's Comments

2005 Amendment: Chapter 196 inserted (2) requiring at least 30 hours' notice in advance of cash demands by a clerk of the district to meet certain transactions in excess of $50,000 and requiring assessment of a late fee for failure to meet the notice requirement; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2005.

Case Notes

Minutes Held Accurate: School bond election was not invalid for failure of clerk to set out resolution in full in minute books, in absence of showing that resolution itself was defective, since minute books need not reflect exact contents of resolution. Elliot v. School District, 149 M 299, 425 P2d 826 (1967).

Nature of Position — Quo Warranto Not Available: The clerk of a school district board of trustees does not perform any of the sovereign functions of government. Consequently, he is an employee rather than a public officer, so that quo warranto is not available to test the right to the position. State ex rel. Running v. Jacobson, 140 M 221, 370 P2d 483 (1962).

Collateral Action Attaching Title Prohibited: Title of acting clerk to office could not be tried in collateral suit on contract with school district. Mintener Lumber Co. v. School District, 84 M 461, 277 P 9 (1929).

Presentation of Claims to Clerk Ineffective: The presentation of a claim to a clerk of a district is nugatory, and his assurance that the same would be paid does not bind the board. Kenyon-Noble Lumber Co. v. School District, 40 M 123, 105 P 551 (1909).

Compiler's Comments

1991 Amendment: In (1), in first sentence after "coverage", inserted "or establish a self-insurance plan" and after "liability" substituted "as provided in 2-9-211 and for group health and life insurance as provided in 2-18-702" for "for the death, injury, or disability of any person or damage to property" and at end of second sentence, after "district", inserted "and as authorized for the district transportation program in 20-10-143(1)(d)"; inserted (2) requiring trustees establishing a self-insurance plan to provide an internal service fund to account for activities of plan; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 23, 1991.

1989 Special Session Amendment: Inserted last sentence requiring inclusion of insurance cost in general fund budget. Amendment effective July 1, 1990.

1985 Amendments: Chapter 15 deleted last sentence (see below).

Chapter 299 deleted last two sentences that read: "If such insurance is purchased, the trustees shall pay the insurance premium cost from the general fund. The provisions of 2-9-104 shall apply to the provisions of this section."

1981 Amendment: Deleted "33-23-102 and" before "2-9-104" in the last sentence.

Attorney General's Opinions

Taxation — Levy for Liability Insurance: The levy provided by 2-9-212 does not require an election. The school trustees may authorize the levy upon determining that it is in the best interests of the school district. The annual property tax may be used to fund all policies of insurance required or permitted by law. 37 A.G. Op. 109 (1978), reversing contrary language in 35 A.G. Op. 44 (1973).

Compiler's Comments

1999 Amendment: Chapter 310 in (2) in substituted third sentence regarding determination of liability of trustees for violations for former language that read: "Those trustees consenting to illegal use of the moneys shall be jointly and individually liable to the district for any losses the district has realized. The county attorney shall prosecute any proceeding arising pursuant to this section, or a party seeking such action may retain private counsel. The party commencing the action shall be liable for the costs if the action fails"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 15, 1999.

1983 Amendment: Inserted (1) relating to individual immunity when acting in official capacity.

Case Notes

Injunction to Prevent Unlawful Payment: Under section 1205, Rev. Codes 1921 (now repealed), authorizing suit by taxpayers against school trustees for restitution of illegally expended funds, injunction did not lie to restrain payment of an alleged illegal claim unless the trustees were insolvent, in which event the complaint was to allege their insolvency. Indian Studies Requirement for Teachers a Local Matter: Prior to the 1979 amendments, 20-4-213 (now repealed) absolutely required that teachers in schools on or near Indian reservations complete a course in American Indian studies. After amendment, the Indian studies requirement was no longer mandatory but rather became discretionary with the local school board. The Legislature provided that any Indian studies requirement must be a local district requirement with enforcement and administration solely the responsibility of the local board of trustees. Therefore, the State Board of Education did not have the authority to require that all certified teachers complete six inservice credits in Indian studies. 39 A.G. Op. 11 (1981).

1981 Amendment: Deleted the requirement that a person must be a citizen of the United States to be a certified teacher from (1); made minor changes in phraseology.

Case Notes

Admissibility of Expert Testimony in Administrative Proceeding Regarding Sexual Conduct by Teacher: Allegations were made to a school board regarding sexual conduct by a teacher toward students and former students, triggering criminal charges that were later dismissed. The District Court found that conclusions by a hearings examiner denying renewal of the teacher's certificate were based on inadmissible testimony by a drug and alcohol counselor who testified as an expert on sexual abuse. The Supreme Court, examining the issue of expert testimony in administrative proceedings, noted that agencies are bound by common law and statutory rules of evidence and that while the rules of evidence are generally more relaxed in an administrative proceeding than they are in a court of law, they are not to be relaxed to the point of disregarding due process of law and fundamental individual rights. In a criminal case, the question of whether a child is a victim of sexual abuse is a question that may be clarified by expert testimony. However, expert testimony evaluating the credibility of witnesses is generally not admissible, except when the witness is a child victim who testifies at trial and credibility is brought into question. In this case, neither victim was a child, nothing in the record established that any of the witnesses were incompetent or were under any form of mental or physical disability, and the expert's general statements that the victims' conduct was consistent with that of sexually abused children prejudiced the accused because the trier of fact deferred to the expertise of the expert and inferred that the expert believed the witness to be credible. Failure to establish a foundation for the use of any of the expert testimony constituted reversible error. In re Renewal of Teaching Certificate of Thompson, 270 M 419, 893 P2d 301, 52 St. Rep. 200 (1995).

Court Review and Reversal of School Board Decision Revoking Teacher's Certificate Proper: The District Court reviewed the entire record of proceedings by a hearings examiner that was relied on by a school board to revoke the certificate of a teacher accused of sexual misconduct and properly reversed the certificate revocation because: (1) the hearings examiner improperly allowed testimony of an expert concerning general statements about the behavior of victims of sexual abuse; (2) the hearings examiner's findings of sexual abuse were not supported by substantial evidence; (3) when the expert's testimony was properly disregarded, other findings by the hearings examiner did not support a conclusion that the teacher was not of good moral and professional character; and (4) the hearings examiner's findings and conclusions contained sufficient independent statements from which the court could reverse the school board's decision without requiring new findings and conclusions from the record. In re Renewal of Teaching Certificate of Thompson, 270 M 419, 893 P2d 301, 52 St. Rep. 200 (1995).

Attorney General's Opinions

Responsibility for Cost of Required Medical Certificate: The medical certificate for teachers mandated by this section (see 1991 amendment) is a requirement of certification established by the Legislature rather than a requirement for employment imposed by the employer school district. Therefore, under 39-2-301, school districts are not responsible for paying the cost of the physician's certificate required for certification of teachers; rather, the cost is the responsibility of the teacher. 41 A.G. Op. 69 (1986).

Age Limitation for Certification Repealed by Implication: The age limitation established in 20-4-104(1)(a) as a qualification for certification to teach is repealed by implication by 49-2-308 and 49-3-204. Age alone is not reasonable grounds to deny a teaching certificate to an otherwise qualified teacher. Based on the holding in Dolan v. School District, 195 M 340, 636 P2d 825, 38 St. Rep. 1903 (1981), 20-4-104(1)(a) is impliedly repealed by the human rights statutes, Title 49 (see 1991 amendment). 39 A.G. Op. 54 (1982).

Statement of Intent: The statement of intent adopted with HB 864 (Ch. 511, L. 1979) provided: "A statement of intent is required for House Bill No. 864 in that it delegates rulemaking and licensing authority to the Board of Public Education in Section 9.

The intent of this bill is to establish a certification category for non-teaching school personnel. It is not intended to restrict or authorize the practice of any profession outside of the public school system.

Specialist certificates may be developed in areas such as school psychology or school nursing.

Experience requirements for certification should range from 0 to 3 years depending upon the profession involved and the needs of the public schools. Education and training equivalencies may be considered for purposes of compliance with experience requirements.

Education and training standards should require no less than a bachelor's degree with some additional specialized training. Specialized training may include an appropriate internship or college-based training program.

The standards should require some degree of training or experience that is directly related to the practice of the profession in a school setting.

A state licensing board license may be made a Board of Education requirement for specialist certification."

Case Notes

School Psychologist a "Teacher" for Purposes of Tenure Laws: The plaintiff was employed as a member of a school's administrative staff as a school psychologist from 1975 to 1981 under a "teacher contract" that required him to hold a valid teacher certificate. He was terminated from his job and subsequently appealed to the District Court a decision of the Office of Public Instruction (OPI) that he was not a tenured teacher at the time of his termination. The Supreme Court held that the District Court did not err in reversing the decision of the OPI. The distinction made by the Legislature, in the 1979 amendment of 20-4-203, between teachers and specialists for the purposes of tenure, did not retroactively affect tenure earned by the plaintiff prior to that amendment. By 1976, the plaintiff had met all three requirements for tenure under the old statute and was therefore a tenured teacher within the meaning of the law. Harris v. Indian Studies Requirement for Teachers a Local Matter: Prior to the 1979 amendments, 20-4-213 (now repealed) absolutely required that teachers in schools on or near Indian reservations complete a course in American Indian studies. After amendment, the Indian studies requirement was no longer mandatory but rather became discretionary with the local school board. The Legislature provided that any Indian studies requirement must be a local district requirement with enforcement and administration solely the responsibility of the local board of trustees. Therefore, the State Board of Education did not have the authority to require that all certified teachers complete six inservice credits in Indian studies. 39 A.G. Op. 11 (1981).

Case Notes

Liquidated Damages Clause in Personal Services Contract — Conscionability of Liquidated Damages Clause in Teacher's Form Contract: In determining the enforceability of a 20% liquidated damages clause in defendant's teaching contract, the Supreme Court examined the conscionability of the clause. The court first held that the clause constituted a contract of adhesion because defendant, as the weaker bargaining party, had no meaningful choice regarding acceptance of the contract provisions. The court also noted that the contract was a form contract that provided no negotiation between the parties. However, the court held that unconscionability does not render all form contracts unacceptable and that form contracts are only unconscionable if the terms are not within the reasonable expectation of the party who had no opportunity to negotiate. Although the liquidated damages clause in defendant's contract was harsher than most, as a teacher, defendant knew that teachers are typically employed for an entire year and how difficult it is to replace equivalent services at small rural schools, so it was within defendant's reasonable expectations to agree to a contract with a 20% liquidated damages provision for departing so close to the start of the school year, even though defendant had no meaningful choice regarding the provision. The enforceability of the liquidated damages clause was affirmed. Arrowhead School District No. 75 v. Klyap, 2003 MT 294, 318 M 103, 79 P3d 250 (2003).

Use of Individual Contracts as Leverage to End Strike: The board of trustees' contention that this section authorizes the issuance of individual contracts after negotiations on a master contract have reached an impasse misses the point. The decision here does not concern that authority in and of itself but only the board's use of individual contracts as leverage to end its teachers' participation in a lawful strike. Bd. of Trustees v. State ex rel. Bd. of Personnel Appeals, 185 M 89, 604 P2d 770, 36 St. Rep. 2311 (1979).

Union Membership — Salary Discrimination Unlawful: School trustees have no authority or power to discriminate between teachers as to the amount of salary because of their membership or lack of membership in a labor union. Therefore, a union security clause in a contract offered schoolteachers was void and mandamus, not suit in contract, was appropriate form of relief for teachers. Benson v. School District, 136 M 77, 344 P2d 117 (1959).

Ratification of Informal Contract: Where teacher had taught school in same district for 3 consecutive years under an informal contract, although statute required such contracts to be in writing, the board of trustees, by accepting the benefits of the teacher's services and issuing warrants to her in payment thereof, ratified the contract. Ratification was equivalent to full compliance with the necessary formalities, and the contract was considered as valid from its inception. Day v. School District, 98 M 207, 38 P2d 595 (1934).

Twelve-Month Compensation Held Unlawful: A school board had no power to allow compensation to a teacher for the full period of 12 months, during 2 ½ months of which time no schoolwork was required and she was left free to engage in other pursuits, a donation of public funds under the pretext of compensation being unlawful. Finley v. School District, 51 M 411, 153 P 1010 (1915), distinguished in State ex rel. Priestly v. Croff, 95 M 498, 27 P2d 540 (1933).

Case Notes

Teacher Tenure Statute Not Ambiguous — Assistant Superintendent Considered Tenured Teacher: The school district board voted to terminate Small's employment as assistant superintendent at the end of the employment contract without a hearing or determination of good cause. Small appealed the board's determination on grounds that he had been continuously employed by the school district for 10 years in a position requiring teacher certification and thus was a tenured teacher whose employment could be terminated only after a hearing and a finding of good cause. The District Court agreed that Small was a tenured teacher and remanded to the board with instructions to provide Small with the appropriate termination process, but found that the issue of damages was premature. The school district appealed the decision that Small was a tenured teacher, and Small appealed the decision that damages were premature. The Supreme Court affirmed, finding that the teacher tenure statute is not ambiguous. The statute clearly grants tenure to teachers and denies tenure to District Superintendents. By definition in 20-1-101, a teacher is a person, except a District Superintendent, who holds a valid Montana teacher certificate and who is employed by a district as a member of its instructional, supervisory, or administrative staff. Small held a valid teacher certificate, was not a District Superintendent, and was employed by the district as a member of its supervisory and administrative staff and was thus entitled to tenure. The court also remanded to the County Superintendent for an evidentiary hearing on damages. Small v. Bd. of Trustees, Glacier County School District No. 9, 2001 MT 181, 306 M 199, 31 P3d 358 (2001).

Statutory Tenure Inapplicable to Community College Instructor: Under the rationale of Rippey v. Flathead Valley Community College, 210 M 396, 682 P2d 1363 (1984), and the plain wording of 20-4-101, this section does not control tenure for instructors at any community college in Montana. Talley v. Flathead Valley Community College, 259 M 479, 857 P2d 701, 50 St. Rep. 889 (1993).

Tenured and Qualified Principal Allowed to "Bump" Nontenured Teacher Upon Elimination of Position: A school board voted to eliminate the position of high school principal and combine it with the position of district superintendent, based on declining enrollment and economic considerations. The principal had been employed in that capacity for 7 years and had over 14 years of previous classroom experience in subject areas in which nontenured teachers held positions. Under the rationale of Massey v. Argenbright, 211 M 331, 683 P2d 1332, 41 St. Rep. 1393 (1984), and in accordance with this section, the district was obligated to offer the principal a comparable teaching position by allowing him to "bump" a nontenured teacher. The fact that he did not hold any teaching endorsements at the time of his termination did not affect his tenure rights because certification only memorialized the qualifications he was known to possess. Holmes v. Bd. of Trustees, 243 M 263, 792 P2d 10, 47 St. Rep. 914 (1990).

Right of Terminated Teacher to Part-Time Position: The school trustees eliminated a tenured teacher's full-time position due to economic reasons and subsequently hired another teacher for a half-time position teaching the same subject. The Supreme Court held that eliminating a full-time position and then creating a part-time position identical in every respect except for hours could not be used as a method to circumvent the protection afforded tenured teachers. The court ruled that the trustees were required to hire the terminated teacher for the part-time position. Harris v. Trustees, 241 M 274, 786 P2d 1164, 47 St. Rep. 260 (1990).

District-Union Contract for Tenure: Given the public policy of providing for teacher tenure, a school district may contract with a teachers' union to allow retention of tenure without violating this section. Beck v. Bd. of Trustees, 233 M 319, 760 P2d 83, 45 St. Rep. 1520 (1988).

Resignation of Tenured Teacher — Formal Board Acceptance Not Required: A tenured teacher was charged with misdemeanor theft and pleaded guilty. The Board of Education of District No. 1 voted to authorize the Superintendent of Schools to request the teacher's immediate resignation and grant 30 days' severance pay. The same day the teacher signed a letter of immediate resignation. The guilty plea was later withdrawn, the theft case was dismissed, and the teacher sought to withdraw her resignation. Withdrawal was denied by the Board, County and State Superintendents of Schools, and the District Court. The Supreme Court affirmed, holding that the Board did not need to formally accept a resignation which it had already decided to request and that it was not a delegation of authority for the Board to make a decision and direct an employee to carry an offer to a teacher. The resignation was effective and the district's contractual obligation was satisfied upon the teacher's acceptance of the severance pay. Booth v. Argenbright, 225 M 272, 731 P2d 1318, 44 St. Rep. 227 (1987).

Tenure Acquired in All Areas in Which Teacher Certified: For purposes of tenure, teaching business education is comparable to teaching physical education. Thus, failure to renew a business education teacher's contract because of a reduction in that department's student enrollment was a violation of this section when the teacher was also certified to teach physical education and there were nontenured teachers retained to teach physical education. A teacher acquires tenure in all areas in which he is certified, even though he has teaching experience within the district in only one certification area. To the extent that Smith v. School District, 115 M 102, 139 P2d 518 (1943), contradicts the holding in this case, it is expressly overruled. Massey v. Argenbright, 211 M 331, 683 P2d 1332, 41 St. Rep. 1393 (1984).

School Psychologist a "Teacher" for Purposes of Tenure Laws: The plaintiff was employed as a member of a school's administrative staff as a school psychologist from 1975 to 1981 under a "teacher contract" that required him to hold a valid teacher certificate. He was terminated from his job and subsequently appealed to the District Court a decision of the Office of Public Instruction (OPI) that he was not a tenured teacher at the time of his termination. The Supreme Court held that the District Court did not err in reversing the decision of the OPI. The distinction made by the Legislature, in the 1979 amendment of 20-4-203, between teachers and specialists for the purposes of tenure, did not retroactively affect tenure earned by the plaintiff prior to that amendment. By 1976, the plaintiff had met all three requirements for tenure under the old statute and was therefore a tenured teacher within the meaning of the law. Harris v. Bauer, 206 M 480, 672 P2d 26, 40 St. Rep. 1793 (1983).

Reassignment From Administrator to Teacher — Tenure Laws Not Violated: Sorlie was an elementary teacher for 20 years prior to assuming an administrative position. In 1980, because a mill levy failed, the school board eliminated Sorlie's position and offered her a job as an elementary schoolteacher. Sorlie argued that she was demoted in violation of Montana's tenure laws. The Supreme Court found the two positions to be comparable positions for purpose of tenure although they are functionally dissimilar. The court concluded that the reassignment, without reduction in salary, for legitimate financial constraints, is justifiable and not contrary to tenure laws. Sorlie was removed from her administrative position pursuant to the board's power to financially manage the school district, and this action was in accordance with 39-31-303. Sorlie v. School District, 205 M 22, 667 P2d 400, 40 St. Rep. 1070 (1983).

Standards Applying to Termination of Tenured Teacher: A tenured teacher was not offered a new contract because he cohabited with a female teacher, discussed abortion in the classroom, and displayed fetuses to his class. The decision of the board of trustees not to rehire was upheld by the County Superintendent and the State Superintendent. The District Court overturned the decision, and an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court. Counsel for the teacher contended that 20-4-207 contains the standards which apply in the event of termination of the services of a tenured teacher. The Supreme Court held that, by its terms, that section applies where the trustees seek to dismiss a teacher before the expiration of his employment contract, i.e., during the course of a normal school year. The court held that 20-4-207 is not applicable to the termination of the services of a tenured teacher under this section and 20-4-204. Yanzick v. School District, 196 M 375, 641 P2d 431, 39 St. Rep. 191 (1982).

Mandatory Teacher Retirement Impliedly Repealed: Plaintiff was a tenured elementary school principal who received notification that because she was 65 years of age her contract would not be renewed. This termination was accomplished by a majority vote of the board of trustees for the school district in accordance with 20-4-203(2) (deleted by 1983 amendment) and board policy. Plaintiff filed a discrimination complaint with the Commission for Human Rights. The Commission found 20-4-203(2) to be a statutory exception to the antidiscrimination provisions of Title 49, ch. 2 and 3. The District Court held that 20-4-203(2) was impliedly repealed by the adoption of 49-2-303(1) and 49-3-201. The Supreme Court affirmed, saying that the manner in which the Legislature enacted Title 49 clearly depicted the legislative intent that there be no discrimination in the lives of Montana citizens in certain areas, including employment. Section 20-4-203(2) permitted discrimination based solely on age with no qualifications or justifications bringing it within the limited exceptions of Title 49. Because the mandatory retirement provision bore no relationship to job performance, it was held impliedly repealed. Dolan v. School District, 195 M 340, 636 P2d 825, 38 St. Rep. 1903 (1981), followed in Kenny v. Bd. of Trustees, 543 F. Supp. 1194, 39 St. Rep. 1377 (D.C. Mont. 1982).

Administrative Tenure Not Contemplated: A community college may not grant continuing contract status (tenure) except to those persons specifically authorized to receive such status. Tenure for teachers is unique in public contracts of employment; its basis is academic freedom. It does not apply to an administrative position not requiring teacher certification. Sibert v. Community College, 179 M 188, 587 P2d 26, 35 St. Rep. 1780 (1978).

Nature of Right: A teacher's tenure is a substantial, valuable, and beneficial right that cannot be taken away except for good cause, and the number of hours a teacher may teach in a day is not a factor in determining her right to tenure. State ex rel. Saxtorph v. District Court, 128 M 353, 275 P2d 209 (1954).

Tenure Law Applicable to Demotion of Teacher: Where teacher after 7 years of teaching in town school was assigned to a rural ungraded school having five pupils and plaintiff refused assignment, the new assignment in effect was a demotion which required the same procedure as a removal or dismissal under this section, and plaintiff properly refused to accept it, the purpose of the teacher tenure law being not merely to insure teaching employment but also security to teachers in the position, rank, grade, or status they have attained. Smith v. School District, 115 M 102, 139 P2d 518 (1943), partially overruled in Massey v. Argenbright, 211 M 331, 683 P2d 1332, 41 St. Rep. 1393 (1984).

Conditions of Automatic Reemployment: The term "automatic reemployment" used by section 1075, 1935 Rev. Codes of Montana (now repealed), meant reemployment under the same terms and conditions as the preceding year's employment. Moses v. School District, 107 M 300, 86 P2d 407 (1938).

Retroactivity of General School Code of 1913: The General School Code of 1913 was not retroactive, and a schoolteacher was not entitled to take advantage of the provisions of the tenure law where her complaint was based on a contract made prior to the passage of the Code of 1913. Falligan v. School District, 54 M 177, 169 P 803 (1917).

Attorney General's Opinions

Employment "at the Same Salary" — Fringe Benefits Not Included: Employment "at the same salary" provided to tenured teachers by this section means employment at the same basic pay, but does not include fringe benefits (see 1997 amendment). However, provision of fringe benefits by a collective bargaining agreement is not affected by this opinion. 42 A.G. Op. 49 (1987).

American Indian Studies Law Applicable to Tenured Teachers: The provisions of the Indian studies law are applicable to tenured teachers. 37 A.G. Op. 75 (1977).

Teachers Paid by Federally Funded Programs: Teachers who are employed by a school district in federally funded programs are eligible for tenure upon satisfying the provisions of this section but are subject to dismissal in cases of genuine economic necessity, as where federal funds are terminated by the United States government. 36 A.G. Op. 77 (1976).

Tenure of Teacher Holding "Life Certificate": A public school teacher who holds a "life certificate" (as provided under prior law) has tenure after being elected to the fourth consecutive year of employment, regardless of when that teacher received a college degree. 35 A.G. Op. 60 (1974).

Compiler's Comments

1997 Amendment: Chapter 438 in (2), in first sentence, substituted "shall notify" for "shall, before May 1 of the current school fiscal year, notify"; in (5), near beginning of first sentence after "terminate", inserted "an employment contract" and near middle, after "county superintendent", inserted "if the teacher's employment is not covered by a collective bargaining agreement pursuant to Title 39, chapter 31" and inserted second, third, and fourth sentences relating to termination of employment of teacher covered by collective bargaining agreement; inserted (6) allowing appeal to District Court of county in which teacher was employed and establishing deadline for commencement of appeal; deleted former (6) that read: "(6) Subsequently, either the teacher or the trustees may appeal to the superintendent of public instruction under the provision for the appeal of controversies in this title"; inserted (7) establishing deadline for request for arbitration; inserted (8) making arbitrator's decision final and allocating payment of arbitrator's charges; inserted (9) allowing reinstatement and compensation and providing for calculation of award for lost wages; inserted (10) prohibiting award for certain forms of damages; inserted (11) prohibiting lawsuit against district after submission of termination decision to arbitrator; inserted (12) defining fringe benefits and lost wages; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Saving Clause: Section 9, Ch. 438, L. 1997, was a saving clause.

1987 Amendment: In (2) changed "April 1" to "May 1".

1985 Amendment: Substituted (1) through (4) (see 1985 Session Law for text) for former (1), (2), and part of (3) that read: "(1) Whenever the trustees of any district resolve to terminate the services of a tenure teacher under the provisions of 20-4-203, they shall, before April 1, notify such teacher of such termination in writing by certified or registered letter or by personal notification for which a signed receipt is returned. Such notification shall include a printed copy of this section for the teacher's information.

(2) Any tenure teacher who receives a notice of termination may request, in writing 10 days after the receipt of such notice, a written statement declaring clearly and explicitly the specific reason or reasons for the termination of his services, and the trustees shall supply such statement within 10 days after the request.

(3) Within 10 days after the tenure teacher receives the statement of reasons for termination, he may request in writing a hearing before the trustees to reconsider their termination action. When a hearing is requested, the trustees shall conduct such a hearing and reconsider their termination action within 10 days after the receipt of the request for a hearing. If the trustees affirm their decision to terminate the teacher's employment, the"; renumbered remainder of former (3) as (5) (relating to appeal to the County Superintendent); and in (5) after "decision", inserted "to terminate".

Case Notes

Teacher Tenure Statute Not Ambiguous — Assistant Superintendent Considered Tenured Teacher: The school district board voted to terminate Small's employment as assistant superintendent at the end of the employment contract without a hearing or determination of good cause. Small appealed the board's determination on grounds that he had been continuously employed by the school district for 10 years in a position requiring teacher certification and thus was a tenured teacher whose employment could be terminated only after a hearing and a finding of good cause. The District Court agreed that Small was a tenured teacher and remanded to the board with instructions to provide Small with the appropriate termination process, but found that the issue of damages was premature. The school district appealed the decision that Small was a tenured teacher, and Small appealed the decision that damages were premature. The Supreme Court affirmed, finding that the teacher tenure statute is not ambiguous. The statute clearly grants tenure to teachers and denies tenure to District Superintendents. By definition in 20-1-101, a teacher is a person, except a District Superintendent, who holds a valid Montana teacher certificate and who is employed by a district as a member of its instructional, supervisory, or administrative staff. Small held a valid teacher certificate, was not a District Superintendent, and was employed by the district as a member of its supervisory and administrative staff and was thus entitled to tenure. The court also remanded to the County Superintendent for an evidentiary hearing on damages. Small v. Bd. of Trustees, Glacier County School District No. 9, 2001 MT 181, 306 M 199, 31 P3d 358 (2001).

District Court Error in Substituting Its Judgment for That of Factfinder in Nonrenewal of Principal's Contract: The contract of a tenured assistant high school principal was not renewed by the school board of trustees. Appeal was made to the County Superintendent of Schools, who affirmed the trustees' decision. The County Superintendent's decision was affirmed by the State Superintendent of Schools, whose decision was in turn appealed to District Court. The court reviewed the County Superintendent's decision and determined that the findings were supported by reliable, probative, substantial evidence and that none of the County Superintendent's conclusions were in error, but then reversed the agency decision and ordered the principal to be reinstated and paid back wages and benefits on grounds that the County Superintendent failed to consider the principal's due process and first amendment rights pursuant to Pickering v. Bd. of Educ., 391 US 563, 20 L Ed 2d 811, 88 S Ct 1731 (1968). The Supreme Court reversed, noting that the policy used in determining that the principal's due process rights were violated was inapplicable and that a Pickering analysis was not necessary because the principal was not terminated because of the exercise of free speech, but rather for other good causes. It was error for the court to substitute its judgment for that of the factfinder regarding the weight of the evidence. Quick v. Bozeman School District No. 7, 1999 MT 175, 295 M 240, 983 P2d 402, 56 St. Rep. 682 (1999).

Notice of Administrator Termination Sufficiently Clear to Satisfy Statutory Notice Requirements: The contract of a tenured assistant high school principal was not renewed by the school board of trustees. The principal contended that the termination letter, which also served as notice as to why termination was being recommended, was not sufficiently clear and explicit to satisfy this section. Several paragraphs had been stricken from the letter during the hearing before the County Superintendent of Schools. The District Court found that most of the remaining paragraphs did not provide sufficient detail to satisfy the statute, but that because the first two paragraphs set forth reasons for termination with sufficient clarity, any error in allowing the remaining paragraphs was harmless. On appeal, the Supreme Court noted that there are no formal requirements for what information must be included in a termination letter, only that it be sufficiently detailed to inform the administrator of the charges so that a defense may be reasonably formulated. Although the letter did not set forth specific instances of conduct, the remaining paragraphs provided the principal with information that the superintendent and several administrators had lost faith in their ability to work with the principal, based on a perceived lack of credibility, and were sufficient to enable the formulation of a defense. Quick v. Bozeman School District No. 7, 1999 MT 175, 295 M 240, 983 P2d 402, 56 St. Rep. 682 (1999), following Bd. of Trustees v. Supt. of Pub. Instruction, 171 M 323, 557 P2d 1048 (1976).

Right of Terminated Teacher to Part-Time Position: The school trustees eliminated a tenured teacher's full-time position due to economic reasons and subsequently hired another teacher for a half-time position teaching the same subject. The Supreme Court held that eliminating a full-time position and then creating a part-time position identical in every respect except for hours could not be used as a method to circumvent the protection afforded tenured teachers. The court ruled that the trustees were required to hire the terminated teacher for the part-time position. Harris v. Trustees, 241 M 274, 786 P2d 1164, 47 St. Rep. 260 (1990).

Termination Procedures Not Followed — Termination Upheld on Other Grounds: The school trustees decided, prior to any hearing, to terminate a tenured teacher due to lack of funds. The Supreme Court agreed that the termination violated the statutory procedures but upheld the trustees' action because the firing was for economic reasons and did not reflect on the personal qualifications of the teacher. Birrer v. Trustees, 241 M 262, 786 P2d 1161, 47 St. Rep. 247 (1990).

Breach of Sabbatical Leave Agreement — Tenured Teacher's Contract Not Renewed: When a tenured teacher did not fulfill the provisions of a sabbatical leave agreement, breach of the agreement constituted good cause for nonrenewal of the teacher's contract. Stansberry v. Argenbright, 227 M 123, 738 P2d 478, 44 St. Rep. 935 (1987), citing Yanzick v. School District, 196 M 375, 641 P2d 431, 39 St. Rep. 191 (1982).

Standards Applying to Termination of Tenured Teacher: A tenured teacher was not offered a new contract because he cohabited with a female teacher, discussed abortion in the classroom, and displayed fetuses to his class. The decision of the board of trustees not to rehire was upheld by the County Superintendent and the State Superintendent. The District Court overturned the decision, and an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court. Counsel for the teacher contended that 20-4-207 contains the standards which apply in the event of termination of the services of a tenured teacher. The Supreme Court held that, by its terms, that section applies where the trustees seek to dismiss a teacher before the expiration of his employment contract, i.e., during the course of a normal school year. The court held that 20-4-207 is not applicable to the termination of the services of a tenured teacher under 20-4-203 and this section. (See 1985 amendment to this section and 20-4-207.) Yanzick v. School District, 196 M 375, 641 P2d 431, 39 St. Rep. 191 (1982).

Nonrenewal of Tenured Teacher's Contract — Scope of Review: A tenured teacher's contract was not renewed. A hearing was held by the board of trustees, which affirmed its decision not to renew the contract. The teacher appealed to the County Superintendent where he was given a trial de novo with witnesses and record evidence. The teacher then appealed to the State Superintendent based upon the record, and the State Superintendent upheld the decision. The teacher appealed to District Court based upon the record. The District Court reversed the administrative decision, and an appeal to the Supreme Court was made upon the record. The Supreme Court reversed the District Court, saying that the procedure to be used in this instance was identical to that for any other District Court decision involving an administrative decision. The District Court was not a trier of fact. The Supreme Court should not substitute its judgment for that of the County Superintendent as to the weight of the evidence on questions of fact. The Supreme Court may reverse or modify if the substantial rights of the appellant have been prejudiced because the administrative findings and conclusions are clearly erroneous in view of the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence on the whole record. Yanzick v. School District, 196 M 375, 641 P2d 431, 39 St. Rep. 191 (1982), followed in Booth v. Argenbright, 225 M 272, 731 P2d 1318, 44 St. Rep. 227 (1987).

Termination of Tenured Teacher — Standard of Review: A tenured teacher was not offered a new contract. The decision of the board of trustees not to rehire was upheld by the County Superintendent and State Superintendent. The board of trustees based its decision on findings that defendant demonstrated a lack of fitness for teaching in statements made to his junior high class to the effect that his "girlfriend" had to move out of his house because some people did not like his living arrangements. The trustees also concluded that defendant demonstrated a lack of moral values by cohabiting in Polson with a female teacher, not his wife, which adversely affected his performance as a teacher. The County Superintendent found that although the discussion of abortion and display of fetuses to his class were not in themselves sufficient grounds for dismissal, together with the resultant controversy, they were indicative of the adverse impact defendant's living arrangements were having on his teaching. The State Superintendent did not discuss the abortion or fetus findings. The Supreme Court found that the County Superintendent's findings allowed it to consider the issues. The District Court held that the finding that the cohabitation was a matter of public knowledge was clearly erroneous. The Supreme Court held that the County Superintendent was in the position of the trier of fact and so was able to hear and evaluate the evidence of the various witnesses. Where the evidence was conflicting and the County Superintendent and State Superintendent both found that the trustees' reasons were supported by the evidence, the Supreme Court, applying the standard of 2-4-704, found the findings not clearly erroneous and reversed the District Court. Yanzick v. School District, 196 M 375, 641 P2d 431, 39 St. Rep. 191 (1982).

Discharge of Teacher — Board's Lack of Knowledge of Protected Union Activity: Based on the recommendation of the principal, a striking teacher was not rehired by a board of trustees. The board had no knowledge of the teacher's union activities, but the principal did. The Supreme Court held that the board had committed an unfair labor practice despite its lack of knowledge of the teacher's union activity because the board was responsible for the principal's tainted evaluation and, in accepting his recommendation, committed the prohibited act of discrimination. This is not the usual employee-employer relationship, and the Legislature did not intend to allow a school board to insulate itself by claiming lack of knowledge when a public employee's rights have been disregarded. Bd. of Trustees v. State ex rel. Bd. of Personnel Appeals, 185 M 89, 604 P2d 770, 36 St. Rep. 2289 (1979).

Dual Motivation for Teacher's Discharge — Burden of Proof — "But For" Test: Where a striking teacher was not rehired by a board of trustees based upon proper reasons related to the teacher's competence and improper reasons related to protected union activity of the teacher, the Supreme Court held that the District Court correctly affirmed the decision of the Board of Personnel Appeals, which, in essence, utilized the procedure and the "but for" test of Mt. Healthy City Board of Education v. Doyle, 429 US 274, 97 S Ct 568, 250 L Ed 2d 471 (1977). Under Mt. Healthy, the burden is first placed upon the teacher to show that the protected activity was a motivating factor in the discharge. The board of trustees then has the burden of showing that the teacher would have been discharged even in the absence of the protected activity. Bd. of Trustees v. State ex rel. Bd. Personnel Appeals, 185 M 89, 604 P2d 770, 36 St. Rep. 2289 (1979).

Waiver of Time Limit by Superintendent: Because the board allowed plaintiff to believe that the Superintendent had the authority to waive the statutory time limit of 20-4-204 for a hearing request, plaintiff was entitled to a hearing before the board concerning the termination of his contract, even though his request came after expiration of the time limit. (See 1985 amendment.) Yanzick v. Bd. of Trustees, 177 M 459, 582 P2d 338, 35 St. Rep. 1085 (1978).

Notice of Dismissal by Superintendent Held Lawful: Where, after vote by the board of trustees, teacher was notified of his dismissal by Superintendent and not the board itself, there was no violation of the statute, since the Superintendent's action was a purely ministerial one performed in his capacity as chief executive officer of the trustees. (See 1985 amendment.) School District v. Colburg, 169 M 368, 547 P2d 84 (1976).

Stipulation by Counsel as Waiver to Sufficiency of Notice of Reasons for Termination: Where counsel stipulated, in order to limit issues to be considered at hearing before Superintendent, that proper procedural steps were taken for notice of termination, according to this section, he is estopped from thereafter asserting that the case was tried or submitted on wrong theory, since, unlike a stipulation which merely eliminates a single issue, a stipulation of this nature amounts to a binding waiver or elimination of all procedural issues not included. School District v. Colburg, 169 M 368, 547 P2d 84 (1976).

Trustees' Delegation of Authority to District Superintendent to Supply Statement of Reasons for Termination: District Court erred in holding that this section was not complied with when Superintendent and not school board supplied statement of reasons for termination, as notification of a decision already reached by the school board and sent by the Superintendent does not constitute an improper delegation of authority when the Superintendent's action was purely a ministerial one by the chief executive officer of the trustees. (See 1985 amendment.) School District v. Colburg, 169 M 368, 547 P2d 84 (1976).

Dismissal Based on Drop in Enrollment: Certified letter from chairman of school board to tenured teacher which informed teacher that termination of her services was deemed necessary due to a drop in enrollment of her class was legally sufficient as a notice; this section (prior to amendment) did not require that the notice contain a statement of appeal procedure. Schweigert v. Bd. of Trustees, 163 M 29, 515 P2d 85 (1973).

Teacher's Petition for Reconsideration of Termination Not Timely Filed: Teacher who failed to file petition for a formal hearing to reconsider termination until more than 45 days after receiving notice of termination failed to file request in a timely manner, and the right to a hearing under this section had expired. The fact that the board reaffirmed its decision 40 days after receipt of original notification did not revive expired rights. Schweigert v. Bd. of Trustees, 163 M 29, 515 P2d 85 (1973). (Decided prior to 1985 amendment.)

Nepotism — Effect on Tenure: Where the father, mother, and uncle of the only pupils attending school were the sole persons eligible to serve as trustees, the employment of the mother, who though elected as trustee preferred to act as teacher and did not qualify as trustee, was illegal under 2-2-302, condemning nepotism. This section presupposing capacity to hold the position both legally and in fact, she therefore could not be deemed reelected thereunder in the absence of notice that her services would be no longer required. State ex rel. Hoagland v. School District, 116 M 294, 151 P2d 168 (1944).

Closing of School — Contract Void: Where a teacher who was not notified that her services would not be required for next succeeding year brought an action to recover the amount she would have received if reemployed, having taught for 3 consecutive years, entitling her (prior to amendment) to automatic reemployment under this section because school was closed on the enrollment having fallen to two pupils, the board under section 1044, R.C.M. 1935 (since repealed), had the power to close the school and void the contract, as well as under a clause of her contract providing that if school closed for lack of attendance the contract should be considered at an end. Moses v. School District, 107 M 300, 86 P2d 407 (1938).

Notice Based on Informal Meeting Held Insufficient: The notice of dismissal that must be given a teacher entitled to the benefits of the tenure act is one based upon action by a majority of the board of trustees taken at a meeting thereof. Hence, where two of the three members of the board decided in casual conversations at their homes to dispense with the services of the teacher and notified her to that effect in writing, the notice was not the legal notice required and was insufficient to effect her dismissal. Day v. School District, 98 M 207, 38 P2d 595 (1934).

Statute Part of Contract: Provision requiring notice of termination became a part of the contract of employment, binding upon both the teacher and the board of trustees. The notice of dismissal must be clear and explicit. McBride v. School District, 88 M 110, 290 P 252 (1930), explained in State ex rel. Hoagland v. School District, 116 M 294, 151 P2d 168 (1944), and overruled in Canyon Creek Educ. Ass'n v. Bd. of Trustees, 241 M 73, 785 P2d 201, 47 St. Rep. 93 (1990).

Attorney General's Opinions

Application of Nepotism Law to Rehiring of Tenured Teacher: The nepotism statutes (2-2-301 through 2-2-304) prohibit the rehiring of a tenured teacher if the teacher is within one of the prohibited relationships to a member of the school district board of trustees. 41 A.G. Op. 57 (1986).

Grave Economic Necessity — Grounds for Dismissal: Tenured teachers are subject to dismissal in situations of genuine economic necessity, such as when federal funds are terminated. 36 A.G. Op. 77 (1976).

Termination of Employment: When a nontenured teacher contends that her contract was not renewed due to exercise of first amendment rights, the court found that the school board would have reached the same decision as to plaintiff's reemployment in the absence of the constitutionally protected conduct. Compiler's Comments

1997 Amendment: Chapter 438 in (1), at end of first sentence, substituted "by June 1 to each nontenure teacher employed by the district regarding whether the nontenure teacher has been reelected for the ensuing school fiscal year" for "by May 1 to all nontenure teachers who have been reelected" and at beginning of second sentence substituted "A teacher" for "A nontenure teacher"; in (2), in middle of second sentence, substituted "constitutes conclusive evidence of the nontenure teacher's nonacceptance" for "may be considered nonacceptance"; inserted (3) concerning nonrenewal of employment of nontenure teacher; deleted former (3) through (6) that read: "When the trustees notify a nontenure teacher of termination, the teacher may within 10 days after receipt of the notice make written request of the trustees for a statement in writing of the reasons for termination of employment. Within 10 days after receipt of the request, the trustees shall furnish to the teacher a true statement of reasons for termination.

(4) If a nontenure teacher believes the reasons provided by the trustees are not true, the teacher may request in writing within 10 days of receipt of the statement of reasons that the county superintendent hold a hearing in accordance with 20-3-210 to determine whether the reasons are true. A hearing must be scheduled within 10 days and held within 45 days after receipt of the request, except that the period may be extended upon agreement between the trustees and the teacher. The burden of proof that the reasons are not true rests with the teacher, and the showing must be demonstrated by clear and convincing evidence.

(5) If, after a hearing, the county superintendent determines that the reasons are not true, the county superintendent shall order the trustees to offer the teacher a contract for the ensuing school fiscal year.

(6) The provisions of this section do not apply to cases in which a nontenure teacher is terminated when the financial condition of the school district requires a reduction in the number of teachers employed and the reason for the termination is to reduce the number of teachers employed"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Saving Clause: Section 9, Ch. 438, L. 1997, was a saving clause.

Applicability: Section 4, Ch. 439, L. 1991, provided: "[This act] does not apply to nontenure teachers who are considered temporary or substitute teachers."

1987 Amendment: In (1) changed "April 15" to "May 1".

Case Notes

Nonrenewal of Teacher Contract — No Constitutionally Protected Interest or Right to Administrative Hearing: Roos's teaching contract was not renewed, and the school district's motion to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction was upheld by the state superintendent and the District Court. On appeal, the Supreme Court affirmed. The basis for Roos's complaint was that the school district violated its own policy that nonrenewed teachers be notified of the decision by May 1, even though this section requires notification by June 1, and that because the school policy granted greater protection than state law, an administrative hearing on the issue was appropriate. Nevertheless, the appeal failed. Roos did not allege any violation of state statute that grants an administrative hearing or constitutionally protected interest. Thus, the District Court properly held that the County Superintendent of Schools did not have jurisdiction to hear Roos's claims as a contested complaint. Roos v. Kircher Pub. School Bd. of Trustees, School District No. 3, 2004 MT 48, 320 M 128, 86 P3d 39 (2004). See also Irving v. School District No. 1-1A, 248 M 460, 813 P2d 417 (1991).

Scope of Written Statement of Reasons for Termination of Employment of Nontenure Teacher: Under this section, timely notice of termination of a nontenure teacher is sufficient even in the absence of a statement of reasons. Upon request of the teacher, a reasonably detailed statement of reasons for termination is required; however, there is no statutory standard that the reasons must be somehow sufficient to merit a refusal to enter into a contract. This section does not contain any requirements regarding the extent or nature of the statement reasons, but the inadequacy of a statement in no way affects the termination when timely notice is given. (See 1997 amendment.) Birgenheier v. Bd. of Trustees, 242 M 513, 791 P2d 1388, 47 St. Rep. 941 (1990), overruling the statement in Bridger Educ. Ass'n v. Bd. of Trustees, 209 M 31, 678 P2d 659 (1984), that a nontenure teacher is entitled to notice stating what undesirable qualities merit a refusal to enter into a further contract.

Breach of Contract Disputes to Be Handled Administratively: The plaintiff brought an action in District Court alleging breach of the collective bargaining agreement. The Supreme Court ruled that the issue had to be submitted for administrative review before it could be filed in the lower court. The court overruled its holding in McBride v. School District No. 1, 88 M 110, 290 P 252 (1930). Canyon Creek Educ. Ass'n v. Bd. of Trustees, 241 M 73, 785 P2d 201, 47 St. Rep. 93 (1990).

Failure to Follow Contract Grievance Procedure — Loss of Right to Final Administrative Determination: Plaintiff's teaching contract outlined three levels of grievance adjustment. The first level provided that the written grievance be presented to the responsible administrator, level two allowed appeal to the County Superintendent of Schools, and level three provided for binding arbitration. Plaintiff's grievance claimed inaccuracy in an evaluation and requested a new contract but did not suggest that insufficient reasons were given in the notice of nonrenewal. The grievance was denied at the first two levels, but rather than proceeding to binding arbitration, plaintiff went to District Court seeking damages based on insufficiency of notice. The Supreme Court found that the grievance procedure under the union contract was binding and that plaintiff could not have proceeded into District Court on the same issues raised in the grievance. By failing to follow the administrative procedures set out in Throssell v. Bd. of Trustees, 232 M 498, 757 P2d 348, 45 St. Rep. 1228 (1988), and Yanzick v. School District, 196 M 375, 641 P2d 431 (1982), plaintiff gave up his right to a final determination under the administrative procedure required in Montana. He therefore had no claim for nonrenewal of his contract, and there were no further remedies available in District Court. Thompson v. Bd. of Trustees, 237 M 498, 774 P2d 412, 46 St. Rep. 1000 (1989).

Failure to Request Reasons for Termination — Loss of Appeal Rights: Plaintiff was one of four nontenured teachers informed in writing in mid-April that her contract would not be renewed. The letter gave no reason for termination, but school board minutes reflected that the reason was financial, and allegedly all nontenured teachers were released in anticipation that the upcoming mill levy would not pass. Plaintiff therefore did not request reasons for termination within 10 days as required under this section (see 1997 amendment). However, in June the levy did pass and all nontenured teachers were rehired except plaintiff, who appealed in July. Even in cases where financial conditions are the alleged reason for termination, nontenured teachers cannot assume this is the reason unless they request and receive written confirmation from the district trustees. Because plaintiff did not request confirmation, her chance for appeal passed while she waited to be rehired after the mill levy vote. Keller v. School District, 237 M 481, 774 P2d 409, 46 St. Rep. 986 (1989).

"Superintendent/Principal" Entitled to Statutory Processes Regarding Nonrenewal of Contract: Appellant was hired for the 1979-80 school year as "superintendent/principal" by respondent school district for a period of 227 days but left after performing only 193 days' service. The district failed to renew his contract for 1980-81, claiming that as superintendent he was not entitled to notice under 20-4-401. Appellant claimed he also served as principal and was therefore entitled to notice under 20-4-206. The Supreme Court held that he served in both capacities and that as principal he was entitled to the statutory notice provisions regarding nonrenewal of a nontenure teacher contract outlined in 20-4-206. Since respondent did not comply with 20-4-207 regarding dismissal, the court held that appellant was entitled to damages for breach of the statutorily entered 1980-81 contract but not for damages stemming from the 1979-80 contract. The case was remanded on the issue of damages for determination in light of Wyatt v. School District, 148 M 83, 417 P2d 221 (1966). Hurtt v. School District, 222 M 415, 723 P2d 205, 43 St. Rep. 1377 (1986).

Award Properly Limited to Year of Termination: In an appeal by the school district from an administrative order reinstating and compensating a nontenured school principal who had been discharged, the District Court properly limited the principal's award to the school year of his termination. The proper award is codified in 20-4-207 but is affected by 20-4-206, which applies to nontenured teachers. It was clear the trustees elected to terminate the contract of the nontenured principal and he would not have been reelected for subsequent years. Pryor School District v. Supt. of Pub. Instruction, 218 M 73, 707 P2d 1094, 42 St. Rep. 1405 (1985).

Dismissal of Nontenured Teacher — Notice of Reasons to State Undesirable Qualities: A nontenured teacher was given as a reason for his termination that the school district believed it "could find a better teacher". Such a reason contravenes the intention of this section. A nontenured teacher is entitled to notice that states what undesirable qualities merit refusal to enter into a further contract; this enables a teacher to know about his deficiencies and inadequacies and enables him to improve, thereby elevating the teaching profession and education in Montana. (See 1997 amendment.) Bridger Educ. Ass'n v. Bd. of Trustees, 209 M 31, 678 P2d 659, 41 St. Rep. 533 (1984), overruled in Birgenheier v. Bd. of Trustees, 242 M 513, 791 P2d 1388, 47 St. Rep. 941 (1990).

Collective Bargaining — Teachers' Procedural Rights — School District's Management Rights: A provision of a collective bargaining agreement between a school district and teachers incorporated the requirements of this section that provide nontenured teachers access to the grievance procedure for alleged noncompliance by the school district. The provision did not affect any of the statutorily or contractually reserved management rights of the school district. Savage Pub. Schools v. Savage Educ. Ass'n, 199 M 39, 647 P2d 833, 39 St. Rep. 1192 (1982).

Arbitration of Teacher Contract Nonrenewal: Nonrenewal of nontenured teacher's contract was not a "grievance" within a collective bargaining agreement with the school board and subject to arbitration provisions of the agreement when not allowed under former law regarding negotiations for teachers. Wibaux Educ. Ass'n v. Wibaux County High School, 175 M 331, 573 P2d 1162 (1978).

Termination of Employment: Where a nontenured teacher contended that her contract was not renewed due to exercise of first amendment rights, the court found that the school board would have reached the same decision as to plaintiff's reemployment in the absence of the constitutionally protected conduct. Defendants provided the reasons for failure to renew as requested by the plaintiff, and it is incidental whether they constituted good cause. Branch v. School District, 432 F. Supp. 608, 34 St. Rep. 572 (D.C. Mont. 1977).

Termination of Employment — Retaliation for Exercise of Rights: When the refusal to grant a contract to a nontenured teacher was based in whole or in substantial part upon the teacher's exercise of protected rights, the refusal is unlawful and the teacher has a remedy. Morrison v. School District, 32 St. Rep. 467 (D.C. Mont. 1975) (apparently not reported in Federal Supplement).

If the county superintendent, after a hearing, determines that the dismissal by the trustees was made without good cause, he shall order the trustees to reinstate such teacher and to compensate such teacher at his contract amount for the time lost during the pending of the appeal", and inserted second and third sentences designating to whom appeal is made based on whether employment of teacher is covered by collective bargaining agreement; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Case Notes

Teacher Tenure Statute Not Ambiguous — Assistant Superintendent Considered Tenured Teacher: The school district board voted to terminate Small's employment as assistant superintendent at the end of the employment contract without a hearing or determination of good cause. Small appealed the board's determination on grounds that he had been continuously employed by the school district for 10 years in a position requiring teacher certification and thus was a tenured teacher whose employment could be terminated only after a hearing and a finding of good cause. The District Court agreed that Small was a tenured teacher and remanded to the board with instructions to provide Small with the appropriate termination process, but found that the issue of damages was premature. The school district appealed the decision that Small was a tenured teacher, and Small appealed the decision that damages were premature. The Supreme Court affirmed, finding that the teacher tenure statute is not ambiguous. The statute clearly grants tenure to teachers and denies tenure to District Superintendents. By definition in 20-1-101, a teacher is a person, except a District Superintendent, who holds a valid Montana teacher certificate and who is employed by a district as a member of its instructional, supervisory, or administrative staff. Small held a valid teacher certificate, was not a District Superintendent, and was employed by the district as a member of its supervisory and administrative staff and was thus entitled to tenure. The court also remanded to the County Superintendent for an evidentiary hearing on damages. Small v. Bd. of Trustees, Glacier County School District No. 9, 2001 MT 181, 306 M 199, 31 P3d 358 (2001).

Numerous Sex-Based Jokes and Comments as Rendering High School Teacher Unfit to Teach: A high school teacher who jokes about testes and a student's menstrual period, flips off his students and views the gesture as "the highest form of respect", and makes gender-based remarks and innuendoes in his classroom is unfit to continue teaching as a matter of law. In this case, the County Superintendent received evidence of nine instances of such sex-based conduct but concluded, erroneously, that the conduct did not constitute unfitness under this section. Unfitness in this context means inappropriate, and the conduct was inappropriate. The conduct was unrelated to the purpose of teaching, and the teacher showed an inherent lack of judgment regarding a teacher's role and relationship with students that relates directly to fitness to teach. The County Superintendent's findings, based on substantial evidence, that the teacher did not mean to offend and that the students were not offended is irrelevant. Baldridge v. Bd. of Trustees, 287 M 53, 951 P2d 1343, 54 St. Rep. 1495 (1997).

Wrongful Firing of Tenured Teacher as Violation of Rights — Not Breach of Contract: The school district fired a tenured teacher on the grounds of incompetence. Subsequently, the Supreme Court ruled that the firing was not legal and the district entered into a money settlement with the teacher. The district's insurer refused to cover the settlement on the basis that the policy contained an exclusion for damages due to breaches of contract. The Supreme Court ruled that coverage under the policy was based upon the act giving rise to the claim and not the language of the complaint. The court held that tenure was a right, that the wrongful discharge was negligence, that the fact that the statute required damages based on contracted salary did not change the fact that the district's negligent conduct was not a breach of contract, and that therefore the wrongful discharge was covered under the policy. Missoula County School District No. 1 v. Pac. Employer's Ins. Co., 263 M 121, 866 P2d 1118, 50 St. Rep. 1741 (1993).

Temporary Suspension of Teachers Not Subject to Dismissal Statute: Three teachers temporarily suspended for disciplinary reasons sued for wages not paid during the period of suspension. The Supreme Court ruled that temporary suspensions were not subject to the statute covering the dismissal of teachers. The court further held that disputes over temporary suspensions were subject to contract arbitration provisions and that therefore the lower court had no jurisdiction to resolve the dispute. DeBar v. Yellowstone County School District, 244 M 297, 796 P2d 1081, 47 St. Rep. 1639 (1990).

School Psychologist Subject to Teacher Dismissal Statute: The plaintiff argued that his dismissal under the state statute providing for dismissal of teachers was improper because he was employed as a school psychologist. The Supreme Court held that the statute did apply to school specialists and pointed out that in a previous case, the plaintiff had successfully argued that he was entitled to the rights of a tenured teacher. Harris v. Bailey, 244 M 279, 798 P2d 96, 47 St. Rep. 1622 (1990).

Statute Specific to Teachers Controls: The plaintiff argued that his firing should be set aside on the basis that he was not given a statement for his discharge as required by 39-2-801. The Supreme Court ruled that the section of law relied on by the plaintiff applied generally to employees in general commerce and that the specific statute relating to termination of teachers was controlling. Harris v. Bailey, 244 M 279, 798 P2d 96, 47 St. Rep. 1622 (1990).

Sufficient Evidence of School Psychologist's Incompetence: The Supreme Court found that the school district had produced sufficient evidence of incompetence to discharge the plaintiff and further that there was no merit to the plaintiff's argument that since he was not trained as a psychologist, he should be judged by a lower standard. Harris v. Bailey, 244 M 279, 798 P2d 96, 47 St. Rep. 1622 (1990).

Dismissal for Sexual Conduct With Students: Evidence of a teacher's numerous sexual contacts with students indicated a failure to provide proper moral and civic instruction and was sufficient good cause to warrant dismissal for immorality, unfitness, and failure to fulfill the duties of a teacher. (See 1997 amendment.) Johnson v. Bd. of Trustees, 236 M 532, 771 P2d 137, 46 St. Rep. 598 (1989).

Structured Interviews Not Sole Determination of Teacher Competence When Other Means Available: The District Court improperly substituted its judgment for a finding by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction that the school district board of trustees failed to prove a tenured teacher was incompetent. The board relied solely on the teacher's performance in four structured interviews but failed to consider 13 years of satisfactory classroom evaluations. Bd. of Trustees v. Anderson, 232 M 501, 757 P2d 1315, 45 St. Rep. 1232 (1988).

Authority of Superintendent Exceeded, but Award of Contract Amount Appropriate: A County Superintendent erred in awarding a discharged teacher the full amount due under a 1984-85 contract when the decision was made in January 1985. However, by the time the District Court considered the matter, the school year had expired, so the award of the full contract amount was appropriate and properly paid as damages. School District Trustees v. Holden, 231 M 491, 754 P2d 506, 45 St. Rep. 786 (1988).

Discussion of Progressive Discipline Nonessential to Good Cause Determination: It was not clear error to discuss the issue of progressive discipline under the heading "other due process considerations" in a County Superintendent's order because the issue was not necessary to the determination of whether a teacher was terminated for good cause. School District Trustees v. Holden, 231 M 491, 754 P2d 506, 45 St. Rep. 786 (1988).

No Notice of Incident as Reason for Termination: A teacher was not given notice of an alleged incident as a reason for termination; therefore, the incident could not be used as a reason for his termination. The County Superintendent was limited to consideration of evidence supporting specific charges given as reasons for dismissal. School District Trustees v. Holden, 231 M 491, 754 P2d 506, 45 St. Rep. 786 (1988).

Two Incidents of Inappropriate Language Not Meriting Dismissal: A County Superintendent properly found that two incidents of sarcastic language by a teacher toward his students, although inappropriate for the classroom, were insufficient to warrant dismissal. School District Trustees v. Holden, 231 M 491, 754 P2d 506, 45 St. Rep. 786 (1988).

Award of Teacher's Backpay — Income of Second Job Not Offset: Income earned at a second job should not offset an award of backpay for a teacher unless it can be shown that the recipient of the award would have been unable to hold the second job at the same time as the job for which he is receiving backpay. Harris v. Bauer, 230 M 207, 749 P2d 1068, 45 St. Rep. 147 (1988).

Resignation of Tenured Teacher — Formal Board Acceptance Not Required: A tenured teacher was charged with misdemeanor theft and pleaded guilty. The Board of Education of District No. 1 voted to authorize the Superintendent of Schools to request the teacher's immediate resignation and grant 30 days' severance pay. The same day the teacher signed a letter of immediate resignation. The guilty plea was later withdrawn, the theft case was dismissed, and the teacher sought to withdraw her resignation. Withdrawal was denied by the Board, County and State Superintendents of Schools, and the District Court. The Supreme Court affirmed, holding that the Board did not need to formally accept a resignation which it had already decided to request and that it was not a delegation of authority for the Board to make a decision and direct an employee to carry an offer to a teacher. The resignation was effective and the district's contractual obligation was satisfied upon the teacher's acceptance of the severance pay. Booth v. Argenbright, 225 M 272, 731 P2d 1318, 44 St. Rep. 227 (1987).

"Superintendent/Principal" Entitled to Statutory Processes Regarding Nonrenewal of Contract: Appellant was hired for the 1979-80 school year as "superintendent/principal" by respondent school district for a period of 227 days but left after performing only 193 days' service. The district failed to renew his contract for 1980-81, claiming that as superintendent he was not entitled to notice under 20-4-401. Appellant claimed he also served as principal and was therefore entitled to notice under 20-4-206. The Supreme Court held that he served in both capacities and that as principal he was entitled to the statutory notice provisions regarding nonrenewal of a nontenure teacher contract outlined in 20-4-206. Since respondent did not comply with 20-4-207 regarding dismissal, the court held that appellant was entitled to damages for breach of the statutorily entered 1980-81 contract but not for damages stemming from the 1979-80 contract. The case was remanded on the issue of damages for determination in light of Wyatt v. School District, 148 M 83, 417 P2d 221 (1966). Hurtt v. School District, 222 M 415, 723 P2d 205, 43 St. Rep. 1377 (1986).

Award Properly Limited to Year of Termination: In an appeal by the school district from an administrative order reinstating and compensating a nontenured school principal who had been discharged, the District Court properly limited the principal's award to the school year of his termination. The proper award is codified in 20-4-207 but is affected by 20-4-206, which applies to nontenured teachers. It was clear the trustees elected to terminate the contract of the nontenured principal and he would not have been reelected for subsequent years. Pryor School District v. Supt. of Pub. Instruction, 218 M 73, 707 P2d 1094, 42 St. Rep. 1405 (1985).

Standards Applying to Termination of Tenured Teacher: A tenured teacher was not offered a new contract because he cohabited with a female teacher, discussed abortion in the classroom, and displayed fetuses to his class. The decision of the board of trustees not to rehire was upheld by the County Superintendent and the State Superintendent. The District Court overturned the decision, and an appeal was taken to the Supreme Court. Counsel for the teacher contended that this section contains the standards which apply in the event of termination of the services of a tenured teacher. The Supreme Court held that, by its terms, this section applies where the trustees seek to dismiss a teacher before the expiration of his employment contract, i.e., during the course of a normal school year. The court held that this section is not applicable to the termination of the services of a tenured teacher under 20-4-203 and 20-4-204. Yanzick v. School District, 196 M 375, 641 P2d 431, 39 St. Rep. 191 (1982).

Discharge of Teacher — Board's Lack of Knowledge of Protected Union Activity: Based on the recommendation of the principal, a striking teacher was not rehired by a board of trustees. The board had no knowledge of the teacher's union activities, but the principal did. The Supreme Court held that the board had committed an unfair labor practice despite its lack of knowledge of the teacher's union activity because the board was responsible for the principal's tainted evaluation and, in accepting his recommendation, committed the prohibited act of discrimination. This is not the usual employee-employer relationship, and the Legislature did not intend to allow a school board to insulate itself by claiming lack of knowledge when a public employee's rights have been disregarded. Bd. of Trustees v. State ex rel. Bd. of Personnel Appeals, 185 M 89, 604 P2d 770, 36 St. Rep. 2289 (1979).

Dual Motivation for Teacher's Discharge — Burden of Proof — "But For" Test: Where a striking teacher was not rehired by a board of trustees based upon proper reasons related to the teacher's competence and improper reasons related to protected union activity of the teacher, the Supreme Court held that the District Court correctly affirmed the decision of the Board of Personnel Appeals, which, in essence, utilized the procedure and the "but for" test of Mt. Healthy City Board of Education v. Doyle, 429 US 274, 97 S Ct 568, 250 L Ed 2d 471 (1977). Under Mt. Healthy, the burden is first placed upon the teacher to show that the protected activity was a motivating factor in the discharge. The board of trustees then has the burden of showing that the teacher would have been discharged even in the absence of the protected activity. Bd. of Trustees v. State ex rel. Bd. Personnel Appeals, 185 M 89, 604 P2d 770, 36 St. Rep. 2289 (1979).

Amendment of Charges: Dismissal based upon charges made in an amendment attempting to remedy prior legally inadequate charges was reversed. Lindgren v. Bd. of Trustees, 171 M 360, 558 P2d 468 (1976).

Dismissal to Be Based on Specific Charge: Teacher was reinstated due to board's failure to base dismissal on specific charge. Teacher must be given proper notice of charges. Bd. of Trustees v. Supt. of Pub. Instruction, 171 M 323, 557 P2d 1048 (1976).

Teacher's Right to Due Process: School boards in proceedings under this section must observe the elementary and fundamental principles of judicial inquiry. When a teacher is dismissed, dismissal must be based upon evidence supporting the specific charge against the teacher and not on other grounds. Therefore, where a school board called a teacher to answer for a half-day's absence from school, then proceeded to question him not only about that specific absence but others over a 9-year period and dismissed him, he was entitled to reinstatement. Bd. of Trustees v. Supt. of Pub. Instruction, 171 M 323, 557 P2d 1048 (1976), followed in Holmes v. Bd. of Trustees, 243 M 263, 792 P2d 10, 47 St. Rep. 914 (1990).

Constitutionality: The last two sentences of this section violated neither Art. VII, sec. 4(2), nor Art. X, sec. 8, Mont. Const. School District v. Hughes, 170 M 267, 552 P2d 328 (1976).

Constitutionality — Power of District Boards of Trustees: This section was held to be constitutional under Art. X, sec. 9(3)(a), Mont. Const., in that school district boards of trustees do not have sole control and supervision powers under that constitutional provision. School District v. Hughes, 170 M 267, 552 P2d 328 (1976).

Propriety of Appeal to County Superintendent: Appeal of the dismissal of a teacher under this section to the County Superintendent was proper, and an appeal to a court was not required by Art. VII, sec. 4(2), Mont. Const. School District v. Hughes, 170 M 267, 552 P2d 328 (1976).

Dismissal Without Meeting — Want of Jurisdiction: Where no meeting of school board, either special or regular, was held prior to summary dismissal of schoolteacher on ground of incompetency, board's dismissal of teacher was void for want of jurisdiction. Wyatt v. School District, 148 M 83, 417 P2d 221, 22 ALR 3d 1039 (1966).

Rules Part of Teacher Contract: Under former statute, now repealed, authorizing dismissal for "violation of rules", teacher could be discharged only for violation of trustees' rules, which rules were made part of her contract by reference, and not for violation of high school superintendent's rules. Hovland v. School District, 128 M 507, 278 P2d 211 (1954).

Appeals to County School Superintendent: Writ of Prohibition did not lie against the County Superintendent of Schools to prevent her from acting in an appeal by a teacher who had been denied reemployment by the school board since appeals from such dismissals go to the Superintendent. State ex rel. Saxtorph v. District Court, 128 M 353, 275 P2d 209 (1954).

Section Inapplicable to Dismissal of District Superintendent: Section providing specifically for appeal to the County Superintendent from an order dismissing a teacher had no application to dismissal of a District School Superintendent, the latter order being governed by section providing generally for appeal to the County Superintendent from decisions of school officers and boards. State ex rel. Howard v. Ireland, 114 M 488, 138 P2d 569 (1943), distinguished in Eastman v. School District, 120 M 63, 180 P2d 472 (1947).

Appeal Statute Part of Teacher Contract: The provision of the school law that in case of a dismissal of a teacher before the expiration of her written contract, she may appeal to the school authorities, becomes as much a condition of the contract as if expressly written therein. Kelsey v. School District, 84 M 453, 276 P 26 (1929), explained in State ex rel. Howard v. Ireland, 114 M 488, 138 P2d 569 (1943).

Attorney General's Opinions

Application of Nepotism Law to Rehiring of Tenured Teacher: The nepotism statutes (2-2-301 through 2-2-304) prohibit the rehiring of a tenured teacher if the teacher is within one of the prohibited relationships to a member of the school district board of trustees. 41 A.G. Op. 57 (1986).

20-4-208. Transfer from administrative position.

Compiler's Comments

1997 Amendment: Chapter 438 in (1), at end of first sentence, substituted "when the district reduces the size of its administrative staff" for "when the economic conditions of the district require a reduction of administrative staff"; near end of (2) substituted "for seniority purposes" for "for teacher seniority purposes"; deleted (3)(b) through (7) that read: "(b) "reduction of administrative staff" is limited to reductions necessary because of declining enrollment or financial exigency.

(4) When a tenure teacher serving in an administrative position is to be transferred under this section, the teacher must be notified prior to May 1 by certified letter or by personal notification for which a signed receipt must be obtained. The notification must include:

(a) a statement of the reason or reasons for the reduction of administrative staff; and

(b) a printed copy of this section for the teacher's information.

(5) A tenure teacher who receives notice under subsection (4) may request in writing, within 10 days of the notice, a hearing before the board of trustees. The board of trustees shall set the hearing not less than 10 days or more than 20 days from receipt of the request unless both parties agree to an extension. If a hearing is requested, the trustees shall:

(a) conduct the hearing to determine whether the reason or reasons for the transfer were in compliance with the provisions of subsection (1); and

(b) resolve at the end of the hearing to uphold the transfer or to reject the transfer and return the teacher to the administrative position.

(6) A tenure teacher may appeal a decision under this section to the county superintendent as provided in 20-3-210. The county superintendent shall conduct a hearing to determine whether the reason or reasons for the transfer were in compliance with the provisions of subsection (1).

(7) The teacher or the trustees may appeal the determination of the county superintendent to the superintendent of public instruction as provided in 20-3-107"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Saving Clause: Section 9, Ch. 438, L. 1997, was a saving clause.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 114 inserted (2) providing for recognition of the seniority of a tenured teacher assigned to a teaching position after serving in an administrative position; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective March 18, 1993.

Repealer: Section 2, Ch. 114, L. 1993, repealed sec. 4, Ch. 204, L. 1991, which provided that the 1991 act, amending 20-4-203 and enacting 20-4-208, did not apply to a person who was employed in an administrative position before October 1, 1991. Repealer effective March 18, 1993.

Applicability: Section 4, Ch. 204, L. 1991, provided: "[This act] does not apply to a person who was employed in an administrative position before October 1, 1991."

1997 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 22 in (1)(c), at end, substituted "of attendance and grades" for "in the form and on the blanks prescribed by the superintendent of public instruction"; in (1)(d), in first sentence after "report", deleted "in the manner and on the forms prescribed by the superintendent of public instruction" and at end, after "register", substituted "and grades" for "that is necessary to calculate ANB"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Chapter 320 in (1)(f)(i), at end, inserted "including any curriculum related to the flag prescribed by the trustees"; and made minor changes in style.

Style changes in the chapters were slightly different. In each case, the codifier chose the more appropriate text.

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 320, L. 1997, provided: "WHEREAS, the United States Supreme Court has consistently ruled that a state may require recitation of the pledge of allegiance so long as any student or teacher objecting to participation for any reason is allowed to nondisruptively refuse to participate; and

WHEREAS, courts have also ruled that a student who refuses to participate in the pledge of allegiance cannot be compelled to take any particular action, such as standing, remaining seated, or leaving the room during group recitation of the pledge; and

WHEREAS, in an effort to educate students in the American values of patriotism and love of country and to pass on the feelings of civic pride and commitment to America, the Board of Public Education, as one small step in increasing Montana students' awareness of their heritage as Americans, enacted a policy on January 26, 1989, recommending that teachers in every public school classroom begin the day with recitation of the pledge of allegiance while allowing an excuse from participation for any student or teacher who objects for any reason; and

WHEREAS, in 1980 the United States Supreme Court let stand the decision in Palmer v. Board of Education of City of Chicago, 603 F.2d 1271 (7th Cir. 1979), certiorari denied, 444 U.S. 1026 (1980), which held that while a teacher may not be required to participate in the pledge of allegiance, the teacher, despite any personal convictions, may be required to teach subjects related to the flag or other patriotic matters in the prescribed curriculum; and

WHEREAS, section 20-4-301, MCA, requires a teacher to provide moral and civic instruction by endeavoring to impress students with the principles of morality, truth, justice, and patriotism; to instruct students in the principles of free government; and to train them to comprehend the rights, responsibilities, and dignity of American citizenship."

1989 Amendment: At beginning of (1)(d) substituted "within 10 days" for "immediately", after "school" substituted "semester" for "instructional year and before July 10", and after "prepare" substituted "a" for "an annual"; near middle of (3) substituted "semester" for "annual"; and made minor changes in phraseology. Amendment effective July 1, 1989.

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 12, Ch. 337, L. 1989, provided: "[This act] is effective July 1, 1989, and applies to school budgets and foundation program [renamed 1993] support for school fiscal years beginning after June 30, 1990."

1991 Amendment: In (1) deleted former second and third sentences setting parameters for infliction of corporal punishment; inserted (2) through (4) defining and disallowing corporal punishment and allowing and defining physical restraint; in (5), at end of first sentence, deleted "and to administer corporal punishment in the presence of a witness, without undue anger" and in third sentence, after "trustees", inserted "and the county superintendent"; in (6), after "trustees", inserted "or the county superintendent"; at beginning of (7) substituted "If a person who is employed or engaged by a school district uses corporal punishment or more physical restraint than is reasonable or necessary, the person is" for "Any teacher or principal who shall maltreat or abuse any pupil by administering any undue or severe punishment shall be deemed" and at end increased penalty from not more than $100 to not less than $25 or more than $500; inserted (8) regarding affirmative defense; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 4, 1991.

1981 Amendment: Substituted "Where either a district superintendent or a school principal is employed" for "Where a district superintendent or principal is employed" and "the superintendent or principal" for "he" in the second sentence of (2); deleted "and the trustees shall meet as soon as practicable to consider the suspension action of the teacher" from the end of (2).

Case Notes

Mootness Found in Six-Year-Old Case — Limited Power of Supreme Court: The defendant in a 1974 case was charged with and convicted of abuse of a school teacher under 20-4-303. The fine levied was paid in 1976, about the time the defendant's appeal to District Court on the constitutionality of the statute was dismissed. Notice of the dismissal escaped the defendant's attorney until nearly 3 years later. A year after that, the appeal was submitted to the Supreme Court. Noting the long time lapse and the lapse of power in the court to order the return of the fine, the court held the question moot because any action it could take would have no effect on the parties. St. v. Warden, 191 M 520, 625 P2d 543, 38 St. Rep. 437 (1981).

20-4-304. Attendance at instructional and professional development meetings.

Compiler's Comments

1989 Amendment: Substituted first two sentences relating to closure of schools for teacher organization meetings and attendance of teachers at such meetings or other training sessions for former language that read: "When the trustees of a school district close the schools of the district for the annual session of the state teachers' association, a teacher may attend the annual session without loss of salary or work at his school and perform duties related to his position of employment, as may be prescribed by the trustees, without loss of salary"; and made minor change in phraseology. Amendment effective July 1, 1990.

Attorney General's Opinions

Contractual Leave Not to Be Used by Teacher to Avoid Training: Nothing in statutory law indicates a legislative intention to dictate to schools that the inservice training obligation be fulfilled according to any particular schedule as long as the teacher acquires the necessary training. However, pursuant to this section, a teacher must either attend the annual instructional and professional development meetings of teachers' organizations or attend other inservice training sometime during the year, as approved by the trustees. A teacher may not use contractual leave to avoid the obligation to attend one or the other kind of training. If a teacher does not attend the training, that teacher may not be paid for the 2 days during which the schools are closed. 46 A.G. Op. 2 (1995).

2001 Amendment: Chapter 318 in (3) inserted "or the boards of trustees of two or more districts" and at end inserted reference to entering an interlocal agreement to share a district superintendent; in (5) near beginning inserted "or the boards of trustees of two or more districts"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 21, 2001.

1989 Amendment: At end of (3) changed "20-3-361" to "20-3-362".

1987 Amendment: Inserted (3) relating to jointly employing and appointing a District Superintendent; in (5), after "superintendent", inserted "under subsection (2) or (3)" and substituted "districts" for "elementary district and the county high school".

Case Notes

Collective Bargaining Agreement Modified by Administrator's Individual Contract: A retired school administrator claimed that he was entitled to receive retirement benefits identical to those afforded teachers in the district. The district denied his claim on the basis that the collective bargaining agreement specifically denied the benefits to administrative personnel. The Supreme Court held that the administrator was eligible for the benefits because his individual contract stated that he was entitled to all benefits available to teachers and therefore his contract modified the collective bargaining agreement. The court further held that although the plaintiff could not be denied benefits on the basis of the exclusionary language in the collective bargaining agreement, he was ineligible to receive the benefits because he did not have sufficient indistrict service to qualify. Throssell v. Bd. of Trustees, 248 M 392, 812 P2d 767, 48 St. Rep. 481 (1991).

Constructive Discharge of Superintendent — School District Not Immune: Plaintiff was a Superintendent from July 1, 1983, to June 6, 1985, when he took a medical disability retirement. He then sued the school district and individual members of the school board for damages for wrongful discharge and intentional infliction of emotional distress. The District Court jury awarded plaintiff damages totaling nearly $100,000. The Supreme Court reversed and remanded for a new trial on the grounds that the District Court committed reversible error by incorrectly instructing the jury concerning the requirements of due process and the type of conduct required for liability in a case tried under 42 U.S.C. 1983. Constructive discharge is a form of wrongful discharge, and a school district is not immune for lack of "clearly established" law. Doohan v. Bigfork School District No. 38, 247 M 125, 805 P2d 1354, 48 St. Rep. 121 (1991).

Termination of Superintendent Not Breach of Contract: From 1966 to 1983, appellant was hired as an untenured superintendent under a series of written 2-year contracts. In 1983, appellant accepted a 1-year written contract for the 1983-84 school term. In 1984, the school board voted not to renew appellant's contract. Subsequently, appellant filed suit against the district, alleging breach of contract and contending that his contract was "open-ended". In affirming the trial court's dismissal of the original complaint, the Supreme Court concluded that since appellant negotiated for an express contract for 1 year, no breach of contract occurred. Nordlund v. School District, 227 M 402, 738 P2d 1299, 44 St. Rep. 1183 (1987).

"Superintendent/Principal" Entitled to Statutory Processes Regarding Nonrenewal of Contract: Appellant was hired for the 1979-80 school year as "superintendent/principal" by respondent school district for a period of 227 days but left after performing only 193 days' service. The district failed to renew his contract for 1980-81, claiming that as superintendent he was not entitled to notice under 20-4-401. Appellant claimed he also served as principal and was therefore entitled to notice under 20-4-206. The Supreme Court held that he served in both capacities and that as principal he was entitled to the statutory notice provisions regarding nonrenewal of a nontenure teacher contract outlined in 20-4-206. Since respondent did not comply with 20-4-207 regarding dismissal, the court held that appellant was entitled to damages for breach of the statutorily entered 1980-81 contract but not for damages stemming from the 1979-80 contract. The case was remanded on the issue of damages for determination in light of Wyatt v. School District, 148 M 83, 417 P2d 221 (1966). Hurtt v. School District, 222 M 415, 723 P2d 205, 43 St. Rep. 1377 (1986).

Damages for Improper Discharge: When a county high school principal was improperly discharged, the District Court was instructed to compute damages in an amount equal to the amount he would have earned in wages and benefits for 1 year under the terms of his contract at the time of his improper discharge and an amount equal to his attorney fees and costs plus interest from the date of discharge. Bd. of Trustees v. Eaton, 185 M 453, 605 P2d 1083, 36 St. Rep. 2012 (1979).

Improper Discharge of County High School Principal: The language of this statute is clear and unambiguous and clearly states the qualifications necessary for a county high school principal. Appellant's certificate did not have the proper endorsement; therefore, the board of trustees would normally be required to discharge him. However, under the facts of this case, it is clear that the board sought the convenience of this statute only after an earlier attempt to terminate the appellant went awry. The board's methodology did not conform to this section, and discharge was improper. Bd. of Trustees v. Eaton, 185 M 453, 605 P2d 1083, 36 St. Rep. 2012 (1979).

Failure to Provide Hearing — Want of Jurisdiction: Where an order of a board of trustees dismissing a District School Superintendent for cause was void because he had not been granted a hearing, which order on appeal to the County Superintendent was reversed, whereupon the board appealed to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction who found in favor of the board, the action of the board and the decision of the Superintendent of Public Instruction were void for want of jurisdiction. State ex rel. Howard v. Ireland, 114 M 488, 138 P2d 569 (1943).

Hearing on Removal Required: Dismissal of Superintendent without hearing was void as exceeding trustees' jurisdiction, notwithstanding that no statute required hearing. State ex rel. Howard v. Ireland, 114 M 488, 138 P2d 569 (1943).

Process Required for Dismissal: A hearing as to the fitness of a District School Superintendent to act as such presupposes that charges were preferred, that notice had been given the incumbent to enable him to prepare for and refute the charges, that evidence was taken at the hearing with opportunity for cross-examination of the witnesses — all for the purpose of determining in a judicial manner the truth or falsity of the charges. State ex rel. Howard v. Ireland, 114 M 488, 138 P2d 569 (1943).

Attorney General's Opinions

High School Superintendent Not "Public Officer": A high school district superintendent appointed under this section does not hold a "public office" within the scope of the Montana Recall Act. 42 A.G. Op. 50 (1988).

Early Termination and Renewal of Contract Between Trustees and Superintendent Held Proper — Automatic Renewal Improper: A board of trustees and a District Superintendent may mutually terminate a 3-year employment contract prior to the expiration of its term and enter into another 3-year contract identical to the first except for date of expiration, without violating this section. However, the trustees and Superintendent may not enter into a rolling 3-year employment contract. 41 A.G. Op. 30 (1985).

1999 Amendment: Chapter 343 in (7) substituted "pupil attendance, absence, and enrollment" for "cumulative pupil attendance and pupil absence" and at end after "district" deleted "within 10 days after the conclusion of each school semester"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1999.

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 16, Ch. 343, L. 1999, provided: "[This act] is effective July 1, 1999, and applies to school budgets for school fiscal years beginning on or after July 1, 1999."

1989 Amendment: Near end of (7), after "district", substituted "within 10 days" for "immediately" and after "conclusion of" substituted "each school semester" for "the school instructional year and before July 10"; and made minor changes in phraseology. Amendment effective July 1, 1989.

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 12, Ch. 337, L. 1989, provided: "[This act] is effective July 1, 1989, and applies to school budgets and foundation program [renamed 1993] support for school fiscal years beginning after June 30, 1990."

1981 Amendment: Deleted "until the trustees may consider such suspension" from the end of (6).

Case Notes

Waiver of Time Limit by Superintendent: Because the board allowed plaintiff to believe that the Superintendent had the authority to waive the statutory time limit of 20-4-204 for a hearing request, plaintiff was entitled to a hearing before the board concerning the termination of his contract, even though his request came after expiration of the time limit. Yanzick v. Bd. of Trustees, 177 M 459, 582 P2d 338, 35 St. Rep. 1085 (1978).

Attorney General's Opinions

School Contracts — Trustee's Delegation of Power to Superintendent: A School District Superintendent does not have the inherent power to enter a contract on behalf of the school district. A Superintendent is the executive officer of the board of trustees and in this capacity merely acts to execute policy adopted by the board. A school district board of trustees may delegate a portion of its exclusive power to contract to the Superintendent if the delegated power involves only the performance of administrative nondiscretionary acts. 40 A.G. High School Sports Programs — Discrimination Against Female Participants: In a matter alleging gender-based inequality in high school athletics, it was not erroneous for the federal District Court to fashion the use of a creative settlement course by using a "facilitator". The settlement agreement was adopted by order, with the District Court retaining jurisdiction to monitor progress. The continued jurisdiction was proper, and even though the question of whether the court could consider the change in women's volleyball seasons was not properly before the District Court in the action preceding this appeal, the District Court has jurisdiction under the order and terms of the settlement agreement to exercise its continuing jurisdiction to consider the matter at some future date. Ridgeway v. Mont. High School Ass'n, 858 F2d 579, (9th Cir. 1988). After reviewing the final report of the Special Master and the parties' progress reports, the District Court ruled that a change in high school girls' volleyball and basketball seasons was not necessary to achieve and maintain gender equity. 749 F. Student Cigarette Tobacco Referendum: Section 1, Ch. 438, L. 1991, provided: "A referendum entitled the "Montana school tobacco referendum 1991", open to all Montana students enrolled in grades 7 through 12, must be held in the second week of October 1991 in a ballot form provided by the superintendent of public instruction. The referendum must be conducted as prescribed in this section.

(1) Students enrolled on the date of the referendum in grades 7 through 12 in each accredited public school and in each accredited nonpublic school whose principal notifies the superintendent of public instruction by September 20, 1991, of intent to participate may vote in the referendum.

(2) Not later than October 1, 1991, the superintendent of public instruction shall provide instructions for the referendum, as provided in this section, to each participating school that includes grades 7 through 12. The referendum must be conducted by secret ballot and be presented to students in school in the following ballot form:

[ ] YES — I DO favor requesting that stores REFUSE to sell cigarettes and tobacco to persons under 18 years of age.

[ ] NO — I DO NOT favor requesting that stores REFUSE to sell cigarettes and tobacco to persons under 18 years of age.

(3) Votes must be tabulated by the student governing body and the principal of each participating school. The principal shall transmit in writing the vote count for his school to the superintendent of public instruction not later than November 1, 1991, together with a statement by the principal that the referendum was conducted fairly and the vote count is genuine to the best of his knowledge and belief.

(4) The superintendent of public instruction shall tabulate the total vote in the referendum from all participating schools not later than November 15, 1991. If the number of students voting in the referendum is at least 50% of the number of students enrolled in public school grades 7 through 12 on October 1, 1991, and if a majority of students voting voted for the referendum, the superintendent of public instruction shall certify to the director of the department of revenue that the referendum has been approved. Otherwise, the superintendent shall certify that the referendum has been rejected.

(5) Within 60 days of receiving certification from the superintendent of public instruction that the referendum has been approved, the department of revenue shall inform each retailer who sells cigarettes and tobacco that the referendum has been approved and ask retailers to post prominently a sign where cigarettes and tobacco are sold, stating: "Out of respect for the wishes of Montana junior and senior high school students as expressed in the Montana School Tobacco Referendum 1991, this store voluntarily agrees not to sell cigarettes and tobacco to persons under 18 years of age. Each local school district has the power to admit children into the first grade who are not yet 6 years of age, and each school district may establish a "cutoff" date governing entry into the first grade. 1991 Amendment: Deleted former (2)(c) that read: "(c) excused from enrollment in a school of the district when it is shown that his bodily or mental condition does not permit his attendance and the child cannot be instructed under the special education provisions of this title"; deleted former (3) that read: "(3) The excuse provided for in subsection (2)(c) of this section shall be issued by the district superintendent or the county superintendent when there is no district superintendent employed by the district. Whenever an excuse is denied by the applicable official, an appeal of such decision may be made to the district court of the county within 10 days after the decision upon giving a bond in the amount set by the court to pay all costs of the appeal. The decision of the district court shall be final"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

1983 Amendment — Commissioner Correction: Deleted former (2)(a), which read: "enrolled in a private institution which provides instruction in the program prescribed by the board of public education pursuant to 20-7-111"; and inserted (2)(f) relating to enrollment in a nonpublic or home school.

When former (2)(a) was deleted by committee amendment and (2)(b) through (2)(g) were renumbered accordingly, a reference in (3) to "subsection (2)(d)" was overlooked and not corrected to reflect the renumbering. The Code Commissioner has corrected the reference to read "subsection (2)(c)".

Wrongful Placement of Special Education Child — Duty Owed by School District — Sovereign Immunity No Bar to Claim for Damages: The plaintiff, a minor child, was diagnosed as needing special education and was to be educated in a class with other "normal" children but was later removed to a class of retarded children and as a result regressed in development. The school district's action of placement of the child was subject to judicial review and was not barred from review by the doctrine of sovereign immunity merely because it was discretionary. The school authorities owed the child a duty of reasonable care in testing and placing her in an appropriate special education program, and the District Court therefore erred in dismissing the child's action for damages. Case Notes

Voluntary Membership in High School Athletic Association Not Unconstitutional Delegation of Trustee Authority: A Livingston high school student, after being informed by the Montana High School Association (MHSA) that he could not participate in basketball because of the MHSA's rule limiting student participation in MHSA events to eight consecutive semesters, filed an action alleging that the board of trustees' consent to be bound by the MHSA rules violated Art. X, sec. 8, Mont. Const., which vests school board trustees with power to supervise and control schools in their district. The Supreme Court held that the MHSA is merely acting as a neutral arbiter to fill the breach caused by the nonexistence of legislative authority and that becoming a member of the MHSA is not an unconstitutional delegation of the district's authority because membership is voluntary. The court noted that although a district's decision to withdraw from membership in the MHSA would undoubtedly cause the district to have a difficult time in finding other schools against which to compete, membership remains voluntary, and by participating, each district is electing to make the rules of the MHSA its own. PRIOR TO 1993 SCHOOL FINANCE REVISION

Youth Committed to Program in Nonadjacent State — School District Not Liable for Related Education Costs: The Youth Court committed a youth to a program for sexual offenders located in Minnesota. Cost was $148 a day, of which $48 were education costs, and the court assigned payment of that portion to the youth's school district. On appeal of the assignment, the Supreme Court found that 20-5-314 authorized reciprocal tuition agreements only with states adjoining Montana but found no statutory method to calculate tuition to be paid to a school in a state not adjacent to Montana. Absent specific statutory authority, the Supreme Court held that the Youth Court erred in finding the school district liable for the youth's education costs. (Decided prior to 1987 amendment to 20-5-311, repealed 1993.) In re W.J.H., 226 M 479, 736 P2d 484, 44 St. Rep. 817 (1987).

Tuition Transfer — School Board Decision Improperly Reversed — Reviewing Agency Analysis: It was improper for the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to reverse school board denial of a tuition transfer by including findings that were not part of the record, were irrelevant, or were conjectures or conclusions rather than facts. Findings of the reviewing agency may not be properly included as facts when they are not part of the record below, and the reviewing agency must confine itself to an analysis of whether the findings are clearly erroneous in view of the reliable, probative, and substantial evidence on the whole record or whether they are arbitrary, capricious, or characterized by abuse of discretion. Frazer School District v. Flynn, 225 M 299, 732 P2d 409, 44 St. Rep. 248 (1987). This holding is dispositive of a later appeal in a companion case, Frazer School District v. Forsness, 226 M 244, 734 P2d 1218, 44 St. Rep. 624 (1987).

Constitutionality: Section 2, Ch. 77, L. 1927, providing for appeal to the State Board of Education in matters of transportation, rent, tuition, or board, was not open to the objection that under Art. XI, sec. 11, 1889 Mont. Const. (now Art. X, sec. 9, Mont. Const.), the Legislature was limited to prescribing powers and duties for Board to be exercised in connection with the state educational institutions and therefore was without authority to clothe it with jurisdiction to pass on appeals relating to matters connected with the common schools. Section 20-5-304 (repealed 1993) was not ineffective for failure to provide procedure rules for taking the appeal. State ex rel. Stephens v. Keaster, 82 M 126, 266 P 387 (1928).

Quasi-Judicial Capacity of Trustees: In exercise of power to admit nonresident pupils and fix the amount of tuition to be charged them, board of trustees acts in a quasi-judicial capacity, and courts will not interfere with the proper exercise of its discretion and judgment in that regard. Peterson v. School Bd., 73 M 442, 236 P 670 (1925).

PRIOR TO 1993 SCHOOL FINANCE REVISION

Acceptance of Canadian Students — Tuition — Waiver: A school district board of trustees may, in its discretion, accept as elementary and high school students Canadian residents who wish to attend school in Montana. The trustees are also authorized to exercise discretion in granting a waiver of tuition to these and all other out-of-district students. If the trustees choose to charge tuition, 20-5-305 (repealed 1993) must be referred to in setting the amount of tuition for elementary students and 20-5-312 (repealed 1993) for high school students. 42 A.G. Op. 103 (1988).

Claim of Tuition Offset by Resident Elementary School District: A school district paying the tuition of a resident elementary pupil who attends a school outside the district pursuant to 20-5-302 (repealed 1993) is not eligible to claim a tuition offset under 20-5-303 (repealed 1993) for property taxes paid by the parents to the county or district in which the child attends school. 41 A.G. Op. 50 (1986).

Responsibility for Tuition of Child in Legal Custody of Local Welfare Department: If a local welfare department has legal custody by a temporary or permanent order for placement of a minor child and places that child with foster parents outside the school district of residence (residence of the natural parents in most cases), tuition must be paid by the district of residence. If the placement of the child is outside the state, financial responsibility for school costs rests with the sending agency under the Interstate Compact on the Placement of Children. 40 A.G. Op. 69 (1984). (Opinion rendered prior to 1985 amendment to 20-5-301, repealed 1993.)

Responsibility for Tuition of Student Who Attends High School Out of State: If a student is voluntarily attending school outside the state, responsibility for payment of tuition depends on the existence of a valid tuition agreement. If no valid tuition agreement exists, the child's parents or guardians are responsible for tuition costs. If a valid tuition agreement exists, the child's school district of residence is responsible for tuition costs. The Superintendent of Public Instruction should be consulted about the existence of a reciprocal tuition agreement with an adjoining state. If the student's out-of-state placement is by court order, the sending agency is responsible for tuition costs under the Interstate Compact on the Placement of Children. 40 A.G. Op. 69 (1984). (Opinion rendered prior to 1985 amendment to 20-5-311, repealed 1993.)

Closely Held Corporation Ineligible for Tuition Offset: A shareholder in a closed or family-type Subchapter S corporation is not eligible to claim the tuition offset under 20-5-303 (repealed 1993) when the corporation owns the property and is the taxpayer responsible for the district and county property taxes referred to in 20-5-303 (repealed 1993). One who accepts the benefits of a corporation must also accept the burdens that flow from the use of a corporate structure. A shareholder in a closely held corporation accordingly must bear any disadvantages resulting from corporate status. One disadvantage associated with incorporation in Montana is the unavailability of tuition offset under 20-5-303 (repealed 1993) when the property taxpayer is a corporation and not the child's parent. 40 A.G. Op. 42 (1984). (Opinion rendered prior to 1985 amendment to 20-5-303, repealed 1993.)

Obligation to Provide Special Education: School districts are not entitled to deny special education services to children in need thereof who live within the district on the basis of the fact that the legal residence of child's parent or guardian is elsewhere. 37 A.G. Op. 148 (1978), clarifying 37 A.G. Op. 98 (1977).

Special Education — Funding and Services: A school district may not establish a special education policy wholly independent of state funding. A special education program established by a district is not required to serve children in group homes within the district who are not legal residents but may do so cooperatively or by contract. 37 A.G. Op. 98 (1977).

1993 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 563, L. 1993, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [section 4] [20-5-323] of the bill gives the superintendent of public instruction authority to adopt administrative rules regarding a flat tuition rate for each funding category in the foundation program schedules, using statewide district expenditure and revenue data for certain funds."

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 22, Ch. 563, L. 1993, provided: "[This act] is effective for the school fiscal year beginning July 1, 1993, and applies to calculations and payments for tuition for the school fiscal year beginning July 1, 1993."

CHAPTER 6

Chapter Case Notes

School Territory Transfer Statutes Unconstitutional — Insufficient Guidelines for Delegation of Legislative Authority: In 1994, the respondents, individuals residing in both Rosebud and Big Horn Counties but outside of the Northern Cheyenne Indian Reservation, petitioned their respective County Superintendents of Schools requesting a territory transfer from the Lame Deer High School District (LDHSD—created in 1993) back to the Colstrip and Hardin High School Districts. The requests were granted. LDHSD appealed the decisions to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who reversed the decisions. The respective District Courts reversed the Superintendent of Public Instruction's decision. The Supreme Court reversed the District Courts' decisions on the grounds that the school territory transfer statute is an unconstitutional delegation of legislative power. The broad grant of discretion to a County Superintendent of Schools, unchecked by any standard, policy, or rule of decision, renders the statute unconstitutional. Hayes v. Lame Deer High School District, 2000 MT 342, 303 M 204, 15 P3d 447, 57 St. Rep. 1464 (2000). See also Belgrade Elementary & High School District No. 44 v. Morris, 2000 MT 347, 303 M 245, 15 P3d 482, 57 St. Rep. 1484 (2000), and In re Petitions to Transfer Territory, 2000 MT 348, 303 M 249, 16 P3d 1000, 57 St. Rep. 1486 (2000).

Sufficiency of Single Petition to Transfer Territory From One K-12 District to Another K-12 District: Residents of Upper Nine Mile Valley petitioned the Missoula County School Superintendent to be transferred from Alberton K-12 district to Frenchtown K-12 district. The superintendent determined that the petition was valid and scheduled a hearing, but prior to the hearing, the Alberton Board of Trustees requested that the hearing be canceled because two separate petitions were not filed—one for elementary students and one for high school students. The superintendent denied the request, and on appeal to District Court, summary judgment was granted in favor of the superintendent. The Alberton Board of Trustees then appealed to the Supreme Court, asserting that two petitions were required under either 20-6-213 or 20-6-320 (both now repealed) in order to transfer both elementary and high school territories from one K-12 district to another K-12 district. Conversely, the superintendent maintained that because the request was for the transfer of combined elementary and high school territory from one K-12 district, as defined in 20-6-701, to another, only one petition was necessary. In order to give meaning to all the applicable statutes, the Supreme Court concluded that a K-12 school district is a high school district upon which an elementary district has been attached and remains a high school district for purposes of the governing statutes. Therefore, 20-6-320 (now repealed) applied to the petition in question because it concerned transfer of territory from one high school district to another. The question then became not whether a formal, second petition was required to address the elementary district, but whether under 20-6-320(8) (now repealed) the petition in question was "accompanied" by an elementary "petition" that satisfied the corollary requirements of 20-6-213 (now repealed). The Alberton trustees argued that a distinct, second elementary petition, also signed by a majority of registered electors, was required or else the entire transfer process was invalid. The Supreme Court refused to abide by such a strict, formalistic approach, noting that the law respects form less than substance. The petition clearly identified that the territory was K-12, meaning that any attached elementary territory would also be transferred, thus the petition to transfer high school territory was unquestionably "accompanied" by a petition to transfer elementary territory as well, and it was not fatal that both petitions appeared on a single sheet of paper. The court held that it would be unreasonable and far too formalistic to require that two separate petitions be submitted when one petition, clearly identifying the intent to transfer both high school and elementary territory, served the same function. The District Court was affirmed. McKirdy v. Vielleux, 2000 MT 264, 302 M 18, 19 P3d 207, 57 St. Rep. 1101 (2000).

School District Not Liable for Injury of Child on Playground — Witness Credibility as Question for Jury — Limited Review of Jury Verdict: The Morgans complained that the school district was liable for a teacher's negligence because their daughter, who needed close supervision, was injured on playground equipment during recess. The jury found in favor of the teacher. The Morgans sought a new trial on grounds of insufficient evidence to support the verdict. The Supreme Court's review of a jury verdict is necessarily very limited, and a jury verdict will not be reversed if it is supported by substantial credible evidence. The gist of the Morgans' appeal concerned the credibility and consistency of statements made by the only witness to the accident—the teacher. Witness credibility is a matter for determination by the jury after proper instruction from the court. Thus, the Supreme Court deferred to the properly instructed jury's evaluation of the teacher's credibility and affirmed the verdict. Morgan v. Great Falls School District No. 1, 2000 MT 28, 298 M 194, 995 P2d 422, 57 St. Rep. 134 (2000), following Whiting v. St., 248 M 207, 810 P2d 1177, 48 St. Rep. 396 (1991), Lee v. Kane, 270 M 505, 893 P2d 854, 52 St. Rep. 268 (1995), and Sandman v. Farmers Ins. Exch., 1998 MT 286, 291 M 456, 969 P2d 277, 55 St. Rep. 1165 (1998). Morgan was followed, with regard to the limited scope of review of a jury verdict and the test for substantial credible evidence, in Benson v. Diverse Computer Corp., 2004 MT 114, 321 M 140, 89 P3d 981 (2004).

Territory Transfer Process — Date for Appeal of State Superintendent's Decision: Section 20-6-320 (now repealed) contained the entire process for transferring territory from one high school district to another by means of a petition. Under the statutory provisions, a decision by the state Superintendent of Public Instruction was final 30 days after its date, absent any appeal. (See 1997 amendment.) Pretty on Top v. Snively, 266 M 45, 879 P2d 49, 51 St. Rep. 241 (1994), distinguishing Carbon County School District Trustees v. Spivey, 247 M 33, 805 P2d 61 (1991).

High School Sports Programs — Discrimination Against Female Participants: In a matter alleging gender-based inequality in high school athletics, it was not erroneous for the federal District Court to fashion the use of a creative settlement course by using a "facilitator". The settlement agreement was adopted by order, with the District Court retaining jurisdiction to monitor progress. The continued jurisdiction was proper, and even though the question of whether the court could consider the change in women's volleyball seasons was not properly before the District Court in the action preceding this appeal, the District Court has jurisdiction under the order and terms of the settlement agreement to exercise its continuing jurisdiction to consider the matter at some future date. Ridgeway v. Mont. High School Ass'n, 858 F2d 579 (9th Cir. 1988). After reviewing the final report on the Special Master and the parties' progress reports, the District Court ruled that a change in high school girls' volleyball and basketball seasons was not necessary to achieve and maintain gender equity. 749 F. Supp. 1544 (D.C. Mont. 1990).

Findings of Fact Not Requested by Appellant — Standard of Review: An order transferring territory from one elementary district to another did not contain a finding that the four elements of a valid petition listed in 20-6-213 (now repealed) were met, nor did the order contain findings that the transfer was in the best interests of the residents of the affected territory. Although 2-4-623 requires that a final decision in a contested case must include findings of fact, the Supreme Court found substantial credible evidence supporting the transfer, including unanimous favorable testimony from residents of the affected territory. Additionally, the court noted that appellants failed to request findings of fact from the County Superintendent or the Board of County Commissioners and that such failure barred court reversal for lack of factfindings, pursuant to 2-4-704(2)(g). Bd. of Trustees, Clinton School District v. Bd. of Trustees, Bonner School District, 221 M 341, 719 P2d 1240, 43 St. Rep. 877 (1986).

Petition to Be Signed by Majority of Electors Residing in Territory to Be Transferred: The provisions of 20-6-213 (now repealed) required that a petition for transfer of territory from one elementary district to another be signed only by a majority of electors residing in the territory to be transferred rather than by a majority of electors residing in the entire district. Bd. of Trustees, Clinton School District v. Bd. of Trustees, Bonner School District, 221 M 341, 719 P2d 1240, 43 St. Rep. 877 (1986).

Best Interests and Advisability — Elements to Consider: A majority of the residents of another district petitioned to become part of a school district in Teton County. Teton County approved the transfer, and Cascade County rejected it. A petition is granted only if the transfer is both advisable and in the best interests of the residents of the territory. One factor pertaining to advisability is the financial condition of the remaining territory. The transfer was found to be financially inadvisable. On that basis Cascade County properly denied the transfer. They did not have to consider the best interests of the residents. Gunderson v. County Comm'rs, 183 M 317, 599 P2d 359, 36 St. Rep. 1615 (1979).

Failure to Meet Jointly: Plaintiff and a majority of the residents of his territory petitioned to become a part of a school district in Teton County. The Cascade County Commissioners failed to meet jointly with Teton County Board of Commissioners as required by 20-6-213 (now repealed). Each Board of Commissioners was unanimous in its decision, though their decisions were contrary, and no facts are alleged that any other mode of decision would have produced a different result. Plaintiff has not alleged an injury from the procedure followed, and one who is not injured will not be heard to complain. The District Court properly dismissed the complaint for failure to state a claim upon which relief could be granted. Gunderson v. County Comm'rs, 183 M 317, 599 P2d 359, 36 St. Rep. 1615 (1979).

Abuse of Discretion: When the Board of County Commissioners considered all factors relevant to the creation of a joint school district and when the interests of the persons petitioning for the district were not greatly injured by the refusal to create the district, the Board of County Commissioners did not abuse its discretion. Ballard v. Gregory, 166 M 110, 530 P2d 1163 (1975).

County Commissioners' Power: Statute did not give the Board of County Commissioners power to act arbitrarily or without a hearing or in disregard of the evidence of matters which, by the terms of the statute, it should consider. Read v. Stephens, 121 M 508, 193 P2d 626 (1948).

Matters Considered to Make Transfer Determination: In determining whether certain territory should be transferred from one district to another, consideration can be given the financial condition of the districts, the means and convenience of communication therein, the number and places of residences of the children therein, their ages, other matters that show the change to be advisable or otherwise, and what is for the best interest of the territory proposed to be transferred. Read v. Stephens, 121 M 508, 193 P2d 626 (1948).

Indian Territory: Since former statute contemplated that Indian lands be in a school district and that Indian children be counted in apportioning school money, it was the Superintendent's mandatory duty to attach territory on an Indian reservation to an adjacent district or districts, no petition on the part of anyone being required as a condition precedent. State ex rel. Lantz v. Morris, 113 M 193, 126 P2d 1104 (1942).

Annexation — De Facto Corporation by Estoppel: It would seem that where a school district attempted in good faith to annex another district under an existing law providing for annexation but mistakenly proceeded under a law permitting the extension of its boundaries by taking in part of another district, and the district thus created was acquiesced in by all concerned for more than 5 years, it was a corporation de facto and the legality of its existence was not open to collateral attack by resident taxpayers in an action to enjoin the sale of bonds issued by the district. Henderson v. School District, 75 M 154, 242 P 979 (1926), distinguished in Scilley v. Red Lodge-Rosebud Irrigation District, 83 M 282, 272 P 543 (1928).

1997 Amendment: Chapter 219 deleted former (4) that read: "(4) Unless the context clearly indicates otherwise, an elementary district operating a high school in a county that has not been divided into high school districts is considered a high school district under this title and the trustees of the elementary district are the trustees of the high school district. An elementary district operating a high school may not have the bonding authority of a high school district. However, the elementary district may exercise its bonding authority, in the manner provided by law, for high school purposes"; in (4) substituted "a high school district that has not unified with an elementary district under 20-6-312" for "subject to the limitations prescribed by law for a county high school as a result of its being a part of the county government. The boundaries of the high school district for a county high school are: (a) the high school district boundaries established by the county high school boundary commission; or

(b) if no boundaries have been established, the county boundaries, except for any territory located in a joint high school district"; deleted (6) that read: "(6) A county high school recognized as a high school district under the provisions of subsection (5)(b) may not have a bonding authority. Instead, the county shall exercise its bonding authority in the manner provided in 20-9-451"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

1991 Amendment: In (2)(a) inserted second sentence stating when an elementary district is inactive; in (2)(b) inserted second sentence concerning high school district with attached elementary district; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

Case Notes

School District Defined: Section 1020, Rev. Codes 1921 (now repealed), defined a school district to be "the territory under the jurisdiction of a single board, designated as board of trustees". It was clear that the term "school district" had reference solely to the public school system. Box v. Duncan, 98 M 216, 38 P2d 986 (1934).

Negligence Liability: In absence of statute imposing liability for negligence upon school districts or their trustees, they may not be held liable, although statute contains the general provision that a school district may sue and be sued. Perkins v. Trask, 95 M 1, 23 P2d 982 (1933), distinguished in Felton v. Great Falls, 118 M 586, 169 P2d 229 (1946). (See Title 2, ch. 9, part 1.)

Continuation in Existence Until Disorganized: A school district lawfully organized is a public corporation and remains such until disorganized in some manner recognized by law. State ex rel. School District v. Urton, 76 M 458, 248 P 369 (1926).

Annexation — De Facto Corporation by Estoppel: It would seem that where a school district attempted in good faith to annex another district under an existing law providing for annexation but mistakenly proceeded under a law permitting the extension of its boundaries by taking in part of another district and the district thus created was acquiesced in by all concerned for more than 5 years, it was a corporation de facto and the legality of its existence was not open to collateral attack by resident taxpayers in an action to enjoin the sale of bonds issued by the district. Henderson v. School District, 75 M 154, 242 P 979 (1926), distinguished in Scilley v. Red Lodge-Rosebud Irrigation District, 83 M 282, 272 P 543 (1928).

Necessary and Implied Powers: A school district is a public corporation but with very limited powers. It may, through its board, exercise only such authority as is conferred by law, either expressly or by necessary implication. Finley v. School District, 51 M 411, 153 P 1010 (1915). See also Jay v. School District, 24 M 219, 61 P 250 (1900); State ex rel. Cartersville Irrigation District v. McGraw, 74 M 164, 240 P 817 (1925); Day v. School District, 98 M 207, 38 P2d 595 (1934).

Powers of District Distinct From Municipal Corporation: A school district is a body corporate but does not possess the powers of local legislation and control that are the distinguishing characteristics of a municipal corporation. Hersey v. Neilson, 47 M 132, 131 P 30 (1913).

Limitation on Powers to Change Boundaries: There was no authority on the part of the County Superintendent or Board of County Commissioners, under the guise of defining boundaries, to reach out and include in an existing district noncontiguous tracts of land not included therein. The County Superintendent was authorized to make minor changes as necessary to make the boundaries definite and certain but not to change the boundaries of the existing district by attaching lands wherever situated in the county not a part of any school district. Part 2 Elementary School Districts

Case Notes

Provisions Jurisdictional: Section 1034, Rev. Codes 1929 (now repealed) requiring petition by a majority of resident freeholders in a school district as prerequisite to consolidation was jurisdictional and not merely directory. State ex rel. Wilson v. Musburger, 114 M 175, 133 P2d 586 (1943).

Abandonment of District: An order of a County Superintendent of Schools for the abandonment of a school district was not void for want of jurisdiction because of no attempt at compliance with section 970, Rev. Codes 1935 (now repealed), since section had nothing to do with the abandonment of a school district. State ex rel. McDonnell v. Musburger, 111 M 579, 111 P2d 1038 (1941).

Effect of Appeal to County Commissioners — Opinion Divided: An appeal lay from order creating joint school district to the Boards of County Commissioners of counties affected, and the effect of the appeal was simply to suspend or delay the effective creation of the district and not to vacate the order of creation. If, on appeal, opinion was equally divided between the Boards of County Commissioners, one Board favoring creation and the other opposed thereto, the order of creation by the County School Superintendents stood affirmed. State ex rel. School District v. Lensman, 108 M 118, 88 P2d 63 (1939).

Mode of Procedure Under Former Section: Section 1035, Rev. Codes 1935 (now repealed), did not fully or clearly provide the procedure of creating joint school districts, and it was duty of the officers empowered to create such districts to adopt any mode of procedure reasonably suitable to carry the legislative intention into effect. State ex rel. School District v. Lensman, 108 M 118, 88 P2d 63 (1939).

Time for Posting Notices: Section 1034, Rev. Codes 1921 (now repealed), requiring County Superintendent upon receipt of consolidation petition of school districts "to cause a ten days posted notice" to be given of the election meant that the Superintendent has 10 days within which to act voluntarily and was not a limitation on the time within which the election notices may be posted. Swaim v. Redeen, 101 M 521, 55 P2d 1 (1936). Morgan was followed, with regard to the limited scope of review of a jury verdict and the test for substantial credible evidence, in Benson v. Diverse Computer Corp., 2004 MT 114, 321 M 140, 89 P3d 981 (2004).

Right of Appeal From Order of County Commissioners: Since an order of the Board of County Commissioners in the matter of setting aside an order of the County Superintendent of Schools creating a school district is final and no appeal lies to either school authorities or courts, equity will take jurisdiction of an action to right any wrong committed by the Board. Grant v. Michaels, 94 M 452, 23 P2d 266 (1933).

Petition Facts Jurisdictional: Requirements of the statute as to what a petition for the creation of a new school district shall contain are jurisdictional; they must be made to appear in the petition or proven as matter of evidence; omission to do either is fatal. School District v. Larson, 80 M 363, 260 P 1042 (1927).

Creation of New County — Transmission of Funds: Where school district territory was cut in two by creation of new county and the County Commissioners charged with the duty of dividing the new county into school districts left the boundaries of the district in question, the district ipso facto became a joint one. Therefore, refusal of the County Treasurer of the old county, in which a portion of the district lay, to transmit to the Treasurer of the new county the funds collected by him as taxes upon the property within that portion for school purposes was wrongful. State ex rel. School District v. Urton, 76 M 458, 248 P 369 (1926).

Petition — Contents: A petition for the creation of a new school district is not a pleading, the contents of which are subject to critical legal analysis to determine its sufficiency. The petition is sufficient to confer jurisdiction upon the board of trustees if it clearly indicates the desire of a majority of the school electors residing in the proposed new district for segregation and describes its boundaries. State ex rel. Hall v. Peterson, 55 M 355, 177 P 245 (1918).

1993 Amendment: Chapter 137 in (4), at end, substituted "in 20-3-302" for "filling trustee vacancies" and deleted former second and third sentences that read: "Such positions shall be subject to election on the next regular school election day. If the county superintendent changes an elementary district's classification with the result that a lesser number of trustees is required, the next elementary trustee positions that become vacant under any circumstances shall not be filled until the number of elementary trustee positions has been reduced to the number required by law"; and made minor changes in style.

Case Notes

One Governmental Subdivision Not Subject to Suit by Another: School districts sued the county for recovery of lost revenue and investment income on decreased reserve funds. The Supreme Court found that dismissal of the suit was proper because absent specific statutory or constitutional authority, one governmental subdivision may not sue another for damages. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Case Notes

Grounds for Review — Hardship Caused by Order: Contiguity is not the only requirement for attaching an abandoned district to another district. Thus District Court should have granted Writ of Review where manner of attachment allegedly required children to travel 14 miles farther each way to get to more overcrowded schools and worked an undue hardship on both parents and children. Potter v. Miller, 145 M 197, 399 P2d 994 (1965).

Abandonment of Nonoperating District Properly Ordered: County Superintendent of Schools properly ordered abandonment of elementary school district where school had not been maintained within said district during the last 3 consecutive school years and an average of four or less pupils had been furnished transportation to another elementary school. State ex rel. Knaup v. Holland, 132 M 569, 319 P2d 516 (1957).

Transportation of Pupils Upon Abandonment: On abandonment of an elementary school district no student eligible to attend high school is deprived of the opportunity of attending school. Transportation must be provided by the high school district. State ex rel. Knaup v. Holland, 132 M 569, 319 P2d 516 (1957).

Consolidation Law Inapplicable: Section relating to the consolidation of school districts had nothing to do with the abandonment of a school district and was not dependent upon any question of whether school was held within either or any of the districts in question. State ex rel. McDonnell v. Musburger, 111 M 579, 111 P2d 1038 (1941).

Mandamus — Exhaustion of Administrative Remedy Required: Where plaintiff seeking a Writ of Mandate to annul an order of a County School Superintendent directing the abandonment of a school district had the right of appeal to the Superintendent of Public Instruction and, if unsuccessful there, could have had the matter passed upon by the District Court on Writ of Review but did not pursue such remedy, the Writ of Mandate was not available to him. State ex rel. McDonnell v. Musburger, 111 M 579, 111 P2d 1038 (1941).

Attorney General's Opinions

Abandoned Elementary School District Not Allowed to Petition to Reopen School: An elementary school district that has not operated a school for 3 consecutive school years is considered permanently abandoned pursuant to this section, and the abandoned district may not petition to reopen a school in the district pursuant to 20-6-502. However, this section also requires the County Superintendent to attach the territory of the abandoned district to another district, and nothing in that section precludes the revised district from petitioning to reopen a school. 49 A.G. Case Notes

Form of Ballots as Voiding Election: Where the ballots for a consolidation election were prepared to read only "For" or "Against" rather than "For consolidation" or "Against consolidation" as required by prior statute and testimony showed that in at least one instance a voter was confused by this heading and mismarked her vote, the election was on its face null and void. Woolsey v. Carney, 141 M 476, 378 P2d 658 (1963).

Abuse of Discretion Required to Be Shown: Where administrative official exercises his power within the limits fixed by statute, not arbitrarily or fraudulently but within his sound discretion, the courts may not interfere. Read v. Stephens, 121 M 508, 193 P2d 626 (1948).

Authority to Change Boundaries Delegated: Aside from statutory limitations, Legislature has delegated to the County Superintendent of Schools and to the Board of County Commissioners a full measure of discretionary power in creating and changing the boundaries of school districts. Consolidation of High Schools to Consolidate Courses: Under Ch. 47, Ex. L. 1933 (sections 1301.1 through 1301.6, R.C.M. 1935, since repealed), a school district maintaining only a 2-year high school course might properly be consolidated with a district maintaining a complete course. The act was constitutional. State ex rel. Berthot v. School District, 102 M 356, 58 P2d 264 (1936); Pierson v. Hendricksen, 98 M 244, 38 P2d 991 (1934).

Date of Consolidation — Statute Not Repealed: Section 1023, Rev. Codes 1921 (now repealed), declaring that no school district should be created or boundaries thereof changed between March 1 and July 1 of any calendar year was not impliedly repealed by act authorizing high school consolidation; action of Commissioners in consolidating high schools in March, thereby creating new district at least for high school purposes, was void. Box v. Duncan, 98 M 216, 38 P2d 986 (1934).

Legislative Intent — Arbitrary Action Without Notice: Legislature never intended to confer upon the Board of County Commissioners the arbitrary power of consolidating county high schools without notice to anyone affected thereby and without making any provision for the disposition of the property of the discontinued school. Transfer of School District Property to Another District — Distribution of Flat Tax Proceeds: In 1989, the method of taxing coal gross proceeds with a property tax was replaced with a flat tax of 5% on production. The final clause of 15-23-703(4)(b) (1991) directs that the flat tax be distributed in accord with the property tax distribution scheme of 1990. The Decker school district was transferred from Lodge Grass to Hardin in 1991. Thus, under the 1990 property tax scheme, Hardin would have been entitled to property tax revenue from the Decker district after that territory was transferred to Hardin. When read in conjunction with this section, 15-23-703(4)(b) (1991) entitled Hardin to distribution of the Decker district coal tax revenue under the flat tax distribution scheme. Abandoned Elementary School District Not Allowed to Petition to Reopen School: An elementary school district that has not operated a school for 3 consecutive school years is considered permanently abandoned pursuant to 20-6-209, and the abandoned district may not petition to reopen a school in the district pursuant to this section. However, 20-6-209 also requires the County Superintendent to attach the territory of the abandoned district to another district, and nothing in that section precludes the revised district from petitioning to reopen a school. 49 A.G. Op. 14 (2002).

Attendance Unit on Hutterite Colony Premises — Establishment — Closure — Finance: A school district board of trustees may establish a separate attendance unit on the premises of a Hutterite colony located in the district. Closure of an attendance unit on the premises of a Hutterite colony is a matter within the discretion of the board of trustees of the school district involved, and the trustees have no authority to make an agreement to the contrary. The colony may effectively close an attendance unit by failing to renew the lease agreement if no similar space is available for its continued operation. Operational costs of an attendance unit must be budgeted and financed in the manner provided by law. Any agreement between the school district and the colony for private financing would be unenforceable. 38 A.G. Op. 26 (1979).

Short-Term Lease — Voter Approval Unnecessary: School district trustees may lease, for a term of 3 years or less, a mobile building to be used as a school and may relocate it on land already owned by the district without voter approval. 37 A.G. Op. 97 (1977).

Dissemination of Incomplete Document Used to Make Decision — Right to Participate Entails Complying With Right to Know: A school district assembled a group of people to research and advise the district on the closure of schools, and a member of the group summarized the closure research information on a computer-generated spreadsheet and delivered various versions of the spreadsheet to various people and groups. The version given the school district contained a system rating the schools and explaining the rating system, but the group of parents that plaintiff belonged to was given a version not containing the rating system when a member of the group requested a copy. The school district told the group that a spreadsheet comparing the schools did not exist. The spreadsheet was a document of a public body subject to public inspection prior to the time that the school district's board met and used the spreadsheet to help determine which schools to close. The school district violated plaintiff's right to examine public documents. At a minimum, the "reasonable opportunity" standard articulated in Art. II, sec. 8, Mont. Const., and 2-3-111 for the right to participate demands compliance with the right to know contained in Art. II, sec. 9, Mont. Const. When the school district violated plaintiff's right to know, it reduced what should have been a genuine interchange into a mere formality. Bryan could and did voice her opinion to the school district, but did so without the ratings information contained on the version of the spreadsheet used by the school district. Therefore, the school district also violated her Art. II, sec. 8, Mont. Const., right of participation. The Supreme Court stated that this violation tainted the entire process from start to finish and ruled that the school district's closure decision was void. The court stated that on remand, the school district should allow plaintiff an opportunity to rebut the closure decision and should then reexamine the decision and affirm or modify it. Bryan v. Yellowstone County Elementary School District No. 2, 2002 MT 264, 312 M 257, 60 P3d 381 (2002).

School District Advisory Group as Public or Governmental Body: A school district assembled a group of people to research and advise the district on the closure of schools. The Legislature has given a school district the power to close schools. Therefore, the advisory group assumed the identity of the district with respect to the closure question and performed a legislatively designated governmental function that served a clear public and governmental purpose, and the advisory group was a public or governmental body subject to Art. II, sec. 9, Mont. Const. Bryan v. Yellowstone County Elementary School District No. 2, 2002 MT 264, 312 M 257, 60 P3d 381 (2002).

Standing of Parent Who Did Not Request Information on Proposed School Closure but Belonged to Group Another Member of Which Did: School district parents, including Bryan, worked in concert to rebut a school closure recommendation, delegating duties among themselves. Schroeder, but not Bryan, requested information from the school authorities, which was not received. Bryan sued as a result of the school closure. That Bryan did not personally request the information did not prevent her from having standing to claim a violation of Art. II, sec. 9, Mont. Const. Bryan v. Yellowstone County Elementary School District No. 2, 2002 MT 264, 312 M 257, 60 P3d 381 (2002).

Authority of Board of Trustees to Proceed With School Construction Without Voter Approval — Use of Insurance Proceeds — Contiguous Property: A citizens' group contended that a school district Board of Trustees lacked the authority to construct a new middle school without first getting approval from the voters for the purchase of the property. The District Court correctly found that the Board had authority to proceed with construction: (1) without an election if the cost could be financed without exceeding the maximum-general-fund-budget-without-a-vote amount, as set out in this section; (2) using insurance proceeds to credit the district building fund under 20-9-508; and (3) without a site approval election if the property was contiguous to an existing site that was in use for school purposes under 20-6-621. A college district election is not required to approve these construction project financing arrangements; however, a city is required to hold a public hearing prior to issuing industrial development revenue bonds. School District Not Considered Person Engaged in Business Subject to Liability Under Montana Unfair Trade Practices Act: The Great Falls school district entered exclusive agreements with Coke and Pepsi to provide soft drinks in school facilities in exchange for $500,000 over a 10-year period. Plaintiff, which had supplied soft drinks to the district for almost 20 years, sued the school district for violation of the Montana Unfair Trade Practices and Consumer Protection Act of 1973. The school district contended that it was not subject to suit under the Act because by definition, it was not a person engaged in business, and the Supreme Court agreed. The plain meaning of person in 30-14-202 does not include a school district. To conclude otherwise would infringe on a school district's statutory power to raise revenue for funding education. A school district is also not a business as defined in the Act because a business is a person, which does not include a school district. Further, in accordance with the purpose set out in 30-14-201, the Act was created to apply to competitive businesses, not government, which generally acts as a market regulator and not a competitor. Repealed Statute Regarding Sale or Lease of School Trust Lands to School Districts — No Justiciable Controversy or Action Upon Which Relief Could Be Granted: Former subsection (4) of this section allowed the Board of Land Commissioners to sell, for appraised value, or to lease, for $1 a year, school trust lands to a school district. The Department of Natural Resources and Conservation stipulated that the provision was unconstitutional because it made state lands available for less than full market value. The District Court agreed, noting that leasing school trust lands to some school districts would favor only some of the beneficiaries and not the school trust as a whole. The Legislature concurred and repealed the subsection in 1999. Plaintiff subsequently sued the Department, the Board, and the state, contending that the Department unlawfully determined that the provision was unconstitutional and failed to defend the constitutionality of the provision. The state moved to dismiss the complaint on grounds that no justiciable controversy existed and that the complaint alleged no cause of action upon which relief could be granted. The District Court granted summary judgment for the state, and on appeal, the Supreme Court affirmed. Any determination that the Department exceeded its authority would have had no bearing on the existing rights or interests at issue, and a judgment granting the relief sought would not have effectively operated to resolve any issue in the case. Thus, there was no justiciable case or controversy, and the claim was properly dismissed. Advocates for Educ., Inc. v. Dept. of Natural Resources and Conservation, 2004 MT 230, 322 M 429, 97 P3d 553 (2004), following Mont.-Dak. Util. Co. v. Billings, 2003 MT 332, 318 M 862, 80 P3d 1247 (2003).

Authority of Board of Trustees to Proceed With School Construction Without Voter Approval — Use of Insurance Proceeds — Contiguous Property: A citizens' group contended that a school district Board of Trustees lacked the authority to construct a new middle school without first getting approval from the voters for the purchase of the property. The District Court correctly found that the Board had authority to proceed with construction: (1) without an election if the cost could be financed without exceeding the maximum-general-fund-budget-without-a-vote amount, as set out in 20-6-603; (2) using insurance proceeds to credit the district building fund under 20-9-508; and (3) without a site approval election if the property was contiguous to an existing site that was in use for school purposes under this section. The Awareness Group v. Bd. of Trustees, 243 M 469, 795 P2d 447, 47 St. Rep. 1333 (1990).

Contiguity of Land Separated by Public Road: The Supreme Court held that a site approval election was unnecessary for the purchase of a tract of land that would border a present school site for 800 feet but for a county road running between the parcels. The parcels were found to be contiguous within the meaning of this section. The fact that each parcel would be owned by a different school district did not necessitate an election because the purchase met the intent of this section by promoting the building of schools within the same general area of a city, thereby easing transportation and administration procedures. Closure of an attendance unit on the premises of a Hutterite colony is a matter within the discretion of the board of trustees of the school district involved, and the trustees have no authority to make an agreement to the contrary. The colony may effectively close an attendance unit by failing to renew the lease agreement if no similar space is available for its continued operation. Case Notes

Sufficiency of Single Petition to Transfer Territory From One K-12 District to Another K-12 District: Residents of Upper Nine Mile Valley petitioned the Missoula County School Superintendent to be transferred from Alberton K-12 district to Frenchtown K-12 district. The superintendent determined that the petition was valid and scheduled a hearing, but prior to the hearing, the Alberton Board of Trustees requested that the hearing be canceled because two separate petitions were not filed—one for elementary students and one for high school students.

The superintendent denied the request, and on appeal to District Court, summary judgment was granted in favor of the superintendent. The Alberton Board of Trustees then appealed to the Supreme Court, asserting that two petitions were required under either 20-6-213 or 20-6-320 (both now repealed) in order to transfer both elementary and high school territories from one K-12 district to another K-12 district. Conversely, the superintendent maintained that because the request was for the transfer of combined elementary and high school territory from one K-12 district, as defined in this section, to another, only one petition was necessary. In order to give meaning to all the applicable statutes, the Supreme Court concluded that a K-12 school district is a high school district upon which an elementary district has been attached and remains a high school district for purposes of the governing statutes. Therefore, 20-6-320 (now repealed) applied to the petition in question because it concerned transfer of territory from one high school district to another. The question then became not whether a formal, second petition was required to address the elementary district, but whether under 20-6-320(8) (now repealed) the petition in question was "accompanied" by an elementary "petition" that satisfied the corollary requirements of 20-6-213 (now repealed). The Alberton trustees argued that a distinct, second elementary petition, also signed by a majority of registered electors, was required or else the entire transfer process was invalid. The Supreme Court refused to abide by such a strict, formalistic approach, noting that the law respects form less than substance. The petition clearly identified that the territory was K-12, meaning that any attached elementary territory would also be transferred, thus the petition to transfer high school territory was unquestionably "accompanied" by a petition to transfer elementary territory as well, and it was not fatal that both petitions appeared on a single sheet of paper. The court held that it would be unreasonable and far too formalistic to require that two separate petitions be submitted when one petition, clearly identifying the intent to transfer both high school and elementary territory, served the same function. The District Court was affirmed. McKirdy v. Vielleux, 2000 MT 264, 302 M 18, 19 P3d 207, 57 St. Rep. 1101 (2000).

Failure of Legislature to Define Quality Education — Inability of Court to Determine That Education System Adequately Funded: The District Court held that the state system of funding public education was unconstitutional under Art. X, sec. 1(3), Mont. Const., but did not violate the equal protection clause in Art. II, sec. 4, Mont. Const. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that because the Legislature has not defined what "quality" means, it was not possible to conclude that the current funding system was designed to provide a quality education. Although deferring to the Legislature to provide a definition of a quality education, given the unchallenged findings of the District Court regarding Art. X, sec. 1(3), Mont. Const., the Supreme Court nevertheless concluded that whatever definition the Legislature devises, the current system was not sufficiently grounded in principles of quality to be considered constitutional. Because the unconstitutionality of the present funding system was affirmed, the Supreme Court held that the District Court need not have addressed the equal protection issue, so the District Court was directed to vacate its conclusion that the present system did not violate equal protection. Compiler's Comments

Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to SB 149 (Ch. 94, L. 1983) provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because it delegates rulemaking authority to the Board of Public Education to adopt rules for issuance of documents certifying equivalency of completion of secondary education.

While the Board has clearly delineated rulemaking authority to adopt standards of accreditation and establish the accreditation status of every school, its rulemaking authority has only been implied in the area of setting standards for documents which state that an eligible applicant has satisfied requirements for equivalency of completion of secondary education.

At the recommendation of the Administrative Code Committee [now Administrative Rule Review Committee], the Board requested legislation specifically providing the Board with the authority to adopt policies for the issuance of high school equivalency certificates and to direct the Superintendent of Public Instruction to issue those certificates.

The bill gives the Board the express rulemaking authority to adopt rules in the area of high school equivalency certificates. It is contemplated that:

(1) the Board's current rules in this area will be amended to show proper authority and implementation;

(2) the Board may adopt rules required for other types of programs of similar nature."

WHEREAS, in an effort to educate students in the American values of patriotism and love of country and to pass on the feelings of civic pride and commitment to America, the Board of Public Education, as one small step in increasing Montana students' awareness of their heritage as Americans, enacted a policy on January 26, 1989, recommending that teachers in every public school classroom begin the day with recitation of the pledge of allegiance while allowing an excuse from participation for any student or teacher who objects for any reason; and Exhaustion of Remedies Under Individuals With Disabilities Act Not Required Upon Claim of Discrimination in Public Education Under Human Rights Act: Amanda Johnson suffered from Campomelic Syndrome and as a result was confined to a wheelchair. Prior to Amanda's enrollment at Great Falls High School, her family brought Amanda's access issues to the attention of the Great Falls School District. There was no elevator in the school, which precluded Amanda's access to second-floor classrooms and science labs. There were numerous other physical barriers as well, such as parking problems, snow-covered sidewalks, cafeteria restrictions, heavy doors, office countertops that were too high, and inaccessibility to restrooms, water fountains, vending machines, and public telephones. The district determined that it could not build an elevator and continue to provide educational services to the rest of the student body; however, the district did prepare individualized education programs for Amanda each year that attempted to accommodate her by scheduling her classes on the first floor, transporting her to another high school for science labs, fitting desks for her and providing special seating, making minor physical adjustments to the building, providing a parking space for her in the faculty lot, attempting to coordinate snow removal with her arrival, and assigning a staff member to help her use the cafeteria. Nevertheless, her family was dissatisfied with the district's efforts and brought an education discrimination claim, alleging that the district illegally discriminated against Amanda by failing to provide an accessible building in violation of Title 49, ch. 2, commonly known as the Montana Human Rights Act (MHRA), and specifically 49-2-307 and 49-2-308. A hearings examiner found that Amanda did have far less access to the school than her classmates, but concluded that the district had provided reasonable access in light of the resources available to meet Amanda's needs. The hearings examiner ordered the district to proactively monitor accommodations provided to students with physical disabilities and to take a number of steps to minimize the likelihood of future violations of the MHRA. The Commission on Human Rights adopted the hearings examiner's findings and conclusions, and the district filed for judicial review, arguing to the District Court that: (1) the Commission lacked jurisdiction to consider the complaint until Amanda exhausted the administrative remedies under the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) through the Office of Public Instruction; and (2) the relief granted exceeded the Commission's statutory authority. The District Court agreed and overruled the Commission's order, and the issues were appealed to the Supreme Court. On the first issue, the Supreme Court found that the gravamen of Amanda's claim was grounded in discrimination under the MHRA, not the right to a free appropriate public education under the IDEA. Disabled students can receive an appropriate education, as attested by Amanda's 3.7 grade point average, and still suffer discrimination when the physical premises of a school deprive them of basic human dignities. When claims involve the simple application of the IDEA exhaustion doctrine in the absence of a parallel state statutory remedy, the logic of the IDEA exhaustion may apply, but when, as here, state human rights laws provide an administrative remedy through the Commission on Human Rights, there is no compelling reason to preclude the MHRA claim by first requiring the IDEA exhaustion. The court found no legal basis for determining that the IDEA was intended to limit applicable state human rights discrimination claims. Thus, Amanda's claim could proceed prior to exhaustion of or without ever invoking the IDEA administrative remedies, and the District Court erred in holding otherwise. On the second issue, the Supreme Court found that the remedy ordered by the Commission—requiring the district to formalize its policy and procedure for addressing the special needs of disabled students—fell within the authority of 49-2-506 and was reasonable in light of the relief requested. The District Court was reversed, and the Commission's order was reinstated. Great Falls Pub. Schools v. Johnson, 2001 MT 95, 305 M 200, 26 P3d 734 (2001), following Harrison v. Chance, 244 M 215, 797 P2d 200 (1990), and Shields v. Helena School District No. 1, 284 M 138, 943 P2d 999 (1997), and distinguishing Koopman v. Freemont County School District No. 1, 911 P2d 1049 (Wyo. 1996).

IDEA Complaint Held Subject to Exhaustion of Administrative Remedies: The Shieldses brought a civil action under 42 U.S.C. 1983 to enforce the rights of their son under the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) after the son was excluded from a ski trip. The Shieldses had previously filed a grievance with the school, appealed the result of the grievance to the Superintendent of the Helena School District, and appealed the Superintendent's decision to the trustees of the school district. The District Court dismissed the section 1983 action, holding that the Shieldses failed to appeal the decision of the trustees to the Superintendent of Public Instruction and thereby failed to exhaust their administrative remedies. The Shieldses argued that the doctrine of exhaustion of administrative remedies should not apply to them because they are seeking damages and because they were excused by futility and due process. The Supreme Court affirmed the dismissal, citing: (1) the exhaustion requirement contained in IDEA, 20 U.S.C. 1415(f); (2) the exhaustion requirement contained in the state rules, ARM 10.16.2417(5) (transferred to 10.16.3523); and (3) the case of Koopman v. Freemont City School District No. 1, 911 P2d 1049 (Wyo. 1996), in which the Wyoming Supreme Court held that the doctrine of exhaustion of administrative remedies applied in a case nearly identical to the case brought by the Shieldses. Shields v. Helena School District No. 1, 284 M 138, 943 P2d 999, 54 St. Rep. 815 (1997).

IDEA Complaint Held Subject to Exhaustion of Administrative Remedies Under Montana Human Rights Act: The Shieldses brought a civil action under 42 U.S.C. 1983 to enforce the rights of their son under the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) after he was excluded from a ski trip. The Shieldses had previously filed a grievance with the school, appealed the result of the grievance to the Superintendent of the Helena School District, and appealed the Superintendent's decision to the trustees of the School District. The District Court dismissed the section 1983 action, holding that the Shieldses failed to first file a complaint with the Human Rights Commission and thereby failed to exhaust their administrative remedies. The Shieldses argued that their case was a state tort action and did not fall within the jurisdiction of the Commission under Title 49, ch. 2, commonly known as the Montana Human Rights Act. Citing Harrison v. Chance, 244 M 215, 797 P2d 200 (1990), the Supreme Court held that because the gravamen of the complaint was discrimination, the complaint fell under the Montana Human Rights Act and that the Shieldses were therefore required to file a written, verified complaint with the Commission. The Supreme Court held that only after exhausting that procedure could they then bring a complaint in District Court. Shields v. Helena School District No. 1, 284 M 138, 943 P2d 999, 54 St. Rep. 815 (1997).

Failure to Follow Procedural Requirements of Individuals With Disabilities Education Act Held Not to Deny Free Appropriate Public Education — Independent Cause of Action for Misdiagnosis and Misplacement Dismissed as Barred by Res Judicata: Brian Parini was diagnosed with a learning disability and was placed in special education pursuant to the requirements of the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), 20 U.S.C. 1400, et seq. Subsequently, Brian's mother filed a petition with the Office of Public Instruction (OPI), alleging that Brian's condition had not been subjected to a 3-year reevaluation as required by IDEA and that Brian was therefore denied his right under IDEA to a free appropriate public education (FAPE). OPI found that while IDEA may not have been complied with as to certain procedural requirements, Brian was not denied a FAPE. Brian then filed a complaint with the District Court in which he alleged that OPI had erred and also asserted an independent cause of action for damages, claiming that school employees had negligently misdiagnosed and misplaced him, denying him a FAPE. Relying extensively upon federal case law interpreting and applying IDEA, the Supreme Court held that the absence of a reevaluation did not deny Brian an educational opportunity because there was no causal linkage between the absence of the reevaluation and the educational opportunity afforded to Brian. The Supreme Court also concluded, in reliance upon its opinion in B.M. v. St., 200 M 58, 649 P2d 425 (1982), and Art. X, sec. 1, Mont. Const., that Brian was entitled to bring an independent tort action for negligent misdiagnosis and misplacement. However, the Supreme Court held that because a nearly identical claim had been brought before OPI and the District Court and decided against Brian, his independent tort action was barred by the doctrine of res judicata. Parini v. Missoula County High School District No. 1, 284 M 14, 944 P2d 199, 54 St. Rep. 711 (1997).

High School Association Enforcement of Sports Eligibility Rules — Learning Disabled Student Lacking Individualized Education Program — Injunction Improper: The Montana High School Association (MHSA) ruled that J.M., an alleged learning disabled student, was ineligible for participation in interscholastic sports activities during his senior year because he had already participated in four seasons of sports. The District Court, relying on T.H. v. Mont. High School Ass'n, CV-92-150-BLG-JFB (D.C. Mont. Sept. 24, 1992), enjoined MHSA from enforcing the four-season rule because J.M. had a federally protected right under the federal Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), 20 U.S.C. 1400, et seq. On appeal, the Supreme Court found that it was improper to elevate J.M.'s privilege of participation in interscholastic sports to the level of a federally protected right under IDEA and to afford him individualized inquiry when J.M. had not followed the statutorily and administratively mandated mechanism for identification and qualification under IDEA and for developing a formal, written individualized education program. Because MHSA was not a state or local education agency, as defined in IDEA, MHSA had no obligation to identify or evaluate J.M.'s special education needs. The District Court's reliance on T.H. was in error, and the injunction was inappropriate absent evidence that J.M. was actually qualified for IDEA benefits. J.M. v. Mont. High School Ass'n, 265

M 230, 875 P2d 1026, 51 St. Rep. 401 (1994), followed in M.H. v. Mont. High School Ass'n, 280 M 123, 929 P2d 239, 53 St. Rep. 1328 (1996).

Procedural Flaws in Individualized Education Program — Parents Entitled to Reimbursement for Private Tutoring: The parents of a handicapped student filed suit seeking reimbursement for the costs of private tutoring elected by the parents when the school district failed to comply with procedures under federal law in the preparation of an individualized education program (IEP). Affirming the District Court decision, the Ninth Circuit Court ruled that the district's failure to comply with procedures in preparing the IEP deprived the student of free appropriate public education and that the parents were entitled to reimbursement for private tutoring until the IEP was properly prepared. W.G. v. Bd. of Trustees of Target Range School District No. 23, 960 F2d 1479 (9th Cir. 1992).

Wrongful Placement of Special Education Child — Duty Owed by School District — Sovereign Immunity No Bar to Claim for Damages: The plaintiff, a minor child, was diagnosed as needing special education and was to be educated in a class with other "normal" children but was later removed to a class of retarded children and as a result regressed in development. The school district's action of placement of the child was subject to judicial review and was not barred from review by the doctrine of sovereign immunity merely because it was discretionary. The school authorities owed the child a duty of reasonable care in testing and placing her in an appropriate special education program, and the District Court therefore erred in dismissing the child's action for damages. B.M. v. St., 200 M 58, 649 P2d 425, 39 St. Rep. 1285 (1982). B.M. was followed in Parini v. Missoula County High School District No. 1, 284 M 14, 944 P2d 199, 54 St. Rep. 711 (1997).

In a letter dated April 11, 2005, the Office of Public Instruction informed the Code Commissioner that July 1, 2005, is "the date by which Congress, in the reauthorization of the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act, requires states to implement the changes required by reauthorization".

1999 Amendment: Pursuant to sec. 99(4), Ch. 51, L. 1999, throughout section the code commissioner changed references to children with disabilities and child with disabilities to references to child with a disability. Amendment effective March 15, 1999.

"Emotionally disturbed" refers to a person who has been identified, based on a comprehensive evaluation, as having observable behavioral patterns which seriously inhibit the academic and social or emotional growth of the individual or the educational rights of others to the point that supportive services are required. State/Federal Law Conflict — Role of Superintendent of Public Instruction: When state regulations conflict with federal regulations, state regulations yield to federal regulations. A

Montana statute on out-of-state special education (20-7-422) implies that discretion is vested in the Superintendent of Public Instruction to grant or withhold approval for an out-of-state special education program. This implication runs counter to the language of the federal statutes which require that the decision of the hearing officer in the appeal to the Superintendent of Public Instruction is final. However, a position by the Superintendent that a decision of the District Court would be binding upon her and would be approved with no further claim of right of rejection is in harmony with the federal statutes and regulations. Therefore, there is no dual procedure arising out of the state regulations for special education programs as long as the Superintendent maintains that she is bound by the findings of the hearing officer and by the court if an appeal is taken from the hearing officer's findings. The hearing officer was therefore correct in dismissing the Superintendent as a party to the controversy, and the Superintendent is not a proper party in a court appeal as long as she claims no discretion once the court has acted. Attorney General's Opinions

Obligation to Provide Special Education: School districts are not entitled to deny special education services to children in need thereof who live within the district on the basis of the fact that the legal residence of child's parent or guardian is elsewhere. 37 A.G. Op. 148 (1978), clarifying 37 A.G. Op. 98 (1977).

Special Education — Funding and Services: A school district may not establish a special education policy wholly independent of state funding. A special education program established by a district is not required to serve children in group homes within the district who are not legal residents but may do so cooperatively or by contract. 37 A.G. Op. 98 (1977).

2005 Amendment: Chapter 255 substituted (5) concerning appropriate technical assistance documents for "recommending to districts the type of special education class or program needed to serve the child with a disability of the districts and preparing appropriate guides for developing individualized education programs"; in (6) near middle substituted "identifying" for "diagnosing"; deleted former (8) that read: "(8) approving, as they are proposed and annually after approval, those special education classes or programs that comply with the laws of the state of Montana, policies of the board of public education, and the regulations of the superintendent of public instruction"; in (11) near beginning after "child with a disability" inserted "including a homeless child with a disability"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2005.

1999 Amendment: Pursuant to sec. 99(4), Ch. 51, L. 1999, in (4), (5), and (7) and in (12) in two places the code commissioner changed references to children with disabilities to references to a child with a disability. Amendment effective March 15, 1999.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 529 in (14), at beginning, inserted exception clause and at end substituted "placed in an in-state residential facility or children's psychiatric hospital" for "when a state agency places a child with disabilities who is in need of special education in:

(a) an in-state residential facility or children's psychiatric hospital; or

(b) an out-of-state public school or private residential facility". Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Coordination: Section 8, Ch. 529, L. 1997, provided: "If House Bill No. 2 does not include appropriations to the department of corrections and to the department of public health and human services to pay for the education costs associated with out-of-state education placements, then [this act] is void." House Bill No. 2 included appropriations to the affected Departments to pay for the education costs associated with out-of-state education placements; therefore, the amendments to this section by Ch. 529, L. 1997, apply.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 356 at beginning of (11) substituted "ensuring" for "preparing"; at beginning of (12) substituted "ensuring that the requirements of the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act are met and that each educational program for children with disabilities administered within the state, including each program administered by any other agency, is under the general supervision of the superintendent of public instruction, meets the education standards of the board of public education, and meets the requirements of the superintendent of public instruction" for "acting as the coordinating agency with federal agencies, other state agencies, political subdivisions of the state, and private bodies on matters concerning special education" and at end inserted "or for providing or paying for some or all of the costs of a free appropriate public education to children with disabilities within the state"; deleted former (13) that read: "administering regional special education services for children in need of special education in accordance with policies of the board of public education"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1991 Amendment — Name Change — Code Commissioner Instruction: Changed term "handicapped child" to "child with disabilities" or "handicapped children" to "children with disabilities", pursuant to sec. 10, Ch. 249, L. 1991, which directed the Code Commissioner to change the terms wherever they appear in Title 20 and in all law enacted by the 52nd Legislature.

Chapter 765 throughout section substituted reference to child with disabilities for reference to handicapped child; inserted (15) requiring Superintendent to contract for the provision of a free appropriate public education for certain children with disabilities placed by a state agency; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

1985 Amendment: Inserted (11) relating to surrogate parents.

Statement of Intent — Surrogate Parent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 618, L. 1985, section 3 of which is codified as 20-7-403(11), provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because it delegates rulemaking authority to the superintendent of public instruction. In preparing instructional and training material to be given to a person appointed as a surrogate parent, the superintendent should look to the material used in the state of Connecticut, which developed the surrogate parent concept. The superintendent should tailor the material to carefully delineate the procedure used in Montana for evaluating and placing handicapped children [now children with disabilities] and devising educational programs for them. The material should specifically delineate the role of the surrogate in working with the child study team as early as possible.

Rules adopted by the superintendent concerning reimbursement of the surrogate parent should be aimed at fully reimbursing the surrogate while not creating a financial hardship to the school district. The rules should be such that people will not be financially discouraged from accepting appointment as a surrogate parent."

1981 Amendment: Substituted language of (13) relating to contracting for audiological services for former language of (13) to remove the requirement that the superintendent of public instruction contract directly with local school districts or cooperative service organizations for audiological services.

However, a position by the Superintendent that a decision of the District Court would be binding upon her and would be approved with no further claim of right of rejection is in harmony with the federal statutes and regulations. Therefore, there is no dual procedure arising out of the state regulations for special education programs as long as the Superintendent maintains that she is bound by the findings of the hearing officer and by the court if an appeal is taken from the hearing officer's findings. The hearing officer was therefore correct in dismissing the Superintendent as a party to the controversy, and the Superintendent is not a proper party in a court appeal as long as she claims no discretion once the court has acted. Method of Establishing Regional Service Centers for Special Education: House Bill 145 (1977) (an uncodified appropriations bill) requires the Superintendent of Public Instruction to establish the regional special education services referred to in 20-7-403 (see 1993 amendment) and 20-7-415 (repealed 1993) by negotiating contracts with local school districts whereby the contracting local districts agree to furnish regional special education services to be compensated from the regional service centers' appropriation. 37 A.G. Case Notes

Procedural Flaws in Individualized Education Program — Parents Entitled to Reimbursement for Private Tutoring: The parents of a handicapped student filed suit seeking reimbursement for the costs of private tutoring elected by the parents when the school district failed to comply with procedures under federal law in the preparation of an individualized education program (IEP). Affirming the District Court decision, the Ninth Circuit Court ruled that the district's failure to comply with procedures in preparing the IEP deprived the student of free appropriate public education and that the parents were entitled to reimbursement for private tutoring until the IEP was properly prepared. W.G. v. Bd. of Trustees of Target Range School District No. 23, 960 F2d 1479 (9th Cir. 1992).

Determination of Child's Condition and Needs — Necessary Evidence: Once the District Court found from the evidence that child A had not been making substantial progress as a participant in the mildly mentally retarded special education program and might be retrogressing and had also found that the child was severely emotionally disturbed, it was necessary that the child be placed in a special out-of-state school. The evidence supported no other choice, and substantial evidence supported the finding. In re the "A" Family, 184 M 145, 602 P2d 157, 36 St. Rep. 1898 (1979).

Reasonableness of Interpretative Regulation: An administrative regulation by the Superintendent of Public Instruction which restricted the use of special education funds to educational costs and provided that services such as psychiatric therapy or medical assistance must be deleted from those costs was reasonable and consistent with the carrying out of the legislative direction, and a school district could not use the funds to provide psychiatric-medical treatment outside of the state. Doe v. Colburg, 171 M 97, 555 P2d 753 (1976).

2005 Amendment: Chapter 255 in (1) in second sentence near middle inserted "in accordance with 20-7-411"; and substituted (2) requiring procedures for special education that are consistent with the federal act and state law and rules for former (2) that read: "(2) Whenever the trustees of a district intend to establish a special education class or program, they shall apply for approval and funding of the class or program by the superintendent of public instruction. The superintendent of public instruction shall approve or disapprove the application for the special education class or program on the basis of its compliance with the laws of the state of Montana, the special education policies adopted by the board of public education, and the rules of the superintendent of public instruction. A special education class may not be operated by the trustees without the approval of the superintendent of public instruction. Each special education class or program must be approved annually to be funded as part of the allowable cost payment for special education." Amendment effective July 1, 2005.

1993 Amendment: Chapter 356 near middle of first sentence of (1) substituted "school district" for "trustees" and substituted second sentence regarding availability of free appropriate public education for former second and third sentences that read: "Whenever the trustees of a school district or the governing authority of an institution learn of a child with disabilities in their jurisdiction who is in need of special education, they shall determine that the child is in need of a surrogate parent if the parents or guardian cannot be identified or, after reasonable efforts, the whereabouts of the parents cannot be discovered or if the child is a ward of the state. The determination must be made within 10 days of the date on which the trustees of a school district or the governing authority of an institution learned of the presence of the child in the district. If the child is in need of a surrogate parent, the trustees of a school district or the governing authority of an institution shall nominate a surrogate parent for the child as provided in 20-7-461." Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

1991 Amendment: In (1), near middle, substituted reference to child with disabilities for reference to handicapped child and after "guardian" substituted "cannot be identified or, after reasonable efforts, the whereabouts of the parents cannot be discovered" for "is unknown or unavailable"; and made minor changes in style. Failure to Follow Procedural Requirements of Individuals With Disabilities Education Act Held Not to Deny Free Appropriate Public Education — Independent Cause of Action for Misdiagnosis and Misplacement Dismissed as Barred by Res Judicata: Brian Parini was diagnosed with a learning disability and was placed in special education pursuant to the requirements of the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), 20 U.S.C. 1400, et seq. Subsequently, Brian's mother filed a petition with the Office of Public Instruction (OPI), alleging that Brian's condition had not been subjected to a 3-year reevaluation as required by IDEA and that Brian was therefore denied his right under IDEA to a free appropriate public education (FAPE). OPI found that while IDEA may not have been complied with as to certain procedural requirements, Brian was not denied a FAPE. Brian then filed a complaint with the District Court in which he alleged that OPI had erred and also asserted an independent cause of action for damages, claiming that school employees had negligently misdiagnosed and misplaced him, denying him a FAPE. Relying extensively upon federal case law interpreting and applying IDEA, the Supreme Court held that the absence of a reevaluation did not deny Brian an educational opportunity because there was no causal linkage between the absence of the reevaluation and the educational opportunity afforded to Brian. The Supreme Court also concluded, in reliance upon its opinion in B.M. v. St., 200 M 58, 649 P2d 425 (1982), and Art. X, sec. 1, Mont. Const., that Brian was entitled to bring an independent tort action for negligent misdiagnosis and misplacement. However, the Supreme Court held that because a nearly identical claim had been brought before OPI and the District Court and decided against Brian, his independent tort action was barred by the doctrine of res judicata. Parini v. Missoula County High School District No. 1, 284 M 14, 944 P2d 199, 54 St. Rep. 711 (1997).

High School Association Enforcement of Sports Eligibility Rules — Learning Disabled Student Lacking Individualized Education Program — Injunction Improper: The Montana High School Association (MHSA) ruled that J.M., an alleged learning disabled student, was ineligible for participation in interscholastic sports activities during his senior year because he had already participated in four seasons of sports. The District Court, relying on T.H. v. Mont. High School Ass'n, CV-92-150-BLG-JFB (D.C. Mont. Sept. 24, 1992), enjoined MHSA from enforcing the four-season rule because J.M. had a federally protected right under the federal Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), 20 U.S.C. 1400, et seq. On appeal, the Supreme Court found that it was improper to elevate J.M.'s privilege of participation in interscholastic sports to the level of a federally protected right under IDEA and to afford him individualized inquiry when J.M. had not followed the statutorily and administratively mandated mechanism for identification and qualification under IDEA and for developing a formal, written individualized education program. Because MHSA was not a state or local education agency, as defined in IDEA, MHSA had no obligation to identify or evaluate J.M.'s special education needs. The District Court's reliance on T.H. was in error, and the injunction was inappropriate absent evidence that J.M. was actually qualified for IDEA benefits. J.M. v. Mont. Federal Law Compelling Exception to Hearsay Rule — Administrative Psychological Assessment Report Admitted: When an assessment of a child's psychologic and mental condition is made as part of administrative proceedings, the report is part of the administrative record and accordingly it is a part of the evidence that the District Court had to consider. Federal law requires this, and it overrides any other consideration with respect to the reception into evidence of the report, including the inherent evil in accepting hearsay evidence not subject to cross-examination. Amendment effective July 1, 2005.

Chapter 255 in (2) in first sentence near end after "has been placed" deleted "by a state agency". Amendment effective July 1, 2005.

1999 Amendments — Composite Section: Pursuant to sec. 99(4), Ch. 51, L. 1999, in (2) in first sentence and in (4) in two places the code commissioner changed references to children with disabilities to references to a child with a disability. Amendment effective March 15, 1999.

1997 Amendment: Chapter 529 in (2), in second sentence after "child", deleted "with disabilities"; deleted former (4) that read: "(4) Under the provisions of 20-7-422(3), the superintendent of public instruction shall provide funds for the education fees required to provide a free appropriate public education for a child with disabilities who is in need of special education and related services and is placed by a state agency in an out-of-state private residential facility or out-of-state public school, provided that, in determining the special education services needed for the child with disabilities, the district of residence has complied with the rules promulgated under 20-7-402"; in (4) inserted second sentence requiring the placing state agency to pay education fees of a child with disabilities who is placed out of state; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1997.

Coordination: Section 8, Ch. 529, L. 1997, provided: "If House Bill No. 2 does not include appropriations to the department of corrections and to the department of public health and human services to pay for the education costs associated with out-of-state education placements, then [this act] is void." House Bill No. 2 included appropriations to the affected Departments to pay for the education costs associated with out-of-state education placements; therefore, the amendments to this section by Ch. 529, L. 1997, apply.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 509 in (3), at end of third sentence and in fourth sentence substituted "available funds" for "the state equalization aid account"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

1993 Amendments: Chapter 375 in first sentence of (1), after "guardian", inserted "if the parents are deceased"; at beginning of first sentence of (3) substituted "If an eligible child, as defined in 20-7-436, is receiving inpatient treatment" for "If a child with disabilities who is in need of special education is placed", near middle substituted "educational services are provided by a public school district under the provisions of 20-7-411 or 20-7-435" for "educational placement is in a public school district", and at end substituted "the superintendent of public instruction shall reimburse the district providing the services for the negotiated amount, as established pursuant to 20-7-435(5), that represents the district's costs of providing education and related services. Payments must be made from funds appropriated for this purpose. If the negotiated amount exceeds the daily membership rate under 20-7-435(3) and any per-ANB amount of direct state aid, the superintendent of public instruction shall pay the remaining balance from the state equalization aid account. However, the amount spent from the state equalization aid account for this purpose may not exceed $500,000 during any biennium" for former text that read: "the district of residence is responsible for tuition for the proportion of time the child is served in the public school district unless the public school district is operated primarily for the purpose of providing education to children who attend the residential facility or hospital"; near middle of (4), after "special education", inserted "and related services"; in (5), before "room", inserted "financial costs of"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

Chapter 563 near beginning of first and second sentences of (2) and near middle of (3) substituted "county" for "district" and after "tuition" inserted "and transportation" (amendment in (3) rendered ineffective by amendment to (3) in ch. 375); in first sentence of (2), after "under", substituted "20-5-323" for "20-5-305 and 20-5-312"; and made minor changes in style.

Code Commissioner Correction: In (3) the Code Commissioner substituted "of direct state aid" for "paid on the foundation program schedules as provided in 20-9-318 through 20-9-320". Sections 20-9-318 through 20-9-320 were repealed by Ch. 633, L. 1993. The Code Commissioner has substituted "direct state aid" because that concept replaced foundation program schedules in Ch. 633, L. 1993. The authority for the correction is found in sec. 84, Ch. 10, L. 1993.

1993 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 563, L. 1993, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because [section 4] [20-5-323] of the bill gives the superintendent of public instruction authority to adopt administrative rules regarding a flat tuition rate for each funding category in the foundation program schedules, using statewide district expenditure and revenue data for certain funds."

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 22, Ch. 563, L. 1993, provided: "[This act] is effective for the school fiscal year beginning July 1, 1993, and applies to calculations and payments for tuition for the school fiscal year beginning July 1, 1993."

1991 Amendment: In (2), at end of first sentence, substituted "a child with disabilities, as defined in 20-7-401, including a child who has been placed by a state agency in a foster care or group home licensed by the state" for "special education students" and inserted second sentence regarding lack of district financial responsibility for certain disabled children placed by a state agency; inserted (3) establishing tuition responsibility of district of residence for disabled child; inserted (4) requiring Superintendent of Public Instruction to provide funds for education fees required to provide free appropriate public education for certain children with disabilities placed by a state agency; and inserted (5) establishing state agency responsibility for a placed disabled child's room, board, and treatment. Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

Residency of Special Education Student Following Termination of Parental Rights But Before Permanent Placement: For special education purposes, the school district of residence of a child for whom the Department of Family Services (now Department of Public Health and Human Services) has legal custody following termination of parental rights and before a permanent placement is accomplished is the same as that of the physical location of the District Court that ordered the termination. 43 A.G. Op. 36 (1989), overruling 40 A.G. Op. 69 (1984).

Residency of Special Education Student in Temporary Custody of Department: For special education purposes, the school district of residence of a child for whom the Department of Family Services (now Department of Public Health and Human Services) has temporary legal custody is the district of residence of the child's parents, regardless of whether the child is placed in a foster home in a separate school district. 43 A.G. Op. 36 (1989).

Residency of Special Education Student When Custodial Parent Imprisoned — District of Residence Responsible for Tuition: The school district of residence of a special education student whose custodial parent is imprisoned is the school district where the custodial parent resided prior to imprisonment. Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

Composite Section: This section was amended by Ch. 470, Ch. 481, and Ch. 661, L. 1979, and a composite section was prepared by the Code Commissioner, 1979. All three chapters incorporated the same concept into this section. Since Ch. 470 was the most comprehensive, its language, with a few minor changes, was chosen.

Case Notes

State/Federal Law Conflict — Role of Superintendent of Public Instruction: When state regulations conflict with federal regulations, state regulations yield to federal regulations. A Montana statute on out-of-state special education (20-7-422) implies that discretion is vested in the Superintendent of Public Instruction to grant or withhold approval for an out-of-state special education program (see 1991 amendment). This implication runs counter to the language of the federal statutes which require that the decision of the hearing officer in the appeal to the Superintendent of Public Instruction is final. However, a position by the Superintendent that a decision of the District Court would be binding upon her and would be approved with no further claim of right of rejection is in harmony with the federal statutes and regulations. Therefore, there is no dual procedure arising out of the state regulations for special education programs as long as the Superintendent maintains that she is bound by the findings of the hearing officer and by the court if an appeal is taken from the hearing officer's findings. The hearing officer was therefore correct in dismissing the Superintendent as a party to the controversy, and the Superintendent is not a proper party in a court appeal as long as she claims no discretion once the court has acted. In re the "A" Family, 184 M 145, 602 P2d 157, 36 St. Rep. 1898 (1979).

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 22, Ch. 563, L. 1993, provided: "[This act] is effective for the school fiscal year beginning July 1, 1993, and applies to calculations and payments for tuition for the school fiscal year beginning July 1, 1993."

1991 Amendment: In (1), at beginning of first sentence, substituted "In accordance with a placement made by persons determining an individualized education program for a child with disabilities, the trustees of a district may arrange for the attendance of the child" for "If the trustees of any district recommend to the superintendent of public instruction the attendance of a child in need of special education" and in second sentence, after "provisions", substituted "in 20-5-301 and 20-5-311" for "of the laws governing the attendance of pupils in schools outside the state of Montana"; substituted present (2) regarding amount and manner of payment of costs associated with placement for former (2) that read: "(2) Whenever the attendance of a child at an out-of-state special education program is approved by the superintendent of public instruction, the superintendent of public instruction shall, in cooperation with the department of family services, negotiate the program for the child and the amount and manner of payment of tuition. 1987 Amendment: In middle of (2) deleted references to Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services and Department of Institutions and inserted reference to Department of Family Services.

Correction: In sec. 3, Ch. 661, L. 1979, the reference in subsection (2) was to 20-7-431(1)(b)(iii)(A) (nonexistent). The Code Commissioner changed the reference to "20-7-431(1)(a)(iii)(A)" to correct the error, which arose through amendments made by the Legislature in the course of enacting Ch. 661.

Case Notes

Determination of Child's Condition and Needs — Necessary Evidence: Once the District Court found from the evidence that child A had not been making substantial progress as a participant in the mildly mentally retarded special education program and might be retrogressing and had also found that the child was severely emotionally disturbed, it was necessary that the child be placed in a special out-of-state school. The evidence supported no other choice, and substantial evidence supported the finding. In re the "A" Family, 184 M 145, 602 P2d 157, 36 St. Rep. 1898 (1979).

Federal Law Compelling Exception to Hearsay Rule — Administrative Psychological Assessment Report Admitted: When an assessment of a child's psychologic and mental condition is made as part of administrative proceedings, the report is part of the administrative record and accordingly it is a part of the evidence that the District Court had to consider. Federal law requires this, and it overrides any other consideration with respect to the reception into evidence of the report, including the inherent evil in accepting hearsay evidence not subject to cross-examination. In re the "A" Family, 184 M 145, 602 P2d 157, 36 St. Rep. 1898 (1979).

State/Federal Law Conflict — Role of Superintendent of Public Instruction: When state regulations conflict with federal regulations, state regulations yield to federal regulations. A Montana statute on out-of-state special education (20-7-422) implies that discretion is vested in the Superintendent of Public Instruction to grant or withhold approval for an out-of-state special education program (see 1991 amendment). This implication runs counter to the language of the federal statutes which require that the decision of the hearing officer in the appeal to the Superintendent of Public Instruction is final. However, a position by the Superintendent that a decision of the District Court would be binding upon her and would be approved with no further claim of right of rejection is in harmony with the federal statutes and regulations. Therefore, there is no dual procedure arising out of the state regulations for special education programs as long as the Superintendent maintains that she is bound by the findings of the hearing officer and by the court if an appeal is taken from the hearing officer's findings. The hearing officer was therefore correct in dismissing the Superintendent as a party to the controversy, and the Superintendent is not a proper party in a court appeal as long as she claims no discretion once the court has acted. In re the "A" Family, 184 M 145, 602 P2d 157, 36 St. Rep. 1898 (1979).

Attorney General's Opinions

Special Education — Funding and Services: A school district may not establish a special education policy wholly independent of state funding. A special education program established by a district is not required to serve children in group homes within the district who are not legal residents but may do so cooperatively or by contract. 37 A.G. Op. 98 (1977).

2001 Amendment: Chapter 145 deleted former (5)(b) that read: "(b) If the total special education allowable cost payment, as determined in 20-9-321, exceeds legislative appropriations available for special education, each district shall receive a pro rata share of the available appropriations"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 2001.

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 145, L. 2001, provided: "WHEREAS, state funding for special education has not kept pace with school districts' required special education expenditures, which has caused a financial shift under the formula from providing districts with block grants to reimbursing districts for disproportionate special education costs; and

WHEREAS, this financial shift has made a school district's funding level less predictable, and those districts receiving reimbursements for disproportionate costs have not been adequately compensated for extraordinarily high special education costs; and

WHEREAS, a revision of the current special education funding formula is necessary to stabilize the proportion of the state appropriation for special education that is distributed through block grants and for special education cooperative administration and travel."

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 3, Ch. 145, L. 2001, provided: "[This act] is effective July 1, 2001, and applies to school budgets for fiscal school years beginning on or after July 1, 2001."

Professional supportive personnel may include special education supervisors, speech-language pathologists, audiologists" for "the entire cost if employed full time in the special program; if the personnel are shared between special and regular programs—a portion of the entire cost corresponding to the entire working time which each person devotes to the special program. Professional supportive personnel may include"; in (1)(b)(ii), at beginning, inserted "the cost of" and at end substituted "corresponding to the working time that each person devotes to the special program" for "the entire cost if employed full time in the special program; if the personnel are shared between special and regular programs—a portion of the entire cost corresponding to the entire working time which each person devotes to the special program"; deleted (1)(c) that read: "(c) equipment:

(iii) special equipment for school buses contracted to transport special students—that portion of the contract price attributable to the cost of special equipment or personnel required to accommodate special students—the actual special cost;

(iv) repair and maintenance of equipment—the actual total cost"; inserted (1)(b)(iii) concerning supplies, (1)(b)(iv) concerning prereferral interventions, (1)(b)(v) concerning contracted services, (1)(b)(vi) concerning transportation costs, (1)(b)(vii) concerning equipment, and (1)(b)(viii) concerning cooperatives; deleted (2)(b) and (2)(c) that read: "(b) defining the total special program caseload that must be assigned to specific support persons and the kinds of professional specialties to be considered relevant to the program before the district may count an allowable cost under subsection (1)(b) of this section; and

(c) defining the kinds or types of equipment whose costs may be counted under subsection (1)(c)(i) of this section"; deleted former (4) that read: "(4) If a board of trustees chooses to exceed the budget approved by the superintendent of public instruction, costs in excess of the approved budget may not be reimbursed under the foundation program for special education"; in (5)(b), near beginning, substituted "special education allowable cost payment, as determined in 20-9-321" for "allowable cost of the special education budgets" and at end, after "appropriations", deleted "based upon prioritized budget items as established by the superintendent of public instruction. The amount of the approved budgets in excess of the available appropriations may not be reimbursed under the foundation program for special education and is the responsibility of the school district"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1994.

1993 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 466, L. 1993, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because 20-7-431 gives the superintendent of public instruction rulemaking authority to implement changes in special education funding distribution.

It is the intent of the legislature to enhance student and taxpayer equity by revising the method of distributing special education state funding to school districts and special education cooperatives. A revision in funding distribution methods may necessitate transitional steps to minimize disruption of program services to students. It is intended that the superintendent of public instruction implement the changes in the funding provisions of this bill to assist a smoother transition and to minimize the impact of the changes to students and districts."

Name Change — Short Form Amendment: Section 55(2), Ch. 633, L. 1993, directed the Code Commissioner to change the term "foundation program", when it refers specifically to state funding for special education, to "allowable cost payment" in this section.

1991 Amendment: Deleted (1)(d) that read: "(d) room and board costs when the special pupil has to attend a program at such a distance from his home that commuting is undesirable as determined by the superintendent of public instruction". Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

1989 Special Session Amendment: Throughout section substituted "foundation program" or "foundation program amount" for "maximum-budget-without-a-vote"; in (1)(b)(ii), after "clerical personnel", substituted "who assist" for "for"; in (2) substituted "adopt rules" for "prior to September 1, 1977, revise the rules"; and made minor changes in phraseology. Amendment effective July 1, 1990.

1987 Amendment: Inserted (1)(c)(iv) relating to repair and maintenance of equipment.

1985 Amendment: In (6)(a) after "legislative appropriations", inserted "however, any unexpended balance from the first year of a biennial appropriation may be spent in the second year of the biennium in addition to the second year appropriation"; and near beginning of (6)(b) after "budgets", deleted "approved by the superintendent of public instruction".

1983 Amendment: In (6)(b), in first sentence after "If" inserted "the total allowable cost of the" and after "based upon" substituted "prioritized budget items as established by the superintendent of public instruction" for "its budget as a percent of all approved special education budgets".

Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to HB 444 (Ch. 548, L. 1983) provided: "A statement of intent is required of this bill because it grants authority to the Superintendent of Public Instruction to prioritize budget items to determine total amounts to be distributed to districts for special education.

It is intended that the prioritization be aimed at providing maximum funding for basic required or mandated services and least funding for other allowable services. The priorities must be structured to provide the most services to the greatest number of students within the limitations of local conditions. The priorities should be established by a combination of mandated services, student/teacher ratios, and local conditions that affect costs of providing services. The district's share of the funding is not intended to be line-itemed by the Office of Public Instruction; the bill provides a manner for determining the funding to be received by the districts. The manner in which the funds are to [be] used by the district is to be done within the allowable cost schedule provided in 20-7-431."

1981 Amendment: Inserted "or to in-state child study team meetings or in-state individualized education program meetings" after "must travel on an itinerant basis from school to school or district to district" in (1)(a)(iii)(B).

Composite Section: This section was amended by Ch. 481 and Ch. 661, L. 1979, and a composite section was prepared by the Code Commissioner, 1979. Subsections (6)(a) and (6)(b) represent apparently conflicting provisions enacted by the above chapters.

Correction: In sec. 1, Ch. 661, L. 1979, the reference in subsection (2)(b) was to subsection (1)(c), and the reference in subsection (2)(c) was to subsection (1)(d)(i) (nonexistent). The Code Commissioner changed the references to "subsection (1)(b)" and "subsection (1)(c)(i)", respectively, to correct the errors which arose through amendments made by the Legislature in the course of enacting Ch. 661.

The superintendent should tailor the material to carefully delineate the procedure used in Montana for evaluating and placing handicapped children (now children with disabilities) and devising educational programs for them. The material should specifically delineate the role of the surrogate in working with the child study team as early as possible.

Rules adopted by the superintendent concerning reimbursement of the surrogate parent should be aimed at fully reimbursing the surrogate while not creating a financial hardship to the school district. The rules should be such that people will not be financially discouraged from accepting appointment as a surrogate parent."

Gifted and Talented Children

20-7-902. School district programs to identify and serve the gifted and talented child.

Case Notes

Accreditation Standard Mandating Gifted and Talented Program Within Board's Constitutional Powers of "General Supervision": After the Board of Public Education refused to amend its rule requiring all districts to identify and provide programs for gifted and talented students, the Legislature, claiming the rule conflicted with 20-7-902, which authorized rather than mandated gifted and talented programs, enacted House Bill No. 116 (1991) at the request of the Administrative Code Committee (now appropriate administrative rule review committee) to repeal the rule. In invalidating House Bill No. 116, the District Court held that the Board, pursuant to its exercise of general supervision powers under Art. X, sec. 9(3), of the Montana Constitution, is vested with constitutional rulemaking authority that is self-executing and independent of any power delegated to the Board by the Legislature. Bd. of Pub. Educ. v. Administrative Code Comm., Cause No. BDV-91-1072 (1992), First Judicial District, Lewis & Clark County.

Attorney General's Opinions

Rule Requiring Every School District to Provide Educational Services to Gifted and Talented Children Invalid: The adoption of 20-2-121 did not provide a statutory grant of authority to the Board of Public Education to require the creation of gifted and talented children programs. Rather, this section makes the creation of gifted and talented children programs optional for individual school districts. Therefore, ARM 10.55.804, promulgated pursuant to the Board's statutory authority to adopt accreditation standards and making the creation of such programs mandatory, conflicts with this section and is thus invalid. 44 A.G. Op. 4 (1991). (See case note Bd. of Pub. Educ. v. Administrative Code Comm. at this section.)

Deaf and Blind School Employee Contracts Not Personal Services Contracts — Employees Entitled to Annual Leave and Holiday Pay Accrued: Employees of the Montana School for the Deaf and Blind signed standard form year-to-year employment contracts that granted them "all holidays and annual leave to which [the employee] is entitled under state law" and "all employee benefits to which [the employee] is entitled under the laws of the State of Montana". The employees were required to work evenings and to be on call much of the time. Nevertheless, the employees were required to complete time cards showing employment for only 8-hour days and were paid for only that time. The employees submitted a claim to the Board of Public Education for annual leave and holiday pay accrued but not paid and sued the Board when it refused to pay them. The Board defended, claiming that the employees' contracts were personal services contracts and that therefore the employees were exempt from the definition of an "employee" under 2-18-601. The Supreme Court held that the District Court properly granted summary judgment for the employees because the employees were not hired on an ad hoc basis because of the highly technical nature of their employment—rather, the employees are year-round employees given the benefit of the state group health plan and given grade and pay increases on state payroll accounting forms. The Supreme Court concluded that to hold otherwise would mean that all state employees are hired under personal services contracts and no state employee is entitled to annual leave and holiday pay, a construction that the Supreme Court determined would be unreasonable. 1995 Amendment: Chapter 291 near beginning, after "public education", substituted "and either pursuant to an individualized educational plan developed jointly by a child's local educational agency and the Montana school for the deaf and blind or by direct application by the child's parents, hearing impaired or visually impaired" for "deaf and blind", in two places increased age limit from 18 years to 21 years, and at end substituted "may be admitted to the Montana school for the deaf and blind if the child's local educational agency and the Montana school for the deaf and blind determine that the admittance constitutes the most appropriate educational placement for the child" for "who are not mentally deficient, dangerously diseased in body, or of confirmed immorality or incapacitated for useful instruction by reason of physical disability may be admitted to such school". Section 13 [20-8-120] gives the board authority to establish employment criteria in the area of communications skills for school staff who work with deaf children. Rules in this area should recognize that teachers need a high level of skills such as sign language in order to communicate to deaf pupils, while some custodial or administration employees may be able to work well for the school with a lower level of communications skills. The board should establish a relatively informal procedure for establishing compliance with its criteria, such as certification by the superintendent and one deaf adult, and it may reserve the right to grant waivers from its policy."

If the calculation exceeds the amount of guaranteed tax base aid paid to the school district's general fund, the superintendent of public instruction shall request an appropriation for the difference."

Effective Date — Retroactive Applicability. Section 2, Ch. 540, L. 2005, provided: "[This act] is effective on passage and approval and applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to school fiscal years beginning after June 30, 2002."

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 633, L. 1993, provided: "WHEREAS, it is the intent of the Legislature to enhance both student equity and taxpayer equity for Montana public K-12 education by restructuring the funding and budget mechanisms for school district general fund budgets; and

WHEREAS, for these purposes, the Legislature determines that the foundation program funding mechanism of the past 4 decades be replaced with a public school funding system designed to yield greater equalization of both district general fund budgets per-ANB and district taxpayer efforts within a reasonable number of years; the Legislature has structured the base amount for school equity (BASE) funding program to contain components that can be modified to meet a number of state and school district objectives and economic realities but that will still maintain the essential elements of equalization as required by the Montana Constitution; and

WHEREAS, it is the intent of the Legislature that for the year of implementation of [this act], the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction focus first on implementing procedures and processes within [this act] and on assisting school districts to calculate and adopt adequate general fund budgets in compliance with [this act] and that, as soon as practical after the adoption of district final budgets, the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction implement essential rulemaking procedures; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature recognizes that school districts and the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction will need assistance in order to implement [this act] before the school fiscal year beginning July 1993 and intends that the Office of the Legislative Auditor provide available computer models and consultation, as necessary and as approved by the Legislative Audit Committee, to the Office of Public Instruction to ensure that a transition to the provisions of [this act] is accomplished with a minimum of delay and inconvenience to the districts; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature intends that the implementation of [this act] be accomplished with a minimum of additional reporting workload at the district and state level and that the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, school districts, and county superintendents be strongly encouraged to implement electronic reporting and transmitting of data and information as soon as practical, using existing telecommunications networks, computer diskettes, or any other standardized means practicable; and

WHEREAS, in developing any request for proposals for software and data processing development, the superintendent of public instruction shall solicit input from school officials and organizations to accomplish the intent of [this act]."

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 11, Sp. L. June 1989, provided: "WHEREAS, it is the intent of the Legislature to enhance equality of educational opportunity for students in the elementary schools and secondary schools of Montana by revising the school funding laws to provide greater equalization of the funding available to school districts and to promote equalization of school district expenditures per student. It is the further intent of the Legislature to preserve local control of the public school system, as guaranteed by Montana's Constitution.

For these purposes, the Legislature determines to equalize funding aid to the school districts through the foundation program [renamed 1993] for the school fiscal year ending June 30, 1991, in an amount equal to the following percentages of the total costs incurred by all the districts in the state in school fiscal year 1988: 90% of comprehensive insurance and 90% of general fund expenditures. The Legislature also determines to equalize funding for retirement costs by providing a guaranteed property tax mill value for those counties with a mill value per ANB less than the statewide mill value per ANB. The superintendent of public instruction is required to adopt rules to implement distribution of guaranteed tax base aid as provided in [sections 60 through 63] [20-9-366 through 20-9-369]. It is intended that the rules adopted ensure the eligibility of the requesting school districts and the accountability of the districts for the guaranteed tax base aid payments they receive.

The Legislature recognizes its responsibility to devise an equalized system of school funding and recognizes that measures in addition to the provisions in this bill are necessary to fully address equalization of funding and expenditures for transportation, retirement, capital improvements, and other needs of the districts. Because it is necessary to identify those factors that affect disparate expenditure patterns, to determine whether those factors are educationally relevant, and to develop data not currently available to devise methods of equitably funding those needs, the Legislature determines that a study should be conducted, as provided in [sections 53 through 59] [not codified], and that equitable funding methods for these needs should be addressed by the 52nd Legislature. It is not intended by the Legislature that the individual income tax surtax provide a long-term solution to the school equalization funding problems of Montana.

The Legislature acknowledges the constitutional guarantee of equal educational opportunity for each public school pupil in Montana. The Legislature also acknowledges the sound policy considerations for empowering local trustees to supervise and control the schools in the district, as required by the Montana Constitution. Therefore, to guarantee more equal expenditures per student in similarly sized schools throughout Montana, while also providing each district board of trustees the power to determine and meet the unique and individual needs of students and schools in the district, the Legislature determines that it is reasonable and necessary to establish a maximum general fund budget limitation for each district, except as provided in 20-9-315 [repealed 1993], of 135% of the district's foundation program [renamed 1993] amount. Because of different circumstances that exist from district to district, the Legislature finds that it is reasonable and necessary to permit that range of disparity in expenditures by similarly sized districts throughout the state.

The Legislature intends that the current system of funding county equalization with elementary and high school levies and other revenue sources be maintained without change in order to preserve the current method of providing equalized local support of schools. The statutory appropriation of all revenue earmarked to fund county equalization does not affect the manner in which that revenue is collected, controlled, and distributed to districts by the county. It is intended that a district eligible for federal funds under Title I of Public Law 81-874 will be able to maintain the local contribution rate as required by 20 U.S.C. 238(d)(3)(C) for continuing eligibility.

It is intended that while school districts may conduct more than 180 days of instruction, a school district may not receive foundation program [renamed 1993] support for more than 180 days of pupil instruction.

Under 20-3-106, 20-9-102, 20-9-201, 20-9-211, and 20-9-213, the Superintendent of Public Instruction is authorized to supervise school financial administration and to adopt rules establishing requirements for budgeting and financial administration of public school districts, including accounting and reporting requirements. Under 20-9-344, the Board of Public Education has authority to require any reports it considers necessary. It is intended that school districts be required to maintain accounting systems based on generally accepted accounting principles and that the Superintendent of Public Instruction adopt rules necessary to implement the requirement. The Superintendent of Public Instruction shall provide training and assistance to the districts as necessary to enable the districts to comply.

It is intended that the districts be required to file accurate and timely reports with the Superintendent of Public Instruction. Districts must be required to provide student and school district data as may be required by the Superintendent of Public Instruction concerning the condition of education in Montana, including personnel information, student and school district demographics, assessment of student and school district achievement, and other appropriate educational factors necessary to enable the Legislature to assess the equality of educational opportunity being provided by the public school districts and to determine the amount of state aid to be distributed to school districts. Districts shall also provide data to meet grant requirements and other national reporting needs.

It is intended that the Superintendent of Public Instruction conduct training and provide forms for the personnel responsible for completing reports. Whenever possible, the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall develop methods for collecting educational data electronically, using formats consistent with school district data processing capabilities. The educational data must be maintained in an electronic format easily accessible by other state agencies and the Legislature.

State equalization aid and county equalization money may be withheld from school districts, as provided by 20-9-344, that do not comply with accounting and reporting requirements.

It is intended that the Superintendent of Public Instruction employ additional personnel during fiscal year 1990 and fiscal year 1991, not to exceed the appropriation, for the purpose of establishing standard accounting and reporting practices in the public school districts and for implementing the additional provisions of this bill.

The Legislature determines that if county equalization revenue is deficient because of noncollected tax payments, state equalization aid may be provided to offset the delinquency."

Chapter Case Notes

Failure of Legislature to Define Quality Education — Inability of Court to Determine That Education System Adequately Funded: The District Court held that the state system of funding public education was unconstitutional under Art. X, sec. 1(3), Mont. Const., but did not violate the equal protection clause in Art. II, sec. 4, Mont. Const. On appeal, the Supreme Court held that because the Legislature has not defined what "quality" means, it was not possible to conclude that the current funding system was designed to provide a quality education. Although deferring to the Legislature to provide a definition of a quality education, given the unchallenged findings of the District Court regarding Art. X, sec. 1(3), Mont. Const., the Supreme Court nevertheless concluded that whatever definition the Legislature devises, the current system was not sufficiently grounded in principles of quality to be considered constitutional. Because the unconstitutionality of the present funding system was affirmed, the Supreme Court held that the District Court need not have addressed the equal protection issue, so the District Court was directed to vacate its conclusion that the present system did not violate equal protection. Columbia Falls Elementary School District No. 6 v. St., 2005 MT 69, 326 M 304, 109 P3d 257 (2005).

Public School Funding System Unconstitutional: The guarantee of equality of educational opportunity applies to each person in the state and is binding on all branches of government, whether at the state, local, or school district level. As a result of the failure to adequately fund the foundation program (renamed 1993), thereby forcing an excessive reliance on permissive levies, the state failed to provide a system of quality public education granting to each student the equality of educational opportunity guaranteed under the Montana Constitution. Spending disparities among Montana school districts further resulted in a denial of equality of educational opportunity. Therefore, the 1985-86 system of funding public elementary and secondary schools was a violation of Art. X, sec. 1, Mont. Const. (See 1989 and 1993 amendments.) School District v. St., 236 M 44, 769 P2d 684, 46 St. Rep. 169 (1989).

Chapter Attorney General's Opinions

Allocation of Proceeds Under Settlement Agreement: Proceeds under a settlement agreement may be allocated in proper portion to any appropriately established building reserve fund of school districts within a county. The proceeds may not be allocated to any building fund of those school districts. 41 A.G. Op. 67 (1986).

Attendance Unit on Hutterite Colony Premises — Establishment — Closure — Finance: A school district board of trustees may establish a separate attendance unit on the premises of a Hutterite colony located in the district. Closure of an attendance unit on the premises of a Hutterite colony is a matter within the discretion of the board of trustees of the school district involved, and the trustees have no authority to make an agreement to the contrary. The colony may effectively close an attendance unit by failing to renew the lease agreement if no similar space is available for its continued operation. Operational costs of an attendance unit must be budgeted and financed in the manner provided by law. Any agreement between the school district and the colony for private financing would be unenforceable. 38 A.G. Op. 26 (1979).

Attorney General's Opinions

Transfer of End-of-the-Year General Fund Balance Required: There is no basis for the conclusion that school district trustees may establish or maintain the compensated absence liability fund only with the positive difference between initially budgeted and actually expended amounts. Rather, school district trustees may transfer any portion of the end-of-the-year general fund balance, as that term is used in this section, into the compensated absence liability fund subject to the limitations in 20-9-512. 45 A.G. Case Notes

Approval of Budget Prerequisite to Issuing Warrants: Under former statute, where County Commissioners had refused to approve school district budget on the grounds that the district had not been legally created, which contention was found invalid by the court, although time for action on the budget and levy of taxes had passed, the board was compelled to act by mandamus since approval of the budget was a necessary prerequisite to the issuance of warrants. Because the district was valid and had funds available from other sources, it should be enabled to issue warrants to meet its expenses. State ex rel. School District v. Lensman, 108 M 118, 88 P2d 63 (1939).

Separation of Appropriation Items Required: Under former School District Budget Act, each item in the district's budget constituted an appropriation for a definite and specific purpose and could not be paid out for another, except that a part of an appropriation for one item might be transferred to another when it appears that there was an excess appropriation for the one and a deficiency in the other. State ex rel. McHose v. District Court, 95 M 230, 26 P2d 345 (1933).

Attorney General's Opinions

Appropriations to Community Colleges — Budget Procedure: The budget for community college districts must be approved by the Board of Regents and fit into the Budget Act procedure of 17-7-101, et seq. It is a budget request which may be altered by the chief budget officer and which is ultimately subject to legislative approval. While 65% state funding of community colleges is the goal, the Legislature may or may not appropriate an amount equal to 65% of the districts' proposed budgets. If it does not, an additional levy, which must be approved by the voters in the district, is authorized to make up the deficiency. The General Appropriation Act of 1979 does no more than reflect this entire statutory scheme, especially the requirements of 20-15-301, et seq. The General Appropriation Act of 1979 properly appropriates state funds to the community colleges. 38 A.G. Op. 54 (1979).

(b) If tax money that was collected on property excluded under subsection (2)(a) is not required to be refunded to the taxpayer from the protest fund at the conclusion of a protest proceeding, such money shall be used to reduce subsequent property tax levies. The district shall calculate such levies by crediting the revenue from released protest funds directly to the revenue section of the budget and not to the cash reserves. If the crediting of such revenue reduces to zero the amount necessary to be raised by tax levy, the county treasurer shall refund on behalf of the district any excess protest fund revenue to the taxpayers. If a taxpayer is delinquent in the payment of prior taxes, the county treasurer may offset the delinquency rather than make a refund. A copy of the calculations made in fixing the tax levies under this subsection and calculations of any refunds must be delivered to the legislative auditor, the office of public instruction, and the department of revenue."

Case Notes

Special Tax Levy — Teachers' Retirement: Under the applicable 1974 statutes the Flathead County Board of County Commissioners had authority to levy a special tax to finance the Flathead Valley Community College district's teachers' retirement fund contribution separate from other levies made to finance the general fund, building debt service, and adult education program. Burlington N., Inc. v. Flathead County, 176 M 9, 575 P2d 912 (1978).

Attorney General's Opinions

Levies Designated for Community College District Retirement Costs Limited to Property Within District: The requirement in 20-9-501 that the County Superintendent of Schools determine each district's net retirement fund separately, together with the language in this section requiring Boards of County Commissioners to fix and levy taxes on real and personal property in a district, indicates the Legislature's intent that levies designed for community college district retirement costs be limited to property in the community college district, not all property in the county. Therefore, the Board of County Commissioners of a county in which a community college district is located may not issue a tax levy to fund the teachers' retirement obligations of the community college district against property that is located in the county but outside the community college district. Rather, the levy may be imposed only on property within the community college district. 47 A.G. Op. 17 (1998).

Factoring of "874" Money Into Equalization Formula: A state may factor Pub. L. No. 81-874 revenue into its school finance equalization system only if the system meets the federal definition of an equalized program, subject to the determination of the Secretary of Education. School District v. St., 236 M 44, 769 P2d 684, 46 St. Rep. 169 (1989).

Federal Funds to Be Applied to Permissive Levy:

No statutory changes since the issuance of 38 A.G. Op. 97 (1980), have affected the basis that under state law, a school district may deposit Pub. L. No. 81-874 money into any operating budget. However, the conclusion that if that money is allocated to the general fund budget, it must first be applied toward the permissive levy amount is incorrect, at least until Montana is certified under 20 U.S.C. 240(d)(2)(i) as a state that may consider that money in determining the amount of state aid available to a school district. 44 A.G. Op. 41 (1992).

Federal funds received under P.L. 81-874, intended to relieve increased tax burdens due to federal installations or activity, may be allocated by the trustees of a school district to any of its operating budgets that are supported by levies on property in the district. If such funds are allocated to the general fund budget, they must first be applied toward the permissive levy amount. 38 A.G. Op. 97 (1980).

Case Notes

Judgment Debt as Emergency: A judgment secured by a teacher against a school district in December 1932 was not paid, and in August 1933 she instituted mandamus proceedings to compel payment. At that time the district, working under the former statutory budget system, had funds on hand no longer covered by appropriations made under the 1932-33 budget, to pay the claim. The District Court erred in dismissing mandamus proceeding, in that the claim of relatrix constituted an emergency which it was the duty of the board of trustees to meet by payment even though it had in the meantime attempted to utilize such funds in making up the budget for 1933-34. Attorney General's Opinions

AFTER 1993 SCHOOL FINANCE REVISION

Conditions for Transfer of School District Bus Depreciation Reserve Fund: Resolving an apparent statutory conflict regarding the transfer of a school district bus depreciation reserve fund, a budgeted fund, the Attorney General applied the specific provisions of 20-10-147 over the general provisions of 20-9-208 and this section in holding that before a school district may transfer any money in the district's bus depreciation reserve fund to any other district fund, the school district trustees must have sold all of the district's buses and submitted the proposed fund transfer to the electors of the district. 51 A.G. Op. 6 (2005).

PRIOR TO 1993 SCHOOL FINANCE REVISION

Federal Funds to Be Applied to Permissive Levy:

No statutory changes since the issuance of 38 A.G. Op. 97 (1980), have affected the basis that under state law, a school district may deposit Pub. L. No. 81-874 money into any operating budget. However, the conclusion that if that money is allocated to the general fund budget, it must first be applied toward the permissive levy amount is incorrect, at least until Montana is certified under 20 U.S.C. 240(d)(2)(i) as a state that may consider that money in determining the amount of state aid available to a school district. 44 A.G. Op. 41 (1992).

Federal funds received under P.L. 81-874, intended to relieve increased tax burdens due to federal installations or activity, may be allocated by the trustees of a school district to any of its operating budgets that are supported by levies on property in the district. If such funds are allocated to the general fund budget, they must first be applied toward the permissive levy amount. 38 A.G. Op. 97 (1980).

Use of School Bus Depreciation Fund: The trustees of a school district may pay for the cost of replacement of a bus or radio from a bus depreciation reserve fund established under 20-10-147 if depreciation taken on the bus or radio since its acquisition has been credited to the reserve fund. In replacing any such bus or radio, the trustees are not limited to paying an amount from the fund which equals the accumulated depreciation credited to the fund on account of the replaced vehicle. 37 A.G. Op. 153 (1978).

20-9-203. Examination of district accounting records.

Such district shall deliver all accounting records to the auditing county official no later than July 15 for the audit of the financial activity of the last completed school fiscal year. (b) send a copy of the audit report to the chairman of the trustees; and Effective Date — Applicability: Section 30, Ch. 489, L. 1991, provided: "(1) Except as provided in (2), [this act] is effective July 1, 1992, and applies to the fiscal year ending June 30, 1992.

Case Notes

No Standing to Challenge to Award of Public School Transportation Contract on Statutory Grounds: Plaintiff provided bus service to a school district for about 24 years, but in 2001, the district elected to accept bids for the service. Plaintiff submitted the lowest bid, but the district decided to reject the bid on grounds that plaintiff was not a responsible bidder. The contract was awarded to another bidder, and plaintiff challenged the contract on statutory grounds, claiming that the district violated 18-1-201, 20-10-125, and this section. The Supreme Court declined to address any statutory violations because plaintiff lacked standing to bring the complaint under the criteria in Debcon, Inc. v. Glasgow, 2001 MT 124, 305 M 391, 28 P3d 478 (2001). Hickey v. Baker School District No. 12, 2002 MT 322, 313 M 162, 60 P3d 966 (2002), distinguishing State ex rel. Sletten Constr. Co. v. Great Falls, 163 M 307, 516 P2d 1149 (1973), and E.H. Oftedal & Sons, Inc. v. St., 2002 MT 1, 308 M 50, 40 P3d 349 (2002).

Transportation Contracts Not Within Statute: Section 1016, Rev. Codes 1935 (now repealed), did not require the trustees of a school district to call for bids for transportation of pupils. In re Transportation of School Children, 117 M 618, 161 P2d 901 (1945).

Transportation for Trustee's Child Not Within Statute: Statute was not violated by an agreement between the board of trustees and member thereof, upon closing a school, to furnish his children with transportation to or board, rent, and tuition at the location of the school to which they were transferred. State ex rel. Lien v. School District, 106 M 223, 76 P2d 330 (1938).

County High School Trustees: Section 1016, Rev. Codes of 1935 (now repealed), was inapplicable to county high school trustees. Missoula County Free High School v. Smith, 91 M 419, 8 P2d 800 (1932).

Taxpayer's Action Allowed: A taxpayer may maintain an action in behalf of a school district against its board of trustees to procure the cancellation of a contract for supplies alleged to have been fraudulently let by it. School District v. Richards, 62 M 141, 205 P 206 (1922).

Attorney General's Opinions

Sale and Installation of Carpet in School — Public Contractor's License Required: Title 37, ch. 71, which requires a person performing public construction work to have a public contractor's license, and ARM 8.115.301 (now repealed), which broadly construed the definition of public construction work, apply to persons or firms that contract to sell and install carpeting on school district property when the value of the contract exceeds $5,000. 43 A.G. Op. 67 (1990).

Public School District Trustee as Private School Employee — No Conflict of Interest: There is no direct link between being employed by a private school and acting as a trustee for a public school district. The mere fact that a school trustee is employed by a private school located in the public school district results in no inherent conflict of interest, ethical problem, or breach of fiduciary duty. 42 A.G. Op. 44 (1987).

School Contracts — Trustee's Delegation of Power to Superintendent: A School District Superintendent does not have the inherent power to enter a contract on behalf of the school district. A Superintendent is the executive officer of the board of trustees and in this capacity merely acts to execute policy adopted by the board. A school district board of trustees may delegate a portion of its exclusive power to contract to the Superintendent if the delegated power involves only the performance of administrative nondiscretionary acts. 40 A.G. Op. 41 (1984).

Health Insurance Plan — No Requirement for Bid: A school district is not required by this section to let bids on employer-provided employee health plans. 40 A.G. Op. 37 (1984).

School Trustees — Conflict of Interest: It is unlawful for a corporate business in which a school board trustee is a minor stockholder to furnish supplies for the operation and maintenance of the school. 37 A.G. Op. 78 (1977). See also 34 A.G. Op. 31 (1972).

Attorney General's Opinions

Conditions for Transfer of School District Bus Depreciation Reserve Fund: Resolving an apparent statutory conflict regarding the transfer of a school district bus depreciation reserve fund, a budgeted fund, the Attorney General applied the specific provisions of 20-10-147 over the general provisions of 20-9-201 and this section in holding that before a school district may transfer any money in the district's bus depreciation reserve fund to any other district fund, the school district trustees must have sold all of the district's buses and submitted the proposed fund transfer to the electors of the district. 51 A.G. Transfer of Funds From General Fund to Debt Service Fund — Use of General Fund Money to Pay Bond Principal and Interest Not Allowed — Repayment: Except for the transfer provided for under 20-9-443 when all bonds and interest have been fully paid, no authority exists for financing the debt service fund from a transfer of money from the general fund or by allocating general fund money for payment of bond principal and interest. Under this section, the transfer of budgeted amounts between funds, unless specifically authorized by law, is prohibited. (See 2001 amendment.) A school district that received more guaranteed tax base aid than that to which it was entitled because of an unauthorized transfer between funds is required to reimburse the state for the overpayment. 44 A.G. Op. 41 (1992).

Activity Bus Expenses: School district trustees must conform their budget to the accounting procedure prescribed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, which requires itemizing the expenses of activity buses under the general fund rather than the transportation fund. 38 A.G. Op. 86 (1980).

Allowable Expenditures Under Bus Depreciation Reserve Fund: The bus depreciation reserve fund allowed under 20-10-147 merely provides for replacement of transportation and activity buses and does not expand use of the transportation fund budget to pay expenses for operation of activity buses. 38 A.G. Op. 86 (1980).

1989 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 1, Sp. L. June 1989, provided: "It is the intent of the legislature that school districts be required to maintain accounting systems based on generally accepted accounting principles and that the superintendent of public instruction adopt rules necessary to implement this requirement. Under 20-3-106, 20-9-102, 20-9-201, 20-9-211, and 20-9-213, the superintendent of public instruction is authorized to supervise public school financial administration and is required to adopt rules establishing requirements for budgeting and financial administration of public school districts, including accounting and reporting requirements. Under 20-9-344, the board of public education has authority to require any reports it considers necessary.

It is further intended that the districts be required to file accurate and timely reports with the superintendent of public instruction. Districts must be required to provide student and school district data as may be required by the superintendent of public instruction concerning the condition of education in Montana, including personnel information, student and school district demographics, assessment of student and school district achievements, and other appropriate educational factors necessary to enable the legislature to assess the equality of educational opportunity provided by the public school districts and to determine the amount of state aid to be distributed to school districts. Districts shall also provide data to meet grant requirements and other national reporting needs.

It is intended that the superintendent of public instruction provide training, forms, and assistance to the districts as necessary to enable the districts to comply with [this act]. Whenever possible, the superintendent of public instruction shall develop methods for collecting educational data electronically, using formats consistent with school district data processing capabilities. The educational data must be maintained in an electronic format easily accessible by other state agencies and the legislature.

It is intended that the superintendent of public instruction employ two additional full-time-equivalent personnel during fiscal year 1990 and three full-time-equivalent personnel during fiscal year 1991 for the purpose of establishing standard accounting and reporting practices in the public school districts."

1987 Amendment: At end of first sentence in (4) substituted "state" for "county in which the district is located; provided, however, that if no such bank, building and loan association, savings and loan association, or credit union is located in the county where the district is situated, such investment may be made in said banks or associations located in adjacent counties".

1985 Amendment: In (4) in two places, after "savings and loan association", inserted "or credit union"; near middle of (4) after "FSLIC", inserted "NCUA"; and made minor changes in phraseology.

1981 Amendment: Moved the language "direct obligations of the United States government, payable within 180 days from the time of investment, or in" from the proviso clause to the first part of (4) so as to allow the investment even if there are banks, building and loans, or savings and loans located in the county.

Case Notes

Warrants Drawn in Anticipation of Revenue — Legislative Intent: Although sections 964 and 1012, Rev. Codes of 1921 (now repealed), authorized school trustees to issue warrants in anticipation of school money from uncollected taxes to the extent of the sum levied, the Legislative Assembly did not extend the privilege of going on the pay-as-you-go plan to school districts, as it did to cities and towns. Farbo v. School District, 95 M 531, 28 P2d 455 (1933).

Attorney General's Opinions

Advancement of Annual Annuity Premium — Method of Recovery: A school district may advance the annual premium for a tax-sheltered annuity on behalf of its participating employees and then recover the amount advanced by means of salary withholding. 44 A.G. Op. 26 (1992).

Permissible Alternatives for Deposit — School District Funds: The permissible alternatives for deposit or investment of school district money are governed by subsection (4) of this section. 42 A.G. Op. 25 (1987).

School Contracts — Trustee's Delegation of Power to Superintendent: A School District Superintendent does not have the inherent power to enter a contract on behalf of the school district. A Superintendent is the executive officer of the board of trustees and in this capacity merely acts to execute policy adopted by the board. A school district board of trustees may delegate a portion of its exclusive power to contract to the Superintendent if the delegated power involves only the performance of administrative nondiscretionary acts. 40 A.G. Op. 41 (1984).

Taxation — Levy for Liability Insurance: The levy provided by 2-9-212 does not require an election. The school trustees may authorize the levy upon determining that it is in the best interests of the school district. The annual property tax may be used to fund all policies of insurance required or permitted by law. 37 A.G. Op. 109 (1978), reversing contrary language in 35 A.G. Op. 44 (1973).

Audit During Biennium: Section 53, Ch. 633, L. 1993, provided: "(1) The legislative audit committee, in accordance with its constitutional authority to supervise legislative postaudits, shall ensure the independence of the audit of the office of the superintendent of public instruction conducted pursuant to Title 5, chapter 13, during the 1994-95 biennium. It is the intent of the legislature that the biennial financial compliance audit for the 2 fiscal years ending June 30, 1994, be contracted. To the extent that the legislative audit committee contracts with a private firm to conduct a portion of the audit or the entire audit, including audit work required to complete the statewide audit and the federal single audit, the total cost of all audit work during the biennium must be paid first from the line item appropriation to the office of the superintendent of public instruction for audit costs.

(2) There is appropriated from the general fund to the legislative auditor $40,000 for the biennium ending June 30, 1995, to be used if the line item appropriation to the office of the superintendent of public instruction is insufficient to pay the total audit costs."

Severability: Section 61, Ch. 633, L. 1993, was a severability clause.

Interim Study: Section 63, Ch. 633, L. 1993, provided: "(1) The legislative council is requested to assign the revenue oversight committee [now revenue and transportation interim committee], the legislative finance committee, or an appropriate interim committee to conduct an interim study of certain taxes and property valuation for the purpose of enhancing equalized school funding and of equalizing tax burdens among the state's school districts. The study should include but is not limited to:

(a) exploring the best means of including revenue from local government severance taxes, new and interim production of oil and natural gas, the "flat tax" on coal, corporation license taxes collected from financial institutions, and motor vehicle fees in the formula for equalizing funding per ANB and for equalizing tax burden among the state's school districts; and

(b) identifying measures that would allow the value of all centrally assessed property to be included in the formula for equalizing funding per ANB and for equalizing tax burden among the state's school districts.

(2) In conducting the study, the committee may request assistance from the:

(a) superintendent of public instruction;

(b) board of public education;

(c) department of revenue;

(d) representatives of local government entities, including the Montana association of counties and the Montana league of cities and towns;

(e) representatives of schools and teachers and other interested persons and organizations; and

(f) staff of the legislative council, legislative fiscal analyst, and the legislative auditor.

(3) If the legislative council does not assign an appropriate interim committee to conduct the study requested in this section, the superintendent of public instruction is requested to conduct the study and may request assistance from any of the entities referred to in subsection (2) or from any other entity having relevant knowledge, insight, or information."

Applicability Date Amended — Termination: Section 1, Ch. 573, L. 1989, provided: "This act is applicable during school fiscal years 1990 through 1995 in the following manner:

(2) two-fifths of the reduction in the maximum general fund budget resulting from the aggregation of ANB, as calculated from school attendance during school fiscal year 1991, applies in budgeting for school fiscal year 1992;

Section 4, Ch. 573, L. 1989, provided: "[This act] terminates on the effective date of a new equalized school funding system."

School Funding Lawsuit — District Court Opinion With Appeal Pending: A District Court decision rendered January 13, 1988, held unconstitutional the method of funding Montana's school system. The schools were to continue operating under existing statutes until October 1, 1989, to allow the Legislature time to correct the deficiencies. Helena Elementary School District No. 1 v. State of Montana, Cause No. ADV-85-370, First Judicial District, Lewis and Clark County. On appeal, the Montana Supreme Court affirmed in part the District Court decision, ruling that the state's failure to adequately fund the foundation program forced an excessive reliance on permissive levies and violated Art. X, sec. 1, Mont. Const., by denying equality of educational opportunity to each student. School District No. 1 v. St., 236 M 44, 769 P2d 684, 46 St. Rep. 169 (1989).

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Transfer of Funds From General Fund to Debt Service Fund — Use of General Fund Money to Pay Bond Principal and Interest Not Allowed — Repayment: Except for the transfer provided for under 20-9-443 when all bonds and interest have been fully paid, no authority exists for financing the debt service fund from a transfer of money from the general fund or by allocating general fund money for payment of bond principal and interest. Under 20-9-208, the transfer of budgeted amounts between funds, unless specifically authorized by law, is prohibited. A school district that received more guaranteed tax base aid than that to which it was entitled because of an unauthorized transfer between funds is required to reimburse the state for the overpayment. 44 A.G. Op. 41 (1992).

Budgeting for Seventh and Eighth Grade Students: The amount of general fund budget per ANB for the 7th and 8th grade students in an elementary school should be the same as that computed for the high school district within which the elementary school is located. 37 A.G. Op. 154 (1978).

Obligation to Provide Special Education: School districts are not entitled to deny special education services to children in need thereof who live within the district on the basis of the fact that the legal residence of child's parent or guardian is elsewhere. 37 A.G. Op. 148 (1978), clarifying 37 A.G. Op. 98 (1977).

Special Education — Funding and Services: A school district may not establish a special education policy wholly independent of state funding. A special education program established by a district is not required to serve children in group homes within the district who are not legal residents but may do so cooperatively or by contract. 37 A.G. Op. 98 (1977).

Case Notes

Mines Net Proceeds Taxes and Resource Indemnity Trust Taxes Settlement Agreement — Payments Distributed According to Mill Levies in Year Settlement Paid: Under a settlement agreement in 1992, Cyprus paid to Madison County back mines net proceeds taxes and resource indemnity trust taxes for the years 1980-1987. The county brought a summary judgment action to allow it to distribute the payment to certain Madison County taxing districts rather than according to the mill levies in place on the date when the funds were received, including the state university levies and the county and state school equalization aid payments. The county argued that application of school funding equalization taxes to Cyprus's settlement for 1980-1987 taxes was improper retroactive taxation because not all of the equalization laws were in effect in those years. The District Court granted summary judgment to the county. The Supreme Court held that no retroactivity issue existed and that the settlement paid was property tax revenue that must be distributed according to the mills levied in the year that the settlement was paid. Madison County v. St., 1998 MT 285, 291 M 446, 968 P2d 732, 55 St. Rep. 1160 (1998).

Attorney General's Opinions

Allocation of County Share of Taylor Grazing Act Funds: Pursuant to 17-3-222 and this section, a county must allocate its share of funds provided by the federal government to the state under the Taylor Grazing Act, 43 U.S.C. 315i, in the proportion of 50% to the county general fund and 50% to the equalization account of the elementary BASE funding program. 46 A.G. Op. 27 (1996).

Allocation of Justice's Court Fines and Costs: Section 46-18-235 provides a specific use for money collected as fines; therefore, fines and costs collected in Justice's Court and paid to the County Treasurer by the Justice of the Peace should be credited to the county general fund pursuant to 46-18-235 rather than to the equalization of the elementary district foundation programs (renamed 1993) of the county pursuant to the general use provision of 20-9-331. 41 A.G. Op. 39 (1985).

Forfeited Appearance Bonds — Credited to Elementary School District Foundation: Forfeited appearance bonds should be credited by the County Treasurer to the equalization of the county elementary school district foundation programs (renamed 1993) in the same manner as fines are credited under 20-9-331. This is the general method practiced as shown by audits of local government units. 38 A.G. Op. 96 (1980).

Mines Net Proceeds Taxes and Resource Indemnity Trust Taxes Settlement Agreement — Payments Distributed According to Mill Levies in Year Settlement Paid: Under a settlement agreement in 1992, Cyprus paid to Madison County back mines net proceeds taxes and resource indemnity trust taxes for the years 1980-1987. The county brought a summary judgment action to allow it to distribute the payment to certain Madison County taxing districts rather than according to the mill levies in place on the date when the funds were received, including the state university levies and the county and state school equalization aid payments. The county argued that application of school funding equalization taxes to Cyprus's settlement for 1980-1987 taxes was improper retroactive taxation because not all of the equalization laws were in effect in those years. The District Court granted summary judgment to the county. The Supreme Court held that no retroactivity issue existed and that the settlement paid was property tax revenue that must be distributed according to the mills levied in the year that the settlement was paid. Accounting System Allowing Commingling of State Trust Revenue Constitutional: Plaintiff challenged the state's alleged improper commingling of state land trust assets, including rental and bonus payments on certain coal leases, into the general fund, asserting that the accounting system violated the state's duty to obtain full market value for school trust lands. The District Court concluded that plaintiff failed to prove financial harm to the school trust beneficiaries, particularly when the Legislature's appropriation to public schools far exceeded the combined money provided by the interest income and the bonus payments. On appeal, the Supreme Court affirmed. The state satisfied its trust obligations by demonstrating that its accounting system was sufficiently accurate and complete to allow plaintiff to ascertain that all trust revenue goes to benefit public schools, while plaintiff failed to carry its burden of proving that the state withheld either the interest income or the bonus payments or improperly diverted those funds to nontrust purposes. Thus, the state statutory scheme did not breach the state's trustee duty by requiring the deposit of interest income and bonus payments into the general fund. Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

1993 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 375 inserted (1)(b) including negotiated payments authorized under 20-7-420(3) up to $500,000 per biennium; in (2) inserted "negotiated payments authorized under 20-7-420(3)"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

Chapter 593 deleted former (3)(a) that read: "money received from the collection of income taxes under chapter 30 of Title 15, as provided by 15-1-501"; deleted former (3)(b) that read: "(b) except as provided in 15-31-702, money received from the collection of corporation license and income taxes under chapter 31 of Title 15, as provided by 15-1-501"; deleted (3)(j) that read: "(j) 15% of the income and earnings of all coal severance tax funds as provided in 17-5-704"; and made minor changes in style. Chapter 729 inserted (1)(b) concerning filing fees for school district audits; in (2), after "required", substituted "by subsection (1)(a)" for "for guaranteed tax base aid and foundation program purposes"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1991, and terminates June 30, 1993.

Chapter 787 at end of (3)(j) deleted reference to subsection (2) of 17-5-704. Amendment effective July 1, 1991.

Code Commissioner Explanation: The amendments enacted by sec. 5, Ch. 622, L. 1991, and the temporary amendment of the section by secs. 1 and 3, Ch. 729, L. 1991, were composited. In (2), instead of repeating language on the Montana telecommunications network, reference was made to subsection (1)(b) to maintain the consistency of the subsection.

1989 Special Session Amendment: Near end of (1) inserted "payment of guaranteed tax base aid and"; deleted former first sentence of (2) requiring appropriation of equalization aid in a single sum for the biennium; substituted (2) relating to expenditure of guaranteed tax base aid and equalization aid for former language that read: "The superintendent of public instruction has authority to spend such appropriation, together with the earmarked revenues provided in subsection (3), as required for foundation program purposes throughout the biennium"; at beginning of (3)(a) deleted "31.8% of all" and at end inserted "as provided by 15-1-501"; at beginning of (3)(b) deleted "25% of all money"; at beginning of (3)(c) and (3)(d) deleted "100% of the"; deleted former (3)(f) that read: "(f) income from the education trust fund account"; inserted (3)(f) relating to the state equalization aid levy; inserted (3)(g) relating to income from the lottery; inserted (3)(i) relating to investment income; inserted (3)(j) relating to income and earnings from the coal severance tax funds; inserted (4) relating to investment by the Board of Investments; and made minor changes in phraseology. Amendments to subsections (1) and (3) through (5) effective July 1, 1990. Amendments to subsection (2), relating to guaranteed tax base aid and state equalization aid, effective August 11, 1989.

1987 Amendments: Chapter 370 at beginning of (3)(c) substituted "the amount provided in 15-35-108" for "10%" (not codified, redundant with Ch. 662 amendment); at end of (3)(g) deleted "shall be paid into the same state special revenue fund"; and at end of (4) deleted "[or may be transferred to the state permissive account if revenues in that fund are insufficient to meet the state's permissive amount obligation]".

Chapter 662 in (1), (3)(a), (3)(b), (3)(d), and (3)(e) changed "moneys" to "money"; in (3)(c) changed "10%" to "100%", after "of the" substituted "money allocated to state equalization" for "moneys received", and after "coal" deleted "under chapter 35 of Title 15"; and in (3)(f) substituted "education trust" for "local impact and education trust".

Chapter 666 in (3)(a) changed "25%" to "31.8%"; and near end of (3)(b), after "corporation license", inserted "and income".

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 11, Ch. 666, L. 1987, provided: "(1) This act, except section 8, is effective on passage and approval [approved May 22, 1987].

(2) Section 8 is effective July 1, 1987.

(3) Unless otherwise specified or required by a particular section of this act, sections 1 through 7 apply retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to tax years beginning after December 31, 1986."

Severability: Section 13, Ch. 662, L. 1987, was a severability section.

Void Amendment: The amendment in sec. 1, Ch. 2, L. 1987, was voided by sec. 12, Ch. 662, L. 1987.

1986 Amendment: In (3)(d) increased from 62 ½% to 100% the portion of oil and gas royalties allocated to state equalization aid.

1981 Amendment: Chapter 317 inserted (2) relating to a single biennial appropriation; and inserted (4) relating to use of surplus revenue in the equalization aid account.

Inconsistent Language: Chapter 540, L. 1981, entitled "An Act to simplify utilization of funds available for financing the foundation program and permissive portions of public school budgets; amending sections 20-9-345, 20-9-351, and 20-9-352 [20-9-352 repealed effective July 1, 1990 — sec. 94, Ch. 11, Sp. L. June 1989], MCA" purported to abolish the permissive levy account by deleting all references to that account in the three sections amended. For this reason and because sec. 1 of Ch. 540 deleted from 20-9-345 language requiring that unencumbered funds remaining in the public school equalization earmarked revenue account at the end of the year be transferred to the state permissive school levies earmarked revenue account, the Code Commissioner has placed brackets around similar language in subsection (4), which was added by Ch. 317, L. 1981, to indicate that this language is apparently inconsistent with the elimination of the state permissive account.

Federal Statute: The Mineral Lands Leasing Act, referred to in this section, is compiled in the U.S.C. as Title 30, §181, et seq.

1999 Amendment: Chapter 308 in (5)(e) after "year" deleted "one-half of" and after "aid" deleted "and on the following July 15, the remaining payment to each district of direct state aid for the school fiscal year ending on the preceding June 30". Amendment effective July 1, 1999.

Applicability: Section 3, Ch. 308, L. 1999, provided: "[This act] applies to school fiscal years beginning after June 30, 1999."

1993 Amendment: Chapter 633 throughout section substituted "BASE" for "state equalization"; deleted former (1) that read: "The money available for state equalization aid must be distributed and apportioned to provide:

(a) an annual minimum operating revenue for the elementary and high schools in each county, exclusive of revenues required for debt service and for the payment of any costs and expense incurred in connection with any adult education program, recreation program, school food services program, new buildings and grounds, and transportation; and

(b) the Montana educational telecommunications network as provided in 20-32-101"; in (2), after "aid", deleted "or order the county superintendent of schools to withhold county equalization money"; in (5), before "aid", substituted "BASE" for "foundation program payment and guaranteed tax base"; in (5)(a) substituted "October" for "May", increased amount from "8%" to "10%", and substituted "direct state aid" for "foundation program payment"; inserted (5)(b) requiring 10% of BASE aid to be distributed from December to April; in (5)(c), after "county", inserted "that has submitted a final budget to the superintendent of public instruction in accordance with the provisions of 20-9-134"; deleted former (6)(d)(i) that read: "(i) the 1993 school fiscal year, one-half of the remaining foundation program payment of each district and on July 15, 1993, the remaining school fiscal year 1993 foundation program payment of each district"; in (5)(e), after "year", inserted "one-half of", after "remaining" deleted "foundation program", and after "district" inserted "of direct state aid and on the following July 15, the remaining payment to each district of direct state aid for the school fiscal year ending on the preceding June 30"; in (6), after "distribution", deleted "of foundation program payments and guaranteed tax base aid" and substituted "subsection (5)" for "subsection (6)"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1993.

Chapter 6, Sp. L. July 1992, in (2) and (2)(a), after "aid", inserted "and state advances for county equalization"; in (2)(a), after "law", deleted "and in a manner that provides for monthly distribution to each district of its foundation program amount and to each county and district distribution of its guaranteed tax base aid"; at beginning of (6) inserted exception clause and substituted schedule of guaranteed tax base aid payments for former distribution of 20% by July 15 and subsequent monthly payments of at least 7% of the entitlement; and inserted (7) concerning timing of payments. Amendment effective July 24, 1992.

The amendment made by Ch. 6, Sp. L. July 1992, provides for a schedule of foundation program and guaranteed tax base aid payments. The Code Commissioner has not codified the amendment made by Ch. 1, Sp. L. July 1992, because it became ineffective on July 24, 1992, the effective date of the amendment made by Ch. 6, Sp. L. July 1992.

Coordination Instruction: Section 14(2), Ch. 6, Sp. L. July 1992, provided that if Ch. 6, Sp. L. July 1992, was passed and approved, then Senate Bill No. 1 [this section] was void August 1, 1993. Because the amendment made by Senate Bill No. 1 terminates June 30, 1993, the provision in sec. 14(2), Ch. 6, Sp. L. July 1992, is ineffective.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 15(2), Ch. 6, Sp. L. July 1992, provided that the amendments to this section apply retroactively to revenue collections under 20-9-331 and 20-9-333 for the school fiscal year beginning July 1, 1992.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 59, Ch. 767, L. 1991, provided that this section applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to the school fiscal year beginning July 1, 1990.

1989 Special Session Amendments: Chapters 1 and 11 inserted (3) relating to withholding of state equalization aid; inserted (4) relating to a district's right to contested case hearing before aid is withheld; and made minor changes in phraseology. Amendment effective July 1, 1990.

Chapter 11 at end of (2)(a) substituted "provides for monthly distribution to each district of its foundation program amount and to each county and district distribution of its guaranteed tax base aid" for "would most effectively meet the financial needs of districts"; in (5) inserted reference to county; in (6)(a) substituted "foundation program payment and guaranteed tax base aid payment must be based on an estimate of 20% of the entitlement of each district or county" for "payment of state equalization aid must be based on an estimate of 20% of each district's entitlement"; inserted (6)(b) relating to subsequent monthly payments; and made minor changes in phraseology. Amendment effective July 1, 1990.

1986 Amendment: In (2)(a) at end inserted "and in a manner that would most effectively meet the financial needs of districts"; and inserted (4) relating to first state equalization aid payment.

Contingent Effective Date: Section 2, Ch. 18, Sp. L. June 1986, provided that the act was effective on passage and approval if the maximum budget schedules for school fiscal year 1987 in 20-9-318 and 20-9-319 were reduced or repealed by the June 1986 Special Session of the Legislature. Chapter 7, Sp. L. June 1986, effective June 30, 1986, reduced such budget schedules. Chapter 18, Sp. L. June 1986, was effective July 10, 1986.

1983 Amendments: Chapter 236 inserted (4) relating to erroneous claims or reimbursement of school equalization funds and adjustment of such errors. Subsection (4) terminated January 1, 1985, under sec. 3, Ch. 236, L. 1983.

Chapter 287 substituted reference to Department of Commerce for reference to Department of Administration.

(b) Determine the percentage that the total funds available in each county in support of the foundation programs in the county (excluding state money available for state equalization aid in support of the foundation program) is of the total amount of the foundation programs of all districts of the county.

Administrative Rules

Title 10, chapter 23, subchapter 1, ARM Permissive and voted amounts — levies.

Case Notes

No Application to Parochial Schools: School board adopting resolution calling for special tax levy for expending funds for employment of teachers to teach secular subjects in parochial school violated former statutes dealing with special levies since statutes pertained to public schools only. State ex rel. Chambers v. School District, 155 M 422, 472 P2d 1013 (1970).

Attorney General's Opinions

Federal Funds to Be Applied to Permissive Levy:

No statutory changes since the issuance of 38 A.G. Op. 97 (1980), have affected the basis that under state law, a school district may deposit Pub. L. No. 81-874 money into any operating budget. However, the conclusion that if that money is allocated to the general fund budget, it must first be applied toward the permissive levy amount is incorrect, at least until Montana is certified under 20 U.S.C. 240(d)(2)(i) as a state that may consider that money in determining the amount of state aid available to a school district. 44 A.G. Op. 41 (1992).

Federal funds received under P.L. 81-874, intended to relieve increased tax burdens due to federal installations or activity, may be allocated by the trustees of a school district to any of its operating budgets that are supported by levies on property in the district. If such funds are allocated to the general fund budget, they must first be applied toward the permissive levy amount. (See 1985 amendment.) 38 A.G. Op. 97 (1980).

Electorate Approval Not Required: Due to statutory changes in 20-9-353, 28 A.G. Op. 58 (1960) is modified to delete the requirement of electorate approval for the use of P.L. 81-874 funds in excess of the amount that a 15-mill levy would produce. (See 1985 amendment.) 38 A.G. Op. 97 (1980).

Taxation — Levy for Liability Insurance: The levy provided by 2-9-212 does not require an election. The school trustees may authorize the levy upon determining that it is in the best interests of the school district. The annual property tax may be used to fund all policies of insurance required or permitted by law. 37 A.G. Op. 109 (1978), reversing contrary language in 35 A.G. Op. 44 (1973).

Case Notes

Mines Net Proceeds Taxes and Resource Indemnity Trust Taxes Settlement Agreement — Payments Distributed According to Mill Levies in Year Settlement Paid: Under a settlement agreement in 1992, Cyprus paid to Madison County back mines net proceeds taxes and resource indemnity trust taxes for the years 1980-1987. The county brought a summary judgment action to allow it to distribute the payment to certain Madison County taxing districts rather than according to the mill levies in place on the date when the funds were received, including the state university levies and the county and state school equalization aid payments. The county argued that application of school funding equalization taxes to Cyprus's settlement for 1980-1987 taxes was improper retroactive taxation because not all of the equalization laws were in effect in those years. The District Court granted summary judgment to the county. The Supreme Court held that no retroactivity issue existed and that the settlement paid was property tax revenue that must be distributed according to the mills levied in the year that the settlement was paid. Madison County v. St., 1998 MT 285, 291 M 446, 968 P2d 732, 55 St. Rep. 1160 (1998).

School Bonds

20-9-401. Applicable laws for school district bonding.

Case Notes

Public Works Law Not Special Legislation: Former section dealing with undertaking of public works program by trustees was not unconstitutional as a deprivation of due process or a special law. Lorang v. High School District, 126 M 204, 247 P2d 477 (1952).

Apportioned Total Debt Not to Exceed Limitations: Chapter 275, L. 1947 (sections 75-4601 through 75-4606, R.C.M. 1947, now repealed), was unconstitutional as decided in the Rankin case only insofar as it purported to authorize the high school district to incur indebtedness to the full amount permitted by the state constitution irrespective of the debts of the common school districts comprising the high school district. Such high school districts had the authority to issue bonds and incur indebtedness so long as such indebtedness, when apportioned among the common school districts in proportion to the assessed valuation of the property in each and this part added to the existing indebtedness of the common school districts respectively, did not bring the debt of any of the latter in excess of the limit prescribed by Art. XIII, sec. 6, 1889 Mont. Const. Wright v. Browning High School District, 125 M 495, 240 P2d 862 (1952).

High School Districts' Public Works Program Subject to Debt Limitation: Chapter 275, L. 1947 (sections 75-4601 through 75-4606, R.C.M. 1947, now repealed), was held unconstitutional as contravening Art. XIII, sec. 6, 1889 Mont. Const., because it was merely an attempt to expand the constitutional limit of indebtedness by pyramiding another tax unit upon the identical property and taxpayers of a school district. Rankin v. Love, 125 M 184, 232 P2d 998 (1951). This case expressly overrules House v. School District, 120 M 319, 184 P2d 285 (1947).

Loans to Repay Void Bonds Held Constitutional: The act of February 18, 1895, authorizing repayment of loans advanced to trustees in reliance upon bonds subsequently declared void, was constitutional. State ex rel. NW. Nat'l Bank v. Dickerman, 16 M 278, 40 P 698 (1895).

1987 Amendment: In (1)(a), at end, deleted "including postsecondary vocational-technical centers in the school district".

Case Notes

Construction of Combined Grade School and High School: Board of trustees of high school district and common school district included therein had authority, under former statute, to build grade school and high school in one unit sharing common facilities and to issue bonds therefor. Long v. School District, 149 M 220, 425 P2d 822 (1967).

Gymnasium Construction Authorized: Under former statute, where a district had voted a bond issue for the construction of an outdoor high school gymnasium and athletic field, the board having provided for athletic training, a place for giving proper instruction therein, whether within or outside of a building, became a necessary part of the school plant and the board of trustees was authorized to issue bonds for its construction. 1981 Amendment: Increased 29% to 45% wherever it appears.

Effect of 1981 Amendment: The primary purpose of Ch. 614, L. 1981, was to replace the system of taxation of automobiles and light trucks with a fee system. With the adoption of the fee system, automobiles and light trucks are no longer taxable property. The resulting loss of taxable valuation has a direct effect on the amount of indebtedness a political subdivision can incur. Thus it was necessary in Ch. 614 to increase the percentage of taxable valuation used as a limitation on indebtedness to offset the loss of taxable valuation attributable to automobiles and light trucks.

Validation: Section 64, Ch. 614, L. 1981, provided: "Notwithstanding any provisions of this act, any outstanding indebtedness or bond issue on January 1, 1982, of any governmental subdivision is not invalidated because of any changes in the taxable valuation of the subdivision due to removal of automobiles and trucks having a rated capacity of three-quarters of a ton or less from the tax base."

Case Notes

Overlapping Districts Subject to Property Tax Limitations: Under former statute, where a high school district was created which overlapped the common school districts, such high school district could incur indebtedness so long as such indebtedness, when apportioned among the common school districts in proportion to the assessed valuation of the property in each and this part, added to the existing indebtedness of the common school districts, did not bring the debt of any of the latter in excess of the limit prescribed by Art. XIII, sec. 6, 1889 Mont. Const. Wright v. Browning High School District, 125 M 495, 240 P2d 862 (1952), decided prior to 1958 amendment of Art. XIII, sec. 6, 1889 Mont. Const.

High School Districts Added to Existing School District: Under former statute, where a high school district was created and the effect was to divide the powers already exercised by a school district in an attempt to expand the constitutional limit of indebtedness by the pyramiding of another tax unit upon the identical property and taxpayers of the existing school district, an injunction was properly issued restraining the trustees of the district from becoming indebted to a sum greater than the then constitutional limit of 3% of the value of the taxable property, but such injunction was inoperative after date that raise of indebtedness limit to 5% became effective. Rankin v. Love, 125 M 184, 232 P2d 998 (1951), overruling House v. School District, 120 M 319, 184 P2d 285 (1947).

Issuing Less Bonds Than Authorized at Election: Under former statute, issuance of public bonds in a lesser amount than that authorized by the election does not warrant injunction against their issuance. State ex rel. Berthot v. Gallatin County High School District, 102 M 356, 58 P2d 264 (1936).

Rescission of Valid Election Not Authorized: There is no provision of the written law of this state that accords to the electors of a school district the right to petition either the school board or the courts to set aside or rescind a valid bond election simply because some of the electors may desire another election to vote on the question already voted upon, especially where no fraud is either alleged or shown in the conduct of the election already held. 2005 Amendment: Chapter 503 substituted (1)(a) through (1)(c) regarding the method of determining approval or rejection of a school bond proposition for former (1)(a) through (1)(f) that read: "(a) determine the total number of electors of the school district who are qualified to vote under the provisions of 20-20-301 from the list of electors supplied by the county registrar for such school bond election;

(b) determine the total number of qualified electors who voted at the school bond election from the tally sheet or sheets for such election;

(c) calculate the percentage of qualified electors voting at the school bond election by dividing the amount determined in subsection (1)(b) by the amount determined in subsection (1)(a); and

(d) when the calculated percentage in subsection (1)(c) is 40% or more, the school bond proposition shall be deemed to have been approved and adopted if a majority of the votes shall have been cast in favor of such proposition, otherwise it shall be deemed to have been rejected; or

(e) when the calculated percentage in subsection (1)(c) is more than 30% but less than 40%, the school bond proposition shall be deemed to have been approved and adopted if 60% or more of the votes shall have been cast in favor of such proposition, otherwise it shall be deemed to have been rejected; or

(f) when the calculated percentage in subsection (1)(c) is 30% or less, the school bond proposition shall be deemed to have been rejected"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 28, 2005.

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 4, Ch. 503, L. 2005, provided: "[This act] is effective on passage and approval [approved April 28, 2005] and applies to school bond elections held on or after [the effective date of this act]."

Case Notes

No Authority in School Board to Remove Unqualified Voters From List of Registered Voters: Under this section a school board of trustees removed from the certified list of registered voters the names of several persons who the board determined were disqualified to vote. The court held that this section must be read with other statutes governing elections, including 20-20-303, concerning how an elector's qualifications may be challenged; 13-13-301, et seq., concerning how qualifications are determined; and 13-15-101, concerning general canvassing requirements. The court determined the school board had no authority to remove names of unqualified voters. Bischoff v. School District, 230 M 336, 749 P2d 533, 45 St. Rep. 253 (1988).

Failure to Canvass Bond Election: Failure of trustees to canvass vote as required by former statute did not make bonds issued by school district illegal and void. Long v. School District, 149 M 220, 425 P2d 822 (1967).

Attorney General's Opinions

Revision of Voter Registration List by School Trustees Prohibited: Montana law does not permit the exercise of discretion by anyone other than the election administrator to revise the number of names on a voter registration list, pursuant to Title 13, ch. 2, part 4. Therefore, school trustees are not permitted under this section to revise the number of voters on the certified list of registered electors when determining the percentage of voter turnout at a school bond election. 42 A.G. Op. 19 (1987).

1995 Amendment: Chapter 423 in introductory clause, at beginning, substituted "Anytime" for "Within 60 days", after "certificate" deleted "or as soon thereafter as is practical in the judgment of the trustees", and after "resolution" substituted "calling for the sale" for "providing for the issuance"; substituted (3) concerning minimum purchase price for former text that read: "the maximum rate of interest"; at beginning of (8) substituted "whether bids will be accepted for either serial or amortization bonds and, if so" for "that amortization bonds will be preferred but also fix" and after "serial" inserted "or amortization"; inserted (10) concerning minimum price for bonds; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective April 13, 1995.

Applicability: Section 53, Ch. 423, L. 1995, provided: "[This act] applies to bonds issued under the provisions of [this act] after [the effective date of this act]." Effective April 13, 1995.

Case Notes

Mandamus to Compel Issuance of Bonds — Time Limitation Suspended: Court would not compel board to issue bonds for construction of school where board was making good faith effort to solve financial aspects of building the proposed school. Litigation that was instituted to test validity of bond election suspended the running of 60-day period in the former statute. State ex rel. Tilzey v. School District, 149 M 509, 428 P2d 974 (1967).

Bond Sale Resolution — Minutes Not Incomplete: Under former law, school bond election was not invalid for failure of clerk to set out in full in minute books of board of trustees resolution authorizing sale of bonds, in absence of showing that resolution itself was defective, since minute books need not reflect exact contents of resolution. Elliot v. School District, 149 M 299, 425 P2d 826 (1967).

Delay in Issuance of Bonds — Time Limitations Directory: Delay in the issuance of bonds, occasioned by litigation and negotiations with the federal government in the financing thereof under National Recovery Act, did not affect the legality of original authority voted by the district, the requirement to proceed within 60 days, under the former statute, being directory, not mandatory. State ex rel. Sullivan v. School District, 100 M 468, 50 P2d 252 (1935).

If amortization bonds are sold and issued, the entire issue may be put into one single bond or divided into several bonds, as the trustees may determine upon at the time of sale, both principal and interest to be payable in semiannual installments during a period of .... years from the date of issue"; in second paragraph, near beginning before "bonds", deleted "serial", before "amount" inserted "aggregate principal", and at end inserted parenthetical concerning amortization bonds; in third paragraph, after "bonds", deleted "whether amortization or serial bonds", before "date" inserted "an original issue", and after "interest" deleted "at a rate not exceeding ....% per annum"; in fourth paragraph, in first sentence after "less than", deleted "their par value", after "interest" inserted "on the principal amount of the bonds to the date of their delivery", and at end substituted "the price specified for the bonds" for "par" and deleted former second sentence that read: "The bonds shall be sold in open competition bidding, by written bids, or by sealed bids"; in fifth paragraph, after "bids", deleted "other than by or on behalf of the state board of land

1983 Amendments: Chapter 11 made 1981 amendment permanent. (Amendment was to terminate July 1, 1983—sec. 21, Ch. 500, L. 1981.)

Chapter 631 substituted fourth paragraph of "Notice of Sale" relating to serial bonds payable according to a maturity schedule for former text, which read: "If serial bonds are issued and sold, they will be in the amount of .... dollars ($....) each, the sum of .... dollars ($....) of the serial bonds will become payable on the .... day of ...., 19.., and the sum of .... dollars ($....) will become payable on the same day each year thereafter until all of the bonds are paid."; and in fifth paragraph of "Notice" after "per annum" inserted "commencing on the ... day of ... (month), 19.., and" and after "year" inserted "thereafter".

1981 Amendment: Substituted "....%" for "7%" before "per annum" in the sixth paragraph.

(a) published once a week for 4 successive weeks preceding the date of the sale in a newspaper as determined by the trustees;

(b) published once, not less than 30 days prior to the date of sale, in some daily newspaper of the state that has a general circulation throughout the state when the bond issue to be sold is $10,000 or more; and

(c) sent to the board of investments."

Case Notes

Failure to Advertise in New York Paper: Under former law, failure to cause notice of sale of bonds to be published in New York City newspaper was no reason for invalidating bond election and subsequent bond issue. Elliot v. School District, 149 M 299, 425 P2d 826 (1967).

Attorney General's Opinions

Transfer of Funds From General Fund to Debt Service Fund — Use of General Fund Money to Pay Bond Principal and Interest Not Allowed — Repayment: Except for the transfer provided for under 20-9-443 when all bonds and interest have been fully paid, no authority exists for financing the debt service fund from a transfer of money from the general fund or by allocating general fund money for payment of bond principal and interest. Under 20-9-208, the transfer of budgeted amounts between funds, unless specifically authorized by law, is prohibited. A school district that received more guaranteed tax base aid than that to which it was entitled because of an unauthorized transfer between funds is required to reimburse the state for the overpayment. 44 A.G. Op. 41 (1992).

Anticipated Tax Delinquencies Includable in Budget: Anticipated delinquencies in tax payments may be included in the computations in preparing a school's debt service fund in the preliminary budget and in setting the levy for the ensuing school fiscal year. 43 A.G. Op. 21 (1989).

Debt Service Fund Deficit to Be Included in Budget: When the debt service fund of a school district contains a deficit from the previous school year, the deficit should be included in the budget and the levy for the ensuing school fiscal year. 43 A.G. Op. 21 (1989).

Increase in Preliminary Budget Limited to Amount of Bonds and Assessments in Treasurer's Statement: A County Superintendent may increase the preliminary budget amount in the debt service fund only to the amount of obligations for bonds and special improvement district assessments contained in the County Treasurer's statement pursuant to 20-9-121. 43 A.G. Op. 21 (1989).

Limited Cash Reserve Not Includable in Debt Service Fund: The limited cash reserve in the debt service fund is made up of a portion of the cash balance of the fund at the end of the fiscal year. Thus, if there is no cash surplus, there can be no limited cash reserve for the next fiscal year. Therefore, trustees are not required to include a limited cash reserve in the debt service fund of the preliminary budget. Even if there is a cash surplus in the debt service fund, trustees are not required to designate a portion for the next fiscal year. 43 A.G. Op. 21 (1989).

Case Notes

Special Tax Levy — Teachers' Retirement: Under the applicable 1974 statutes the Flathead County Board of County Commissioners had authority to levy a special tax to finance the Flathead Valley Community College district's teachers' retirement fund contribution separate from other levies made to finance the general fund, building debt service, and adult education program. Burlington N., Inc. v. Flathead County, 176 M 9, 575 P2d 912 (1978).

Attorney General's Opinions

Levies Designated for Community College District Retirement Costs Limited to Property Within District: The requirement in this section that the County Superintendent of Schools determine each district's net retirement fund separately, together with the language in 20-9-142 requiring Boards of County Commissioners to fix and levy taxes on real and personal property in a district, indicates the Legislature's intent that levies designed for community college district retirement costs be limited to property in the community college district, not all property in the county. Therefore, the Board of County Commissioners of a county in which a community college district is located may not issue a tax levy to fund the teachers' retirement obligations of the community college district against property that is located in the county but outside the community college district. Rather, the levy may be imposed only on property within the community college district. (See 1999 amendment.) 47 A.G. Op. 17 (1998).

Case Notes

Authority of Board of Trustees to Proceed With School Construction Without Voter Approval — Use of Insurance Proceeds — Contiguous Property: A citizens' group contended that a school district Board of Trustees lacked the authority to construct a new middle school without first getting approval from the voters for the purchase of the property. The District Court correctly found that the Board had authority to proceed with construction: (1) without an election if the cost could be financed without exceeding the maximum-general-fund-budget-without-a-vote amount, as set out in 20-6-603; (2) using insurance proceeds to credit the district building fund under this section; and (3) without a site approval election if the property was contiguous to an existing site that was in use for school purposes under 20-6-621. Attorney General's Opinions

Transfer of End-of-the-Year General Fund Balance Required: There is no basis for the conclusion that school district trustees may establish or maintain the compensated absence liability fund only with the positive difference between initially budgeted and actually expended amounts. Rather, school district trustees may transfer any portion of the end-of-the-year general fund balance, as that term is used in 20-9-104, into the compensated absence liability fund subject to the limitations in this section. 45 A.G. Op. 27 (1994).

Case Notes

Accounting System Allowing Commingling of State Trust Revenue Constitutional: Plaintiff challenged the state's alleged improper commingling of state land trust assets, including rental and bonus payments on certain coal leases, into the general fund, asserting that the accounting system violated the state's duty to obtain full market value for school trust lands. The District Court concluded that plaintiff failed to prove financial harm to the school trust beneficiaries, particularly when the Legislature's appropriation to public schools far exceeded the combined money provided by the interest income and the bonus payments. On appeal, the Supreme Court affirmed. The state satisfied its trust obligations by demonstrating that its accounting system was sufficiently accurate and complete to allow plaintiff to ascertain that all trust revenue goes to benefit public schools, while plaintiff failed to carry its burden of proving that the state withheld either the interest income or the bonus payments or improperly diverted those funds to nontrust purposes. Thus, the state statutory scheme did not breach the state's trustee duty by requiring the deposit of interest income and bonus payments into the general fund. The District Court concluded that plaintiff failed to prove financial harm to the school trust beneficiaries, particularly when the Legislature's appropriation to public schools far exceeded the combined money provided by the interest income and the bonus payments. On appeal, the Supreme Court affirmed. The state satisfied its trust obligations by demonstrating that its accounting system was sufficiently accurate and complete to allow plaintiff to ascertain that all trust revenue goes to benefit public schools, while plaintiff failed to carry its burden of proving that the state withheld either the interest income or the bonus payments or improperly diverted those funds to nontrust purposes. Thus, the state statutory scheme did not breach the state's trustee duty by requiring the deposit of interest income and bonus payments into the general fund. 1985 Amendment: Near middle of (1) after "unforeseen emergencies", substituted "as defined in 20-9-802" for "or by reason of any other cause and for which the school district is not entitled to apportionment credit".

Case Notes

Construction With Other Statutes — Conflicts: Provision in 20-1-301, prior to 1983 amendment, that "Any district that fails to provide for at least 180 school days of pupil instruction shall not be entitled to receive any apportionment of the state interest and income funds. Any such forfeited money shall be apportioned by the county superintendent to the other elementary districts of his county" is obviously ambiguous as to whether it applies to high school districts or only to elementary school districts. Since this section provides that for each day short of the minimum school days required by law, for which a district is not entitled to apportionment credit, the equalization apportionment and entitlement of the district for that year shall be reduced by 1/180th, and since the interest and income funds referred to in this section are integrated with the equalization funds, the two sections are so conflicting that they require legislative review and revision; and in the meantime, since they are penal statutes, courts are powerless to apply them. Therefore, a high school that held 18 days less than the required 180-day minimum due to a teacher strike was entitled to its interest and income money regardless of the statutes. Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 711, L. 1991, provided: "WHEREAS, the Legislature recognizes its responsibility to develop a more equalized system of funding school transportation. It is the intent of the Legislature that this bill, which allows the Office of Public Instruction to develop data not currently available to monitor current spending by the school, be considered simply the first step toward providing a long-term solution to school transportation equalization problems in Montana. 1999 Amendment: Pursuant to sec. 99(4), Ch. 51, L. 1999, in definition of eligible transportee in (a) the code commissioner changed "child with disabilities" to "child with a disability". Amendment effective March 15, 1999.

1995 Amendment: Chapter 298 inserted definition of bus route; in definition of eligible transportee, in (a), substituted "reached the age of 21 on or before September 10 of the current school year" for "attained his 21st birthday" and inserted (c)(ii) regarding transportation identified as a related service; inserted definitions of passenger seating position, transportation service area, and weighted ridership; adjusted subsection references; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

1991 Amendment: In definition of transportation deleted former (b) that read: "(b) a district's conveyance of a pupil by a school bus between his regular school of attendance and the vocational-technical secondary schools designated by the trustees for his attendance if the secondary school is located in some other school district"; in definition of eligible transportee, in (a) after "birthday", inserted "or who is a preschool child with disabilities between the ages of 3 and 6"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 15, 1991.

1991 Name Change — Code Commissioner Instruction: Changed term "handicapped child" to "child with disabilities" or "handicapped children" to "children with disabilities", pursuant to sec. 10, Ch. 249, L. 1991, which directed the Code Commissioner to change the terms wherever they appear in Title 20 and in all law enacted by the 52nd Legislature.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 59, Ch. 767, L. 1991, provided that this section applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to the school fiscal year beginning July 1, 1990.

Code Commissioner Correction: The Code Commissioner has substituted the department of justice for the division of motor vehicles in this section, because sec. 14, Ch. 503, L. 1985, repealed 2-15-2002, which had statutorily created the division, and sec. 1, Ch. 503 amended Title 61, Motor Vehicles, to substitute "department" for "division" throughout that title. The apparent intent was to eliminate the statutory status of the division, and therefore the Code Commissioner has changed statutory references accordingly (see 1-11-101(2)(g)).

1983 Amendment: Substituted definition of school bus for former definition that read: "A 'school bus' shall mean any motor vehicle which is owned by a district or other public agency or by a carrier under contract with such a district or public agency and which complies with the bus standards established by the board of public education as determined by the Montana division of motor vehicles' semiannual inspection of school buses and the superintendent of public instruction."

Case Notes

Substantial Evidence of Residency: When respondents left their ranch within the county for the purpose of earning an income and educating their children, returned to the property each summer, intended to maintain the ranch as their residence, and paid county property taxes, there was substantial evidence from which the District Court could conclude that respondents were residents of the county and that therefore their children were "eligible transportees" within the meaning of this section. The meaning of "legal residence" for the purposes of this section is to be determined in accordance with the rules set forth in 1-1-215. School District v. Simonsen, 210 M 100, 683 P2d 471, 41 St. Rep. 944 (1984).

Attorney General's Opinions

Small Transit-Type Bus Considered School Bus — National School Bus Standards Applicable: Under the definition in this section, a small, transit-type bus that is smaller than a Greyhound bus but larger than a nine-passenger van is a school bus and may not be used to transport students to extracurricular activities unless it meets the standards contained in the 1990 National Standards for School Buses, including paint requirements, adopted by the Board of Public Education. 45 A.G. Op. 30 (1994).

"Eligible Transportee" Construed — Permission Required for Attendance Outside District Before Transportation Provided: To be designated an "eligible transportee" for purposes of the school transportation statutes, a pupil must reside more than 3 miles from the closest school, regardless of the school's location inside or outside the resident school district. If an eligible transportee wishes to attend a school outside his district, the pupil must obtain permission from the resident district school board in order to be provided transportation by the resident district. 42 A.G. Op. 115 (1988).

Fourteen-Passenger Van as School Bus: Although a passenger van owned by two school districts for transporting students to and from activity events is the general type of vehicle contemplated by the exclusion in the definition of "school bus", it constitutes a bus under the definition if its passenger capacity exceeds nine. 40 A.G. Op. 53 (1984).

Allowable Expenditures Under Bus Depreciation Reserve Fund: The bus depreciation reserve fund allowed under 20-10-147 merely provides for replacement of transportation and activity buses and does not expand use of the transportation fund budget to pay expenses for operation of activity buses. 38 A.G. Attorney General's Opinions

Responsibility for Cost of Required Medical Examination: The medical examination for school bus drivers mandated by this section is a requirement of certification established by the Legislature rather than a requirement for employment imposed by the employer school district or school bus contractor. Therefore, under 39-2-301, school bus contractors and school districts which employ school bus drivers are not responsible for paying the costs of the medical examination; rather, the cost is the responsibility of the employee or applicant. 41 A.G. Op. 69 (1986).

Age of School Bus Driver: Article II, sec. 14, Mont. Const., provides that a person 18 years of age or older is an adult for all purposes, and a 1973 amendment to 61-5-112 provided that no person under age 18 may obtain a chauffeur's license to drive a school bus. Since 20-10-103(1) was enacted in 1971 and rules of statutory construction provide that earlier statutes to the extent of any repugnancy are controlled by later statutes, 20-10-103(1) (prior to 1977 amendment) appears to have been repealed by implication and an individual must be 18 years of age or older to qualify as a school bus driver. 35 A.G. Code Commissioner Correction: The Code Commissioner has substituted the department of justice for the division of motor vehicles in this section, because sec. 14, Ch. 503, L. 1985, repealed 2-15-2002, which had statutorily created the division, and sec. 1, Ch. 503 amended Title 61, Motor Vehicles, to substitute "department" for "division" throughout that title. The apparent intent was to eliminate the statutory status of the division, and therefore the Code Commissioner has changed statutory references accordingly (see 1-11-101(2)(g)).

1981 Amendment: Inserted (2) and (3) relating to use and reimbursement for four-wheel drive vehicles, respectively.

Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to HB 662 (Ch. 455, L. 1981) provided: "A statement of intent is required for House Bill 662 because section 1 [20-10-111] delegates rulemaking power to the Board of Public Education.

The Board of Public Education is to promulgate rules prescribing minimum standards for four-wheel drive vehicles that are used as school buses. These standards are to relate to safety considerations and equipment requirements to insure that four-wheel drive vehicles used as school buses provide safe transportation for student transportees."

If an eligible transportee wishes to attend a school outside his district, the pupil must obtain permission from the resident district school board in order to be provided transportation by the resident district. 42 A.G. Governmental Immunity Waived — 1889 Constitution: Prior to adoption of the 1972 Montana Constitution, the statute requiring school districts to carry liability insurance to cover injuries and property damage that might arise in connection with operation and maintenance of school buses constituted waiver of governmental immunity to extent of insurance required to be carried or actually carried. Case Notes

No Standing to Challenge to Award of Public School Transportation Contract on Statutory Grounds: Plaintiff provided bus service to a school district for about 24 years, but in 2001, the district elected to accept bids for the service. Plaintiff submitted the lowest bid, but the district decided to reject the bid on grounds that plaintiff was not a responsible bidder. The contract was awarded to another bidder, and plaintiff challenged the contract on statutory grounds, claiming that the district violated 18-1-201, 20-9-204, and this section. The Supreme Court declined to address any statutory violations because plaintiff lacked standing to bring the complaint under the criteria in Debcon, Inc. v. The county transportation committee may transfer the territory of such district to an adjacent district's transportation service area or approved school bus route with the consent of such adjacent district. When the qualified electors of the district object to the decision of the county transportation committee and the adjacent district is willing to provide school bus service, 20% of the qualified electors, as prescribed in 20-20-301, may petition the trustees to conduct an election on the proposition that the territory of such district be transferred for school bus transportation purposes to such consenting, adjacent district. Op. 57 (1982).

School Transportation Not Reimbursable During Emergency: The authority of the Governor under 10-3-104 to suspend the provisions of a regulatory statute during an emergency is discretionary. Therefore, when nothing in the Governor's executive order declaring a state of emergency specifically mentioned reimbursement for school transportation under this section, the state was not required to reimburse the costs for school bus transportation for districts closed in accordance with the declaration of emergency. 43 A.G. Op. 29 (1989).

Attorney General's Opinions

Conditions for Transfer of School District Bus Depreciation Reserve Fund: Resolving an apparent statutory conflict regarding the transfer of a school district bus depreciation reserve fund, a budgeted fund, the Attorney General applied the specific provisions of this section over the general provisions of 20-9-201 and 20-9-208 in holding that before a school district may transfer any money in the district's bus depreciation reserve fund to any other district fund, the school district trustees must have sold all of the district's buses and submitted the proposed fund transfer to the electors of the district. 51 A.G. Op. 6 (2005).

Activity Bus Expenses: School district trustees must conform their budget to the accounting procedure prescribed by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, which requires itemizing the expenses of activity buses under the general fund rather than the transportation fund. 38 A.G. Op. 86 (1980).

Allowable Expenditures Under Bus Depreciation Reserve Fund: The bus depreciation reserve fund allowed under 20-10-147 merely provides for replacement of transportation and activity buses and does not expand use of the transportation fund budget to pay expenses for operation of activity buses. 38 A.G. Op. 86 (1980).

Use of School Bus Depreciation Fund: The trustees of a school district may pay for the cost of replacement of a bus or radio from a bus depreciation reserve fund established under 20-10-147 if depreciation taken on the bus or radio since its acquisition has been credited to the reserve fund. In replacing any such bus or radio, the trustees are not limited to paying an amount from the fund which equals the accumulated depreciation credited to the fund on account of the replaced vehicle. 37 A.G. Op. 153 (1978).

COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICTS

Chapter Compiler's Comments

Legislative Study of Postsecondary Education: Chapter 632, L. 1989, was a bill entitled: "An act establishing a legislative committee to consider issues related to the governance and funding of postsecondary education; providing an appropriation; and providing an effective date and a termination date." Effective July 1, 1989, and terminates June 30, 1991.

Preamble — Interim Study: The preamble attached to Ch. 632, L. 1989, provided: "WHEREAS, postsecondary education provides opportunities for the citizens of Montana to develop their educational potential; and

WHEREAS, as a result of the work of the University Funding Study Committee during the 1989 biennium, valuable conclusions were reached regarding the reliability and use of peer data and the level of funding for Montana postsecondary education institutions relative to peer institutions; and

WHEREAS, the conclusions reached on peer data have removed a major impediment to working cooperatively on elements of the higher education funding formula and have changed the direction for Montana University System budgeting; and

WHEREAS, the relationship between the Montana University System and the Legislature has been significantly improved by the work of the University Funding Study Committee; and

WHEREAS, further work is needed to more fully develop new budgeting formulas and to complete work on personnel and classroom enrollment systems; and

WHEREAS, the balance from the $150,000 appropriated by the 1987 Legislature to conduct the university funding study may be expended to support the costs of a postsecondary education study committee."

Part 1
General Provisions

20-15-102. Community college districts — name and corporate powers.

Case Notes

Administrative Tenure Not Contemplated: A community college may not grant continuing contract status (tenure) except to those persons specifically authorized to receive such status. Tenure for teachers is unique in public contracts of employment; its basis is academic freedom. It does not apply to an administrative position not requiring teacher certification. Sibert v. Community College, 179 M 188, 587 P2d 26 (1978).

Attorney General's Opinions

Power of Community College Trustees to Acquire and Dispose of Property: This section authorizes community college trustees to acquire and dispose of property in the same way as other types of school districts are statutorily permitted. 41 A.G. Op. 72 (1986).

20-15-103. Supervision and coordination by board of regents.

Case Notes

"Schoolteacher" — Higher Education Faculty Not Included: The plain and ordinary meaning of "schoolteacher" does not encompass higher education faculty, including community college faculty members, especially since community college faculty members are ultimately answerable to the Board of Regents. Community college faculty members are state employees for purposes of entitlement to payment for accumulated sick leave. Rippey v. Bd. of Trustees, 210 M 396, 682 P2d 1363, 41 St. Rep. 1117 (1984), followed, with regard to the fact that "teacher" does not include a community college instructor for tenure purposes, in Talley v. Flathead Valley Community College, 259 M 479, 857 P2d 701, 50 St. Rep. 889 (1993).

20-15-106. Retirement systems for employees and teachers.

Attorney General's Opinions

Levies Designated for Community College District Retirement Costs Limited to Property Within District: The requirement in 20-9-501 that the County Superintendent of Schools determine each district's net retirement fund separately, together with the language in 20-9-142 requiring Boards of County Commissioners to fix and levy taxes on real and personal property in a district, indicates the Legislature's intent that levies designed for community college district retirement costs be limited to property in the community college district, not all property in the county. Therefore, the Board of County Commissioners of a county in which a community college district is located may not issue a tax levy to fund the teachers' retirement obligations of the community college district against property that is located in the county but outside the community college district. Rather, the levy may be imposed only on property within the community college district. 47 A.G. Op. 17 (1998).

Attorney General's Opinions

City Judge Not to Hold Office as Community College Trustee: The provisions of Art. VII, sec. 10, Mont. Const., apply to all judges, including City Judges. Because the position of trustee of a community college district is considered an elective public office, a City Judge is constitutionally prohibited from holding office as an elected trustee of a community college district. 44 A.G. 20-15-209. Determination of approval or disapproval of proposition — subsequent procedures if approved.

Compiler's Comments

Composite Section: Section 20-15-209 was amended twice in 1971, once by Ch. 164, sec. 1 (approved March 3, 1971), and once by Ch. 407, sec. 2 (approved March 18, 1971). Neither amendment mentioned the other or included the changes made by the other. Chapter 164 deleted "or part of a county" after "county" in the present first and third sentences of the first paragraph and deleted a third sentence reading: "If the proposition carries in some county or counties or parts of counties but not in all portions of the area sought to be included within the district, the board of education shall determine whether the area in which the proposition carried by a majority vote meets the assessed valuation and high school pupil enrollment requirements for the organization of a community college district, and if so, shall establish the boundaries and make an order declaring the community college district organized in the area in which the proposition has carried by a majority vote."

Although Ch. 407 substituted "regents" for "board of education" in the above quoted sentence, perhaps indicating an intent that the sentence be left in the section, and did not delete "or part of the county" where deleted by Ch. 164, the compiler has made a composite section incorporating the changes made by both amendments since 20-15-201 requires that the proposed area of a district coincide with the boundaries of one or more counties and the changes made by Ch. 164 appear to make this section consistent with those requirements.

Chapter 407 also inserted the second sentence of the first paragraph, substituted "may" for "shall" in the third sentence shown in the text, and substituted "co-ordinator of community college districts" for "superintendent of public instruction" and "regents" for "board of education" throughout the section.

20-15-210. Qualification and organization of board of trustees.

Compiler's Comments

1995 Amendment: Chapter 260 in (2), in last sentence, deleted references to 20-9-206, 20-9-222, and 20-9-224; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1995.

2001 Amendment: Chapter 495 in (3)(a)(vi) inserted requirement of an estimate of the election's impact on homes valued at $100,000 and at $200,000 in terms of added property taxes and inserted last sentence allowing an impact statement as to homes of other values; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2001.

Part 3
Finance

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Appropriations to Community Colleges — Budget Procedure: The budget for community college districts must be approved by the Board of Regents and fit into the Budget Act procedure of 17-7-101, et seq. It is a budget request that may be altered by the chief budget officer and which is ultimately subject to legislative approval. While 65% state funding of community colleges is the goal, the Legislature may or may not appropriate an amount equal to 65% of the districts' proposed budgets. If it does not, an additional levy, which must be approved by the voters in the district, is authorized to make up the deficiency. The General Appropriation Act of 1979 does no more than reflect this entire statutory scheme, especially the requirements of this part. The General Appropriation Act of 1979 properly appropriates state funds to the community colleges. 38 A.G. Op. 54 (1979).

20-15-301. Sources of financing for and types of capital expenditures.

Compiler's Comments

1989 Amendment: In (1)(a), before "school buildings", substituted "purchase, lease, build, enlarge, alter, or repair" for "build, enlarge, alter, repair, or acquire by purchase"; in (1)(d), after "provisions of", substituted "chapter 9, part 4" for "the bonds chapter"; and made minor changes in phraseology.

Attorney General's Opinions

Community College District Statutory Borrowing Authority: A community college district may enter into an agreement with a city whereby the city would loan the district the proceeds from the sale of an industrial development revenue bond and the district would repay the loan from college revenues. A district may also enter into a promissory note loan agreement with a private lender whereby the district would repay the loan from college revenues. A college district election is not required to approve these construction project financing arrangements; however, a city is required to hold a public hearing prior to issuing industrial development revenue bonds. A district is subject to the election requirement in 20-6-603 when acquiring or constructing sites or buildings. 42 A.G. Op. 78 (1988).

County Revenue Bonds to Finance Community College District Construction: Flathead Valley Community College District may use funds that Flathead County raised by issuing revenue bonds for school construction either by borrowing the funds from the county or by leasing the buildings constructed by the county, subject to applicable school law. 42 A.G. The difference shall be obtained by a mandatory levy"; in (1)(c) inserted reference to subsection (a) of subsection (1) and inserted reference to revenue from tuition and fee schedules and other unrestricted income; deleted former (1)(g) that read: "(g) If revenues to the unrestricted budget exceed estimates, the excess shall be used to reduce the mandatory levy in the subsequent year"; and made minor changes in phraseology. Election Requirement Inapplicable to Community College Construction Project: The election requirement in 20-9-453 (now repealed) does not apply to a county's issuance of revenue bonds to finance a community college district's construction project because revenue bonds do not place the county in debt. 42 A.G. Op. 78 (1988), modifying any contrary holding in 42 A.G. Op. 29 (1987).

SCHOOL ELECTIONS

Chapter Compiler's Comments

Extension of 2003 School Election Deadlines: Section 14, Ch. 550, L. 2003, provided: "In order to allow for the orderly and efficient conduct of the regular school elections scheduled for May 6, 2003, it may not be possible to comply with certain statutory deadlines relating to a school election. Therefore, in 2003 only, a school district may limit the regular school election scheduled for May 6, 2003, to trustee elections only and may reschedule a single general fund operating levy election at any time prior to the adoption of a final budget pursuant to 20-9-131. In addition, all statutory deadlines for the May 6, 2003, regular school election that fall on or before April 18 are extended to April 28, 2003, except that the timeline for posting the election notice is changed to April 28, 2003, through May 2, 2003." Effective May 1, 2003.

Retroactive Applicability. Section 18, Ch. 550, L. 2003, provided: "[This act] applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to actions taken by the trustees of a school district on or after March 27, 2003."

Extension of 2001 Deadlines Relating to School Elections: Section 22, Ch. 237, L. 2001, provided: "In order to allow for the orderly and efficient conduct of the regular school elections scheduled for May 8, 2001, it may not be possible to comply with certain statutory deadlines relating to a school election. Therefore, for the regular school election scheduled for May 8, 2001, all statutory deadlines falling on or before April 13 are extended to April 20, 2001, except that the deadline for making the absentee ballots available is extended to April 25, 2001, and the timeline for posting the election notice is changed to April 20, 2001, through April 30, 2001."

Retroactive Applicability: Section 24, Ch. 237, L. 2001, provided: "[Section 22] [Extension of 2001 Deadlines Relating to School Elections] applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to actions taken by the trustees of a school district on or after March 29, 2001."

Section Not Codified: Part of section 75-6416, R.C.M. 1947, provided that the Superintendent of Public Instruction was to prepare the forms necessary for absentee voting in school elections. 20-20-105. Regular school election day and special school elections — limitation — exception.

Compiler's Comments

1999 Amendment: Chapter 514 in first sentence in (1) substituted "first Tuesday after the first Monday of May" for "first Tuesday of April" and inserted second sentence authorizing one election each calendar year on regular school election day for proposition requesting funding and providing exception for unforeseen emergency; at beginning of (2) inserted "Subject to the provisions of subsection (1)"; inserted (3) authorizing rescheduling of election day in event of unforeseen emergency; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective July 1, 1999.

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 11(1), Ch. 514, L. 1999, provided that this section is effective July 1, 1999, and applies to school fiscal years beginning on or after July 1, 2000.

Contingent 1987 Amendment: In first sentence substituted "The fourth Tuesday of March" for "The first Tuesday of April".

Section 14(1), Ch. 644, L. 1987, provided that the amendment to this section was effective on passage and approval of legislation or adoption of party rules establishing the fourth Tuesday of March as the presidential primary election date or caucus date in any two of the states of Idaho, Washington, or Oregon prior to August 1, 1987. Contingency did not occur.

Petitions to Rescind Valid Bond Elections: There is no provision of the written law of this state that accords to the electors of a school district the right to petition either the school board or the courts to set aside or rescind a valid bond election simply because some of the electors may desire another election to vote on the question already favorably voted upon, especially where no fraud is either alleged or shown in the conduct of the election already held. 1987 Amendment: Inserted (1)(a)(i) relating to notice by newspaper publication; in (1)(b), after "notice in", deleted "a newspaper or by"; and made minor changes in phraseology.

Case Notes

Notice and Ballot Not Misleading: Under former law, where the notice of an election incident to a high school bond issue and the form of the ballot indicated that the exact details of the project would be subject to further consideration, leaving for future decision the question as to whether a new building would be erected or the old one repaired, depending upon the extent of federal aid, etc., objections to issuance of the bonds on grounds of doubtful purpose and having misled the voters were not meritorious. State ex rel. Berthot v. Gallatin County High School District, 102 M 356, 58 P2d 264 (1936).

Actual Notice of Election Held to Be Sufficient: Under the rule that failure to give the statutory notice of an election is immaterial where actual notice was given and the electors participated generally in the election, where it appeared that the clerk of the district had mailed circular letters to the taxpaying freeholders of the district stating the time and place of holding the election, that the only newspaper in the district published a news item with relation thereto, that handbills referring to the election were distributed throughout the district, that the election was discussed generally by the people residing in the district, and that a larger number of votes was cast than at any previous election, failure to give the statutory notice by giving only 9 days' instead of 10 days' notice required by former statute did not render the election void and did not justify an injunction against collection of the tax, particularly where no proof was offered that any elector was deprived of the right to vote by reason of insufficient notice. Similar Amendment Not Codified — 1971: Section 75-6410, R.C.M. 1947, was amended twice in 1971, once by Ch. 83, sec. 2, and once by Ch. 118, sec. 1. Both amendatory acts made similar changes in the language of subsections (2) and (3). In the original enactment by sec. 146, Ch. 5, L. 1971, these provisions read: "(2) He is twenty-one (21) years of age or older;

(3) He has resided in the state one (1) year and in the district thirty (30) days immediately preceding the election at which he offers to vote; and". The effective dates of the amendatory acts, Ch. 83 and Ch. 118, are February 27 and March 1, respectively. The language set forth above is that of Ch. 118, sec. 1.

Attorney General's Opinions

Eligibility as Trustee — Registered Voter: A person must be registered to vote in the school district to be eligible for the office of school trustee. "Eligibility", as used in 20-3-305, refers to the qualifications required of a school trustee to hold the office, not the qualifications to be elected. 37 A.G. Op. 145 (1978). (See also 35 A.G. Op. 91 (1974).)

Elector Residency Qualifications: An elector in a school election may be challenged on election day by any registered elector of the district and may be disqualified from voting by the election judges if he is not a resident of the school district in which the election is held. 35 A.G. Case Notes

No Authority in School Board to Remove Unqualified Voters From List of Registered Voters: Under 20-9-428 a school board of trustees removed from the certified list of registered voters the names of several persons who the board determined were disqualified to vote. The court held that 20-9-428 must be read with other statutes governing elections, including this section, concerning how an elector's qualifications may be challenged; 13-13-301, et seq., concerning how qualifications are determined; and 13-15-101, concerning general canvassing requirements. The court determined the school board had no authority to remove names of unqualified voters. Bischoff v. School District, 230 M 336, 749 P2d 533, 45 St. Rep. 253 (1988).

Part Compiler's Comments

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 414, L. 2003, provided: "WHEREAS, the U.S. Supreme Court in Bush v. Gore, 531 U.S. 98 (2000), found that the lack of uniform procedures for determining voter intent in Florida during the 2000 presidential election led to a violation of the U.S. Constitution's Equal Protection Clause of the 14th Amendment; and

WHEREAS, at the request of the 57th Legislature, the State Administration and Veterans' Affairs Interim Committee devoted much of the 2001-2002 interim to a review of Montana election laws with respect to voting systems and counting processes in light of Bush v. Gore; and

WHEREAS, the interim study found that Montana's statutory provisions relating to ballots, voting systems, and vote counting processes needed to be updated, clarified, and in some instances revised to better define uniform standards and procedures to provide equal protection for votes cast by Montana voters; and

WHEREAS, the Subcommittee on Voting Systems of the State Administration and Veterans' Affairs Interim Committee agreed that statutory changes should be made with an eye on future technology but should also standardize current practices to the greatest extent possible.

THEREFORE, this legislation will enable the Secretary of State to adopt a statewide benchmark performance measure that voting systems must meet before they can be approved for use in the state; allow local election administrators to continue to choose which of the approved voting systems should be used locally; require the Secretary of State to adopt uniform statewide rules regarding ballot form, votes and vote counts, and other operational procedures specific to each voting system and to provide training to local election administrators; and require all counting boards to use the uniform counting procedures specified."

Consolidation Election Void — Ballots Improperly Counted: Where judge's intentional withdrawal of five votes "for consolidation", rather than drawing by lot as required by statute, left the result of the election doubtful, then the election was void under 20-20-414 (since repealed). Validity of Ballots: Former statute relating to validity of ballots in general elections was applicable to school elections. Woolsey v. Carney, 141 M 476, 378 P2d 658 (1963).

Bond Election Void — Ballots Improperly Counted: Bond election was void under 20-20-414 (since repealed) where judges and clerks turned ballots right side up, placed "yes" ballots and "no" ballots in separate piles before counting them and then disallowed sufficient number of "no" ballots to allow "yes" ballots to prevail. Chapter Compiler's Comments

Joint Committee on Postsecondary Education Policy (now Education and Local Government Interim Committee): Chapter 526, L. 1991, created a joint committee on postsecondary education policy and budget (now Education and Local Government Interim Committee).

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 526, L. 1991, provided: "WHEREAS, the 1987 Legislature recognized the need to review the adequacy of the funding method for the Montana University System and appointed an eight-member committee to study University System funding issues in conjunction with the Commissioner of Higher Education and the Governor's Office of Budget and Program Planning; and

WHEREAS, the 1989 Legislature, through adoption of House Bill No. 354, provided for appointment of an eight-member, bipartisan postsecondary education study committee to study postsecondary education fiscal policy and accountability issues; and

WHEREAS, the Postsecondary Education Study Committee recognizes the need for ongoing communication between the Legislative and Executive Branches and the Board of Regents; and

WHEREAS, at present, there is no effective mechanism for these parties to communicate on a regular basis; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature recognizes not only the need to be regularly informed of the long-range plans and short-range goals developed by the Board of Regents for the Montana University System, the community colleges, and the vocational-technical center [now colleges of technology] system but also the need to be informed of the success or failure in attaining those plans and goals; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature recognizes the need to develop a link between planning and funding in postsecondary education; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature endorses the concept of outcome assessment as an accountability tool in postsecondary education; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature acknowledges that the Montana Constitution gives the Board of Regents full power, responsibility, and authority to supervise, coordinate, manage, and control the Montana University System and to supervise and coordinate other public educational institutions assigned by law; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature is vested with the exclusive authority to appropriate money; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature embraces its constitutional responsibility to ensure by law strict accountability of all revenue received and money spent by the state; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Regents has indicated its desire to work cooperatively with the Legislature for the benefit of the Montana University System and the State of Montana; and

WHEREAS, formation of a statutory joint committee on postsecondary education policy and budget [now Education and Local Government Interim Committee] would enhance communication among the Legislature, the Board of Regents, and the Executive Branch for the benefit of the State of Montana."

(a) organize and adopt rules to govern its proceedings; and

(2) The committee shall:

(a) provide information to the board of regents in the following areas:

(ii) annual goal statement development;

(iii) long-range planning;
(iv) outcome assessment programs; and
(v) any other area that the committee considers to have significant educational or fiscal policy impact;

(c) periodically review the results of outcome assessment programs;
(d) develop mechanisms to ensure strict accountability of the revenues and expenditures of the university system;

Board of Regents Created — Cases Still Applicable: Following the adoption of the 1972 Montana Constitution, the control of the Montana University System passed from the State Board of Education to the Board of Regents of Higher Education, created by Art. X, sec. 9, Mont. Const. Because some or all of the reported cases dealing with the power and authority of the Board of Education over the Montana University System under the 1889 Constitution may be applicable to the Board of Regents, all of those cases have been included below.

DECISIONS UNDER 1972 CONSTITUTION

Open Public Meeting Laws Liberally Construed — University System Policy Committee Meetings Open to Public: Plaintiff media organizations sued the Commissioner of Higher Education, alleging that policy meetings between the Commissioner and other University System senior employees were subject to state open meeting laws. The District Court concluded that the meetings should be open to the public, and on appeal, the Supreme Court concurred. The Legislature created open meeting laws with the intent that deliberations of state agencies be conducted openly, and to that end, the open meeting laws are liberally construed. In the context of 2-3-203, public or governmental bodies means a group of individuals organized for a governmental or public purpose. Although the university policy committee was not formally created by a government entity to accomplish a specific function, the committee brought together public officials for an undeniably public purpose. The committee was not merely a staff meeting or factfinding body, nor was it an ad hoc group that came together to consider a specific matter or to gather facts on a particular issue. Rather, the group met to deliberate on matters of substance that were the public's business and thus was considered a public body within the meaning of Art. II, sec. 9, Mont. Const., whose meetings were required to be open to the public. The Commissioner argued that: (1) even if the committee was considered a public body, it did not hold meetings as contemplated in the open meeting laws; (2) because the committee's membership was not fixed, no number of members were required to attend to constitute a quorum; and (3) neither direct action nor votes were taken at committee meetings. The Supreme Court disagreed. A quorum of any body of an indefinite number consists of the members who attend a meeting. All that is required under 2-3-202 is that a quorum of the membership convene to conduct public business, not that the meeting produces some particular result or action or that a vote be taken. The constitution protects the public's right to observe the deliberations of public bodies, and the policy committee meetings were required to be open to the public. Assoc. Press v. Crofts, 2004 MT 120, 321 M 193, 89 P3d 971 (2004).

Uniformity Doctrine of 1889 Constitution Embodied in Equal Protection Clause of 1972 Constitution: Plaintiffs challenged the constitutionality of 20-25-439, asserting that the tax levy for vocational-technical schools resulted in an unequal tax burden on five counties where the schools are located, even though the schools are part of the statewide University System. The state contended that the levy is not unconstitutional because it is rationally related to a legitimate government purpose. The 1889 Montana Constitution contained a uniformity doctrine that required a tax to be levied by a general law that is uniform within the same class of subjects within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax; however, that uniformity doctrine does not appear in the plain language of the 1972 Montana Constitution. Nevertheless, plaintiffs asserted that the uniformity doctrine is still a constitutional requirement apart from equal protection guarantees. The state argued that because the uniformity doctrine is not part of the 1972 Montana Constitution, the levy could not be violative of the doctrine. The District Court agreed with the state and plaintiffs appealed. The Supreme Court agreed that the statement defining the uniformity doctrine in Hilger v. Moore, 56 M 146, 182 P 477 (1919), was subsequently applied in post-1972 cases, but disagreed that the definition supports any stricter limitation on taxation than that imposed by equal protection. The framers of the 1972 Montana Constitution intended to preserve the uniformity doctrine only as it is equivalent to equal protection requirements. Thus, the uniformity doctrine as interpreted under the 1889 Montana Constitution, which provided for equal protection in the area of taxation, is still embodied in the 1972 Montana Constitution in the equal protection clause. Analysis of the constitutionality of the levy in question was therefore conducted under the equal protection clause. Kottel v. St., 2002 MT 278, 312 M 387, 60 P3d 403 (2002).

Failure to Obtain Degree — University's Discretion — Summary Judgment Upheld: The University was entitled to summary judgment against plaintiff's claim of bad faith and breach of contract when plaintiff failed to fulfill his duties under the contract he alleged. The discretion vested in the University is the core substantive principle entitling it to summary judgment. The University did not abuse its discretion. Bindrim v. Univ. of Mont., 235 M 199, 766 P2d 861, 45 St. Rep. 2316 (1988).

Letter Removing Chairman of English Department Privileged Publication: Small brought suit alleging that he had been libeled when he was removed as chairman of the English Department at Eastern Montana College (now Montana State University-Billings). The basis of the libel charge was the letter informing him that he was being removed and detailing the reasons for the removal. The court found that McRae had the authority to remove Small and that the letter was a privileged publication because it was made in the proper discharge of an official duty. Since the letter was within the proper discharge of an official duty, it enjoyed an absolute privilege and could therefore not be the subject of libel action. Small v. McRae, 200 M 497, 651 P2d 982, 39 St. Rep. 1896 (1982).

Nontenured Professor — Acceptance of Termination Contract: Because of alleged personal misconduct, a nontenured professor was offered a contract to teach one more year and then be terminated. He requested but was denied a formal hearing on the matter. The professor's subsequent demand for a tenured contract did not, as he contends, amount to acceptance of the termination contract that he was offered. Leland v. Heywood, 197 M 491, 643 P2d 578, 39 St. Rep. 704 (1982).

Discrimination Regarding Teacher Tenure — State Action Violating Equal Protection: The Montana university tenure system is maintained under authority of state statutes by the Board of Regents and the presidents of the Montana University System's institutions. Therefore, any action by the Board or a president in regard to tenure is state action, and a discriminatory application of the tenure process would be a denial of equal protection. Akhtar v. Van De Wetering, 197 M 205, 642 P2d 149, 39 St. Rep. 470 (1982).

Teacher Tenure Standards — Use of Single Factor as Basis for Equal Protection Violation Claim: Differences in treatment of persons in regard to promotions do not all constitute deprivation of either due process or equal protection, particularly where the difference is one of evaluating facts rather than in resolving them. Where college evaluated tenure candidates in three basic areas and balanced all the factors and appellant teacher who was denied tenure claimed discrimination in that he had published an article and two candidates granted tenure had published no articles, publication being one of the factors, there was no equal protection violation. Akhtar v. Van De Wetering, 197 M 205, 642 P2d 149, 39 St. Rep. 470 (1982).

Property Interest in Teacher Tenure — Proof — School's Codification of Tenure Matters: College's codification of rank and tenure matters, specifically drafted to clarify the faculty contract and a college handbook issued to the faculty, approved by a committee as not in conflict with the contract or with the handbook, stated to be an operating manual for the college rank and tenure committee, limited to reference and informational use, and subject to future contract negotiations, was by its nature a pseudoextension of the faculty contract but was not a part of the contract. Therefore, the codification could not be the source for a property interest in teacher tenure to which due process protection would attach. Akhtar v. Van De Wetering, 197 M 205, 642 P2d 149, 39 St. Rep. 470 (1982).

Denial of Teacher Tenure — Due Process Property Right — Burden of Proof: The question of whether due process protections of teacher denied tenure were violated would not be considered unless he established the existence of a property right or liberty interest that is accorded due process protection. That tenure was denied would not benefit teacher in his pursuit of other employment, but it did not place such a stigma on him as to deprive him of a liberty interest. A vested property right protected by due process did not accrue to teacher upon his meeting the eligibility for tenure standards of requisite number of years of teaching and the rank of assistant professor, for beyond that, teacher was required by college policy to present evidence showing excellence in teaching, research, and public service. Akhtar v. Van De Wetering, 197 M 205, 642 P2d 149, 39 St. Rep. 470 (1982).

Teacher Contracts — Procedures Not Constituting Breach — Time and Proper Party for Dean's Recommendation: College's codification of teacher tenure matters stated that with respect to the procedure to determine whether tenure would be granted, the rank and tenure committee was to request the teacher's dean to examine the teacher's package and make a written recommendation. Assuming the codification to be part of the teacher's contract, it was not a breach of the contract for the dean to send his recommendation to the academic vice-president rather than to give it to the rank and tenure committee first. Akhtar v. Van De Wetering, 197 M 205, 642 P2d 149, 39 St. Rep. 470 (1982).

Teacher Tenure Actions — Admissibility of Evidence — Decisions as to Other Teachers: Teachers' union member who was denied tenure offered evidence, in suit arising from the denial, that union member who had resigned from the teachers' negotiating team shortly before he applied for tenure was granted tenure. The offered evidence was refused as irrelevant. On appeal, the Supreme Court stated that the evidence was relevant but affirmed the ruling below, saying that the evidence would only have shown that a teacher who resigned from the bargaining team was thereafter granted tenure and that one union member was granted tenure and another was not. Akhtar v. Van De Wetering, 197 M 205, 642 P2d 149, 39 St. Rep. 470 (1982).

Whether college's academic vice-president acted impermissibly in the tenure application process of a different individual under a different contract in a different academic year was not relevant to vice-president's actions in appellant's tenure evaluation, and it was proper to refuse, for lack of relevance, to admit exhibit and testimony on it relating to a report on the tenure evaluation of another person. Akhtar v. Van De Wetering, 197 M 205, 642 P2d 149, 39 St. Rep. 470 (1982).

Continuous Tenure Defined: The District Court's conclusion that a director of a department within the Montana University System, who was tenured as to professional rank and salary under the terms of her previous contract, could nevertheless be paid at a reduced rate in the following year because her duties were diminished from director to professor must be overturned. Reversal is required because of the nature of continuous tenure, which connotes "freedom and economic security", and because of the fact that the respondent university had it completely within its power to describe tenured rights otherwise. Keiser v. Bd. of Regents, 193 M 35, 630 P2d 194, 38 St. Rep. 674 (1981).

Employment Relationship of Regents With Faculty: Since Board of Regents is competent body for determining priorities in higher education and an important priority is hiring and keeping competent personnel, appropriations bill which controlled salaries of university employees denied the Board power to function effectively by setting its own personnel policies and determining its own priorities and was unconstitutional. Bd. of Regents of Higher Educ. v. Judge, 168 M 433, 543 P2d 1323 (1975).

DECISIONS UNDER 1889 CONSTITUTION

Delegation of Powers: The State Board of Education is restricted from delegating to college officials its power to select teachers or instructors. Brown v. St. Bd. of Educ., 142 M 547, 385 P2d 643 (1963).

Actions Against State Board of Education: The State Board of Education may be sued for a breach of contract without the consent of the state to the action. Meens v. St. Bd. of Educ., 127 M 515, 267 P2d 981 (1954).

Employment Relationship With Faculty: The relationship between the State Board of Education and a professor of the state university is that of employer and employee, contractual in character. State ex rel. Phillips v. Ford, 116 M 190, 151 P2d 171 (1944).

Resignation of Faculty Member — Report Required: A provision of the rules of the State Board of Education that the president of the state university shall report appointments and resignations of members of the faculty and other employees did not authorize the president to accept the resignation of a professor of the institution but merely required him to report it to the State Board. State ex rel. Phillips v. Ford, 116 M 190, 151 P2d 171 (1944).

Vested Right Created by Regulation: A regulation of the State Board of Education providing that reappointment of a professor after 3 years of service shall be deemed a permanent appointment, under which the Board had functioned for some 21 years, was valid and clearly within its authority under Art. XI, sec. 11, 1889 Mont. Const. (now Art. X, sec. 9, Mont. Const.), and this section. Reappointment of a professor after such years of service was a permanent appointment, and his status was not changed by the Board's striking the regulation from its rules and regulations printed on the back of the sixth contract because he came within the regulation upon execution of his fourth annual contract. State ex rel. Keeney v. Ayers, 108 M 547, 92 P2d 306 (1939), distinguished in Eastman v. School District, 120 M 63, 180 P2d 472 (1947).

Implied Authority to Construct Building: The State Board of Education, proceeding under Ch. 24, Ex. L. 1933-34 (an emergency measure), continued in force until July 1, 1937, by Ch. 135, L. 1935, and under chapters 79 through 83, R.C.M. 1935, had implied authority to authorize the construction of a chemistry-pharmacy building at the state university with funds granted by the federal government in addition to those to be secured by a bond issue. State ex rel. Dragstedt v. St. Bd. of Educ., 103 M 336, 62 P2d 330 (1936).

Pledge of Land-Grant Income Allowed: Under the facts presented and under prior decisions, a pledging of a portion of the income and interest from the land grant is permissible. State ex rel. Dragstedt v. St. Bd. of Educ., 103 M 336, 62 P2d 330 (1936). See also State ex rel. Wilson v. St. Bd. of Educ., 102 M 165, 56 P2d 1079 (1936).

Exclusive Control of Funds Derived From Land Grant: The State Board of Education was vested with exclusive power to receive and control the funds derived from lands granted the state for the use of its institutions of learning, among them the state normal school, and therefore was free from the limitations and restrictions of the state constitution as to the expenditures of the ordinary revenues of the state, namely, only on appropriations made by the Legislature and on warrants drawn by the State Auditor. State ex rel. Blume v. St. Bd. of Educ., 97 M 371, 34 P2d 515 (1934).

Implied Powers: The power expressly granted to the State Board of Education to manage and control the business and finances of the state education institutions carried with it the implied power to do all things necessary and proper to the exercise of its general powers. State ex rel. Veeder v. St. Bd. of Educ., 97 M 121, 33 P2d 516 (1934).

Attorney General's Opinions

Legislative Appropriation of University System "Excess" Revenue: The Attorney General concluded in an advisory opinion (in answer to question concerning hypothetical legislative action) that the Legislature may not appropriate revenue generated from sources pledged to cover university system revenue bond requirements when the revenue obtained from these sources exceeds the bond requirements. The law grants the Board of Regents authority to use pledged revenue in a variety of ways to discharge its statutory duties. Any legislative appropriation of those "excess" revenues would interfere with or prevent the discharge of those duties. 40 A.G. Op. 67 (1984).

Status of Mandatory Student Fees — Expenditures: Since the authority to impose mandatory student fees is vested in the Board of Regents, a division of state government, and ultimate control and supervision of these funds rest with the regents, mandatory student fees are public funds. Whether a student committee can expend these funds to remove an elected public officer requires a decision by the regents or their delegated agents that such expenditure is a public purpose. Electing a political officeholder would not be an expenditure for a public purpose. 35 A.G. Op. 74 (1974).

Authority to Regulate Alcoholic Beverages: The regents of the Montana University System have the authority to allow or prohibit the possession and consumption of alcoholic beverages in a student's room in a residence hall on a campus of a unit of the Montana University System. 34 A.G. Op. 42 (1972).

Case Notes

Leasing of University Facilities to Private Persons Consistent With Established "Academic Purposes": The Duck Inn filed an action seeking an injunction against Montana State University-Northern (Northern), alleging that Northern's decision to lease its facilities to private persons and organizations placed Northern in direct competition with the Duck Inn's business, in violation of state statutes and the Montana Constitution. The District Court dismissed the Duck Inn's complaint, ruling that Northern's leasing activities under this section did not violate Art. VIII, sec. 1, Mont. Const. On appeal, the Supreme Court affirmed, ruling that this section is not an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority to the Board of Regents. Northern's leasing activities under this section appear to have "public purposes" as that term is used in Art. VIII, sec. 1, Mont. Const. Duck Inn, Inc. v. Mont. St. Univ.-N., 285 M 519, 949 P2d 1179, 54 St. Rep. 1295 (1997).

Attorney General's Opinions

Legislative Appropriation of University System "Excess" Revenue: The Attorney General concluded in an advisory opinion (in answer to question concerning hypothetical legislative action) that the Legislature may not appropriate revenue generated from sources pledged to cover university system revenue bond requirements when the revenue obtained from these sources exceeds the bond requirements. The law grants the Board of Regents authority to use pledged revenue in a variety of ways to discharge its statutory duties. Any legislative appropriation of those "excess" revenues would interfere with or prevent the discharge of those duties. 40 A.G. Op. 67 (1984).

DUI Arrest on Street Contiguous to University Campus Proper Under Jurisdiction Agreement Between University, City, and County: O'Neill was arrested for DUI by a University of Montana security officer on a street contiguous to but outside the boundaries of the university campus. O'Neill moved for dismissal on grounds that the arrest was unlawful because the offense occurred outside the geographic boundaries of the officer's jurisdiction. However, in 1993, the university entered an agreement with the city and county of Missoula under 20-25-322 that expanded the jurisdiction of campus security officers to make arrests for parking and moving violations on streets and alleys contiguous to the campus. The officer was patrolling the campus when he observed O'Neill's vehicle, and as a result, the streets contiguous to the campus were within the officer's jurisdiction. Extension of Termination Date: Section 1, Ch. 381, L. 1995, amended sec. 11, Ch. 387, L. 1993, by extending the termination date imposed by that chapter. Effective April 12, 1995.

Preamble: The preamble attached to Ch. 431, L. 1995, provided: "WHEREAS, seven tribally controlled community colleges exist in the State of Montana; and

WHEREAS, the tribal community colleges provide a quality, low-cost, and accessible college program to Indian and non-Indian students each year; and

WHEREAS, approximately 450 of these students are nonbeneficiary students who do not qualify for financial support through the Bureau of Indian Affairs or under the Tribally Controlled Community College Assistance Act of 1978; and

WHEREAS, the tribal community colleges currently subsidize the costs of providing services to nonbeneficiary students, allowing them to continue their educations at a lower cost to the state; and

WHEREAS, without support, tribal community colleges will not be able to serve nonbeneficiary students without increasing student fees, which may result in students dropping out of college."

Appropriation: Section 1, Ch. 431, L. 1995, provided: "(1) There is appropriated from the general fund to the board of regents $1.4 million for the biennium ending June 30, 1997, to provide financial assistance to tribally controlled community colleges for enrolled nonbeneficiary students.

(2) Each tribal community college shall apply for this assistance to the board of regents. Except as provided in subsection (6), the money appropriated in subsection (1) must be distributed on a prorated basis according to the resident nonbeneficiary student enrollment in each tribal community college during the previous year. To qualify, a resident nonbeneficiary student must meet the residency requirements as prescribed for the Montana university system by the board of regents. The distribution to any student is limited to a maximum of $1,500 each year per full-time equivalent student. Any remaining balance in this appropriation on June 30, 1997, must revert to the general fund and may not be diverted to other purposes.

(3) An expenditure from this appropriation is contingent upon the tribal community college:

(a) being accredited or being a candidate for accreditation by the northwest association of schools and colleges;

(b) entering into a contract or a state-tribal cooperative agreement, pursuant to Title 18, chapter 11, with the board of regents to provide the board with information relating to eligibility of nonbeneficiary students and documentation on the curriculum to ensure that the content and quality of courses offered by the tribal community college are consistent with the standards adopted by the Montana university system; and

(c) filing with the board of regents evidence that the college's enrollment of Indian students is at least 51% as required by the Tribally Controlled Community College Assistance Act of 1978, 25 U.S.C. 1804.

(4) It is the intent of the legislature that the appropriation in subsection (1) be considered an amount in addition to the Montana university system budget appropriation for the biennium ending June 30, 1997.

(5) All funds appropriated under subsection (1) that are unspent revert to the general fund.

(6) Prior to receiving money pursuant to subsection (1), each tribal community college shall:

(a) grant to resident nonbeneficiary students who meet the residency requirements, as prescribed for the Montana university system by the board of regents, fee waivers in the same percentage as the number of Indian students who are receiving fee waivers to attend a unit of the university system bears to the total enrollment in the university system; and

(b) subtract the costs of nonbeneficiary fee waivers granted under subsection (6)(a) from the total amount of prorated money to be distributed." Effective April 13, 1995.

Attorney General's Opinions

Legislative Appropriation of University System "Excess" Revenue: The Attorney General concluded in an advisory opinion (in answer to question concerning hypothetical legislative action) that the Legislature may not appropriate revenue generated from sources pledged to cover university system revenue bond requirements when the revenue obtained from these sources exceeds the bond requirements. The law grants the Board of Regents authority to use pledged revenue in a variety of ways to discharge its statutory duties. Any legislative appropriation of those "excess" revenues would interfere with or prevent the discharge of those duties. 40 A.G. Op. 67 (1984).

Status of Mandatory Student Fees — Expenditures: Since the authority to impose mandatory student fees is vested in the Board of Regents, a division of state government, and ultimate control and supervision of these funds rest with the regents, mandatory student fees are public funds. Whether a student committee can expend these funds to remove an elected public officer requires a decision by the regents or their delegated agents that such expenditure is a public purpose. Electing a political officeholder would not be an expenditure for a public purpose. 35 A.G. Op. 74 (1974).

Mines Net Proceeds Taxes and Resource Indemnity Trust Taxes Settlement Agreement — Payments Distributed According to Mill Levies in Year Settlement Paid: Under a settlement agreement in 1992, Cyprus paid to Madison County back mines net proceeds taxes and resource indemnity trust taxes for the years 1980-1987. The county brought a summary judgment action to allow it to distribute the payment to certain Madison County taxing districts rather than according to the mill levies in place on the date when the funds were received, including the state university levies and the county and state school equalization aid payments. The county argued that application of school funding equalization taxes to Cyprus's settlement for 1980-1987 taxes was improper retroactive taxation because not all of the equalization laws were in effect in those years. The District Court granted summary judgment to the county. The Supreme Court held that no retroactivity issue existed and that the settlement paid was property tax revenue that must be distributed according to the mills levied in the year that the settlement was paid. 1999 Amendment: Chapter 584 at beginning of (1) inserted reference to 15-10-420; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 10, 1999.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 175, Ch. 584, L. 1999, provided that this section applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to tax years beginning after December 31, 1998.

Effective Date — Applicability: Section 38(2), Ch. 308, L. 1995, provided: "[Section 34] [20-25-439] is effective January 1, 1996, and applies to the operation of the vocational-technical system beginning in fiscal year 1997."

Case Notes

Equal Protection Analysis of Vocational-Technical School Levy — Rational Basis Test Applied: Plaintiffs challenged the constitutionality of this section, asserting that the tax levy for vocational-technical schools resulted in an unequal tax burden on five counties where the schools are located, even though the schools are part of the statewide University System. The state contended that the levy is not unconstitutional because it is rationally related to a legitimate government purpose. The District Court found that the levy is constitutional because it is rationally related to the legitimate government interest of supporting the schools, in that the schools provide specific benefits to their individual counties. The Supreme Court agreed that the rational basis analysis applied. The constitutional tax provisions in Art. VIII, sec. 1 and 3, Mont. Const., are broad directives whose specifics are left to the Legislature, so no constitutionally significant interests are implicated that require greater than a rational basis analysis. A tax classification under the rational basis test will be upheld if it is reasonable and not arbitrary and if it applies equally to all who fall within the same classification. A classification is not reasonable if it confers particular privileges or imposes particular disabilities on a class of persons arbitrarily selected from a larger number of persons, all of whom stand in the same relation to privileges conferred or disabilities imposed. Neither the uniformity doctrine nor equal protection prevent the state from making classifications that result in different state taxes among the various counties as long as the classifications are rationally related to a legitimate government purpose. Simply because other state taxes for education funding are assessed in every county does not mean that the Legislature is prohibited from creating subclasses for tax purposes. Attendance at vocational-technical schools by local residents and course offerings related to local interests serve as a rational basis for putting the five counties in a separate class for purposes of the levy. Counties with vocational-technical schools are not arbitrarily selected from the rest of the state because those counties do not stand in the same relation to the greater privileges conferred on those counties by the schools than the rest of the state, so the disability of the levy is rationally imposed. The constitutionality of this section was affirmed. Kottel v. St., 2002 MT 278, 312 M 387, 60 P3d 403 (2002), following Leuthold v. Brandjord, 100 M 96, 47 P2d 41 (1935), and distinguishing State ex rel. Woodahl v. Straub, 164 M 141, 520 P2d 776 (1974), Allegheny Pittsburgh Coal Co. v. County Comm'rs of Webster County, W. Va., 488 US 336 (1989), and Roosevelt v. Dept. of Revenue, 1999 MT 30, 293 M 240, 975 P2d 295 (1999).

Uniformity Doctrine of 1889 Constitution Embodied in Equal Protection Clause of 1972 Constitution: Plaintiffs challenged the constitutionality of this section, asserting that the tax levy for vocational-technical schools resulted in an unequal tax burden on five counties where the schools are located, even though the schools are part of the statewide University System. The state contended that the levy is not unconstitutional because it is rationally related to a legitimate government purpose. The 1889 Montana Constitution contained a uniformity doctrine that required a tax to be levied by a general law that is uniform within the same class of subjects within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax; however, that uniformity doctrine does not appear in the plain language of the 1972 Montana Constitution. Nevertheless, plaintiffs asserted that the uniformity doctrine is still a constitutional requirement apart from equal protection guarantees. The state argued that because the uniformity doctrine is not part of the 1972 Montana Constitution, the levy could not be violative of the doctrine. The District Court agreed with the state and plaintiffs appealed. The Supreme Court agreed that the statement defining the uniformity doctrine in Hilger v. Moore, 56 M 146, 182 P 477 (1919), was subsequently applied in post-1972 cases, but disagreed that the definition supports any stricter limitation on taxation than that imposed by equal protection. The framers of the 1972 Montana Constitution intended to preserve the uniformity doctrine only as it is equivalent to equal protection requirements. Thus, the uniformity doctrine as interpreted under the 1889 Montana Constitution, which provided for equal protection in the area of taxation, is still embodied in the 1972 Montana Constitution in the equal protection clause. Analysis of the constitutionality of the levy in question was therefore conducted under the equal protection clause. Kottel v. St., 2002 MT 278, 312 M 387, 60 P3d 403 (2002).

22-1-102. Librarian and assistants.

Attorney General's Opinions

Authority to Classify Positions of State Librarian and Director of Montana Historical Society: Although repeals by implication are not favored, it would frustrate the purpose of the classification and pay plan law to hold that the positions of state librarian and Director of the Montana Historical Society are exempt from classification when the Legislature has not expressly approved such exemption in 2-18-103. Thus, the provisions of 22-3-107 and 22-1-102, which authorize the Board of Trustees of the historical society and the State Library Commission to set salary, are superseded by the classification and pay plan law, Title 2, ch. 18, parts 1 through 3. The Board and the Commission retain the authority to hire and to assign duties and responsibilities. 40 A.G. Op. 68 (1984).

Part Case Notes

Refusal to Order Libraries Created as De Facto Public Corporations or to Estop Denial of Their Creation: The record supported a conclusion that County Commissioners agreed and contracted to help provide towns with libraries and assisted in funding, but there was no persuasive evidence that the Commissioners intended to create county libraries under the library statutes then in effect or that the Commissioners complied with the statutory requirements for the establishment of county libraries. Therefore, the town libraries did not meet the requirements for creation of de facto public corporations, and the court would not order the county to continue funding them in the face of a county decision to cease the funding. The court would not apply public policy estoppel theory to prevent the county from challenging the existence of the libraries as county libraries. There never were county libraries or purported county libraries. Each town provided its own library facilities and ran its own library. The county only helped with funding, an insufficient basis to apply estoppel to the county. Choteau Library Bd. of Trustees v. Teton County Bd. of Comm'rs, 283 M 87, 938 P2d 1357, 54 St. Rep. 507 (1997).

Power of County to Contract With Municipal Libraries: A county that has established a county free library pursuant to this section may contract directly with the board of trustees of the free public library of any incorporated city to assume all county library functions and to pay the sum agreed upon out of the county free library fund. 46 A.G. Amendment effective July 1, 2005.

2001 Amendments — Composite Section: Chapter 495 in (1) in three places substituted "tax" for "special tax" and in second and third sentences substituted "on the taxable valuation of" for "on the dollar on" (amendment in second and third sentences rendered void by Ch. 574 amendment); in (2)(a) in first sentence substituted "imposing a tax levy" for "exceeding the maximum tax levy provided in subsection (1)" and substituted "an election as provided in 15-10-425" for "the next appropriate election or at a special election as provided in Title 13"; in (2)(b) in first sentence after "for the purpose of" substituted "imposing a" for "exceeding the maximum", substituted "15-10-425" for "Title 13", and substituted "imposing the mill levy" for "exceeding the maximum mill levy"; deleted (2)(c) through (2)(e) that read: "(c) The question must be submitted by ballots upon which the words "FOR exceeding the ... mill maximum levy and authorizing an additional ... mill(s) for the library" and "AGAINST exceeding the ... mill maximum library levy" must appear, with a square before each proposition and a direction to insert an "X" mark in the square before one or the other of the propositions.

(d) The ballots must also specify the amount of time during which the proposed increase exceeding the maximum mill levy is to be in effect.

(e) The votes cast for the adoption or rejection of the question must be canvassed, and:

(i) if a majority of the voters voting on the question vote to exceed the maximum mill levy, the governing body shall levy the additional tax for the time specified on the ballot; or

(ii) if a majority of the voters voting on the question vote to not exceed the maximum mill levy, the maximum mill levy may not be exceeded"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective October 1, 2001.

Chapter 574 in (1) deleted former last two sentences that read: "The special tax levy that may be levied by the governing body of a county may not exceed 5 mills on the dollar on all property in the county. The special tax that may be levied by the governing body of a city may not exceed 7 mills on the dollar on all property in the city"; in (2)(a) at end of first sentence substituted "question of imposing a tax levy to a vote of the qualified electors at an election as provided in 15-10-425" for "question of exceeding the maximum tax levy provided in subsection (1) to a vote of the qualified electors at the next appropriate election or at a special election as provided for in Title 13"; in (2)(b) in first sentence near beginning after "purpose of" substituted "imposing a mill levy" for "exceeding the maximum mill levy" and at end substituted "provided in 15-10-425 the question of imposing the mill levy" for "provided for in Title 13 the question of exceeding the maximum mill levy"; deleted former (2)(c) through (2)(e) that read: "(c) The question must be submitted by ballots upon which the words "FOR exceeding the ... mill maximum levy and authorizing an additional ... mill(s) for the library" and "AGAINST exceeding the ... mill maximum library levy" must appear, with a square before each proposition and a direction to insert an "X" mark in the square before one or the other of the propositions.

Amendment effective October 1, 1999.

Chapter 584 at beginning of (1) inserted reference to 15-10-420; in (2)(a) in first sentence substituted "next appropriate election" for "next general election"; in (2)(b) in first and second sentences substituted "election" for "general election"; and made minor changes in style. Amendment effective May 10, 1999.

Severability: Section 172, Ch. 584, L. 1999, was a severability clause.

Retroactive Applicability: Section 175, Ch. 584, L. 1999, provided that this section applies retroactively, within the meaning of 1-2-109, to tax years beginning after December 31, 1998.

1985 Amendment: In (2)(a) in second sentence, substituted "75 days" for "60 days".

1983 Amendment: In (1), increased permissible mill levies from 3 to 5 mills for counties and from 4 ½ to 7 mills for cities; and inserted (2) establishing voting procedures for adoption of resolution for exceeding maximum tax levy for library fund and (3) clarifying additional municipal tax.

Case Notes

Allocation of Costs — Permitted: A city has general authority in financing the construction of city vehicle repair shop complex and has implied power to allocate the proportionate share of costs among various city departments using the facility. Greener v. Great Falls, 157 M 376, 485 P2d 932 (1971).

Attorney General's Opinions

Power of County Commissioners to Regulate Library Funded by County General Fund — Limitations as if Funded by Five-Mill Levy: The fact that Big Horn County funds its library through the county general fund does not allow the County Commissioners to usurp the library trustees' statutory authority for setting the library's budget and compensation for the library staff. If the County Commissioners fund the library's budget through the county general fund, the power to decide the library staff compensation still rests with the library trustees. The Commissioners may limit the overall funding of the library budget to 5 mills, as if the library were being funded pursuant to the 5-mill tax levy authorized by this section (see 2001 amendment). To hold otherwise would allow the library trustees to adopt a budget that could assume the entire county general fund levy. 48 A.G. Op. 3 (1999).

Joint City-County Library — County Taxes Levied on City Property: A city and county may join to establish and maintain a joint city-county library. Other than maximum mill levies, no parameters have been set by the Legislature with regard to funding a joint library enterprise. Expenses of the joint city-county library may be apportioned between the city and county pursuant to the contract establishing the joint library, and the entities have broad discretion in negotiating the apportionment of expenses and funding for the provision of library services. Under 22-1-316, both the city and county may levy taxes as provided in this section, and there is no statutory exemption from the county levy for property located in the city. 47 A.G. Op. 6 (1997).

Power of County to Contract With Municipal Libraries: A county that has established a county free library pursuant to 22-1-303 may contract directly with the board of trustees of the free public library of any incorporated city to assume all county library functions and to pay the sum agreed upon out of the county free library fund. 46 A.G. Op. 19 (1996).

Authority of Library Trustees — Obligation of County Commissioners to Levy Property Taxes: County library trustees have direct responsibility for administering county libraries in a manner largely independent of city or county control. Even though library employees may be considered city or county employees for certain purposes, the library trustees' express authority to fix such employees' compensation prohibits County Commissioners from establishing a different wage level. A Board of County Commissioners may not modify the decision of county library trustees concerning wage and salary amounts for library employees, may not modify an annual library budget adopted by the county library trustees, and may not refuse, within statutory millage limits, to levy some or all of the property taxes necessary to satisfy an annual budget adopted by the county library trustees. 41 A.G. Op. 91 (1986). See also 48 A.G. Op. 3 (1999).

22-1-309. Trustees — powers and duties.

Case Notes

Powers of Board of Trustees — Limitations: While the Board of Trustees is not a "public employer" for the purposes of the Collective Bargaining for Public Employees Act, there is no inconsistency between the Library Systems Act and the collective bargaining law since the Board of Trustees is given independent powers to manage and operate the library under the Library Systems Act. Local 2390 v. Billings, 171 M 20, 555 P2d 507 (1976).

Allocation of Costs — Permitted: A city has general authority in financing the construction of city vehicle repair shop complex and has implied power to allocate the proportionate share of costs among various city departments using the facility. Greener v. Great Falls, 157 M 376, 485 P2d 932 (1971).

Attorney General's Opinions

County Commission Generally Obligated to Fund Library Budget — County Allowed to Bind Itself to Fund Library Budget Through Interlocal Agreement: The Board of County Commissioners is generally obligated to fund the county library budget, as submitted by the library board pursuant to this section, within the limits set in 15-10-420. The 2001 statutory changes did not delete a library board's authority to determine the amount of financial support required by the library, nor did the changes confer on the Board of County Commissioners the authority to modify a library budget submitted by the library board. Further, nothing in the 2001 tax and budget amendments prevents a county from voluntarily entering an interlocal agreement to provide that the county would accept a library board's budget proposal and levy the necessary mills to fund it. 49 A.G. Op. 16 (2002). See also 41 A.G. Op. 91 (1986), and 48 A.G. Op. 3 (1999).

Power of County Commissioners to Regulate Library Funded by County General Fund — Limitations as if Funded by Five-Mill Levy: The fact that Big Horn County funds its library through the county general fund does not allow the County Commissioners to usurp the library trustees' statutory authority for setting the library's budget and compensation for the library staff. If the County Commissioners fund the library's budget through the county general fund, the power to decide the library staff compensation still rests with the library trustees. The Commissioners may limit the overall funding of the library budget to 5 mills, as if the library were being funded pursuant to the 5-mill tax levy authorized by 22-1-304. (See 2001 amendment to 22-1-304.) To hold otherwise would allow the library trustees to adopt a budget that could assume the entire county general fund levy. 48 A.G. Op. 3 (1999).

City Library Board Decision to Retain Property Not Subject to City Commission Override: A city commission did not have authority to overrule a decision by the city library board of trustees not to sell or lease a parking lot held in the name of the city and purchased to serve the library's parking needs. 42 A.G. Op. 98 (1988). See also 48 A.G. Op. 3 (1999).

Authority of Library Trustees — Obligation of County Commissioners to Levy Property Taxes: County library trustees have direct responsibility for administering county libraries in a manner largely independent of city or county control. Even though library employees may be considered city or county employees for certain purposes, the library trustees' express authority to fix such employees' compensation prohibits County Commissioners from establishing a different wage level. A Board of County Commissioners may not modify the decision of county library trustees concerning wage and salary amounts for library employees, may not modify an annual library budget adopted by the county library trustees, and may not refuse, within statutory millage limits, to levy some or all of the property taxes necessary to satisfy an annual budget adopted by the county library trustees. 41 A.G. Op. 91 (1986). See also 48 A.G. Op. 3 (1999).

Case Notes

Trustees as "Public Employer" of Library Employees — Discharge of Employee: The local governing body and not the Board of Trustees is the "public employer" for the purposes of the Collective Bargaining for Public Employees Act, and the trustees may not discharge an employee because that Act is subject to the agreement. Local 2390 v. Billings, 171 M 20, 555 P2d 507 (1976).

Attorney General's Opinions

Power of County Commissioners to Regulate Library Funded by County General Fund — Limitations as if Funded by Five-Mill Levy: The fact that Big Horn County funds its library through the county general fund does not allow the County Commissioners to usurp the library trustees' statutory authority for setting the library's budget and compensation for the library staff. If the County Commissioners fund the library's budget through the county general fund, the power to decide the library staff compensation still rests with the library trustees. 22-1-315. City library may assume functions of county library.

Attorney General's Opinions

Formation of Multijurisdictional Library Service Districts — Statutory Requirements — Equalization of Tax Burden Among Users: A city and a county may form a multijurisdictional library service district if they meet the statutory requirements of Title 7, ch. 11, part 11, and Title 15, ch. 10, part 4, and if any existing contract for providing library services involving residents of one or more of the participating jurisdictions has expired. A multijurisdictional service district may not be formed for the sole purpose of equalizing the tax burden among those currently using the service; however, one increased service of the district may be to equalize the tax burden among users as long as the district provides services in the manner required by 7-11-1101. 46 A.G. Op. 23 (1996), distinguishing 44 A.G. Op. 11 (1991).

Power of County to Contract With Municipal Libraries: A county that has established a county free library pursuant to 22-1-303 may contract directly with the board of trustees of the free public library of any incorporated city to assume all county library functions and to pay the sum agreed upon out of the county free library fund. 46 A.G. Op. 19 (1996).

Attorney General's Opinions

Joint City-County Library — County Taxes Levied on City Property: A city and county may join to establish and maintain a joint city-county library. Other than maximum mill levies, no parameters have been set by the Legislature with regard to funding a joint library enterprise. Expenses of the joint city-county library may be apportioned between the city and county pursuant to the contract establishing the joint library, and the entities have broad discretion in negotiating the apportionment of expenses and funding for the provision of library services. Under this section, both the city and county may levy taxes as provided in 22-1-304, and there is no statutory exemption from the county levy for property located in the city. 47 A.G. Op. 6 (1997).

Creation of Multijurisdictional Service District Within Existing Library District to Increase Allowable Mill Levy Improper: A multijurisdictional service district within an existing service district may not be created for the purpose of increasing the total mill levy within the existing district when the proposed service district would not increase the existing service area, serve people not currently receiving the service, or equalize the tax burden among those who would use the service. 44 A.G. Op. 11 (1991).

When the provisions being amended by this bill were adopted, it was intended that the formula for allocating appropriations to library federations would be used. The formula proved to be unworkable and has not been in use. Therefore, there is a need for rules to provide guidance for the allocation of funding, to establish funding formulas, and to determine what type of grant programs should be implemented. The rules authorized by this bill should address the preceding concerns and should incorporate flexibility because the needs change and the funding should accommodate the varying needs."

1985 Amendment: Inserted (2) requiring arts council to adopt rules to implement three sections.

1985 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to Ch. 732, L. 1985, provided: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because section 22-2-303, MCA, is amended to include rulemaking by the Montana arts council to implement sections 1 and 2 of the bill [22-2-308 and 22-2-309].

The rules should address specific criteria that the Montana arts council intends to employ in determining whether local support is being given to public and private facilities and, if so, how much support is involved.

The rules must also address the requirements for matching funds, for both capital grants and challenge grants. Involved in these rules should be a method for an applicant to determine what constitutes donated goods and services, and what time periods for the receipt of gifts are involved to qualify for matching funds.

The rules should address the incremental disbursements of grants. Grantees must be able to conform their cash flow upon reliance of receipt of regular grant disbursements, and to this end the Montana arts council should in the rules provide explanations of proper allowable costs and proper unexpended prior grant balances it will examine prior to making further disbursements."

1983 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to HB 110 (Ch. 99, L. 1983) read: "A statement of intent is required for this bill because it grants rulemaking authority to the Montana Historical Society and the Montana Arts Council for the purpose of specifying the criteria the advisory committee shall use when evaluating and making recommendation on cultural and aesthetic grant proposals submitted to the legislature.

It is contemplated that the Montana Historical Society and the Montana Arts Council will adopt rules that specify the following general criteria that the advisory committee will consider in making recommendations:

(1) Quality - ability/experience of project staff; excellence of performers.

(2) Cultural impact - how important is the project to the cultural development of the state? Will the project stimulate a large number of people or a number of communities?

(3) Project diversity - a variety of different interests and disciplines should be served.

(4) Geographical diversity - to the extent possible, the grants should assist the entire state.

(5) Project costs - if grant funds are limited, some preference should be given to projects requiring smaller grants.

(6) Seed money requests - will a grant enable the project or its sponsors to generate other funds or otherwise to make the project self-supporting?

(7) Availability/appropriateness - have applicants attempted to procure other funds? Are there other sources that are appropriate?

(8) Self-help - does the applicant seek full funding from coal tax funds, or has he arranged alternate financing to the extent possible?

(9) Creativity - is the project so innovative, beneficial, and practical that by example it will stimulate other projects?"

Thus, the provisions of 22-3-107 and 22-1-102, which authorize the Board of Trustees of the historical society and the State Library Commission to set salary, are superseded by the classification and pay plan law, Title 2, ch. 18, parts 1 through 3. Severability: Section 15, Ch. 563, L. 1979, was a severability clause.

Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to HB 785 (Ch. 563, L. 1979) provided in part: "HB 785 formally establishes the Historic Preservation Office and identifies its duties and responsibilities. This bill is not creating a new office, but simply renames the old one to conform with the accepted title shared by similar offices in states throughout the country. The duties and responsibilities are also the same and are those established by federal rules and regulations for Historic Preservation offices in all states and trust territories. Such duties and responsibilities are necessary for the state to qualify for historic preservation grant monies appropriated by Congress each year.

HB 785 requires that the State Historic Preservation Office maintain the required staffing to assure that federal funds will continue to come into Montana. As written, the committee is assured that the State Historic Preservation Office must meet the requirements, even if changes should be made when the legislature is not in session.

The proposed bill departs from the current Antiquities Act in the establishment of a Preservation Review Board, in concert with the federal designation.

The proposed Review Board will be increased to nine members, of which a majority are professionals trained in fields relating to historic preservation and archaeology. The bill mandates that one member will be the State Liaison Officer for the federal Land and Water Conservation Fund, and although it is not a federal requirement, the inclusion of the Liaison Officer is particularly important in Montana. The Liaison Officer is the Parks Director at the Department of Fish and Game [now the Department of Fish, Wildlife, and Parks], and since many of the state parks and monuments are established around historic sites, participation of the Liaison Officer on the Review Board is crucial in coordinating efforts in the state.

The proposed legislation continues the Antiquities Permit section as exists in the current Antiquities Act, but this bill will clarify provisions for who qualifies for a permit and the permit system is expanded to include all state lands rather than only registered properties.

HB 785 will substitute the National Register of Historic Places for the little-known state register as the official listing of important historic or heritage properties. The adoption of the National Register designation will simplify the registering system and avoid needless duplication of efforts.

The proposed bill continues the penalties sections but increases protection for private landowners and allows prosecution for violation on private lands.

Most importantly, the bill provides for state agency participation in the protection of heritage properties through a coordinated effort with the Historic Preservation Office. Coordination and cooperation is essential in assuring adequate consideration of heritage properties and paleontological remains in the everyday affairs of state government."

Part Attorney General's Opinions

Responsibility for Identification of Potential Heritage Property: The historic preservation officer is required by 22-3-423 and 22-3-424 to share with state agencies the responsibility for identification of potential heritage properties on state-owned lands, and that responsibility may not be limited by an agency policy which restricts or abolishes the historic preservation officer's identification authority. 41 A.G. Op. 53 (1986).

Determination of "Heritage Properties" on State-Owned Land Within Exclusive Authority of Preservation Review Board: The state antiquities law gives exclusive authority to the Preservation Review Board to determine which properties on state-owned lands are "heritage properties" within the meaning of the law. 41 A.G. Op. 8 (1985).

Amendment effective April 10, 1995.

Severability: Section 8, Ch. 343, L. 1995, was a severability clause.

1987 Amendment: Inserted (10) relating to duty of historic preservation officer to protect from public disclosure the location or character of heritage properties if such disclosure would create a risk to the properties.

1983 Amendment: Inserted (9) authorizing historic preservation officer to adopt rules outlining procedures for agencies without rules to consider state-owned heritage properties or paleontological remains and avoid actions altering such properties.

1983 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to SB 246 (Ch. 351, L. 1983) provided: "The primary purpose of the bill is to ensure that systematic consideration of heritage properties on state-owned land occurs in state agency planning and actions. The bill provides that agencies that do not choose to prepare their own regulations to afford systematic consideration to heritage properties on state lands adhere to general rules prepared by the Historical Society.

The rules promulgated pursuant to this bill should ensure that:

(a) the decision on whether to undertake a professional cultural resources inventory or site evaluation prior to a potentially harmful action is made by the agency in consultation with the Society;

(b) any heritage properties identified on state land are afforded direct consideration in an agency's decision on whether or how to undertake an action; and

(c) when feasible, damage to heritage properties is avoided or subject to an appropriate form of mitigation.

The rules are not intended to require a single course of action by the agency or absolute protection of all identified heritage properties.

The rules promulgated by either state agencies or the Historical Society should have as common elements:

(a) a requirement that prior to taking an action affecting state land or property, state agencies will check with the Historical Society to determine the presence or absence of previously identified historic or prehistoric resources, the relative value of any previously identified sites or buildings, and whether a field inventory or further site evaluation needs to occur to determine whether heritage properties might be impacted;

(b) a requirement that the Historical Society provide the information requested within a specified time and in a precise format;

(c) a requirement that each state agency have a system for making and documenting decisions on whether heritage properties identified as being affected by an agency decision or action can be afforded protection, avoidance, reuse, rehabilitation, or recording prior to impact and that the system adopted permits the Historical Society [to] comment to the agency on their decision; [and]

(d) a method for adjudicating differences in instances where the value of jeopardized sites appears to be high.

This bill would be applicable to state agencies in two separate contexts: decisions on remodeling or demolition of historic state-owned buildings and decisions made by state land managing agencies relative to leases, easements, access, [and] development.

In the case of the Montana University System, "rule" means procedures included in the Montana University System Policies and Procedures Manual through the formal and public process used by the Regents for that purpose."

1979 Statement of Intent: The statement of intent attached to HB 785 (Ch. 563, L. 1979) provided in part: "Section 6 [22-3-423] authorizes the historic preservation officer to carry out and enforce the provisions of sections 3 through 16 [2-15-1512(part), all sections in this part, repealer, and severability clause]. This may be done by rule."
